BUSH APPROVAL REMAINS LOW

By: Andrew E. Smith, Ph.D. UNH Survey Center 603/862-2226 www.unh.edu/survey-center

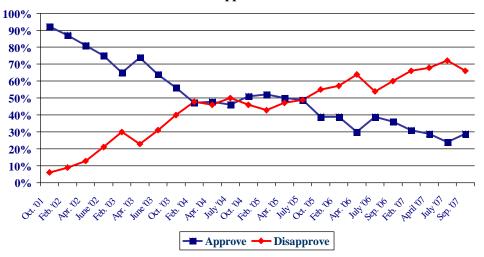

DURHAM, NH – President George W. Bush remains unpopular in New Hampshire although his job approval rating has improved somewhat.

These findings are based on the latest Granite State Poll,[?] conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. The Granite State Poll is sponsored by CNN and WMUR-TV, Manchester. Five hundred eight (508) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed by telephone between September 17 and September 24, 2007. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/-4.4 percent

Presidential Approval

President George W. Bush's job approval rating in New Hampshire has improved slightly in recent months. In the most recent Granite State Poll, 29 percent of New Hampshire adults say they approve of the job Bush is doing as president, 66 percent disapprove, and 5 percent are neutral. "Approval of Bush has improved marginally," said Andrew Smith, Director of the UNH Survey Center. "But his approval ratings remain near historic lows." In July, only 24 percent of New Hampshire adults approved of the job Bush was doing as President.

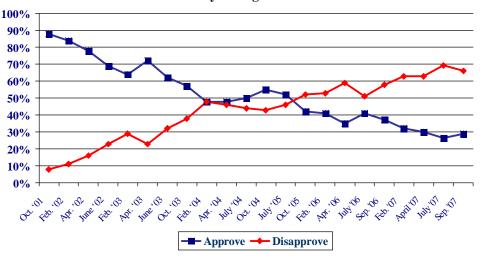

Only majorities of Republicans and conservatives approve of Bush's performance as President. On the other hand, 94 percent of Democrats and 64 percent of political Independents disapprove.

Bush's personal favorability rating is also near record lows. Currently, 29 percent of New Hampshire adults have a favorable opinion of Bush, 66 percent have an unfavorable opinion of him, and 5 percent are neutral or don't know. Bush's net favorability rating, the percentage having a favorable opinion minus the percentage having an unfavorable opinion, is an extremely low -37 percent. Two-thirds of Republicans (66%) have a favorable opinion of Bush while very few Democrats (2%) and Independents (25%) have favorable opinions about Bush.

Favorability Ratings - G.W. Bush

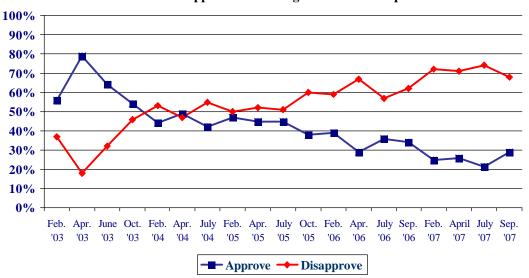

Foreign Affairs

The Bush administration continues to be hurt by a foreign policy that is not viewed favorably in New Hampshire. When asked about how the President is handling foreign affairs, only 28 percent of New Hampshire adults say they approve, 69 percent disapprove, and 3 percent are neutral. Even Republicans give Bush only modest support for his handling of foreign affairs -61 percent of Republicans approve of his handling of foreign affairs.

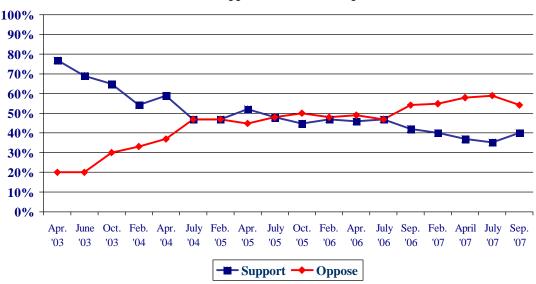

Bush Approval: Foreign Affairs

Turning specifically to the war in Iraq, only 29 percent of Granite State adults approve of the way Bush has handled the situation there, 68 percent disapprove, and 3 percent are neutral. While these figures are quite low, they do represent an uptick from July when only 22 percent approved.

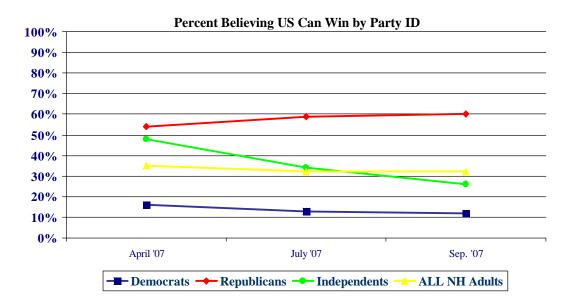

Support for having gone into Iraq in the first place has also improved slightly. Currently, 40 percent support the U.S. having gone to war in Iraq, 54 percent oppose the U.S. having gone to war, and 6 percent are neutral. In July, only 35 supported the U.S. decision to go into Iraq. But it is important to note that solid majorities of Republicans (79%) and conservatives (64%) continue to support the war in Iraq.

Support for War In Iraq

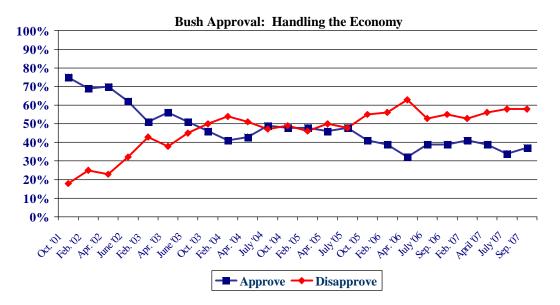

Can the US Win?

But most Granite Staters are not optimistic about the U.S. winning the war in Iraq. In the most recent Granite State Poll, only 32 percent believe the US can win the war in Iraq, 55 percent think the US cannot win the war, and 13 percent don't know. Much of the pessimism comes from Independents. In April, 49 percent of Independents thought the U.S. could win in Iraq while only 26 percent think so today.

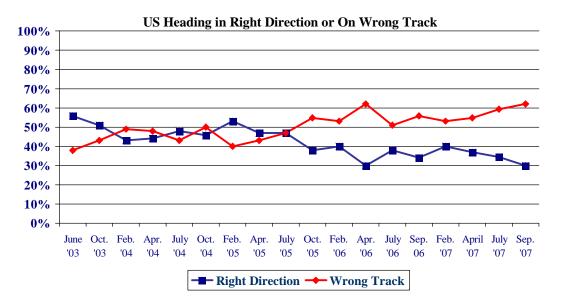

Economic Approval Rating

Perhaps reflecting concerns about the housing market, and despite low inflation and a booming stock market, New Hampshire residents continue to be pessimistic about Bush's handling of the economy. Only 37 percent of New Hampshire residents say they approve of the job President Bush is doing handling the economy, 58 percent disapprove, and 5 percent are neutral. Economic approval is strongly related to partisanship as 78 percent of Republicans approve of Bush's handling of the economy compared to only 11 percent of Democrats and 27 percent of independents.

Right Track – Wrong Track

Overall, New Hampshire residents are becoming more pessimistic about the direction the country is heading. Only 30 percent think things in this country are generally going in the right direction, 62 percent think things are seriously off on the wrong track, and 8 percent don't know.

Granite State Poll Methodology

These findings are based on the latest Granite State Poll conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. The Granite State Poll is sponsored by CNN and WMUR-TV, Manchester. Five hundred twenty-four (508) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed by telephone between September 17 and September 24, 2007. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/-4.4 percent. Two hundred thirty (230) respondents lived in New Hampshire's 1st Congressional District (margin of sampling error = +/-6.1%) and 278 lived in the 2nd District (margin of sampling error = +/-6.0%). Results reported for other subgroups have potential for somewhat larger variation than those for the entire population.

The data have been weighted to adjust for numbers of adults and telephone lines within households, respondent sex, and region of the state. In addition to potential sampling error, all surveys have other potential sources of non-sampling error including question order effects, question wording effects, and non-response.
