Chairman, Department of Sociology, University of Iowa, to the members, the Committee of Sociology of the University of Iowa, and to all those who have contributed to the publication of this book.

Dr. H. L. Slobin, head of the Department of Sociology, University of Iowa, to the members of the Department of Sociology of the University of Iowa, and to all those who have contributed to the publication of this book.

He is a most entertaining person, and his speech was very interesting to listen to. He used many examples from his own experience, and it made his talk more vivid and engaging. The audience was very attentive and listened intently to every word he said. The way he presented his ideas was very clear and easy to understand. He also answered all the questions raised by the audience, and that was very helpful.

The topics he covered were very relevant and timely, and I think that the students and faculty members found them to be both informative and thought-provoking. He ended his speech with a call to action, urging everyone to think critically about the issues he had discussed and to take steps to make a positive difference in the world.

In conclusion, I would like to say that Dr. Slobin's speech was a great success. The way he engaged the audience and presented his ideas was very effective, and I believe that it will have a positive impact on the way the students and faculty members think about the issues he addressed. Thank you, Dr. Slobin, for your wonderful speech and for sharing your insights with us.
