OBAMA HOLDS WIDE LEAD IN NH

Durham, NH – Barack Obama holds a commanding lead over John McCain in New Hampshire and Jeanne Shaheen holds a double digit lead over incumbent Republican John Sununu in the New Hampshire Senate race.

These findings are based on the 2008 WMUR / UNH New Hampshire Tracking Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. This survey is sponsored by WMUR-TV Manchester and the University of New Hampshire.* Six hundred ninety-eight (698) likely New Hampshire voters were interviewed between October 24 and October 26, 2008. The potential sampling error for the statewide survey is $\pm 3.7\%$. Three-hundred forty-seven (347) likely 1st District voters were surveyed (margin of sampling error of $\pm 5.3\%$) and 351 likely 2nd District voters were interviewed (margin of sampling error $\pm 5.3\%$). For more information about the WMUR / UNH Election Tracking Poll, go to www.unh.edu/survey-center/news/pdf/e2008_track08meth.pdf.

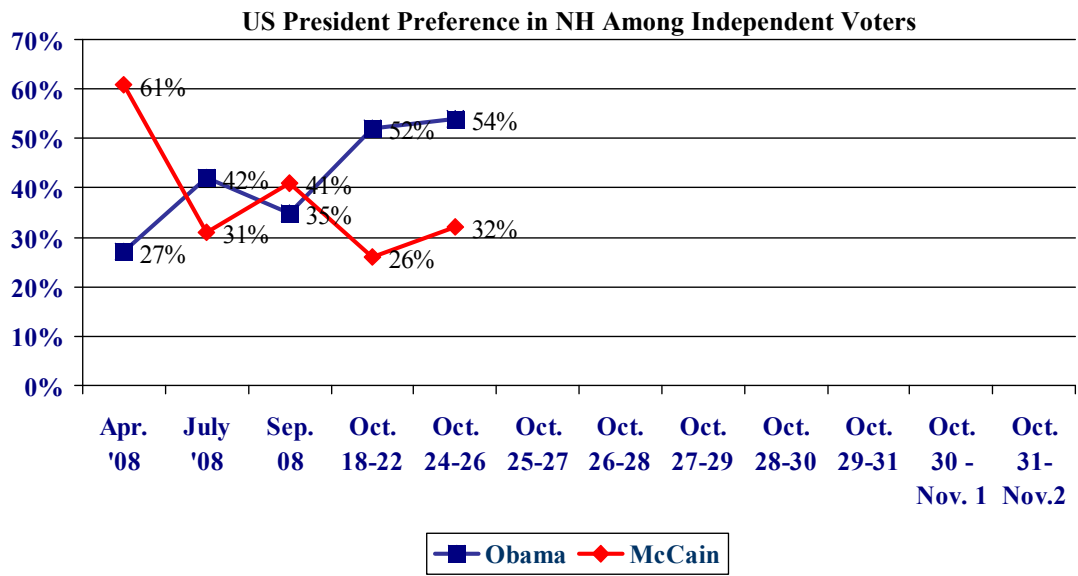

President

Barack Obama continues to maintain a significant lead over John McCain in the race for President in New Hampshire. More than half of likely voters, 55%, say they plan to vote for Obama, 39% favor McCain, 2% prefer some other candidate, and 5% are undecided. These figures are essentially unchanged from a Boston Globe poll conducted October 18-22 by the UNH Survey Center but represent a significant change from mid-September when McCain held a 47% to 45% lead over Obama.

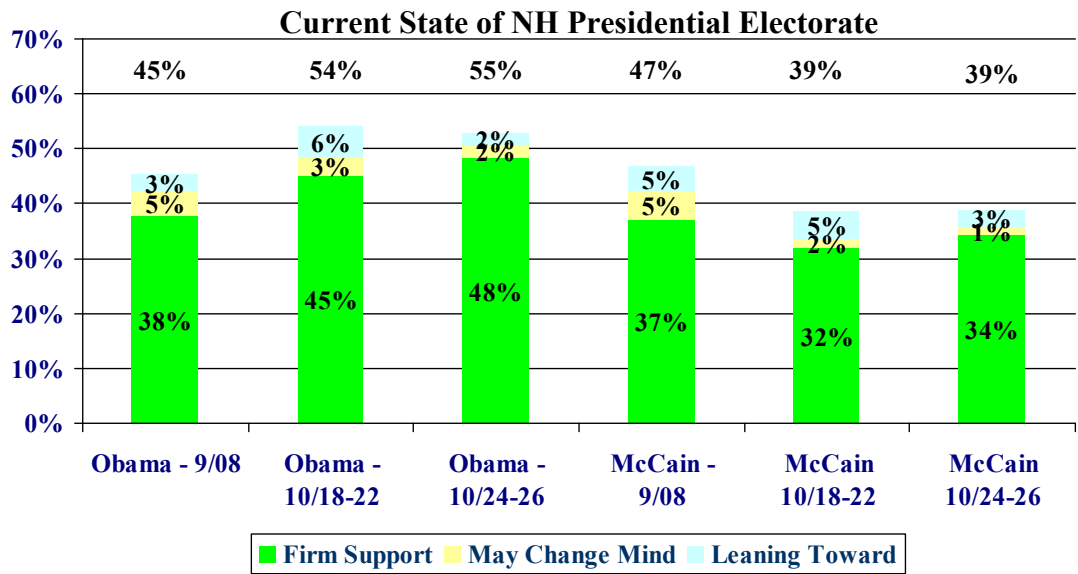

Obama has opened up a sizeable lead among independent voters in New Hampshire – 54% of political independents say they favor Obama, 32% favor McCain, 3% prefer some other candidate, and 11% are undecided.

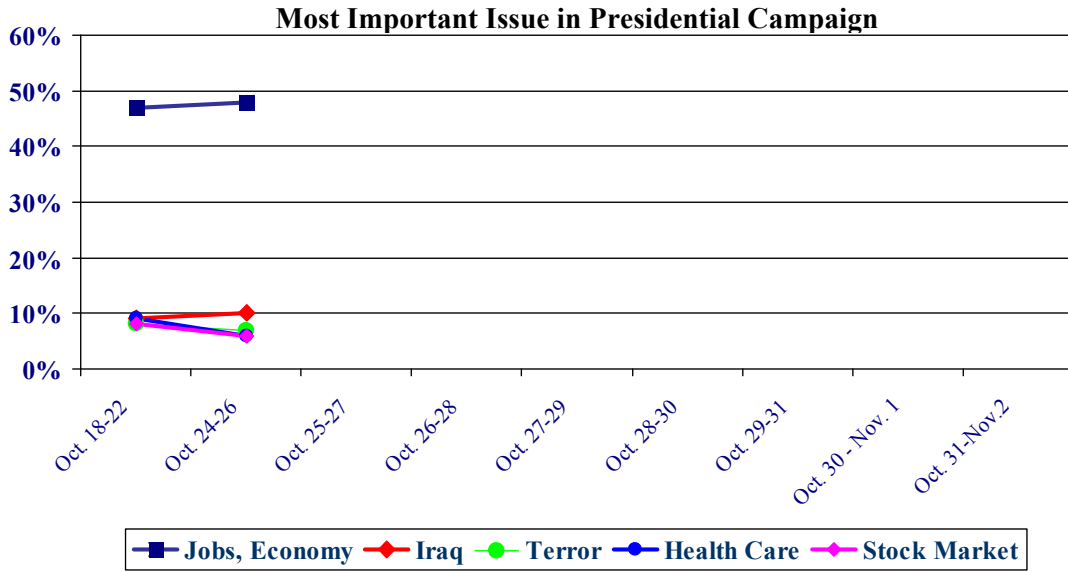

* We ask that this copyrighted information be referred to as the WMUR / UNH New Hampshire Tracking Poll, sponsored by WMUR-TV and the University of New Hampshire Survey Center.

Support for Obama continues to solidify with 48% of likely voters say they are firm in their support of Obama, 3% saying they support Obama but could change their mind and 2% are currently undecided but lean toward Obama. Thirty-four percent of likely voters firmly support McCain, 1% support McCain but could change their minds, and 3% are undecided but lean toward McCain.

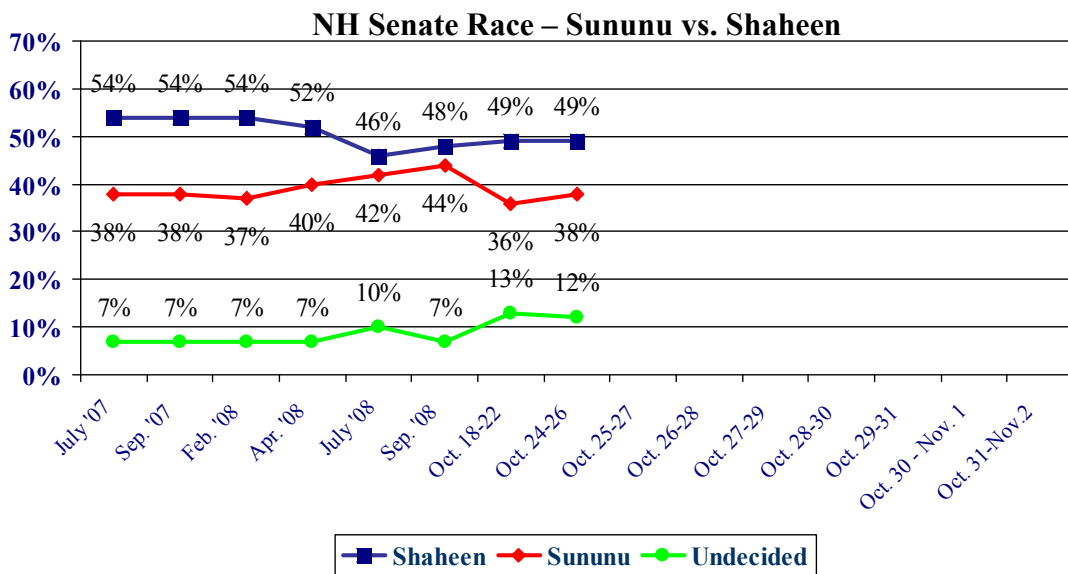

The most important issue in the presidential campaign to New Hampshire voters are jobs and the economy (48%), the war in Iraq (10%), the campaign against terrorism (7%), the recent stock market crash (6%), and health care (6%). Economic concerns have topped the list of important issues to New Hampshire voters since mid-summer.

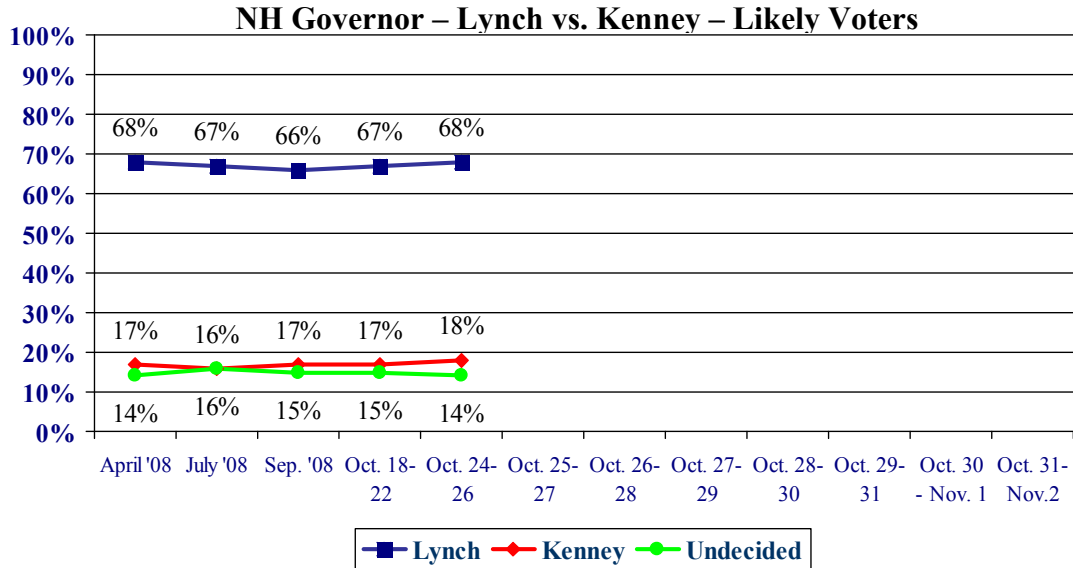

US Senate

In the race for the U.S. Senate, incumbent Republican John Sununu trails his 2002 challenger Jeanne Shaheen by sizeable margin. Currently, 49% of likely New Hampshire voters say they will vote for Shaheen, 38% will vote for Sununu, 2% prefer some other candidate, and 12% are undecided. The dynamics of this race are similar to the presidential race with the Republican candidate losing ground since the financial crisis and stock market crash in September.

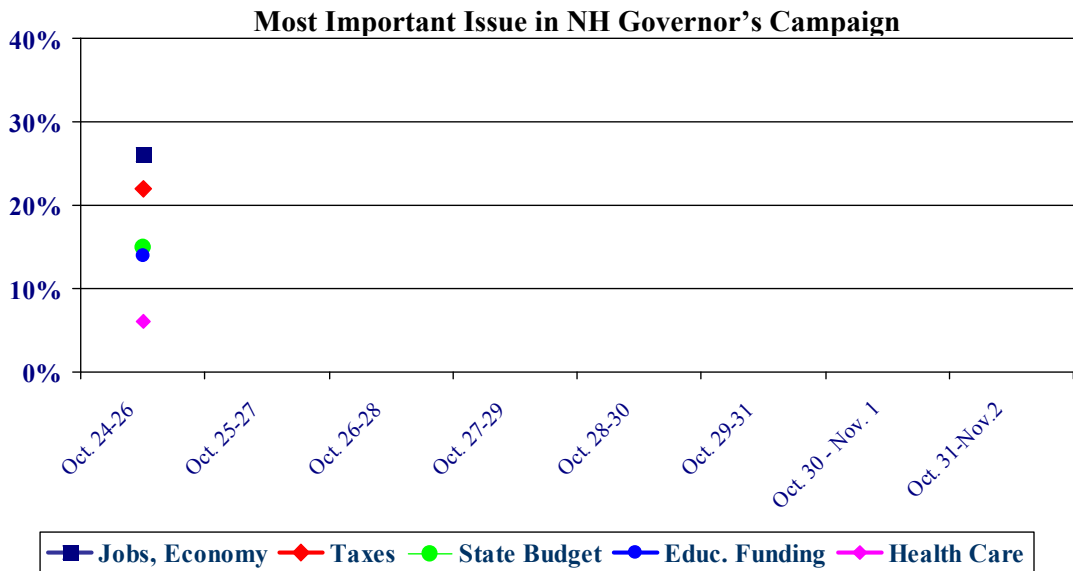

NH Governor

Incumbent John Lynch continues to maintain a wide lead over Republican Joe Kenney in the race for New Hampshire Governor. Lynch currently leads Kenney by a 68% to 18% margin with 1% favoring some other candidate, and 14% undecided. The dynamics of this race closely resemble Lynch’s 2006 victory over Jim Coburn.

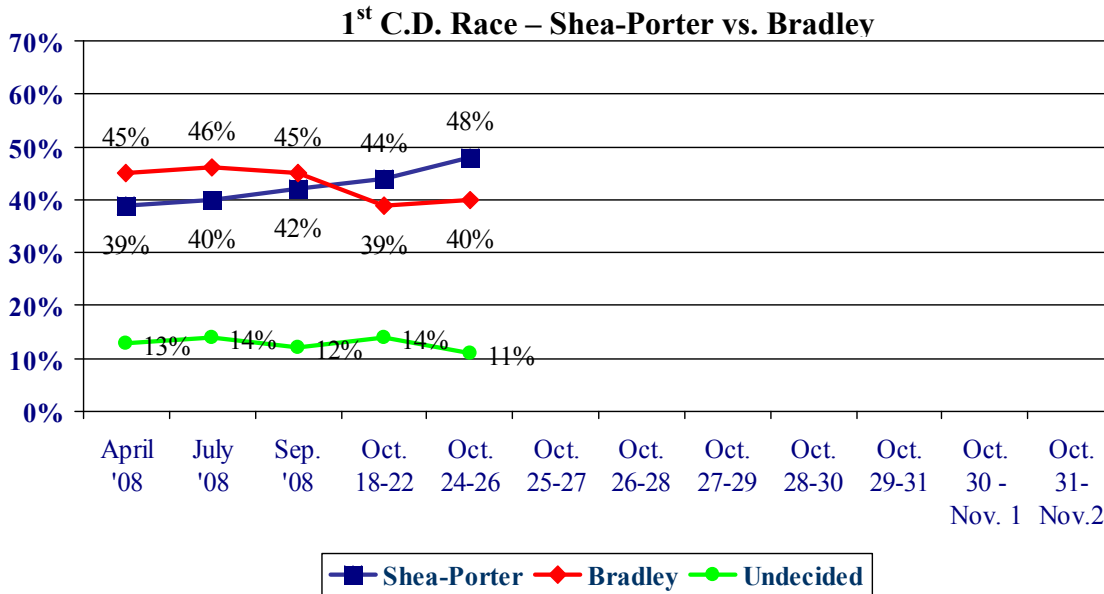

The most important issue in the governor’s race are jobs and the economy (26%), taxes (22%), the state budget (15%), education funding (14%) and health care (6%).

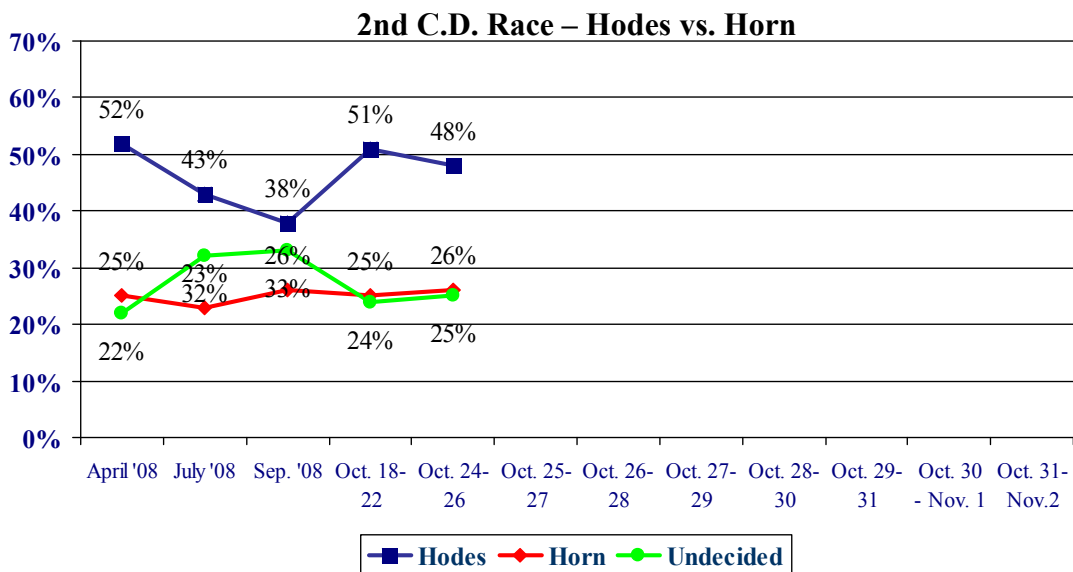

NH First District

In the race for New Hampshire’s 1st Congressional District, incumbent Democrat Carol Shea-Porter holds a slim lead over Jeb Bradley in a rematch of their 2006 race. In the latest WMUR / UNH Tracking Poll, 48% of likely 1st District voters say they will vote for Shea-Porter, 40% favor Bradley, 1% prefer some other candidate, and 11% remain undecided. Support for Shea-Porter has increased steadily during the fall campaign.

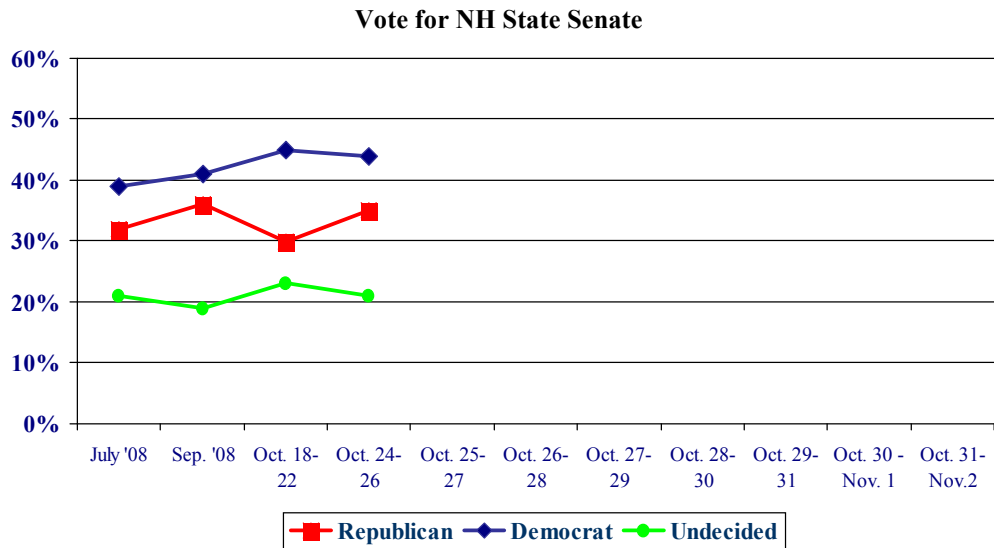

NH Second District

In the 2nd District, Democratic incumbent Paul Hodes holds a solid lead over Republican newcomer Jennifer Horn -- 48% of likely voters in the 2nd District say they will vote for Hodes, only 26% say they will vote for Horn, 1% prefer some other candidate, and 25% remain undecided.

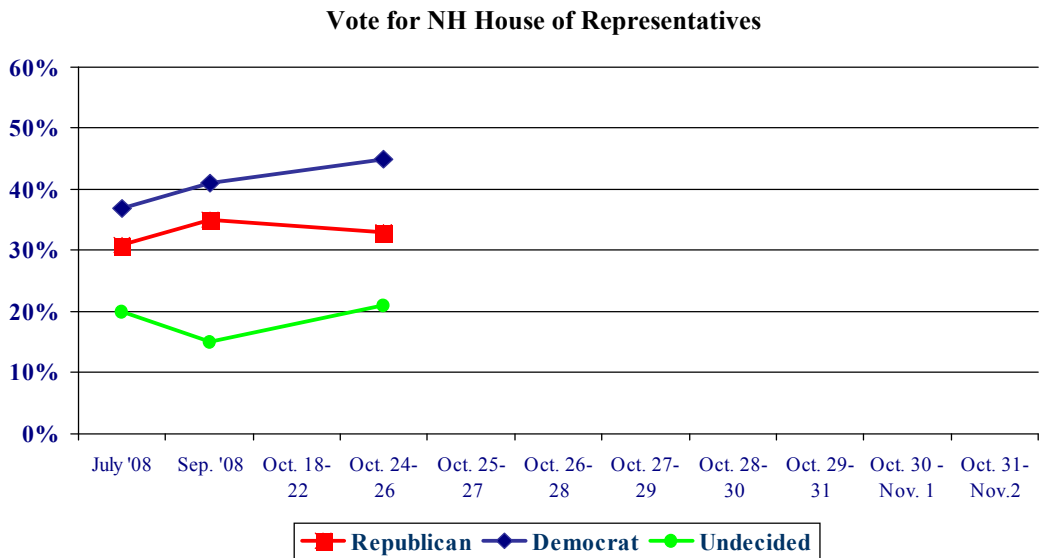

NH Senate

Democrats continue to lead in generic ballots for the New Hampshire Senate -- 44% of likely voters say they plan to vote for the Democrat in their State Senate district, 35% plan to vote for the Republican, and 21% are undecided.

NH House

Democrats also lead in generic ballots for the New Hampshire House -- 45% of likely voters say they plan to vote for the Democrat in their State House district, 33% plan to vote for the Republican, and 21% are undecided.
