ANNUAL JUNIOR PROM SUCCESS

Complete Despite Economy Practiced by Class

ATTENDANCE BEYOND HOPES

Poole's Orchestra of Boston Does Fine Piece of Work—Twenty-Four Members.

After much anxiety over the possibilities of such an event this year, the Junior Prom was held last Friday evening in the College Gymnasium. Over 100 couples took advantage of the opportunity thus offered to attend the biggest and perhaps the only especially notable dance of the college year.

Scarcely ever has more interest been shown in similar undertakings of the undergraduate body, and this manifested itself in the work of the junior class. The decorations, while similar to those of previous years, deserve mention because of the hard work as well as financial sacrifice; both not easily spared or readily at hand in such strenuous days. President Cullinan of the junior class marshalled his forces early in the preceding week and outlined the campaign so well that despite obstacles placed in the way of the workers, Friday night, with its snow and wind, found 225 people ready for the big time.

CONCERT GIVEN

Poole's orchestra of Boston, a group of players with years' experience as furnishers of dance music, were on the scene at eight o'clock all ready for the concert, which for an hour preceded the dancing. During the concert members of the junior class escorted the guests to the receiving line. In the receiving line were President and Mrs. Ralph D. Hetzel, Dean Charles H. Pettee, Dean Helen Knowlton, and the officers of the class, Mr. Cullinan, Miss Christine Sutherland, Mr. Ewart and Miss Louise Richmond.

HOFFMAN MARSHAL

Promptly at nine o'clock the leader of the orchestra announced the grand march, led by Mr. Louis B. Hoffman, class marshal, and Miss Mary A. Bailey. One hundred and five couples, a number far beyond expectations, were in line in the grand march. In fact, the dance orders gave out and some of the men were obliged to use the orders made out previously.

ORCHESTRA PLEASES

Until two o'clock, dancing was the most important thing in the minds of 200 people. Poole's orchestra snapped out the one-steps and fox trots in a manner calculated to increase the vim and enthusiasm. Such music, has not been heard here at a class dance for several seasons. All the latest "jazz" music was given an airing much to everyone's delight. The very attitude of the players seemed to instill "pep" and good nature in the merry-makers.

Punch was served throughout the evening, and if one were to judge from the number of people stopping in the "punch corner" it was more than fit to drink.

PAUSE FOR REST

At twelve o'clock a halt was called to allow tired muscles to relax and to partake of refreshments of harlequin ice cream and fancy crackers. After a quarter-hour's rest the words of the well known poem were remembered and the dance went on, with joy unconfined.

Two o'clock found the dancers ready and anxious to go home, having completed the schedule of 24 lively and entirely satisfactory dance numbers.

Although not conducted as a money making scheme, the dance netted the junior class nearly fifty dollars, it was reported.

Anybody can be your enemy, but it is a man's size job to be your friend.

THE VARSITY BASKETBALL SQUAD.

PROSPECTS IN BASKETBALL NOT VERY BRIGHT.

Although the number reporting daily for practice is extremely large, the basketball team has no path of roses ahead of it this year. The material as a whole, is good, but not up to last year's outfit. The men are lighter and have not had the seasoning that the team had representing this college for the season of 1917-18.

Mr. Cowell believes that he has a group of men working who will eventually prove first class players, but competition is keen among many average players and it will take some time to make the final choices. The first half of the season will no doubt be fairly slow, but by mid-season the team will be hitting its stride and doing nearly as good work as last winter's schedule afforded.

STUDENTS CONTRIBUTE TO AID HALIFAX SUFFERERS.

In answer to the call by the women of New Hampshire College for funds to aid the Halifax sufferers, thirteen dollars and fifty cents was obtained from the sale of popcorn at Chapel last week. Immediately following the conclusion of the exercises, the women offered their wares for sale in the hallway of the Gymnasium and for a busy quarter-hour, popcorn, nickles and dimes and an occasional half dollar, were very much the cause of frenzied finance.

The money from this sale, together with that contributed by faculty members and others was forwarded immediately to assist in the relief of the unfortunate citizens of Halifax.

TO PRESENT PAPER.

Prof. Gourley will attend the meetings of the Society of Horticultural Science held at Pittsburg, Pa., the last of this month and will present a paper at this time.

AWARD FOUR-YEAR FOOTBALL MEN GOLD FOOTBALLS.

Three men in the senior class, C. P. Broderick, R. S. Jenkins and H. G. Hewey, having played four years on the varsity football team, are entitled to the choice of either a large college blanket, fittingly lettered, or a football watch-fob. The men have decided on the fob, which is a gold football, about one inch in length. On the front side there is a raised gold N. H., directly below which are the numerals 1914-18, engraved in black enamel. The reverse side of the football bears, in enamel, the name of the player and the position he played each year. The fob makes a very handsome appearance and serves as a fitting reminder of the four years of hard work as a varsity football player.

MID-SEASON DATE FOR DARTMOUTH GAME

Coach Secures More Advantageous Time for Contest—Chances Good for Game With U. of Rochester.

With a mid-season game with Dartmouth, scheduled to be played in Hanover November 2, promises of a good season next year are already being fulfilled. Never before has Dartmouth given New Hampshire any but an early date, and this has been in the nature of a practise game for them. Last year the Big Green team practised on the Blue and White September 23; this year, the conflict came October 27.

MORE CONSIDERATION

Due to the real scare given them, Dartmouth has a more respectful attitude toward New Hampshire as a football center. It is expected that if the teams continue to do as well in the next three years as they have in the last three, Dartmouth will give still more attention to local pride if she wishes to maintain it.

Mr. Cowell is negotiating for a game with the University of Rochester at New York Thanksgiving day. He believes that the coming season will be as successful as the one just completed, and plans to have things moving as early as October fifth. The schedule is not complete yet, but it is known that the last game of the season will be at Worcester with Worcester Tech, in accordance with a two-year agreement made last year.

CAPTAIN CAHALANE OUT OF FIRST BASKETBALL GAME.

R. F. Cahalane, '18, captain of the basketball team, was forced to go to his home in Stamford, Connecticut, on account of a slight illness, which the coach, Mr. Cowell, thought was la grippe. Mr. Cowell felt that it was better to allow Captain Cahalane to rest until next week, than to keep him here for the game with the Portland Naval Reserves team and perhaps be without him on the coming trip, as a result.

NIGHTINGALE MAY ENTER STAR NEW YEAR'S MEET.

Interest is high here over the race proposed for New Year's eve in Mechanics Building, Boston, between Jimmy Henigan, Villir Kyronen, Hannes Kohlemainen and Gordon T. Nightingale. There has been considerable talk of matching these stars and if the plans materialize, New Hampshire's crack athlete will be a principal in what will prove, according to the Boston Globe, the best race of its kind ever held in the United States. All eyes and ears are turned toward this event and the undergraduates are sincerely hoping that Nightingale will again be given a chance to show his heels to the country's best.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB GIVES ANNUAL CONCERT IN GYM.

The Girls' Glee Club gave its annual concert Friday night, December 21, in the Gymnasium. The splendid success shows that the girls have done some real work under the coach, Mr. Dalgligh of Nashua and Irene Huse, '18, their leader.

The program, beginning at eight o'clock, was one of wide variety. The girls were assisted by a reader from Emerson College. The soloists of the evening were Marion Lewis, '19; Gertrude Sprague, '21; and Alice Scott, '21. Helena Kelleher, '21, was the violinist and Ethel Kelleher, '19, the accompanist. The special orchestra was composed of Esther Huse, '21, piano; Helena Kelleher, '21, violin; Louise Simonds, '21, cello; and Annie McWeeney, '21, drums. The sextet included Irene Huse, '18; Ethel Walker, '18; Sara Greenfield, '19; Caroline Perkins, '19; Marion Lewis, '19; and Mabel Smith, '19.

The complete program was as follows: "Hark, Hark the Lark," Club; "Come Kiss Your Mammy Good-night," Club; violin solo, Helena Kelleher, '21; reading, "Lullaby and Goodnight," sextet; "Courtly Days of Old," Club; solo, Gertrude Sprague, '21; "Spirit of the Evil Wind," Club; orchestra selection; "Little Grenadier," Club; solo, Marion Lewis, '19; "Deep River," Club; reading; solos, "On the Road to Mandalay," Alice Scott, '21; violin solo, Helena Kelleher, '21; "Goodby, Sweet Day," "Alma Mater," Club.

FIVE WEEKS' DAIRYING COURSE OPENS FEB. 4.

It is announced that the five weeks' course in dairying will open Monday, Feb. 4, and close March 8. This course has been offered every year. It is designed primarily for those interested especially in butter making. The subjects taught are "Butter-making," "Milk Testing," "Market Milk," "Dairy Bacteriology," "Breeds of Dairy Cattle," "Dairy Feeds and Principles of Feeding," and "Diseases of Dairy Cattle." This is a fine opportunity especially on account of the war. Because of labor shortage, there are many positions open to the trained and experienced dairyman. Students after completing it are fitted to take positions as cow testers in cow testing association. The expenses are very reasonable, tuition is free and the course is open to any man or woman who wishes to take it.

ATTENDS VERMONT MEETING.

Professor Wolff recently attended a meeting of the Vermont Horticultural Society and gave two talks, one was an illustrated lecture on fruit packing, the other was on the subject, "The Handling of Apples from Tree to Consumer." He also assisted in judging the fruit exhibit at this time.

PILGRIM QUARTET IS POPULAR

Accompanied by Mr. Thomas, a Humorous Reader

PROGRAM TIMELY

Repeated Encores Assure Singers of Continued Favor—Thomas Varies Entertainment Delightfully

The second number of the college lecture course was given in the gymnasium by the Pilgrim Male Quartet, Wednesday evening, December 19. They were assisted by John Thomas, humorist. The program betrayed signs of the world conflict in the form of patriotic and home songs, while the humorist kept the audience roaring with unwarlike topics.

PATRIOTISM FIRST

The first number introduced the quartet. They personified Patriotism in the selection: "America, America." The blending of the four voices was noticeable in contrast to memories of "agony choruses" found in the fraternity houses and dorms. The applause which followed brought forth an encore. A funny songit was entitled "The Leader of Company B." On the last note and word, "B", the tenor went up to B by means of an almost soprano voice. John Thomas, Humorist, entered the stage with a broad smile showing a full set of teeth, and gave his story of who he was. With many gestures and facial contortions he started the audience on one continuous laugh. His story put forth arguments leading to his conclusion which he proclaimed with basso profundo gestures to match: "I am an actor!"

PERSONALITIES MIMICKED

His response to the wild applause was in the form of impersonations of members of an Irish family who were having a heated discussion as to where the motto, "God Bless Our Home," should be placed. The second encore was an impersonation of an eight year old lad reciting an original essay on "Breath." His characterization was so funny that he was obliged to appear a third time to satisfy the laughing audience. He told two stories, one in which he was discovered by a small boy as being the original "Sunny Jim," the other of an Irishman on a train trying to get something to eat. A tenor solo was the third number on the program and was sung by H. S. Tripp, tenor, accompanied by P. F. Baker, at the piano. The applause which followed brought forth another solo in the clear tenor voice.

FOLK-SONGS

The quartet reappeared to give a medley of southern songs. These included "Swanee River" with humming, "Carry Me Back to Ol' Virginy", "Kentucky Home", "Dixie", and "Old Black Joe." In the last selection A. C. Steele came out with his low strong bass and in all the medley the parts produced pleasing harmony. As an encore they sang "The Long, Long Trail," bringing out the sweetness and tenderness implied in the words. The entrance of the humorist was the signal for smiles and applause. He gave several political speeches with facial expressions which called out spasms of laughter. His imitation of a stammerer trying to speak at a council meeting made his hearers double up with convulsions. The sixth number of the program was filled by the quartet who gave several trench songs. The first, "I'll Wed the Girl," was very melodious, and the second, "Pack Up Your Troubles," contained many bass variations. The encore was a home song entitled "When the Roses Have Faded Away," and at one or two places the tenors sounded almost like soprano and alto.

BASS A STAR

THE REBIRTHDAY.

Coming down through the centuries with ever increasing favor, the anniversary day of the birth of Christ stands out among the nations of the world as the day of days. A time set apart for appreciation of the gift of gifts, Christmas has been received in homes and hearts with the same feeling of goodwill that incited it in the very beginning more than nineteen hundred years ago. Gifts have been exchanged, friendships re-established more firmly than ever, a kind word spoken for all; simply the manifestation of the Christmas spirit.

It is to be questioned whether or not previous celebrations of the anniversary of Christ's birth have been wholly desirable. This thought comes from considering present conditions and in forecasting what light the Christmas season of 1917 will be seen. Heretofore has there not been a shade too much of self-satisfaction, too much of that well-enough feeling, and, "never mind the reasons for the holiday, it's here and let's make the best use of it?"

Perhaps it is better for us that we have gone through fifty-two Christmas seasons in this carefree, light hearted, self indulgent manner. Perhaps the country would be less well off than it now is if the religious viewpoint had been unanimously considered each year. The United States is no doubt unusually fortunate among nations in being able to say that she has enjoyed fifty and more nationally prosperous Christmases; seasons when the country, as such was comfortably well off with no appreciable hardships enforced on the majority. Ever since the welding together of the Union in 1865, each dying year, and its glorious thought of rebirth, has glided smoothly into our lives, and as smoothly passed out, to make way for the new.

It seems inconsistent with the world-murder to have a Christmas this year if it is to be welcomed as others have been. But thanks to the sense of appropriateness and response to stimulations, the day will be in keeping with our feelings. We know, far better than in 1914, 1915 or even in 1916, what it is to be in the universal turmoil. We know that the coat of smirk contentment is a worse fitting garment than it was last year. We feel that somehow we are not entitled to luxuries when the necessities are scarce on account of war's hunger. Then too, the feeling of unrest is still alive to worry and discourage us from continuing to foster only the optimistic conceptions of our own and the country's future actions. Such feelings seldom get beyond the individual in their scope, however.

Since Christmas is almost here again, and coming into a world of blood and bullets and fellow-hate and rapacity, and ruthless destruction, let it not be thought of as giving the lie to Christianity. To be sure, there seems to be a powerful incongruity in Christmas and what has been styled Christianity. The civilized world, believing, probably in the cycle of religious faith taught by the Man whose birthday we observe next Tuesday, is embroiled in a blood-letting controversy that puts to shame the worst pagan demonstration ever recorded in history. In all this is there not a thought that in spite of horrors of war and homesick hearts and depleted home-circles, the rebirthday of our Savior may once again mean peace on earth, good will to men, among all people, just as that birthday nearly twenty centuries ago filled the hearts of men with the desire to serve each other, to be friends, to lay down arms, to help and not to hinder.

Following the advice of history, the true and loyal men and women of the nineteen hundred and eighteenth Christmas will keep on striving for the aims which their country has set, remembering that this time signifies life and attainment and joy, not death, and failure and suffering.

THE SERVICE FLAG.

The thing that can best keep alive a kindly flame of remembrance for the loyal sons of New Hampshire, is the service flag so impressively presented in Chapel Wednesday. Noth could refresh and inspire us more than that red banner with its white center bearing in stars, the figures 237. Pleasantest of all to think of is the fact that the number will be increasing with each succeeding month. Surely that college which has sent more men into the conflict, in proportion to enrollment, than has New Hampshire, is patriotic to the ultimate degree.

The women students, members of the local branch of the American Red Cross, are largely responsible for the handsome gift, which marks in a fitting manner, their appreciation of war and its demands on fellow students. The flag denotes two services; the first being that of the sons of New Hampshire, and the second, the work being done by the women in return for this sacrifice. With such cooperation and thoughtfulness manifested in all branches of war activities, this institution cannot but have a glorious history as a war-time college.

WOOD—FOR WILHELM.

The Christmas season now is here, with snowflakes, bells and holly; vacation days replace dead books. Let's one and all be jolly. Dull plugging hours with stubborn tasks have kept us tied all day, and now we're free to kick our heels and lose ourselves in play. But let us not take all the time for pleasures fun-begetting; we can't afford to loaf and spend while boys in France are sweating. With produce, money, coal and men, which we're in haste now dumping, we can by efforts here at home keep Kaiser Bill a-humping.

The faculty men are on the job, and soon feed the Germans a pill; they are cutting wood to put in their homes and taking the coal to burn Bill. This action on the part of profs is a most commendable one; it shows their everlasting "pep" and gives 'em a place in the sun.

To copy their habits is fine, to slash down some trees is a treat, but to allow our teachers to lead is to brand us as slugs with cold feet. So in the Christmas season, while wintry breezes blow, we'll take our keen-edged axes and to the wood lot go. Not lacking any pleasure, not deeming it a bore, to toil from dawn 'til darkness though back and arms be sore. We'll sliver the forest monarchs that have stood since Nero was downed, and there'll be enough good firewood to last until Gabriel sounds. And perhaps in that great hereafter, when the tide of mankind has swung to the shores of eternal resting, and the deeds of men have been sung, the Creator will thoughtfully give us, as we sit on that beautiful shore, a stick from the very same woodpile that we gathered ten decades before. That limb will be grasped with a relish, we'll wind up with a shout and a yell, and drive it at Murdered Wilhelm, sizzling and stewing in hell.

SPEAK AT AGRICULTURAL MEETING IN LACONIA.

President Hetzel, Professor Prince, B. E. Curry, the extension chemist, and W. P. Davis, leader of the dairy cow test associations spoke at the annual meeting of the State Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Granite State Dairymen's Association at Laconia, Dec. 19, 20, and 21. Other prominent state men who spoke were Huntley Spaulding, State Food Administrator, Secretary of State Edwin C. Bean, and Richard H. Pattee, Secretary of the New England Milk Producer's Association.

LATE SONG SUCCESS HAS VARIED CAREER

Cheapest in Point of Cost Ever Placed Before the Public—Thousands of Copies Abroad.

The recent song success "Three Cheers for Your Uncle Sam," which was tried out at Chapel Wednesday, has had an interesting history, and in several ways, it is a unique production.

To begin with, the authors, Professor Leo R. Lewis, of Medford, who wrote the verses, and Mr. Nixon Waterman, a musician of national repute, composer of the music, wished to place the music before the greatest number at the lowest possible price. Receiving the text of "Three Cheers" from Mr. Nixon in August, Mr. Lewis completed the setting of the verses and tried out the result on his critical friends, who pronounced it "all right."

To publish the song through regular channels was foolhardy, as publishers were flooded with new war songs and "Three Cheers" might go under and drown. It was therefore best to go ahead under local auspices and with this in mind, the application of the pocket card plan was made possible.

The song was ready in card form and in one piano edition by September 15. Band arrangements in two keys were already completed, and soon 1,000 of these cards were in the hands of three groups of United States soldiers in France.

Liberty Loan choruses in Hartford, Conn., organized to stimulate national interest through song, adopted "Three Cheers" as one of their strong members. Prep schools and colleges found the song worth while and in no time, it had gone through six editions. Recently the full orchestral score has been added and in connection with this verification, the Salem Cadet Band, the Waltham, the Boston Festival Orchestra and the New England Conservatory Orchestra, have given this little piece their endorsement. Costing only one cent a copy for the vest-pocket edition of words and refrain, "Three Cheers for Your Uncle Sam," has proven itself to be popular in a wide variety of audiences.

PROF. GROVES TO ATTEND Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE.

Professor E. R. Groves has accepted the invitation of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association to attend a staff meeting of the officials in the boys' department of the committee. The meeting will be held Dec. 27-31 and will decide the policy to be followed in the work for the coming six months. Professor Groves is asked to act as critic with reference to the social aspects of the policy.

Professor Groves will also attend during the Christmas recess the meeting of the American Sociological Society at Philadelphia.

F. W. HALL, '18, TELLS OF BOSTON INSTRUCTION TRIP.

At the meeting of the Agricultural Club, held Monday evening at Morrill Hall, a very interesting talk was given by F. W. Hall, '18, on the recent trip to Boston taken by the animal husbandry classes in animal diseases and live stock markets.

Mr. Hall told of the visit to Squires' hog packing plant, the Angel Memorial Veterinary Hospital, the New England Dressed Beef and Wool Companies' plant and to Swifts. He concluded by saying that it was well worth anybody's time to visit these plants any time they were in Boston.

The election of officers at this time was thought advisable as several of the present officers are leaving at Christmas and there is only one more meeting this semester. The following officers were elected for the second semester: president, C. H. Young, '18; vice-president, C. B. Wadleigh, '18; secretary, M. H. Benson, '18; treasurer, L. J. Cree, '20; master of programs, R. B. Emery, '19; sergeant at arms, R. G. Banister, '20. Executive committee, H. P. Felker, '20, chairman, P. I. Fitts, '20, and W. E. Shuttlesworth, '19.

There were only twenty-one present at this meeting, a very poor showing considering the number of agricultural students in college. Everything is being done to stimulate interest in the club and a good meeting is planned next time, which will be the last one for this semester.

IT'S CHEAPER TO BUY A DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATOR

"Cost" is what you put into a cream separator

"Value" is what you get out of your cream separator

It isn't the "outgo" but the "income" that determines the real value of a Cream Separator

VALUE depends upon the amount and the quality of service the article gives you—what you get out of it.

You get by far the greatest actual VALUE for your money when you buy a De Laval—BECAUSE it will give you much better and longer SERVICE than any other separator.

From the standpoint of its greater durability alone, the De Laval is the most economical cream separator to buy, and when you also take into consideration its cleaner skimming, easier running, greater capacity and less cost for repairs, the price of the "cheapest" machine on the market is most exorbitant compared with that of the De Laval.

ALUMNI BANQUET HAS WAR SPIRIT

Attendance Cut Down by Quarantine at Camp Devens—All Enjoy Real Old-Time Reunion.

Seventy royal rooters of the Alumni Association gathered at the Copley Square Hotel in Boston, last Saturday evening to greet President Hetzel and the New Hampshire men in the national service. It was strictly a war time banquet and the words of the speakers carried a message of service which will be well remembered, particularly by those who have already joined the colors.

President Hetzel was given a most hearty reception. He explained the unlimited field for service offered by the land grant college, both during the war and in the reconstructive period to follow.

Lieut. C. B. Tibbetts, O. R. C., '17, told of the new spirit to be found among the men in uniform and of the characteristic American desire for play. He emphasized the importance of college athletics and their part in training men for service, calling upon the alumni to aid New Hampshire by contributing towards the support of athletics at the college.

GIVES ADDRESS

The address of the evening was given by the Hon. H. L. Boutwell, whose eloquence brought forth the most enthusiastic response.

Professor Whoriskey, honorary alumnus, assisted by Dean Hewitt at the lantern, introduced old friends and familiar scenes of the college. These pictures were a great innovation and were followed by college songs, the accompaniment being furnished by Dodge, Bailey and Hoffman of the college orchestra.

"Chuck" Sanborn proved to be a royal toastmaster and President Hetzel had some stories which even "Pa" Taylor had never heard before. It was a real old-time reunion and yet there was that same seriousness of purpose, the same military atmosphere, so noticeable at the "Home Coming" held at Durham just a few weeks ago.

THE BANQUETERS

Those present were: President R. D. Hetzel; Dean C. H. Pettee; Edson D. Sanborn, '10, president of the Association; L. A. Carlisle, '08, vice-president; P. D. Buckminster, '12, secretary-treasurer. The following members of the Alumni Council: Chas. H. Hood, '80; Dean C. E. Hewitt, '93; Director J. C. Kendall, '02; E. D. Hardy, '06; Henry F. Judkins, '11; Edith G. Donnelly, '12; W. H. L. Brackett, '14.

S. DEMERRITT, '12 IN FRANCE, ALUMNI VISIT COLLEGE.

Stephen DeMerritt, '12, is now in France as purchasing agent for Stone and Webster, construction engineers, who are building a big ordnance depot in France for the United States.

P. C. Cole, ex-'20, writes from a lumber camp at St. Regis Falls, N. Y., and says, "I am way up here near Canada working as clerk in a lumber camp. It is some life with the breakfast at 5.30 and thermometer 10, 14, and 15 degrees below zero when you get up in the morning. It doesn't seem much above that in my little one-room log cabin. The men are Germans, Russian Pollocks, Hollanders and Frenchmen and the work is all in hard wood cooperage stock. Just at present the timber is frozen pretty stiff. I think of Durham often and miss my friends very much."

P. H. Torrey, ex-'19, left Boston with R. B. Harvell, ex-'19, to go to Fort Slocum, where they will enter the Forestry Unit of the U. S. engineers.

Several alumni were back recently: R. E. Haines, '15, who is teaching manual training at the Gunnery School, Washington, Conn.; O. C. Brown, '17, who is junior chemist at the Bureau of Mines, Pittsburg, Penn.; L. W. Cooley, '17, in the hospital corps at Camp Devens, Mass.; P. S. Ward, '16, and H. R. Tucker, '12.

C. B. Durgin, '18, left for Washington, D. C., last week Friday to enlist in the Ordnance department. He expects to be sent to the nitrate plant, which is now being built at Sheffield, Alabama.

GIVE RECEPTION TO CELEBRATE PAINE'S RETURN.

Durham celebrated, last Sunday night, the return of a new war hero, Lansing Paine. Mr. Paine is the son of Ralph D. Paine of this town, who is the author of a series of books for boys, and is a student at Yale. He went to France a year ago and enlisted in the French Ambulance Corps and for distinguished service in this corps was awarded the Croix de Guerre.

He was given a reception in the church. The pastor, Mr. Rev. Vaughan Dabney, is soon to leave for Y. M. C. A. work in France and wore the new Y. M. C. A. uniform for the first time. Mr. James F. Chamberlain, a neighbor and close friend of Paine, delivered the address of welcome. He was followed by Dr. A. E. Richards. Mr. Paine was escorted to the pulpit by Dean C. H. Pettee who spoke in glowing terms of the young man's bravery and hailed him as the successor of General John Sullivan who was Durham's Revolutionary War hero. Mr. Paine then thanked the people very modestly for the generous reception.

The music was furnished by the college choir.

SPECIAL WAR COURSES OFFERED NEXT SEMESTER.

As emergency subjects to be offered next semester to any student of the college who may be called upon in the spring to engage in some form of garden work, the faculty has just adopted the following:
Agronomy 102. Staple Crops and Fertilizers.

This subject will deal exclusively with the growing of potatoes, beans and sweet corn, including selection of seed, planting, methods of culture, spraying, and harvesting. The matter of commercial fertilizers and farm manures will be discussed from the standpoint of the present war situation.

Horticulture 102. War Gardening.

This subject will deal with the planning and operation of the community, school, home and factory garden. It will include a study of sites and soils, fertilizers and manures for gardens, planning the garden, kinds and varieties of vegetables to grow in the state, how to grow the plants, and the storage of the vegetables in the fall.

Horticulture 104. Practical Fruit Growing.

This subject is designed to meet the practical needs of the supervisor of gardens whose duties will also include some work with orchards. It will treat the subjects of pruning, spraying, grafting, a study of small fruits and their culture together with storage of fruits for winter use. The last week of the subject will be devoted to a study of beekeeping, which is designed to stimulate the greater production of honey in the state.

The above subjects are to be given three hours per week for five or six weeks with college credit of one hour each. In order that students in any of the courses or divisions may have the opportunity to elect them, they will probably be scheduled at 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoons.

SPEAKS FAREWELL TO STUDENT BODY

Rev. Vaughan Dabney to Enter Y. M. C. A. Work in France—Present Service Flag—Outline Plan for Cutting Cordwood by Students

At Convocation Wednesday, December 19, the Reverend Vaughan Dabney spoke to the student body for the last time before he leaves to join the Y. M. C. A. workers in France.

In his short address he reviewed the story of "Ruggs, R. O. T. C.," which appeared in the December number of the Atlantic. He said, "the reason why Ruggs won his commission was because he knew men and because he could think under stress." And the reason why the Duke failed was because he did not come up to what was expected of him. The world expects much of college men and women. If college students find what they ought, they will find enough learning to make them humble make enough friendships to make them warm and generous, and enough culture to teach the fineness of simplicity.

Knowing men is important because with the knowledge of men comes the power of leadership. Like "Ruggs, R. O. T. C." college men and women win out because they must know men and because they must have the ability of thinking under stress.

SERVICE FLAG

At the beginning of the hour, Irene Huse, in behalf of the New Hampshire Red Cross Auxiliary, presented the college with a large service flag. The stars on the white center were arranged in the form of number 210, which represented the number of New Hampshire men known to be in the service when the flag was made. Very recent enlistments have raised the number to 237.

At the close of the hour, President Hetzel announced a plan headed by Professor Woodward of the Forestry Department, for the promotion of the cutting of cordwood.

The entire student body was divided according to counties under a county leader, and then subdivided according to towns, each town having a town leader. This plan included both men and women. The part of the women being to help in any possible way the work of organization, and reward in the form of entertainments or banquets.

The plan consists of securing pledges from the men, as to the amount of wood they are willing to be responsible for. The town leaders will see that the pledges are kept, as far as possible, and at the end of vacation will make reports to their county leaders who in turn will report to Professor Woodward. It is probable that this report will be made at some convocation exercise after college opens in January.

ORGANIZE TO CUT WOOD IN HOLIDAYS

Students to Help Relieve Serious Coal Shortage—Appoint County Leaders and Town Foremen

The plan for the promotion of wood-cutting by students in the Christmas vacation as outlined in Chapel is a serious movement by college authorities to do their part to relieve the present acute shortage of fuel in the state. Ex-Gov. Floyd, State Fuel Administrator, recently said that he didn't know where he could lay hands on a carload of coal in the state if any town was short. Professor Woodward of the forestry department and chairman of the faculty committee, commenting on the above statement, said: "In other words, coal is not available. We simply must depend on wood this winter and very likely next winter too. The people are deluding themselves when they think it is a temporary matter like the sugar situation—it is absolutely different. It is an extremely serious matter, demanding as its temporary solution the cutting of cordwood."

REASONS FOR SHORTAGE

The general reasons for coal shortage: 1. Labor scarcity at the mines; 2. Car shortage due to demand for war purposes; 3. Extra coal needs of Government, especially for hard coal in submarine zone; 4. Railways decrease 25 per cent. in efficiency during the winter season; 5. All water shipments of coal have been cut down to supply vessels for overseas service. Special reasons why New England is short: 1. Government has commandeered 80 per cent. of its war needs from New England's supply; 2. Canada has used five times its normal amount; 3. Two-thirds of our coal comes by shipping.

The plan of organization is as follows: Appoint the following county leaders: C. B. Wadleigh, Rockingham; L. B. Hoffman, Hillsboro; A. B. White, Cheshire; K. D. Blood, Sullivan; J. W. Dodge, Merrimack; C. C. Dustin, Strafford; M. H. Benson, Grafton; H. Willand, Carroll; and W. C. Wheeler, Coos.

2. Assemble around county leaders for town organization.

3. Elect town foremen.

4. Town foremen canvass the students from each town and make up report in duplicate, one copy to county leader.

5. County leaders to summarize town reports in duplicate, one copy to the Forestry Department.

MORRILL AND SPRAGUE BACK FROM TRY FOR ARMY.

R. S. Morrill, '18, and D. L. Sprague, '20, have returned to college, having failed to pass the physical examinations required by the respective branches of the service to which they applied for enrollment.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM FOR FARMERS' WEEK.

The tenth annual farmers' week will be held January 1, 2 and 3 this season, and the war situation and food production will be the key note of the program.

This year there will be no women's section in connection with farmers' week, but it is planned to hold a special home-makers' week later in the season, when college is in session. In addition to the various addresses and discussions on the program, there will be an exhibit of the products of the Boys' and Girls' Club work in the state. Also the mid-winter meeting of the New England Hereford Breeders' Association, which comes on Wednesday, January 2, and the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Potato Grower's Association on Thursday, January 3.

The first day of the program will be devoted to the discussion of poultry. Moving pictures will be exhibited in the evening.

Wednesday, January 2, is livestock day. The program is devoted to discussions of dairy and livestock problems. Chairman of State Livestock Committee Hunter will report on the work of the livestock commission. Dr. J. L. Hills of Burlington, Vt., will discuss increased food production in northern New England, and A. E. Felker, State Commissioner of Agriculture speaks on some readjustments of our agriculture to meet the present emergency.

The next day, January 3, is to be fuel and organization day, C. M.

Floyd, the State Fuel Administrator, will discuss the fuel situation with special reference to fire-wood, and Huntley N. Spaulding will outline the work of the food administrator for 1918. "Cooperative Buying and Selling" will be the topic of C. E. Bassett, Office of Markets and Rural Organizations, Washington, D. C. President Hetzel will speak on "Agricultural Development as an Educational Process," and Dr. Thos. N. Carver of Harvard will discuss "The Farmers' Income as Affected by War Conditions."

Friday, the last day of the program, will be devoted entirely to the discussion and addresses upon the War Gardens. This will include the gardens of last year, and the plans and demands of the gardens for the coming season.

PILGRIM QUARTET IS POPULAR.

the mythological forge scene. He also sang a Scotch song, by request, "I Love a Lassie" and "When I Get Back to Bonnie Scotland" which he said he could sing better if he only had his kilts. A third time Mr. Thomas delighted the audience with an impersonation. He dragged in a table for scenery, completed his make up by running his fingers through his long hair to arrange it properly and after placing a pair of horn-rimmed glasses precariously upon the tip of his nose proceeded to expound in imitation of a preacher the poem, "Old Mother Hubbard Went to the Cupboard." He closed his part of the program with two more serious poems. The last number was a selection by the quartet, "Absence," followed by an encore.

DOROTHY HANSON WINS CONTEST OVER WORDSWORTH.

Book and Scroll held its regular meeting at Dr. Richards on Sunday evening. Lucile Gove explained the significance of the colors gold and white as used in poetry, and it was voted unanimously to accept them for the club colors. It was also decided to purchase new books for the club library very soon.

There was a most interesting contest in placing quotations from Wordsworth in which Dorothy Hanson was the star contestant, having placed each one correctly, but she had a number of close seconds. After some discussion the poems of Matthew Arnold were agreed upon for the next contest.

Dr. Richards then entertained the club by reading poems by Browning and Byron and with several songs which were especially enjoyed.

At the next open meeting of the club on January 13, Ethel Walker will discuss the Humor in Modern Poetry and an appropriate poem will be read.

QUALIFIED ENGINEERS SAFE FROM DRAFT CALL.

A recent communication to President Hetzel from the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education gives the information that a certain proportion of the engineering students in recognized schools and colleges may enlist in the reserve corps of the engineering department. Such men as are enlisted, remain free from all draft claims on the ground that they are already in the military service of the United States. This means virtually that all students chosen by their institution heads as fit to enlist because of special ability and good scholarship, will upon enlistment, receive a certificate from the president of the institution, which shows them to be enlisted and free from further military duties which might otherwise be designated by draft boards.

A student is thus placed in Class V and may complete his college course, but on graduation, is liable to be immediately called as an enlisted man of the engineer reserve.

CRIBBING AND FUEL QUESTION DECIDED

Faculty Votes to Adopt Measures to Abolish Cribbing—Wood Cutting Campaign for Christmas Vacation.

At the weekly meeting of the faculty last Monday afternoon measures were adopted relative to the practice of cribbing, to a change in one mathematics course, to fire protection and coal conservation.

As nothing has been done to definitely control and eliminate cribbing in the last four or five years, the faculty thought it not amiss to do something in an official way. With this in view it was voted to refer to the administration committee, the matter of defining cribbing and adopting a policy of dealing with the same.

WOOD CUTTING DRIVE

To conserve the coal supply and to stimulate interest in the government's attempts to save wherever and whenever possible, the faculty next voted on and passed a resolution that promises to relieve the tension somewhat. The deans of the several departments, with Prof. K. W. Woodward's help are to arrange for a wood cutting propaganda during the Christmas holidays. These men are going to so arrange matters that every man on the faculty is to wield the axe and have the wood he cuts for his personal use. All students are to be invited to share in this lumbering campaign by chopping wood while enjoying the long Christmas vacation.

Dean F. W. Taylor, head of the agricultural division, has issued a challenge to the other two divisions. He claims that his department will cut more wood than will the engineering and arts and science divisions combined.

HOSE WAGON MISSING

A somewhat humorous note was sounded when measures for fire protection were being adopted, at the instigation of the Students' Welfare committee. This committee recommended that the proper authorities be asked to assign the military companies to duties as firemen, and to have Durham's fire apparatus moved to a central location. At this point the question was asked, Where is the fire apparatus? Nobody in the room could answer, not even Dean Pettee.

IN HIDING

The hose wagon, which is Durham's alpha and omega of the fire-fighting system, has for years been housed in the basement of Pettee block, but when the restaurant was enlarged last fall, it absorbed the hose-house and forced the famous two-wheeled vehicle of many experiences to seek new shelter. Whether it became offended at its dislodgment and perished from a broken heart is a matter of conjecture, but it has gone—somewhere.

With other changes under consideration, the matter of making mathematics 51 A a three-hour course, will be decided at a future meeting. This course is now a four-hour one, and by some members of the faculty, considered unnecessarily long.

After granting a few petitions for early leave of absence to students who cannot get home today after exercises close at noon or return Monday, the seventh of January, before noon without leaving the previous day, the meeting was adjourned.

REVIEWS CAUSES OF WAR.

Last Saturday Professor Whoriskey reviewed the remote and immediate causes of the war before the Tilton Woman's Club. Tuesday, he spoke at Bristol in the interests of the Red Cross membership drive. Next Sunday he will speak at Newmarket at the presentation of a service flag. He is scheduled to speak at Concord, Jan. 7, on food conservation.

SUPERVISING AGENT

ANNOUNCEMENT.

This Service Supplement represents the first attempt to publish information regarding every one of the 237 men in the service in the same issue. It cannot but be of considerable interest to alumni and students and will serve a valuable purpose in the correction of errors.

The editor realizes that many errors must exist and, under the circumstances, this was well nigh inevitable. Speaking frankly, they were perhaps largely due to a lack of co-operation on the part of the students and men in the service with The New Hampshire

Dean Hewitt, Faculty Business Manager, has evolved an excellent system in his office, whereby each man in the service is assigned a large card which bears his name, class, degrees held, and other valuable data relating to his civil life. Each change of address is noted on the card, as well as anything of special interest in his military career. In other words, a complete record is kept of each man, as far as possible, with special reference to his military achievements and present address.

Upon the receipt of a letter at the office, any promotion or change of address is entered on the proper card, the letter stamped "card corrected" and passed to the managing editor. The latter takes such parts as are desirable for news, stamps the letter "news item taken," and returns it to the stenographer who places the letter on file. The letters are thus kept because of their possible value at a later date as war records for the library.

The New Hampshire office is the clearing house for all information relative to men in the service. It has the co-operation of the committee appointed by the President, the N. H. C. Branch of the Red Cross, and the Alumni Association. The information is gathered primarily for the benefit of the college and the individuals upon the request of President Hetzel. The system has proved its efficiency and accuracy. What is now needed, and earnestly asked, is the whole-hearted co-operation of both the students and the men in the service. Students are urged to give the New Hampshire letters, or extracts of letters, received from soldier friends. The men in the service are especially urged to notify the paper of any change in address, or important happenings to themselves or friends.

The management of The New Hampshire will consider it a favor if errors in the list of men in the supplement are reported.
