FOR RELEASE
September 27, 2006

DURHAM, NH – Republican incumbent Jeb Bradley holds a solid lead over newcomer Carol Shea-Porter in the race for New Hampshire’s 1st Congressional District. Charlie Bass is facing a tougher fight with his Democratic challenger Paul Hodes in the 2nd Congressional District.

These findings are based on the latest Granite State Poll,[?] conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. The Granite State Poll is sponsored by WMUR-TV, Manchester. Five hundred fifteen (515) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed by telephone between September 15 and September 24, 2006. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/-4.3 percent. Two hundred sixty-six (266) respondents lived in New Hampshire’s 1st Congressional District (margin of sampling error = +/-6.1%) and 249 lived in the 2nd District (margin of sampling error = +/-6.2%).

NH 1st District

In New Hampshire’s 1st Congressional District, Republican incumbent Jeb Bradley is facing Carol Shea-Porter, a political newcomer from Rochester who pulled off an upset win in the New Hampshire Democratic primary. Bradley remains a popular Congressman -- 49 percent of 1st District residents have a favorable opinion of Bradley, only 18 percent have an unfavorable opinion, 16 percent are neutral and 17 percent don’t know enough about him to say. Bradley’s net favorability rating in the 1st District, the percentage who have a favorable opinion of him minus the percentage who have an unfavorable opinion, is a strong +31 percent and has changed little since he was elected.

Carol Shea-Porter is somewhat better known to 1st District residents than she was before her primary victory, but remains largely an unknown candidate. Currently, 16 percent of 1st District adults have a favorable opinion of Shea-Porter, 5 percent have an unfavorable opinion of her, 14 percent are neutral, and 65 percent say they don’t know enough about her to say. Shea-Porter’s net favorability rating is +11 percent, up from +7 percent in July.

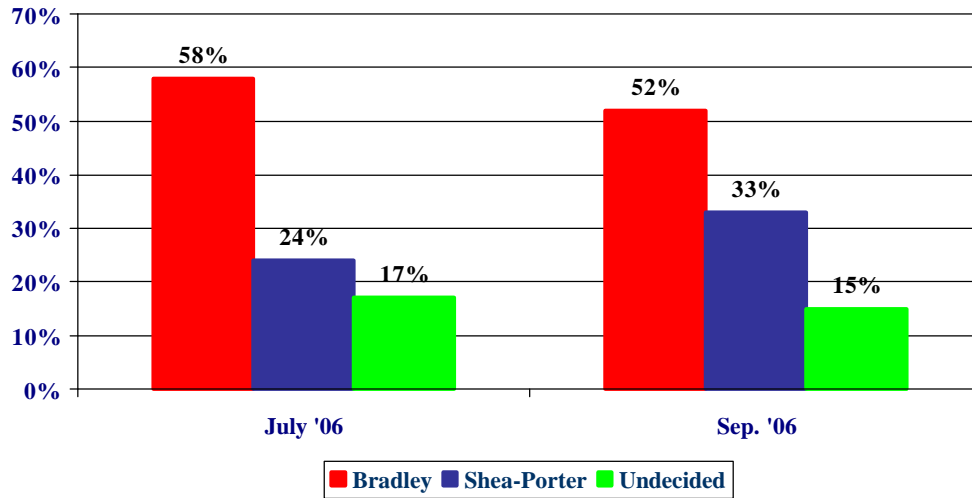

Favorability Ratings – Jeb Bradley NH 1st District

[?] We ask that this copyrighted information be referred to as the Granite State Poll, sponsored by WMUR-TV.

When likely voters in the 1st District are asked who they plan to vote for in November, Bradley still holds a comfortable lead over Shea-Porter. When Bradley is matched with Shea-Porter, 52 percent of likely 1st District voters say they will vote for Bradley, 33 percent say they will vote for Shea-Porter, and 15 percent are undecided. Bradley holds considerable advantages over Shea-Porter in both name recognition and funding and will be difficult to upset in November.

(Likely Voters)

NH 2nd District

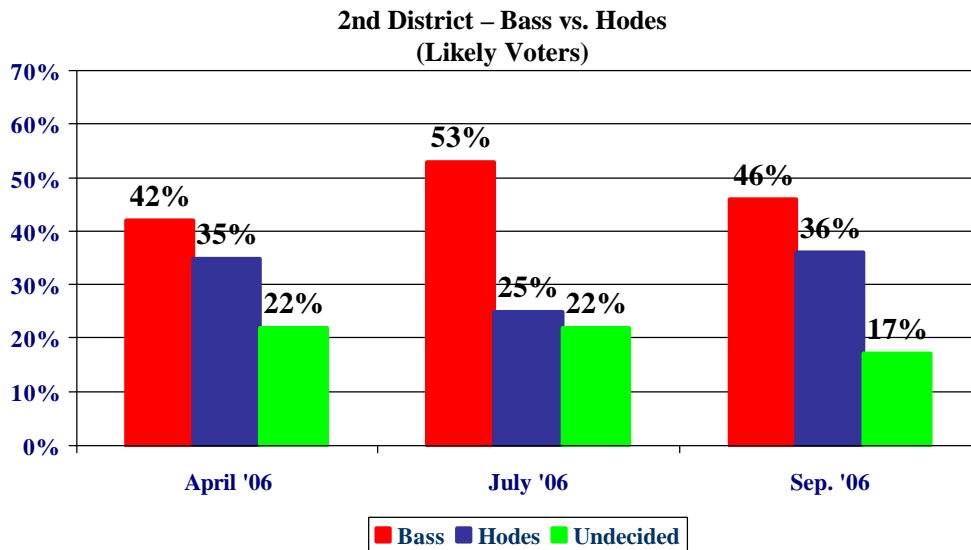

In the 2nd District, Republican incumbent Charlie Bass has a re-match of his 2004 race with Concord Attorney Paul Hodes. In 2004, Bass beat Hodes 59% to 38%. Both Al Gore and John Kerry won the 2nd District and Democrats have long sought to unseat Bass since he was first elected in 1994. Bass remains popular with residents of the 2nd District, but his popularity has dropped recently -- 48 percent have a favorable opinion of him, 27 percent have an unfavorable opinion, 12 percent are neutral and 13 percent don't know enough about him to say. Bass' net favorability rating in the 2nd District is a now a modest +21 percent, down from +40 percent in July.

Paul Hodes has been campaigning hard and it appears that he has damaged Bass somewhat. But despite running in 2004, Hodes is still largely unknown to most 2nd District residents – 11 percent say they have a favorable opinion of Hodes, 6 percent have an unfavorable opinion of him, 17 percent are neutral, and 66 percent say they know too little about him to say. Hodes' net favorability rating is +5 percent.

Favorability Ratings – Charlie Bass NH 2nd District

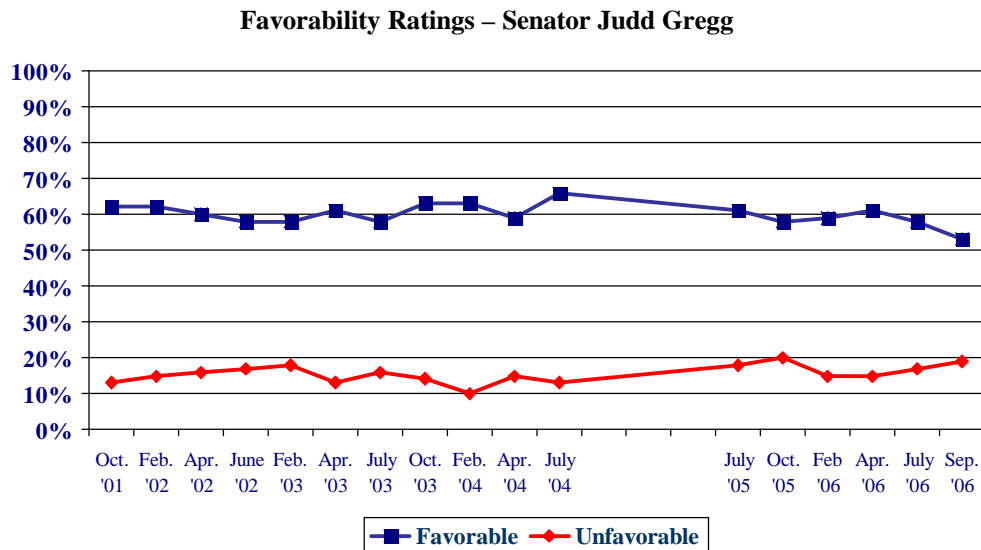

When likely voters in the 2nd District are asked who they plan to vote for in November, Bass holds a modest lead over Hodes. Currently, 46 percent of likely voters say they will vote for Bass, 36 percent say they will vote for Hodes, and 17 percent are undecided. In the April, 2006 Granite State Poll, Bass looked to be in a bit of trouble, holding a narrow 7 percentage point lead over Hodes. But this seems to have been largely due to Granite Staters perceptions of President Bush, whose job approval rating was only 30 percent in April. Bush approval ratings have improved since then, benefiting Republican candidates.

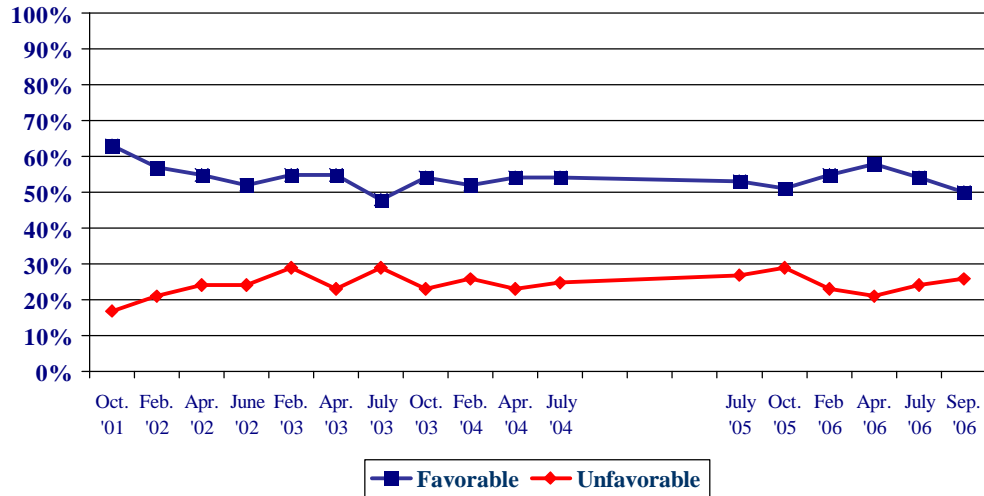

Favorability Ratings of NH Senators

The New Hampshire Senatorial delegation continues to get high favorability ratings from Granite Staters. Senator Judd Gregg remains the most popular -- 53 percent of New Hampshire adults have a favorable opinion of Gregg, 19 percent have an unfavorable opinion, 15 percent are neutral and 13 percent don't know enough to say. Gregg's net favorability rating is a solid +34 percent.

John Sununu, New Hampshire's junior Senator is also viewed favorably with 50 percent of New Hampshire adults having a favorable opinion of him, 26 percent having an unfavorable opinion, 15 percent are neutral and 9 percent don't know enough to say. Sununu's net favorability rating is +24 percent. Both Gregg and Sununu have seen their favorability ratings slip in recent months as campaigns have heated up for Congress and Democrats have focused their energies on President Bush and other Republicans

Granite State Poll Methodology

These findings are based on the most recent Granite State Poll conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center from September 15 to September 24, 2006. A random sample of 515 New Hampshire adults was interviewed by telephone. In 95 of 100 cases, the statewide estimates will be accurate to plus or minus 4.3 percent. Results reported for other subgroups have potential for somewhat larger variation than those for the entire population. Two hundred sixty-six (266) respondents lived in New Hampshire's 1st Congressional District (margin of sampling error = +/-6.1%) and 249 lived in the 2nd District (margin of sampling error = +/-6.2%).

The data have been weighted to adjust for numbers of adults and telephone lines within households, respondent sex, and region of the state. In addition to potential sampling error, all surveys have other potential sources of non-sampling error including question order effects, question wording effects, and non-response.
