NEW HAMPSHIRE TRIUMPHS.

Win Over Rhode Island 12 to 0.

In a hard fought battle the New Hampshire football team defeated Rhode Island State College, Saturday, 12 to 0. The game was toughly contested throughout and it was not until the last period that Rhode Island showed any signs of weakening.

New Hampshire's varied assortment of line plays and forward passes had their opponents puzzled at all stages of the game, while Rhode Island used a line shift formation almost entirely. Both of New Hampshire's touchdowns came from forward passes.

The crowd was the largest of the season and numbered in the vicinity of 400. A high wind made it very difficult for the players to judge the kicks and passes accurately.

Rhode Island did not threaten to cross the goal line but once during the game. This came in the early part of the third period when Webb missed a try for a goal from the field.

The Game in Detail.

Rhode Island kicked off to New Hampshire, Brackett running the ball back 15 yards from the 10-yard line. Woodman made 10 yards at center while Bissell smashed through right tackle for three more. A forward pass, Hobbs to Westover, netted 20 yards. Two more passes were tried to Woodman and Haines respectively but both were incomplete. Brackett made two yards on an end run making it fourth down. On the next play Woodman punted to the 10-yard line. Newton failed to gain but Sherwin bucked the line for five yards. After one more line play Sherwin punted to Brackett who ran it back six yards to the 30-yard line.

Woodman banged right tackle for seven yards and Bissell circled right end for five more. After making two yards at right tackle Woodman tried for a goal from the field, but the ball went low. The ball was brought back to the 20-yard line and given to Rhode Island. New Hampshire's defense, however, proved to be at its best and Rhode Island was forced to punt after three rushes.

Two line plays by Bissell and Woodman advanced the ball 16 yards but at this point New Hampshire was penalized five yards for being offside. Brackett failed to gain and Woodman was forced to punt.

Again the Rhode Island team found the New Hampshire defense a solid wall and were forced to kick. The kick was a short one and Webb recovered the ball. Price smashed left tackle for eight yards and two more rushes netted four yards more giving Rhode Island first down. On the next play, however, Tully fumbled, Murdock recovering for New Hampshire.

Parker got away with a forward pass and ran 20 yards before being downed. Another cleverly executed forward pass was made to Westover, who ran 20-yards through the entire team for the first touchdown. Brackett kicked out to Woodman who took three steps in catching the ball thus losing a try for a goal. Immediately after Rhode Island had kicked off to Haines the whistle ended the period.

On the first play after the opening of the second period, Woodman tore around right end for a gain of five yards. After making 10 more yards on line plays a forward pass was tried but was incomplete. Woodman circled left end for 15 yards, but Brackett failed to gain. On the next play Hanlin broke through and downed Brackett for a loss of five yards. Woodman punted to Tully on Rhode Island's 20-yard line. Sherwin immediately returned the kick, to the center of the field. New Hampshire couldn't gain so Woodman punted again.

At this point Rhode Island tried desperately to score. A forward pass, Tully to Webb, netted 10 yards, while a delayed pass gave them two more New Hampshire took a brace and Sherwin was unable to gain. A penalty of 15 yards for slugging carried the ball back to the center of the field. Sherwin punted, the ball going outside at the five

ORCHARD DAY.

New Hampshire College started a new era of progress along the pomological line when she opened her doors last Thursday, the 30th, to orchard men through the state, inviting them to come and discuss live problems in that branch of agriculture which continually faces the orchardist of today.

Commencing about 9.30 A. M., the programme was a success throughout the day. Opening the afternoon session, Fres. Fairchild delivered an "Address of Welcome," in which he said, "The man who wants to go into the orchard business here in N. H. need never fear an overproduction of quality fruits." He expressed his earnest devotion to the cause for which he was called here, and expressed his keen interest and love of the student body over which he presides.

Mr. Brierly, a practical orchard man gave some desirable and valuable suggestions to orchardists under the heading of "Mistakes I Have Made In Orchardling." He emphasized the importance of planting an orchard while a man is young, stating that in his observations, 60 % of the orchards planted, intensely valuable to the practical orchardist.

Mr. A. L. Littlefield gave some interesting experiences on the "Growing and Marketing of Peaches," which was of considerable interest to those in that field of orcharding.

Concluding the programme, Prof. O'Kane, gave an interesting talk on "Some Orchard Fests and Their Control." It proved, while the last item it was by far not the least, for at the close of his talk, he was asked numerous questions concerning those insect pests which are of prime importance locally.

Prof. Gourley, who was chairman of the day, wove into the various subjects, as discussed, questions of vital importance in orcharding. One upon which he laid considerable stress was the matter of "Sod Mulch vs Cultivation for Orchards."

Three prizes were awarded to the three best exhibitions of fruit by Granges, Granite Grange of Milford, N. H. getting 1st prize; Atkinson Grange taking 2nd prize and Lamphrey River Grange, 3d prize. To the winner of the first prize will be sent three speakers this year to lecture on some phase of fruit culture; the Grange winning 2d place will have two such speakers, and that Grange winning third place will have an orchard demonstration meet in cooperation with the college.

Prof. Kendall of the Extension Department to whom all honors are due for the success of the day, says "It was a bigger success than I had ever anticipated, fully 300 people were present in the afternoon, nine Granges were represented in the exhibit and some 300 plates of specimens were on exhibition, together with the box and barrel packs. If such is our first Orchard Day, haven't our future similar occasions an equally greater success?"

CHAPEL EXERCISES.

The Edward S. Cowles, of Portsmouth, an alienist, spoke at the Chapel exercises last Wednesday. His subject "Psychotherapy" was given an explanation that interested the students greatly. Among other things he pointed out that only within the last five years has there been real progress in this science, and but one or two universities in America have established depts. for the investigation of the cure by the mind of mental diseases.

CELEBRATION OF RHODE ISLAND VICTORY.

Shortly after the whistle had blown closing the last half of the Rhode Island game, the bell in Thompson Hall had spread the news of victory far and wide throughout the town. Later it was this same bell that summoned the college body to the hill just south of the Library, where a huge bon fire was ignited. Within the circle of light short spirited speeches were made by Prof. "Dick" Whoriskey, Capt. "Bill" Brackett, Coach "Tod" Ebberle, and the president. Cheers were given, songs were sung and everywhere genuine enthusiasm was evident, both over the victory and for the coming Manchester game.

Quite a few new men are trying out for the college band. If they prove satisfactory a large band is expected.

yard line. Woodman failed to gain but Bissell made five yards at center and two more on the next play. Woodman kicked to the center of the field. Rhode Island did not attempt to rush the ball but punted on the first play, the ball going to the 10 yard line. After making eight yards on a series of line plays, Woodman was forced to punt again. Sherwin punted, but the wind carried the ball over the line. The ball was brought out to the 25-yard line and put in play. At this point the whistle ended the second period. Score: New Hampshire 6, Rhode Island 0.

Both teams came back strong in the third period and the pigskin see-sawed back and forth without any material advantage on either side.

Brackett kicked off to Seifert on the 10-yard line and he ran it back five yards before being downed. Three rushes netted nine yards and then Sherwin punted to New Hampshire's five yard line. The New Hampshire backs could not gain and Woodman punted against the wind to the 20-yard line. After making a couple of yards Webb dropped back for a try for a goal from the field. The ball hardly left the were planted by men of 60 years or over. Mr. Robt. Gould of Goffstown gave some facts and figures which proved him a successful apple grower. Mr. Gould said he started with 200 trees ranging from 20 to 40 years old, and that by proper care he raised his apple production from 50 barrels to an average of 500 barrels for five years.

Mr. Sanborn of Sanborton, N. H., the next speaker was loud in his belief of the possibilities of the coming generation, who took up as their life work, orcharding. Following this, Mr. Sanborn said: "New Hampshire's past is good, her present, is better, and her future glorious if the young people of the state will get busy and do something. He would prefer quality in apples at the expense of quantity, and reap a reputation in the apple world."

Mr. Tuttle, a past graduate of New Hampshire read an interesting paper on "Some Factors in Pruning Orchards," in which he described an orchard in the worst conceivable condition, and how by proper practical improvement he brought it back onto a paying basis.

Mr. W. P. Mack had some interesting data concerning his own orchard which he read to his audience. It was DURHAM, N. H., Nov. 5, 1913.

The work of the college stock judging team during the past season is highly commendable, and reflects great credit both to the individual members of the team, Prof. O. L. Eckman, and to this institution itself. The results are all the more gratifying from the fact that the team was competing with colleges and universities many times larger than New Hampshire College, and with institutions that devote vast sums of money in preparing their teams for these contests.

Perhaps there is no better way to express the growing feeling of the people of the state of New Hampshire towards the institution than to quote an editorial, which appeared in the "Manchester Union" of Oct. 30th, which is in part as follows:

"The signal success of Walter W. Swett of the New Hampshire College of Agriculture and mechanic arts at Durham, in securing the first prize at Chicago is peculiarly gratifying, because it demonstrates the quality of the work which is being carried on at this New Hampshire institution. The prize could not have been won without efficient training and thorough preparation. Young Swett's success is not only creditable to himself, but in high degree to the institution which he represents and at which he has secured his equipment for the work that he had in hand.

New Hampshire college, under its present management, is coming rapidly forward to a place in the front rank of similar institutions in the United States. It richly deserves the hearty support of the people of the state, both financially and through a persistent and intelligent system of encouragement to young people to take advantage of the opportunities which it offers. The Union, as a New Hampshire newspaper, will do all it can in this direction, but there is need of systematic work on the part of the granges in making the work of the college better known throughout the state and in turning the thought of young people in the academics and high schools to the splendid opportunity to secure a high-grade practical education which this growing college offers them.

The work of the college is already counting for much in the development and progress of the state, not only through the thoroughly equipped young men and women whom it is sending out year after year, but in its influence outside of the class room upon men and women who have had no opportunity to attend its courses.

Practice is being carried on daily by the freshman football team. A good team is expected before the freshman play their first game.

TO SUBSCRIBERS OF "THE NEW HAMPSHIRE."

On account of the uncertainty during the early weeks of the college year as to whether The New Hampshire would continue publication this year, no copies of the paper were sent to out of town alumni. All copies, excepting the week of Oct. 22nd, when no issue was published, are still on hand and subscribers desiring any of the "back" numbers may obtain them by notifying the business manager.

ON TO MANCHESTER.

Next Saturday is the final gridiron contest of the season. As is the custom, the night before will be observed by a football rally. At this New Hampshire night celebration the songs and cheers of the college will be practiced, the band will play, and speakers of note will create a burning fire of enthusiasm that is typical of the sentiment which preceded the annual athletic struggle with the representatives of Massachusetts Agricultural College.

The management has chartered a special train to carry the student body to the Queen City. It will leave Durham at 12.15 P. M. and returning will leave Manchester at 8.15. Arriving in Manchester the fellows will form in fours and headed by the college band will march through the principal thoroughfares of the city to the headquarters of the New Hampshire team, at Hotel Derryfield. Cheers will be given and then the line of march will head for Textile Field.

The new field has been completely reconstructed and enlarged and a brick and cement covered grandstand, seating 3500, will add greatly to the comforts of the spectators and also of the players, since the basement is completely equipped with lockers, shower baths and all other necessary modern conveniences. Two sections of the stand will be reserved for the students and band. Bleachers, with a seating capacity of 1000, are situated at either end of the grand stand. Boxes will be occupied by the president and the faculty and also by the specially invited guests among whom are: Mayor C. C. Hayes of Manchester, W. H. Underwood, President of The Chamber of Commerce, Congressman Eugene B. Reed, Supt. of schools C. W. Bickford, George H. Libbey, Principal of the Manchester High School, J. Brodie Smith, Vice President and General manager of the Manchester Traction, Light and Power Co., H. E. Chamberlain, City Clerk of Concord and various other prominent citizens of the state.

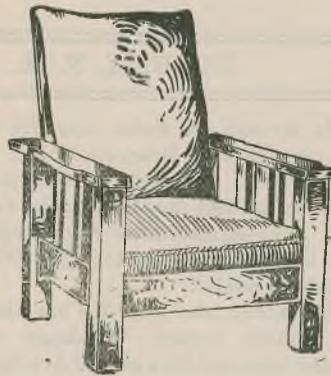

The managers and captains of the various prominent high schools of the state have been invited to attend this game as the special guests of the athletic association and if on next Saturday the weather is favorable there will undoubtedly be the largest crowd in attendance ever seen at our annual contest with Massachusetts.

As a special feature the college orchestra will conduct a select dancing party at Odd Fellows Hall and it is hoped that there will be a good crowd in attendance.

This is the one time of the year when everybody should come forward and show their college spirit in all its fullness for the support of the student body means much to the men on the field who are doing their best to bring back another scalp to hang at the belt of old New Hampshire, and if everybody comes forward as should be the case there will be left in Durham only "Fossie" and the town pump.

The girls of Smith Hall conducted a Hallowe'en party last Saturday evening at the gymnasium.

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

Are equipped with a perfect oiling system

In a machine which is operated at the speed required for a cream separator perfect oiling is very necessary.

The new system of De Laval automatic oiling provides for a constant and liberal supply of CLEAN oil to every wearing surface of the machine at all times. There are no oil holes to fill up with dirt or perhaps to be neglected altogether, and every part is supplied with clean oil from the oil reservoir automatically and constantly.

In other, so-called, automatic oiling systems some of the parts have to be oiled by hand and no provision is made for getting rid of dirt that may get into the oil from the outside or of small particles of metal that come from wear, so that after a short time the oil supply becomes foul and injurious to the finely adjusted wearing parts.

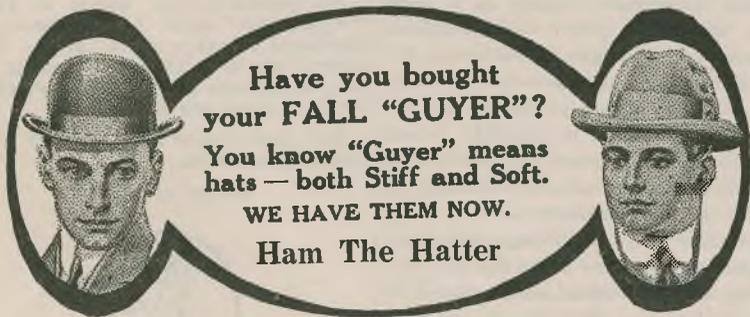

have the only automatic oiling system which provides for a constant supply of fresh oil and at same time the constant discharge of the used oil together with all worn metal particles or dirt which may have gotten into the used oil.

The perfect system of De Laval lubrication means an easier running and a much longer wearing machine. Visit the local De Laval agent and ask him to explain the advantages of De Laval automatic oiling.

The new 72-page De Laval Dairy Hand Book, in which important dairy questions are ably discussed by the best authorities, is a book that every cow owner should have. Mailed free upon request if you mention this paper. New 1913 De Laval catalog also mailed upon request. Write to nearest office.

ground, however. Hale went in for Woodman and made five yards through right tackle. New Hampshire fumbled on the next play, Rhode Island recovering. Price was thrown for a five yard loss, dropping the ball when tackled, Murdock recovered for New Hampshire. Brackett smashed the line for 10 yards but Hale failed to gain. A forward pass to Parker was incomplete and Brackett punted. Hale nailed a forward pass intended for Hanlin and the ball went to New Hampshire. Brackett tore around right end for 10 yards and the whistle blew ending the period.

At the beginning of the fourth period New Hampshire came back stronger while Rhode Island showed signs of being about all in. Neston nailed Brackett for a loss on the first play and New Hampshire punted. Price made five yards through the right side of the line. Hale nabbed another forward pass intended for Hanlin and the ball went to New Hampshire. A forward pass to Westover netted 30 yards, bringing the ball to Rhode Island's 25-yard line. Another pass, Hobbs to Reardon, gave five yards more and Brackett realed off 10 yards around right end. Parker nailed a pass for five yards more bringing the ball to the 10-yard line. Woodman went through a hole in the line for five yards, but Brackett failed to gain. Parker nabbed another forward pass and carried the ball over for the second touchdown. Paines failed to kick the goal.

After New Hampshire's touchdown there was time for only a dozen plays. New Hampshire kicked off, but recovered the ball by intercepting a forward pass. The New Hampshire backs had worked the ball down to Rhode Island's 30-yard line when the whistle blew ending the game.

Stock Judging Team at Chicago.

On the twenty fourth of last month Prof. Eekeman, accompanied by A. O. McCartney, W. W. Swett and L. D. Jesseman, were in Chicago, for the purpose of attending the National Dairying Show, the largest of its kind in the world. Sixteen colleges and universities from as many states were represented.

W. W. Swett, won first place, out of forty-eight in judging of Jerseys. This victory entitles Swett to a four hundred dollar scholarship, presented by the American Jersey Cattle Club, that may be used at any agricultural college or university in the country, the one stipulation being made that the work be done in some phase of dairying. Great praise and credit is due Swett upon his victory. Along with Swett, A. O. McCartney should not be forgotten, as he was a very close second to Swett.

New Hampshire College as a team took thirteenth place with Virginia, Kansas and Michigan, in fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth places respectively. The boys had a very profitable and enjoyable trip and it is sincerely hoped that their great success will prove a stimulus to agricultural students to try for the team in the future.

On their way to Chicago the boys, stopped at the Anna Dean Farms, consisting of five thousand acres, owned by Mr. Barber, the president of the Diamond Match Company, at Barberton, Ohio, and also at the Dr. Hartman Stock Farm at Columbus Ohio. These are two of the largest scientific stock raising farms in the Middle West. Here the team had some very good practice for the contest. New Hampshire College may well be proud of its representatives in this department on account of the showing they made.

Considerable progress is being made on the new engineering building. The foundations are now in and the brick work will be started soon. The firm in charge expects to have the roof on by January.

FAVORITISM.

Favoritism may be partial or favoritism may be merited.

Those closely in touch with the facts never question for a moment that the favoritism shown for by an overwhelming majority of buttermakers and dairy authorities is anything less than merited favoritism.

"Wyandotte" cleanliness is shown the world around. It is protective. It insures milk and its products against contamination. It is the arch enemy of milk bacteria. It is the champion of purity and sanitary cleanliness. It is the standard of dairy cleanliness.

Who will allow anything less than "Wyandotte" cleanliness where milk is kept is inviting the bacteria germ, lessened milk quality and a lower grade of butter or cheese. Buttermakers who have discovered this fact naturally favor Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser and they number three out of every four.

No person is ever asked to favor "Wyandotte" until he is absolutely convinced of every claim for it. This always has been the understanding and why we always say—if not all we claim for it, it costs you nothing.
