DURHAM, NH – Approval of President Trump from New Hampshire residents continues to be low and unchanged over the past year. Nearly half of Granite Staters would like to see more miles of physical barrier on the U.S.-Mexico border, but nearly two-thirds believe Trump was not justified in declaring a state of emergency to get money to pay for constructing a physical barrier. Core Trump supporters are strongly in favor of increased physical barriers on the border and believe he was justified in declaring a state of emergency.

These findings are based on the latest Granite State Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Six hundred four (604) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed in English by landline and cellular telephone between February 18 and February 26, 2019. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 4.0 percent.

Presidential Approval

Granite Staters' assessment of Donald Trump's performance as President has stayed largely unchanged despite many controversies over the past year. Forty-three percent approve of Trump's performance, 53% disapprove, and 3% don't know or are unsure. Trump's net approval rating (-10%) is slightly lower than in October 2018 (-6%) but remains markedly higher than last February (-24%).

Presidential Approval - Donald Trump
* We ask that this copyrighted information be referred to as the Granite State Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center.

Approval of President Trump remains closely tied to partisanship. Eighty-four percent of Republicans approve of Trump's job performance, 36% of Independents approve, while just 6% of Democrats approve of Trump's performance as President. Support for Trump among these groups is unchanged since October 2018. Approval among self-identified conservatives (84%), those with a high school education or less (53%), and those aged 18 to 34 (37%) is also unchanged since October.

Conservative talk radio listeners, those who voted for Trump in 2016, self-described conservatives, those who attend religious services once a week or more, gun owners, men, and North Country residents are most likely to approve of Trump's performance. Approval of Trump increased significantly since October among conservative talk radio listeners and Central/Lakes Region residents. Those who voted for Hillary Clinton in 2016, self-described liberals, self-identified Democrats, NHPR listeners, Seacoast residents, those who have completed postgraduate work, and women are least likely to approve of Trump's performance. Approval among Seacoast residents declined significantly since October.

Favorability Ratings - President Donald Trump

Trump's personal favorability rating among New Hampshire adults is also unchanged since last spring. Trump is currently viewed favorably by 40% of Granite Staters, 53% have an unfavorable opinion of him, and 7% are neutral or don't know enough to say.

Conservative talk radio listeners, those who voted for Trump in 2016, self-described conservatives, those who attend religious services once a week or more, gun owners, and men are most likely to have a favorable opinion of Trump. Trump's favorability has increased significantly since October among conservative talk radio listeners, North Country residents, and those who attend religious services once a week or more. Self-described liberals, those who voted for Hillary Clinton in 2016 or did not vote, NHPR listeners, those who have completed postgraduate work, local newspaper readers, Seacoast residents, those who never attend religious services, and women are least likely to have a favorable opinion of Trump. Trump's favorability has declined significantly since October among NHPR listeners, Seacoast residents, and those who attend religious services once or twice a month.

Favorability - Donald Trump
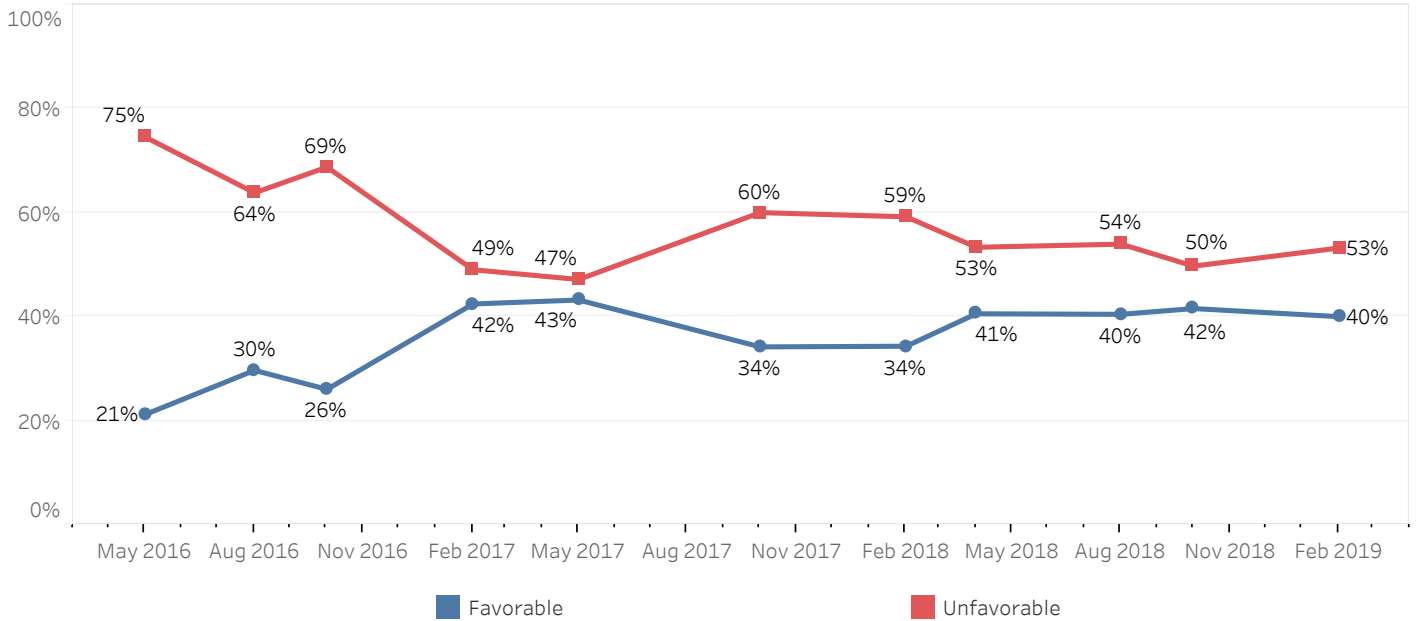

Trump's net favorability rating, the percentage of people who have a favorable opinion minus the percentage who have an unfavorable opinion, is -13%. Trump's popularity among Republicans (+67%) and Democrats (-90%) has remained largely steady since he was elected, though his popularity among Independents (-25%) has fallen since October (-15%).

Economic Approval

Approval of President Trump's handling of the economy among New Hampshire residents is also unchanged since April 2018: 52% of respondents currently approve of his handling of the economy, 43% disapprove, and 5% neither approve nor disapprove or don't know.

Trump Approval - Handling the Economy
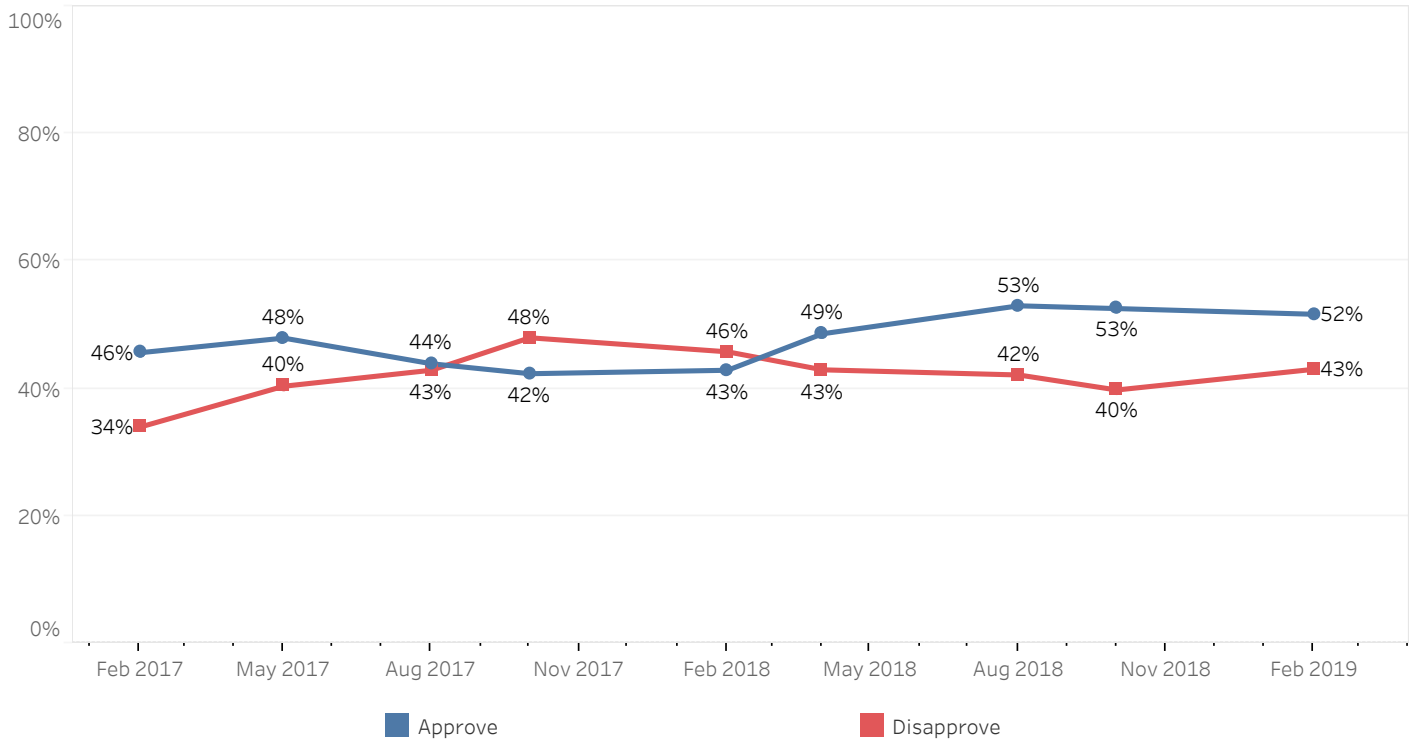

The vast majority of Republicans approve of Trump's handling of the economy (90%), while just over half Independents (53%) agree. Very few Democrats (11%) approve of Trump's handling of the economy.

Economic Approval - by Party ID
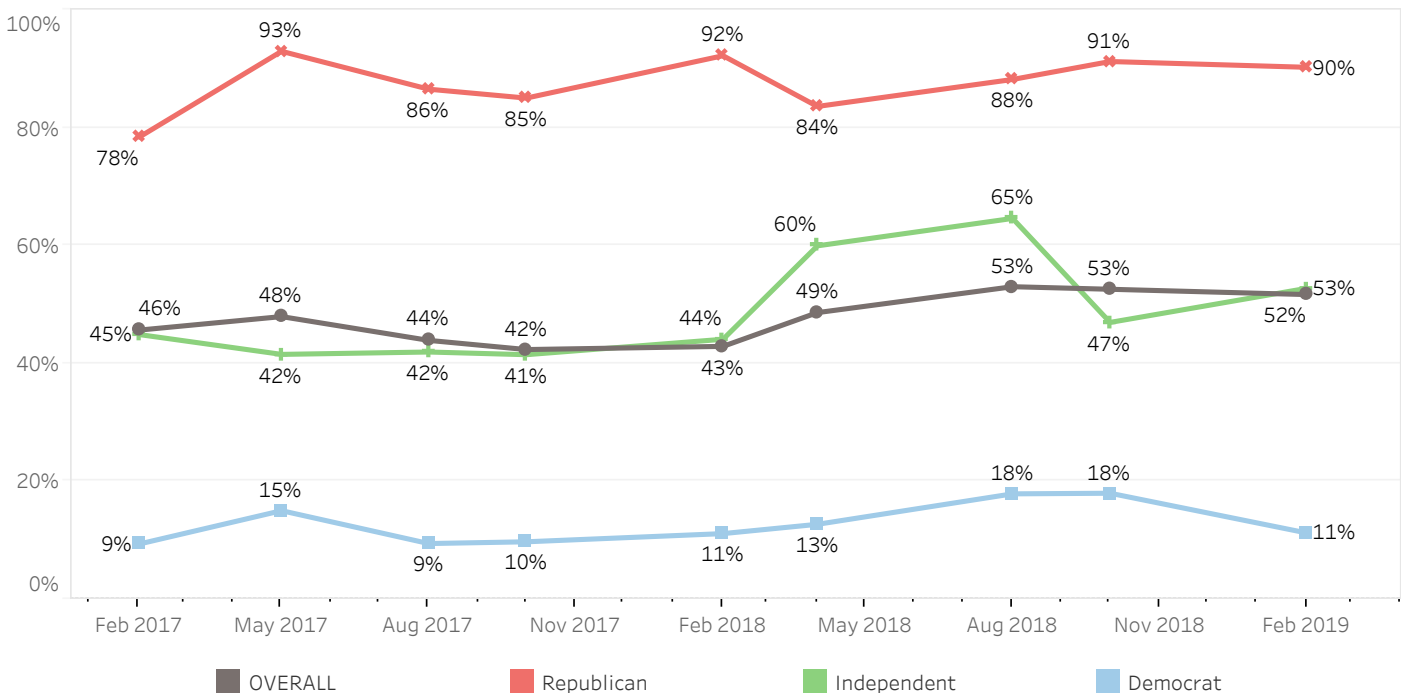

Foreign Affairs Approval

Granite Staters' opinion of Trump's handling of foreign affairs has remained steady since last spring but continues to lag behind approval of his handling of the economy. Currently, 43% of New Hampshire adults approve of how Trump is handling foreign affairs, 52% disapprove, and 5% neither approve nor disapprove or don't know.

Overall, 41% of New Hampshire residents approve of Trump's handling of the economy and his handling of foreign affairs, 9% approve of his handling of the economy but disapprove on foreign affairs, 2% approve of his handling of foreign affairs but disapprove on the economy, and 40% disapprove of his handling of both.

Trump Approval - Foreign Affairs
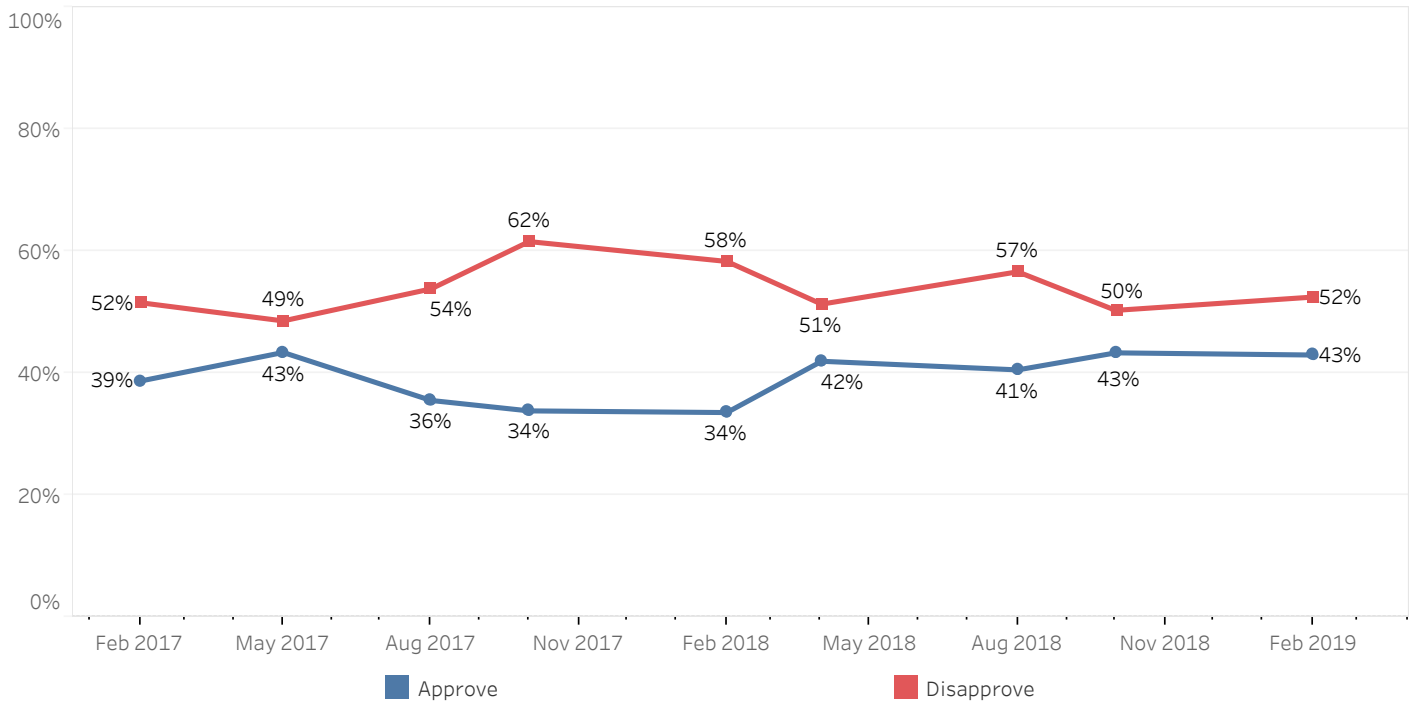

Eighty-three percent of Republicans approve of Trump's performance in foreign affairs, but only 35% of Independents approve and approval among Democrats remains very low (6%).

Foreign Affairs Approval - by Party ID
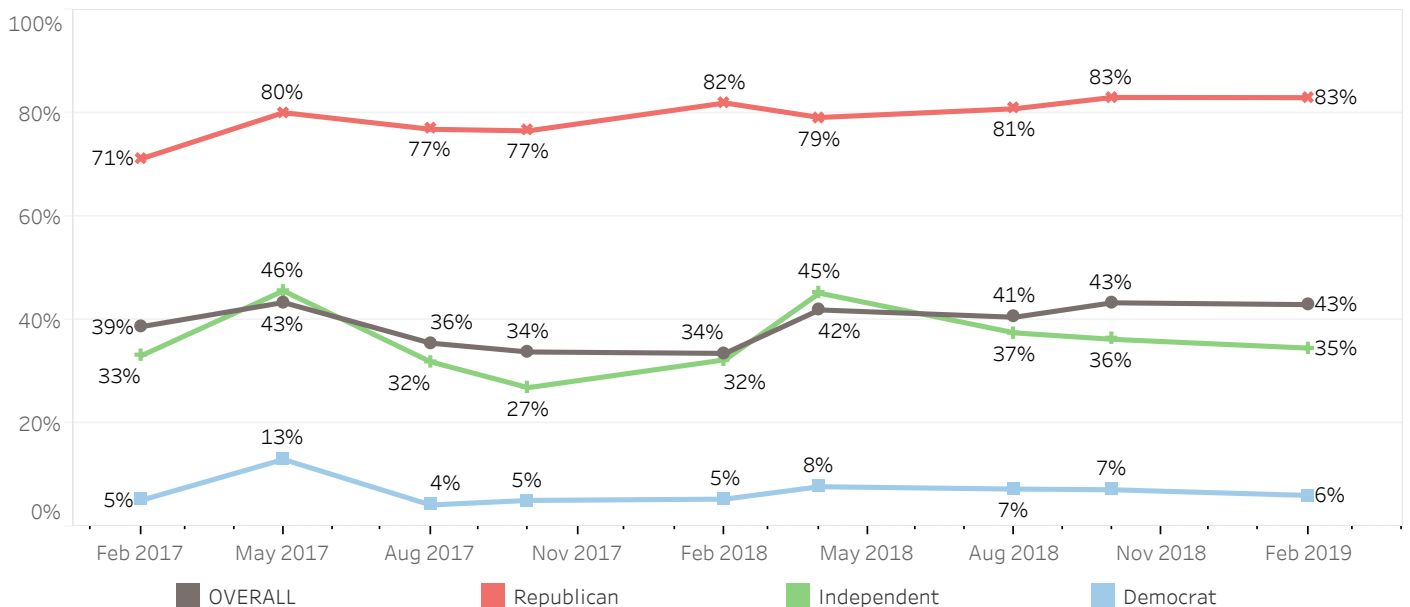

US Heading in Right Direction or On Wrong Track

Overall, New Hampshire residents continue to be largely pessimistic about the direction of the country. Thirty-nine percent of New Hampshire residents think things in the country are going in the right direction while 57% say things are seriously off on the wrong track and 4% don't know or are unsure. Feelings on this question are largely unchanged over the past year.

Right Direction – Wrong Track
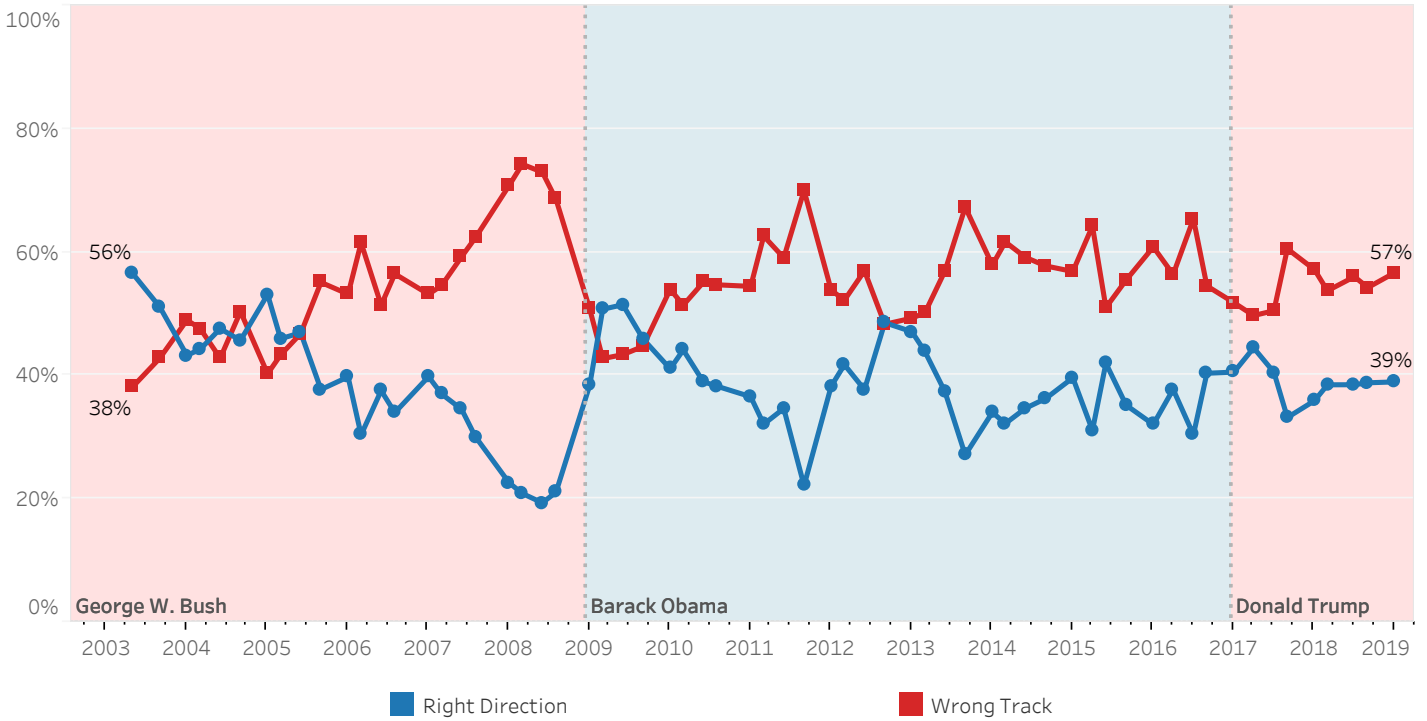

Opinion about the direction of the country remains very closely tied to partisanship. Just over two-thirds of Republicans (69%) believe the country is headed in the right direction but only 35% of Independents and 9% of Democrats agree.

Right Direction - by Party ID
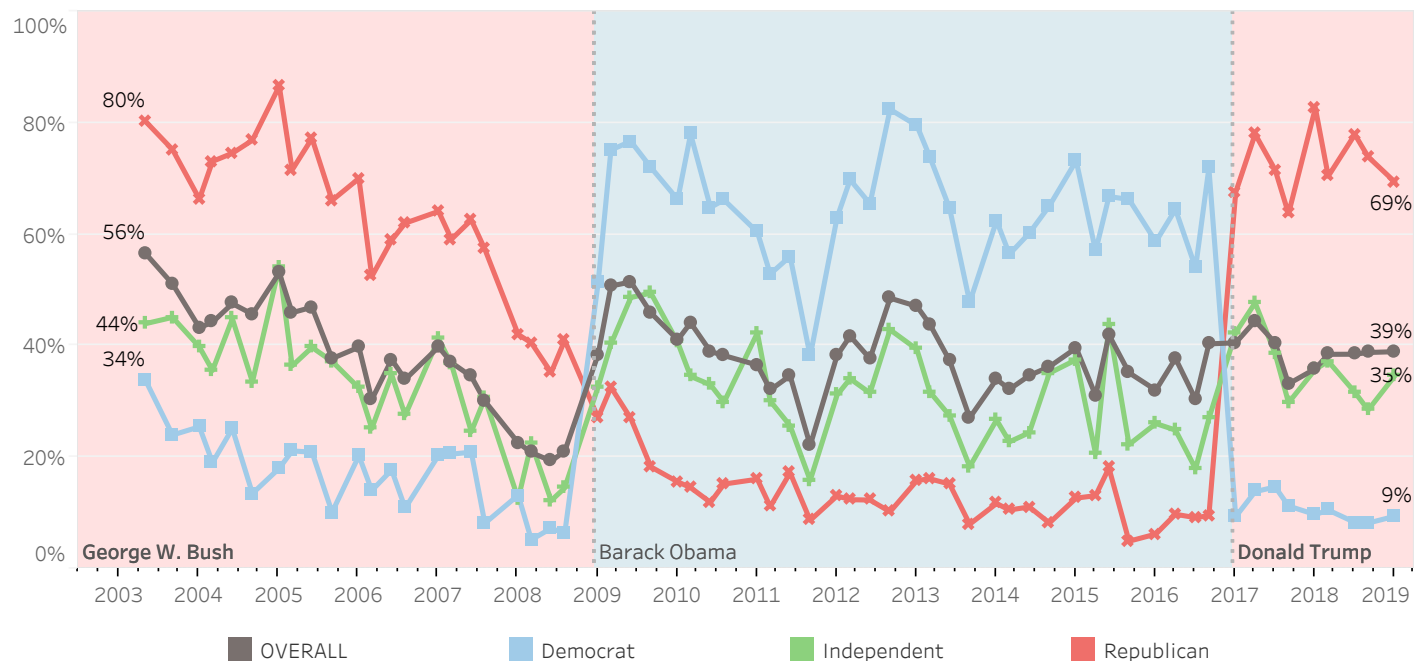

Border Wall

New Hampshire residents report high levels of awareness of the debate about building a wall along the U.S.-Mexico border. Just over half (54%) report hearing a great deal about the debate, one-third (32%) say they have heard a fair amount, 10% have heard only a little, and 3% report hearing nothing at all about it.

Democrats (63%) are more likely than Republicans (53%) or Independents (42%) to report that they heard a great deal about the border wall debate.

How Much Heard or Seen About Border Debate
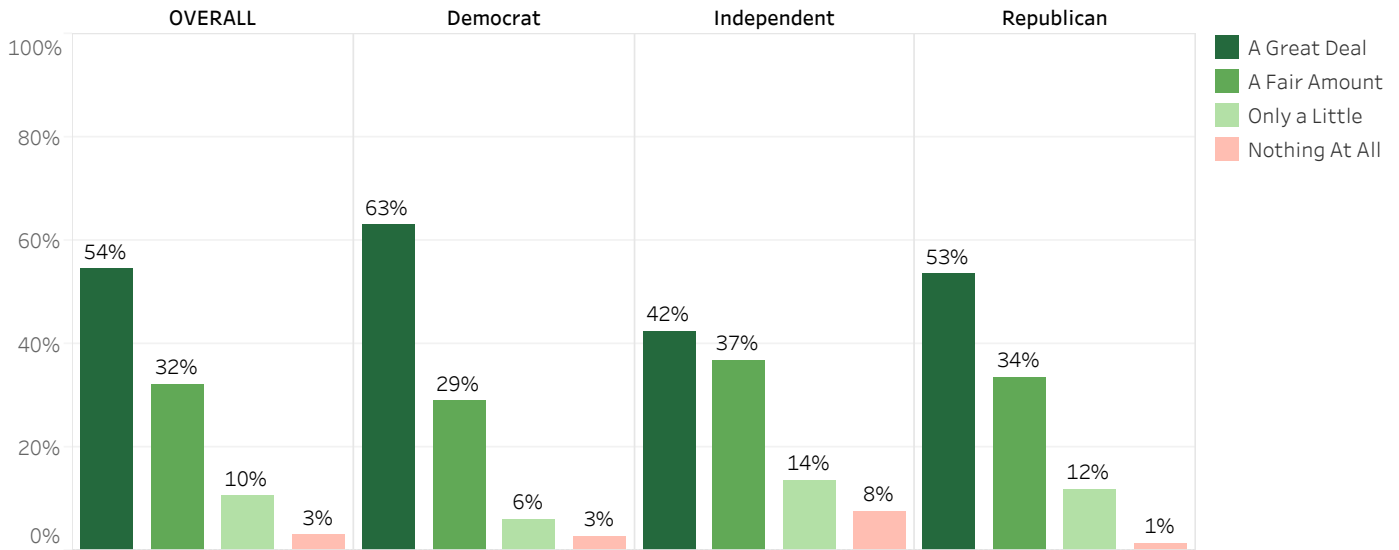

Respondents were asked whether they would prefer there to be more or fewer miles of physical barrier on the U.S.-Mexico border or whether the current situation is about right. Nearly half of New Hampshire adults (46%) believe there should be more miles of physical barrier on the U.S.-Mexico border, one-third (34%) believe the current situation is about right, only 12% believe there should be fewer miles of physical barrier, and 8% don't know or are unsure.

Eighty-three percent of Republicans would like to see more miles of physical barrier on the border and only 4% would like to see fewer miles. Nearly two-thirds of Democrats (62%) believe that the current situation is about right while 20% would like to see fewer miles of physical barrier. Independents are more divided: 42% would like to see more miles of physical barrier on the border, 28% believe the current situation is about right, and 14% would like to see fewer miles of physical barrier. Ninety-five percent of conservative talk radio listeners and 90% of those who voted for Trump in 2016 would like to see more miles of physical barrier.

Preference for Miles of Physical Barrier on U.S.-Mexico Border
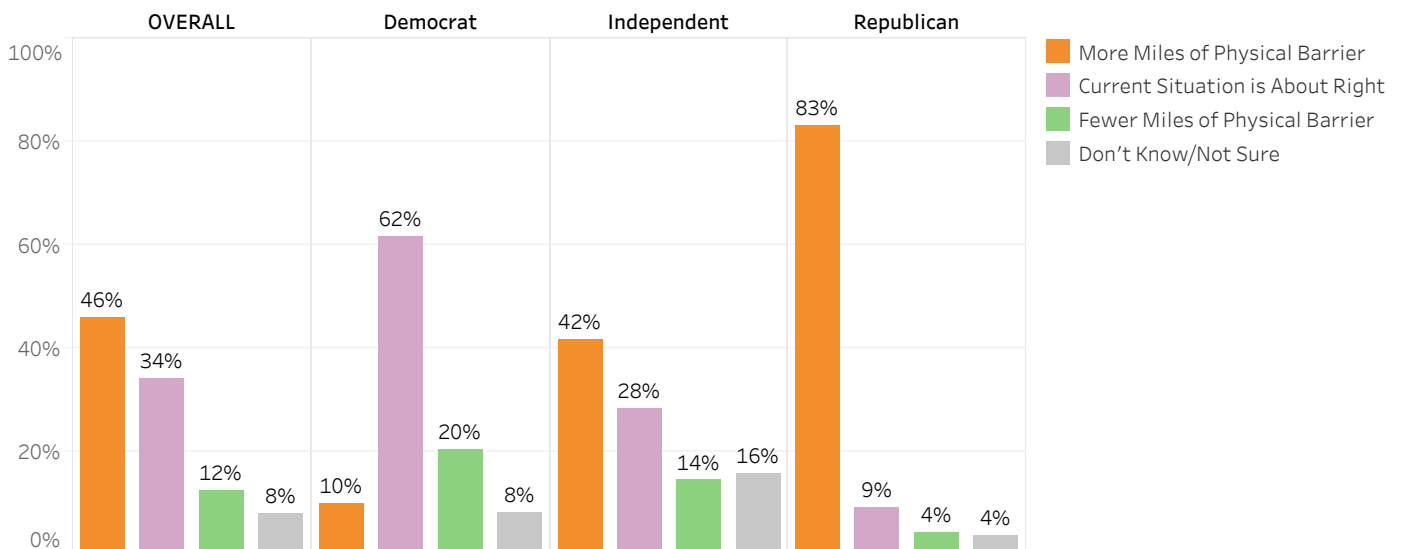

While a plurality of New Hampshire residents believe there should be more miles of physical barrier on the U.S.-Mexico border (46%), only one-third (34%) believe that President Trump was justified in declaring a state of emergency to get money to pay for the construction of a physical barrier on the border. Sixty-two percent of residents believe Trump was not justified in declaring a state of emergency while 5% don't know or are unsure.

Nearly all Democrats (95%) believe Trump was not justified in declaring a state of emergency and more than two-thirds (69%) of Independents agree. Republicans, however, disagree: two-thirds (66%) believe Trump was justified in declaring a state of emergency and only a quarter (25%) believe he was not justified in doing so. Ninety-two percent of conservative talk radio listeners, 77% of those who voted for Trump in 2016, and 71% of self-described conservatives believe Trump was justified in declaring an emergency.

Granite State Poll Methodology

These findings are based on the latest Granite State Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Six hundred four (604) randomly selected New Hampshire adults were interviewed in English by landline and cellular telephone between February 18 and February 26, 2019. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 4.0 percent. These MSE's have not been adjusted for design effect. The design effect for the survey is 1.2%.

The random sample used in the Granite State Poll was purchased from Scientific Telephone Samples (STS), Rancho Santo Margarita, CA. STS screens each selected telephone number to eliminate non-working numbers, disconnected numbers, and business numbers to improve the efficiency of the sample, reducing the amount of time interviewers spend calling non-usable numbers. When a landline number is reached, the interviewer randomly selects a member of the household by asking to speak with the adult currently living in the household who has had the most recent birthday. This selection process ensures that every adult (18 years of age or older) in the household has an equal chance of being included in the survey.

The data have been weighted to adjust for numbers of adults and telephone lines within households. Additionally, data were weighted by respondent sex, age, education, and region of the state to targets from the most recent American Community Survey (ACS) conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau. In addition to potential sampling error, all surveys have other potential sources of non-sampling error including question order effects, question wording effects, and non-response. Due to rounding, percentages may not sum to 100%. The number of respondents in each demographic below may not equal the number reported in cross-tabulation tables as some respondents choose not to answer some questions.

For more information about the methodology used in the Granite State Poll, contact Dr. Andrew Smith at (603) 862-2226 or by email at andrew.smith@unh.edu.
