READY FOR NEW HAMPSHIRE DAY

To Be Celebrated Monday
If Weather Permits

MANY PROJECTS

Suggestions Pour in for Work for the Day—Would Take Weeks to Accomplish All Improvements—Poor Response from Alumni

Plans for New Hampshire Day are growing fast. Suggestions for improvements of the campus are pouring in so fast that to accomplish all would require weeks. There is no doubt but that New Hampshire is to have a big day next Monday.

NEW PROJECTS

Besides the completion of the Gym floor, building the board track, draining the athletic fields, and constructing tennis courts for the girls the committee plans to make some improvements on the campus between "T" Hall and the library, install a foundation for the new Corliss engine in the Mechanical Engineering Laboratory, and clear up the whole college campus.

Prof. Getchell will have charge of the installation of the new engine and will choose fifteen men as assistants.

The cleaning up of the college grounds will be done by the co-eds under the direction of Prof. Eastman.

Improvement of the campus will be directed by Prof. Hepler. He is to have a large crew of workers, both men and women.

MORE BLEACHERS

Two new bleachers are to be constructed under the direction of Mr. Batchelder, who is to have the assistance of fifteen co-eds experienced in woodwork and selected by the instructor. Ten men will also be detailed to help on this work.

Miss Pinkham, '19, in charge of commissary, is planning a chicken dinner with ice cream, to be served at the mess hall. All regular boarders at the mess hall will be served by paying an additional charge of ten cents. All others will be sold tickets for 50 cents. To accommodate the extra large number, some tables will be set up outside. No money contributions are to be asked of the students as in the past but the dinner charge is to take its place.

EVERYTHING READY

Students and faculty are working in hearty co-operation for the success of this, our third New Hampshire Day. Plans are being worked out and everything will be in readiness to start early on Monday morning.

Students will be assigned to working groups and assemble at a place to be announced on the bulletin boards. Every one is loyal to the cause and every one wants to help so let's get to work on Monday with a real New Hampshire victory spirit.

In case of inclement weather Monday the first clear day following will be used as New Hampshire Day.

ENTERTAIN DELTA KAPPA.

Mrs. O. R. Butler and Mrs. H. A. Vickers, patronesses of the Delta Kappa fraternity, entertained the girls of the fraternity at Mrs. Butler's home on Friday afternoon, April 25, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

ALUMNI! WAKE UP!

New Hampshire Day is Monday, May 5, and funds are needed to carry out the extensive improvements planned. Are you going to sit back and see your Alma Mater put off making improvements because of lack of funds? Come now, send your bit to Richard Whoriskey, Durham, N. H., and help make this, our Third New Hampshire Day, a grand success.

PROF. BLISS PERRY TALKS ON HAMILTON

Gives By Far the Most Interesting Lecture of Year—Lamentably Small Audience

Last Friday night, April 25, it was the privilege of the students of New Hampshire College to hear one of the best teachers in the country, Bliss Perry, professor of English Literature at Harvard, who spoke on the life and works of Alexander Hamilton.

After being introduced by Dr. McKay, he first made the point that if it had not been for Hamilton and the work done by him, this country would not be rejoicing in the songs of victory and peace. He gave an interesting account of this man's life, including many details about his rather unusual experiences, many of which are not generally known. As an extremist of the Federal party, Hamilton worked a strong central government, during the term that he was secretary of the treasury under Washington. It was this belief back of him which aided in his doing some of the greatest construction work of the age. It was in these principles that he was so opposed to Thomas Jefferson. Among his greatest work was the placing of the original thirteen colonies on a sound banking basis, establishment of the national credit, both financial and political, and giving the teeth to the government for the enforcement of laws. Some idea of the task may be gleaned from the fact that the nation had a debt of $80,000,000 at the time when he took office.

MODERN PRINCIPLES

And the point made by the speaker was that Hamilton's principles correlate very closely with the plans of the League of Nations. In the times of Washington, his work was the hoop which kept together the staves of government, and in this modern era, something binding must be made to make the League of Nations a potent force.

His lecture held the undivided interest of the audience, but the number of those in the seats was lamentably small. It is to be regretted that the students do not avail themselves of such fine opportunities as are offered in the lecture course, especially when such well-known men as Professor Perry are on the program.

DURHAM LAGS IN FIFTH LIBERTY LOAN.

Dr. M. K. McKay reports that the Victory Loan is progressing slowly, only 45 per cent. of the $19,200 has been solicited so far. Dr. McKay states that the faculty and the students are not doing their part in investing.

Prizes or trophies have been offered to the ten colleges getting the highest subscription per capita. It is to be hoped that New Hampshire College will be one of the first ten.

JUNIOR HOME ECONOMICS CLASS TAKES TRIP.

The girls in the Home Economics class went to Boston Tuesday for an instruction trip to help them in their study of house decoration. In the morning the class, with their chaperones, Mrs. Bernice Smith and Miss Frieda Reiner, went through Paine's furniture store, known as the largest in the country, and in the afternoon visited the furnishings department of the Jordan, Marsh Company, where they inspected the model suite of rooms.

PLANT GROVE IN MEMORY OF DEAD

Impressive Ceremony Marks Memorial Service

EIGHTEEN TREES

Rock Maples Planted in Honor of New Hampshire Men Who Paid the Great Sacrifice of Life in the Past War

A most impressive ceremony in honor of New Hampshire men who have given their lives in the recent war took place at high noon Saturday, April 26, in the form of the planting of trees in their memory. Many colleges are planting living groves of trees as a tribute to their men, who have died in the service, and New Hampshire has taken this means as a small recognition of the sacrifices of her sons.

The trees chosen were rock maples and they were planted back of the library near the old brook. President Hetzel pointed out that in the future this will be a much frequented spot as it is to be adjoining a highway which will go along back of Bonfire Hill, on which there is to be an auditorium, following along back of the library and across the brook.

At quarter to twelve all classes were dismissed and the students gathered on the hill back of the library where the exercises were to take place.

The ceremonies opened with the singing of America under the direction of Marion A. Lewis, '19. Professor Whoriskey then read the names of those men in whose honor the trees were to be planted. These are D. C. Stinson, 2-yr. '05; John Humiston, 2-yr. '14; Paul E. Corriveau, '14; E. R. Montgomery, '15; George D. Parnell, '15; W. H. Robinson, '15; P. S. Willand, '16; W. H. Thomas, '17; A. A. Brien, 2-yr. '17; G. H. Elam, 2-yr. '17; F. E. Adams, '19; D. W. Libbey, '19; R. W. Shirley, '19; O. E. Soper, '19; Cyril T. Hunt, '19; Frank Booma, '20; Fred Stone, '21. Among these Professor Whoriskey also included "Jack" Powers, former track coach, who, although he is not a New Hampshire graduate, has served the college loyally.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH

After explaining in a few words why that place had been chosen for the memorial grove President Hetzel gave the following address:

"We have halted the processes of our college work at this hour in order to partake of a simple ceremony in commemoration of our companions who stopped the course of promising lives in order that out of the most colossal and the most significant struggle the world has known, right and justice might come forth supreme.

"The simple process of putting the roots of these trees into the earth and establishing a memorial grove is but a small and mean recognition of the debt we owe them. Let us add to the labor of our hands a sincere prayer that the life we are transferring to the ground shall catch the flame of love and devotion, from the lives that have gone out, and perpetuate in this grove of living trees, the wealth and patriotism and high purpose, which dwell in the hearts of our noble men. Let us hope that their spirits, breathing their influence through the foliage of these trees, shall sober the life of this college; settle about the forming lives of young men and young women and help to give them understanding; help them to know the desire for devotion to others; help them to know not only loyalty to country but loyalty to humanity. May it be the fountain head of the influence which shall guide this, their college, in the making of strong men and noble women.

"And let us now open our minds and our hearts and yield ourselves

BOWDOIN VS. NEW HAMPSHIRE TODAY

First Collegiate Meet of Year on College Oval at 2 P. M.—Everybody Out and Support the Team

This afternoon at two o'clock, on the College Oval, the Blue and White track team will be seen in action against Bowdoin College. This meet will mark the first collegiate dual meet that New Hampshire has competed in since 1916.

Bowdoin has come to Durham with the intentions of taking a fall out of New Hampshire. Whether she will be successful or not remains to be seen.

It is up to every true New Hampshire man to be out there on the field this afternoon and give the track team the support that it deserves.

EXPECT GOOD RACES

Things to be watched for are the performances of Melville and Felker in the sprints. Both men are going like whirlwinds and it would be no surprise if some of the college sprint records would be smashed by these men. In the distance runs Nightingale and Leath will bear watching. "Night" is not back to his old time form yet but nevertheless much is expected of him. Leath has been running good and is expected to win the distance runs this afternoon. In the field events Sawyer, Andrews and Batchelder will be expected to come through in gala style.

Coach Cleveland expresses confidence that his runners will give Bowdoin a run for their money. He also urges every loyal New Hampshire student to come out and cheer for the team.

NEW STATE ROAD TO PASS THROUGH COLLEGE CAMPUS.

At the last session of the New Hampshire legislature certain sums of money were raised and appropriated for the development of our state highway system. A part of this money has been awarded to Durham and will be expended in building a state road which will pass through the college campus.

The decision was reached last week after town officials had consulted with the state highway department. The new road will form a part of the trunk line system of the state. That part of the highway which is to pass the college will begin at Edgerly's store and go as far as the Boston and Maine station.

This new road will be an improvement to the college campus and will be much appreciated by the students, who have long hoped that a new road would be built. It will add much to the attractiveness of the campus and will fit in happily with the many fine improvements being made by the college.

THERE IS NOT A "CRIMINAL TYPE"

So Declares Commander Osborne at Chapel Talk

INTERESTS AUDIENCE

Tells of His Success with Reforms—Shows Up Crookedness of Office Holders—Has Undivided Attention of Audience

The eagerly anticipated talk of Lieutenant Commander Thomas Mott Osborne, who controls the Portsmouth Nava! Prison, was heard with great interest by every student on Wednesday afternoon when this far-famed prison reformer came to Durham and interestingly related experiences he has personally encountered in his work.

He emphasized the great problem which confronts reformers in the process of caring for those who work against society. Commander Osborne has served a number of voluntary short sentences himself in an endeavor to get at the root of the evils found in the present prison system and upon one such occasion, when asked what he was in for replied, "Guilty of ignorance and indifference." He said in part, "The problem of crime comes home to every one of us, for society cannot be elevated, unless its lower strata is effectively cleaned up. Reference to the last United States census shows that the less than 3,000 reform institutions in this country send out over 76,000 persons in a year, truly an army of social offenders. Consider the sentencing of a man in Massachusetts over 300 times. Such work of courts and judges requires a great deal of energy which might better be employed. Sentencing men to short terms, the infamous "thirty days," is most childish and preposterous.

Reformer Osborne has been interested, during the last five years, in the solution of the state prison problem. His ideas in regard to correcting the evils to be found in the system came from trials he had observed in the treating of difficult children by giving them self government. He was inclined to treat self government in connection with state prisons as extremely ridiculous, but considered it of some value in reducing brutality and increasing the good treatment of prisoners, and so inaugurated the idea in his system of prison control. Something like eighty or ninety per cent. prisoners are "recidivists," that is persons who have served previous prison sentences. One man with whom former Warden Osborne was acquainted at Sing Sing had served eleven such sentences.

One burglar wrote Mr. Osborne, "I regard myself as a finished product of the system. I began my career at the age of seven months, when I was sent to an orphan asylum and I followed this up with terms in three minor institutions, the third of which was Elmira Reformatory, seven other reformatories and three state prisons."

"THE COLLEGE"

Men in Sing Sing regard the prison as the "college up the river." One fundamental idea runs through all corrective institutions—imprisonment, with the result that our prisons are breeding places of crime. What is to be the substitute for imprisonment? The Portsmouth Naval Prison is simply an enormous cage in which Mr. Osborne spent a week as an inmate about two years ago, when there were at the prison 170 inmates and 180 guards.

He said: "We cannot dispense with prisons, for, as a matter of fact, not all deserving individuals gain admittance, as they should, due to the wiles of crooked lawyers. Why should the petty thief be sent up, when the big man of Wall Street is not punished for his criminal swindling? It seems almost inevitable that the tools of

"NEW HAMPSHIRE DAY."

"New Hampshire Day." What fond memories these three words will bring back to some. Memories of pleasant days, spent by a faithful student body in working for their Alma Mater.

Monday will mark the third annual "New Hampshire Day." The two previous have been successful. Let us all work to make this one more successful than any of the past. Let each one get out and give to the cause of New Hampshire all that he has in him.

KEEP OFF!

Among the various improvements that are being done here, is the re-grading of the campus lawns. These lawns were somewhat severely chopped up during the past year and now the proper authorities are attempting to bring them back to their former beautifying state.

But, this can't be done, unless the co-operation of everyone is obtained. It certainly cannot be done if students persist in carelessly sauntering over plots that have just been seeded down. Let's get together and resolve not to walk on the newly seeded lawns. In this way we can help make our campus the most beautiful one in New England.

NEW HAMPSHIRE STAFF HOLDS IMPORTANT MEETING.

New Hampshire staff held its annual business meeting on Wednesday, April 30, 1919, in Room 1-28 DeMerritt Hall. Chris. J. O'Leary, Jr., '20, was elected managing editor for the coming year to succeed Miss M. Ethel Kelleher, who has been serving in that capacity since the first of the year. He will assume office at once as Miss Kelleher has asked for her immediate release. No assistant news-editor or news editor was elected for the time being owing to the lack of proper men. Roland S. Coker, '21, was elected alumni editor to succeed A. H. Moody, '19. O. C. Ward, '21, was elected exchange editor to succeed F. W. Prescott, '19. Miss Marjorie Saxton was re-elected society editor, and the following were elected reporters: A. S. Baker, '21, E. M. Bailey, '22, H. P. Kelsey, '22, Miss Annie McWeeny, '21, and Miss Louise Burdett, '21. Miss Abby Herlihy, '20, was elected business manager for the year 1919-20 and Professors Scudder and Hewitt were re-elected faculty adviser and faculty business manager respectively.

The constitution was amended so as to allow the election of an assistant alumni editor and Miss Judith Jenness was elected to fill that position for the coming year. In appointing an assistant alumni editor the "New Hampshire" is realizing the growing alumni work and is attempting to have the girls' alumnae better taken care of than in the past.

A committee consisting of Miss Cressy, chairman, Miss Jenness and R. S. Coker was appointed by the chair to arrange suitable pins and fobs for the different members of the staff.

COMPLETE REORGANIZATION OF GIRLS' COUNCIL.

Four short meetings of the Girls' Council have been held recently, at which the business of reorganization has been carried forward as far as possible in the limited time. A constitution has been drawn up, and approved after some corrections. It was voted to retain the old name for the new organization. Yearly dues were fixed at fifty cents. It was decided that the president be chosen from the non-fraternity girls. At one of the meetings the girls were addressed by Professor Whoriskey, who advocated the uniting of the proposed May Day celebration with New Hampshire Day. It was voted that this be done, and a committee was appointed by the president to confer with Professor Whoriskey as to plans. The committee includes: Grace Atwood, '19; Caroline Perkins, '19; Celia Gardner, '20; Ruth McQuesten, '20 and Dorothy Flanders, '21. The following officers were elected at the last meeting of the Girls' Council, who are to be in office for the next year: President, Helen Donahue, '20; Vice President, Florence Kelley, '20; Secretary, Amber Arey, '22, and Treasurer, Gladys Rickford, '20.

NEW HAMPSHIRE DEFEATS BATES COLLEGE 5-3.

New Hampshire won its third game from the strong Bates nine, last Wednesday, by the score of 5-3. It was a loosely played game, as Bates made six errors, the third baseman contributing four; New Hampshire made four. The team did not hit so well as on the trip. The game was won in the fifth inning when four runs counted for the Blue and White. Harris reached first on an error by the shortstops. He stole second by a hair, the Bates' second baseman questioning the decision. On the third baseman's muff of Ducker's grounder, "Sam" went to third and "Ducker" to first. Davis went to second at once, and they both scored on Rumazza's fine hit to left center. Rumazza went to second on the throw in and scored on Boutwell's single over third. Boutwell was forced at second on Broderick's grounder. Broderick stole second and went to third on the third baseman's miss of Lorden's grounder. Lorden stole second and when the catcher threw into center field, he went on to third and Broderick scored. Jenness and Butler flied out, and this closed the scoring for New Hampshire. Elwell pitched well for the visitors, allowing only four hits. Talbot and Davidson also did well for the Maine boys. Davis and Broderick played well and Boutwell pitched a fine game of ball.

DELEGATES AT PRESIDENTS OF Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE.

The delegates to the Y. M. C. A. presidents conference at Worcester, Mass., report a very favorable conference. Plans for carrying out the Y. M. C. A. work on the college campus were discussed at length as also was the work accomplished so far this year.

Nearly all colleges have been hampered in this work as has New Hampshire, by the S. A. T. C. and the period of unsettled conditions following.

Plans are being made for a very successful conference at East Northfield, Mass., during the summer, and delegates from all the New England and middle Atlantic colleges will be in attendance.

MENS' GLEE CLUB HOLD FIRST CONCERT AT HAMPTON.

The Men's Glee Club in conjunction with the college orchestra gave its first concert of the year at Hampton, N. H., under the auspices of the senior class of Hampton High school Friday night, April 25. The concert was well attended and was very good. The quartet was very popular and was called back again and again to respond to the applause of the pleased assembly. The orchestra furnished music for dancing, after the concert. This year the musical clubs are taking a number of short trips instead of the annual tour. The second concert will be given at Epping next Tuesday night, May 6.

N. H. CLUB TO HOLD DANCE AT GYM. MAY 31.

A meeting of the "N. H." Club was held at the A. T. O. House, Monday, April 28. Much important business came up. It was decided to give certificates to all wearers of the "N. H." stating in what sport and in how many years the letters had been awarded. They voted to hold a dance at the Gym. May 31. Programs for house dances and the interscholastic track meet will be put out by the club and will contain pictures of varsity athletics. The question of varsity men competing in interclass track meets was discussed but no action could be taken on the matter, which was referred to proper authorities. It is intended, if possible, to give a banquet to the new letter men. Coach Cowell and Coach Cleveland were elected honorary members of the club.

READY FOR NEW HAMPSHIRE DAY.

crimes are punished and real crooks many times get away. The Becker case in New York was cited, in which three men admittedly guilty turned state's evidence by squealing on associates. Gambling in New York was run by four men, one of whom was a state senator, and though they were the real culprits, they were not touched. Unless the machinery of law is clean and honest, what is to be expected?"

DON'T RESPECT US
The great difficulty encountered by our civil government is that members of the underworld have no use or respect for us, for to our crookedness we add hypocrisy. They are the self styled "honest" crooks. The worst fault is our ignorance and indifference. Very few know what is going on inside our institutions of the state, the cesspools of society.

It is absurd to say that tattooing is the mark of a criminal. Despite Lombroso's apparent discovery of certain physical characteristics denoting criminals, there is no such thing as a criminal type. What we really have is a prison type, the product of man's invention. Men are sent from prison with mentality hopelessly damaged and soul hardened. We must appreciate our responsibility, and remedy the great social wrongs of the present state prison system.

The effect of confinement is horrible. There is a hideous monotony in the system of silence. It is terrible indeed to live with 1,400 men, and be unable to talk with any one. The silent system is the most brutal system of punishment ever conceived and, having been tried for the last hundred years, has resulted in mortified failure. Men are sent from prison hating every one, longing for revenge and determined to get even. They learn to be clever, bribe the police and so stay out of prison. It is our business to reform the prisons and the prisoners will take care of themselves.

TELL STORIES
Commander Osborne closed his talk with a number of experiences in which prisoners lived up to the confidence he had placed in their honor and sense of right. Some time ago a youth sent to Baltimore under guard, that he might be present at the funeral of his mother, telegraphed Mr. Osborne, "Have lost my guard. What shall I do?" At a recent performance given by the jackies in Portsmouth, 83 men attended and took part, practically unguarded and every one returned. Certainly the confidence he has always had in a man's sense of honor seems to be justified and the honor system has proved a great step in the solution of the state prison problem.

NEWSY ITEMS OF THE ALUMNI.

ALUMNI NOTES SCARCE THIS WEEK

Many Graduates Neglect to Keep the "New Hampshire" Informed of Their Whereabouts and Doings

If the alumni of New Hampshire College desire to have the alumni columns filled with real live up-to-date news they must get busy and send items in to the Alumni Editor, "The New Hampshire," Durham, N. H. Don't be modest, let's know of your doings. We are interested.

Philip J. Griffin, '17, has been wounded in France according to reports received.

Miss Sarah E. Pettee, '08, is one of the dietitians at the Debarcation Hospital, No. 5, Grand Central Palace, New York City. She expects to continue in the service for a few months at least.

Capt. Charles S. Pettee, '16, and family were visited at their apartments in Allston, Mass., this week by their parents, Professor and Mrs. C. H. Pettee. Captain Pettee is recovering from the effects of being gassed while in the service but has to report at the Robert Bent Hospital every day for special treatment.

Miss Florence V. Cole, '12, who was called home from the South, early in November by the death of her brother, has been teaching at Brewster Academy since the New Year.

Miss Mary A. Chesley, '08, has charge of the girls' dormitory at Brewster Academy, where she is also teaching.

Edward Long, '17, who is with the 20th Engineers in France, expects to be home for Commencement.

A. W. Gamash, now with the American Engineers in France, writes that he does not expect to return to the states before August of this summer.

Peter J. Doyle, 2-yr. '17, has a rating of Chief Machinists' Mate aboard the U. S. Submarine Chaser, 214, now in the government navy yard at New Orleans, Louisiana.

First Sergt. W. H. Thompson, '19, who is in St Nevaire, France, sends a change of address since the embarkation of his regiment of Heavy Field Artillery. He is now acting as private secretary to the sergeant major of the camp. His new address is Emb. Det., A. S. C., Camp No. 1, Base Section, No. 1, A. P. O. 701. He expects to return to U. S. A. in July. PURINGTON, '16, WRITES

James A. Purington, '16, has received a transfer to the American Expeditionary Forces' School in Baune, France. He tells of the arrival of a telegram from the school and of his trip: "March 30 a telegram came into headquarters at camp in Captieux for me to report at Baune as instructor in agriculture. An answer was required at once. The captain said if I cared to go he would sign the order or if not he would say my services couldn't be spared. If I stayed at camp I could have a fine place in the Q. M. C. Canteen and a fine place to sleep with many privileges. The easiest way seemed to stay there but the greater desire to be back in college work brought my conclusions. Packed up my bag and baggage April 2. That night the captain was very good and had the Dodge take me 34 kilometers to the station at Langdon. Then I rode all night until the next noon to get to Marseille. I didn't sleep much but occupied my mind counting the spaces between rails. On most of these trains over here you have plenty of time between ends of rails so that you can doze (between counts.) You possibly have heard why the Erie railway was mentioned in the Bible. 'God mentioned man and all creeping things.' Well the French railways must be mentioned there for they sure creep. Anyway it was a fine ride. And just a fine summer day in Marseille. As one gets near the Mediterranean one sees almond trees, fruit trees, and olive trees. The olive trees could be seen in regular orchards, some cultivated and some growing in the sod on the hillsides. Unlike the almond trees with their delicate pink blossoms the olive trees have none. Yet they have a beautiful green foliage and an orchard looks fine here as they prune very much. Olive trees they prune like the peach in vase form and to look over the tops all look formal or square topped, uniform. Then too, the grape vineyards are common in this section especially on the way up here from the Rhone Valley. Much of the soil before arriving at Marseille is red as in Washington, D. C., and parts of Pennsylvania. For about an hour before arriving at Marseille you pass along a barren country, limestone, yet by the side of the sea and fine. The sea seems to take on a beautiful color. Not being able to get a train until 10.30 in the evening I had a chance to visit the city. I took a trolley ride up around the bay and residential sections of the wealthy, as you can imagine, were beautiful. I rode all that night in an American train arriving here next night. I found things quite satisfactory in that we have steel beds; about forty of our instructors sleep in one barrack, and have a separate mess where we can eat from real plates and avoid wasting time waiting in a mess line. The first few days I was busy registering students. We have some over 2,400 from all parts of the States and Canada as well. The Agronomy Department claimed me and I am teaching corps. At present there are six of us in the department. In my lecture class I have a fine bunch of fellows, about 50. In this class seventeen different states are represented. So you see I have to be careful in lecturing to state all conditions under which crops thrive best."

BLUE AND WHITE AT SPRINGFIELD

Track Team in Competition for Eastern Intercollegiate Championships at Pratt Field, May 9 and 10

On next Friday the varsity track team will be seen in action at the Eastern Intercollegiate track and field meet at Pratt Field, Springfield, Mass. This track meet will be the first annual Eastern Intercollegiate meet. It marks the entrance of ten or more of the smaller colleges into a collegiate association.

New Hampshire, with such men as Nightingale and Leath, in the distances, Felker and Melville in the sprints, and Andrews, Sawyer and Batchelder in the weights, ought to be able to give any of the colleges entered a good run for the championship. Springfield Y. M. C. A. College and Colgate will be New Hampshire's strongest contenders.

Coach Cleveland has not yet decided whom he shall take on the trip but the chances are strong that the men who show good work in today's meet with Bowdoin will be among those sent.

This event will mark New Hampshire's first entrance into any big intercollegiate championship.

MRS. KATHERINE THOMAS DIES SUDDENLY AT HOME.

Mrs. Katherine Thomas of Durham died suddenly Sunday afternoon, April 27, from a complication of heart trouble and Bright's disease. She had been in poor health for some time. For several years she maintained a lunch-room for the students and has always taken an interest in their welfare. She was well known and very well liked by the students. She left three children: Gerard, living in Canada; Michael S., '21, and Angela, a senior in Dover High school. Burial was at Quebec.

FORESTRY DEPARTMENT PREPARES MAP OF DURHAM.

The Forestry Department is preparing a map of the region around the college on a scale of 16 inches to the mile. This is based primarily upon the Dover topographic sheet of the U. S. Geological Survey and maps prepared by Deans Pettee and Taylor. On account of the extent of the land in which the college is interested the map itself is approximately 6 by 3 feet in size. Roads, streams and fences are shown as well as state of cultivation.

As soon as time permits it is planned to prepare an even more accurate map based on an original system of primary triangulation with a ten-foot contour interval. The main advantage of the topographic data would be for showing more definitely the various types of land and setting forth possibilities of drainage.

BASEBALL TEAM LOSES TWO GAMES

Defeated by Connecticut Aggies and Brown—Outhits Both Teams but Lack of Defense Loses

The baseball team came back from a disastrous trip being defeated by Connecticut "Aggies" 7-5 and Brown 8-3.

The Connecticut game was played in a snow storm and the Brown game in a piercing wind. New Hampshire clearly outhit either team but short practice has hindered the development of a strong defense.

ENGINEERS HEAR VALUABLE TALK

J. S. Crandell Speaks on "Tarvia and Roads"

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

Few in Attendance at What Proves to Be Most Interesting of Lectures So Far Held by the Engineers —Next Lecture May 12

The Engineering Society met in the Gymnasium on Monday evening. The meeting was open to the public and special invitations were sent out to the Agricultural Club and to others. At that time J. S. Crandell, consulting engineer for the Tarvia Department of the Barret Company, spoke on the tar industry and the use of tarvia in the making of military roads in the large cantonments.

A few years ago the greater part of the by-products from the coke industry were wasted but at present these products are treated so that these are used in 935 ways, among which are dyes, candy, perfumes, moth-balls, Edison talking machine records and chemicals. Among the products of coal tar is "tarvia," which is left after certain processes known as fractional distillation. This product is allowed to stand in enormous tanks to let any water in it settle, and it is then pumped into tank cars and steamers, which transport it to various parts of the country. From them it is either pumped or allowed to flow by gravity to smaller storage tanks or in some cases directly to the distributing trucks and wagons.

MAKE ROAD SOLID

Roads made in this manner of treatment have a body of rock pieces packed with sand. The finer crushed rock is placed upon this bed and the tarvia sprayed on and the whole mass rolled into a solid road.

The Barrett Company held many of the contracts for the cantonment roads. Working conditions on these roads were very bad. The bed was often under water and the workmen had no adequate place to live. At Camp Upton men were brought by train every day even from New York City. It was necessary to build these roads before the other construction work could go on.

Mr. Crandell's talk was illustrated with lantern slides showing tar manufacture and the building of military roads both in America and abroad. A motion picture of the road construction at Camp Upton was also shown which illustrated this phase of work in one of the best possible manners. SPEAKS MAY 12

Mr. Crandell will come to Durham again on May 12 to give the remaining lecture of this series. He will at that time cover, "Brick, Wood and Stone Pavements," "Creosote Oil and Its Use on Wood Paving," and "Road Maintenance." A goodly attendance is desired.
