Win Annual Interfrat.
Track Meet With Margin

STRONG IN FIELD EVENTS
Lambda Chi Alpha Is Runner-up—
Creditable Performances Turned in Make Coach Cohn Optimistic—
Sophomores Make Highest
Class Score

Scoring heavily in both track and field events, the Phi Mu Delta fraternity won the annual inter-fraternity track meet, last Saturday with a score of 42 points. Lambda Chi Alpha was second with 32 points; Alpha Tau Omega, third, 20 points; Gamma Gamma Gamma, fourth, 17; Theta Chi, fifth, 16½; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, sixth, 15; Delta Pi Epsilon, seventh, 11; Kappa Sigma, eighth, 7; non-fraternity, ninth, 1½. The first four places in each event scored 5, 3, 2, and 1, respectively.

Phi Mu Delta, by its victory, wins the first leg on the new inter-fraternity track trophy, purchased through fraternity subscription. The trophy, to become a permanent possession, must be won three times.

A new college track record was established during the meet when Warren, '25, A. T. O., threw the javelin 139 feet in winning the event. The record is not expected to stand long, however, for last Saturday's meet was the first held at New Hampshire to include the javelin event.

This first meet of the season proved Coach Cohn's men to be in promising condition to start the varsity season against Northeastern at Durham, next Saturday. The performances in all but five of the events were noticeably better than those in the interfraternity meet of last year.

Cotton, '23, Phi Mu Delta; Draper, '24, Lambda Chi Alpha; Davis, '25, Phi Mu Delta; Coughlin, '25, Tri Gamma, and Hobert, '23, Phi Mu Delta, were the high scorers of the meet, each having accounted for 10 points.

Cotton took first in the hammer, second in the 440, and third in the shot-put. Draper won in both the high and low hurdles, but was hard pressed in the latter event by Gunn, '24, Lambda Chi Alpha.

Hobert had little trouble winning the shot-put and the discus. His performance in the former was especially good.

both the high and broad jumps. In neither was he far behind the college record.

Coughlin showed up particularly well in the middle distances, winning both the "880" and "440" in a manner that gives promise for the Blue and White in the coming Northeastern meet.

The score by classes shows that the majority of track stars are sophomores. The 1925 class scored 64; 1923, 40; 1924, 38; and 1926, 20. For the first time in its history, the 1923 class failed to win the interclass track meet.

The summary:
100-yard Dash. First heat: Won by Brown, '25, D. P. E.; second, Williamson, '26, A. T. O. Second heat: Won by Wentworth, '25, S. A. E.; second, Rollins, '25, L. C. A. Final: Won by Brown; second, Wentworth; third, Williamson; fourth, Rollins.

GRABILL SPEAKS AT AGGIE CLUB MEETING MONDAY

Gives Instructive Talk
On "Housing the Herd"

MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Speaker Gives Comprehensive Outline of History of Dairying—Shows Development of Animal Housing—Executive Committee For Annual Dinner Chosen

At a meeting of the agricultural club, held on the evening of April 16, the members were treated to an exceptionally entertaining talk given by Mr. D. Q. Grabill of the James Barn Equipment Manufacturing Company of Madison, Wisconsin. Mr. Grabill is connected with the educational service of that well known firm and his subject was "Housing the Herd." In a comprehensive, but none the less intensely interesting manner, the speaker outlined the history of the dairy industry and the development of the sheltering system from the antiquated hovel with its filth and darkness to the present elaborate and comfortable barn of wood, cement and steel.

Mr. Grabill has toured the country extensively and has spoken at several of the large western universities. He is now traveling the East and is due to address the agricultural clubs at some of the other nearby state colleges and universities. That the club members appreciated the opportunity presented to acquire some brand new ideas on the subject of dairy barn construction was evidenced by a very good attendance.

During the business session, amongst other things, occurred the appointment of the executive committee for the annual dinner of the club which comes during the spring term. Those appointed were George Middlemas, '23 (chairman), Earl Hewitt, '25, and Kenneth Bassett, '23. The consumption of several boxes of an excellent brand of cigars brought the evening to a most pleasing close.

On Wednesday evening, April 18, in the Men's Gym, the fifth annual demonstration of class work in physical training by the women students of the college was presented to an appreciative group of spectators. This exhibition was supervised by Helen Bartlett Wassall, Physical Director, and Dorothy Flanders, '22, her assistant.

The first number on the program was "The Indian Club Drill" by the juniors. This drill was well done and showed evidence of excellent instruction.

The next number was a charming dance called "The Debutantes," by Anna Magwood and Dorothy Thurston.

The freshmen had the floor for the Dumb-bell Drill as the third number. Next, came "Siciliano," a tambourine dance by the juniors. Those who took part in this colorful number were: Katherine French, Helen Dooley, Rachel Pennel, Elizabeth Baker, Alice Kelsey, Elvira Dillon, Adeline Davis, Ruth Sterling, Irma Dunn and Edith Langdale.

The sophomores presented a very good wand drill as the fifth number of the program.

Nine freshman girls, Anna Flanagan, Bernice Bennett, Ruth Finn, Pauline Johnson, Dorothy Clarkson, Harriet Brady, Dorothea Savithes, Edith Grant and Grace Cunningham appeared for the sixth number in "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers." This number won much applause from the spectators.

A lively basket ball game between the "Blue Stars" and the "Reds" was the next feature. A summary of the game is as follows:
"Blue Stars"
Master James Hayes
Master Dwight Perley
Master Burr
Master Herbert Jackson
Master Thomas Polomba
"Reds"
Master McHale
Master Ralph Hetzel

A dance, "The Dutch Twins," by Ila Batchelder and Beatrice Britton was a relief after the strain of the previous number.

"The Russian Bridal Dance" by the sophomores was perhaps one of the best features of the evening. In this dance twelve bridesmaids: Ethel Cowles, Isabel Horner, Mildred Tinker, Helen Hamer, Helen Emery, Pauline Putnam, Anne Craig, Dorothy Bassett, Marjorie Woodbury, Alice Turrell, Ida Neil and Salome Colby tease the bridal pair, Louise Nutting and Mary Hoitt, until the groom pays a forfeit.

A number which pleased the audience extremely was the Clog Dance by Irma Dunn and Helen Dooley.

Walter Camp's Daily Dozen, as demonstrated by the freshmen, sophomores and juniors was a helpful suggestion to "suffering humanity."

The last number on the program consisted of group games and relays by the freshmen, sophomores and juniors. Among the games played were, Dumb-bell Relay, Fox and Geese, Wand Relay, and Beater Goes 'Round.

After much discussion the men voted to purchase canes of the style of one of the samples submitted by the cane committee.

The president reminded the members of the class that all class dues must be paid before April 23.

STUDENT BODY ADDRESSED BY COUNT TOLSTOY

Noted Russian Declares
Bolshevism Near Collapse

SCORES H. G. WELLS

Says Bolsheviki Economic Program Must Be Changed—Speculation Only Business Activity in Moscow—Humorously Comments on His Millions in Rubles

The student body had the privilege of hearing Count Ilya Tolstoy speak on "The Truth About Russia" at convocation last Wednesday, April 18. Count Tolstoy predicts that the Bolsheviki regime cannot last much longer and that the ultimate result of the revolution will be what the people really want, a republic of some sort, perhaps a United States of Russia.

Count Tolstoy is the son of the late Count Leo Tolstoy, novelist and social reformer, and is well known for his biography of his father, as well as other books and articles.

Professor Donald Babcock was in charge of the opening exercises. He presented the intersorority scholarship cup, offered by the Alpha Xi Delta fraternity, to that fraternity, and the cup for the interfraternity boxing championship to the Phi Mu Deltas.

"The Bolsheviki collapse is certain," said Count Tolstoy, "because the gold has been expended and a complete physical collapse, starvation indeed, is practically unavoidable without a complete change in the present economic program. The strain was relieved somewhat a year ago when free trade was allowed, but the apparent business now visible in Moscow is the result of speculation rather than legitimate commercial activity."

"America," he explained, "cannot live independent of the rest of the world, but must take her part in the life of the entire world."

"Russian affairs," continued Count Tolstoy, "are often misrepresented. H. G. Wells, for example, spent ten days of his valuable time in Russia and then wrote 'Russia in Shadows.' Russia is the largest country in the world and previous to the war fed more than half of Europe. There is no middle class in Russia. It has an illiterate peasantry of 85 per cent, and a few intellectuals. The latter are superior in education to any other group in the world."

Count Tolstoy ended his talk by showing a note for a million rubles, which he carries around in his suitcase which, he declared, he does not bother to lock.

At a meeting of the senior class held Wednesday evening, April 18, the following men were elected to give class day addresses: Mark A. Neville, address to faculty and undergraduates; Robert Wilson, class will; and Herbert Barnes, class history. President Earl Farmer announced that the ivy oration would be given by the vice president, Ida Boodey.

President Farmer appointed Herbert Barnes, Harold Farrar and Alfred French to serve on a committee for arrangements for the commencement ball.

After much discussion the men voted to purchase canes of the style of one of the samples submitted by the cane committee.

The president reminded the members of the class that all class dues must be paid before April 23.

WORK COMPLETELY OUTLINED FOR 7TH ANNUAL NEW HAMPSHIRE DAY, MAY 2

Costume Party to Supplant Usual Vaudeville Show
For Entertainment of Evening Preceding Work-fest

PROJECTS ARE LIMITED TO SEVEN IN NUMBER

Completion of Weight Events Field, Building of Landing for Ski-Jump and Work on Girls' Athletic Field Major Items in Plans—Huge Amount of Work to Be Accomplished—New Tennis Court for Women to Be Built

The seventh annual New Hampshire Day, which will occur on Wednesday, May 2, gives promise of being the most successful and interesting event of its kind ever staged at this college. The organization is now completed and the lists of the various committees and groups with their respective duties appears at the conclusion of this article.

As will be remembered by all who have taken part in previous New Hampshire Days and as is undoubtedly known by all of those who are now spending their first year at college, this is the one day in the year when personal and institutional cares and duties are laid upon the shelf and every one turns to and helps in the carrying out of certain projects which are not under the immediate jurisdiction of the supervisor of grounds and buildings, and yet, which when finished tend to improve greatly the physical condition of our campus. Each year as it passes sees the events of this day rising as monuments to the devotion of the members of this college community to their Alma Mater. Nor is the work confined solely to students. Rather there is a great amount of work completed by the faculty members partly upon their own property, the Faculty Club, but more extensively on the campus projects with the students. There too, are found the contributions of the townspeople in the form of loans of teams, tractors and all sorts of machinery. In fact New Hampshire Day is now a big community affair which holds the attention and the love of all.

This year the projects are confined to seven in number. Not so many as are usually attempted, but it is the feeling that several which have hung over for several seasons should now be completed. The attitude of the executive committee was also that the time and energy of the students and all the rest cannot be rightfully utilized in the doing of work which the college administration should complete. Consequently this year's projects are those which strictly benefit the student body and which are greatly needed for their recreation.

"Finish Weight Events Field. Professor E. W. Bowler very efficiently supervised the initial steps in the laying out and grading of a weight events field last year and again on this he is assigned the project with some 200 men under him. It will be remembered that this field is situated to the rear of the Memorial Field and its completion will relieve the turf of the main oval from a great deal of the strain of onslaughts from the hammer, the discus, the javelin and all the rest. This job will be finished before the end of New Hampshire Day.

Coach Harvey and Professor Allan Wassall have been given the task of supervising the doing of a large amount of constructive improvements on the girls' athletic field. All of the young women of the college who are not fully occupied with the work in the commissary or at the raking of the campus will join in this and amongst other things which the "bosses" intend to do is the completion and painting of the equipment house which was begun last year. A straight away track is also to be laid out for the use of the girls and some sawdust is to be added to the jumping pit. The girls also intend to extend their sphere of activity to include the painting of the New Hampshire stone sign which appears in the meadow back of the poultry plant, within sight of the railroad. There can be no doubt but that all these tasks will give the young ladies an entirely full day's work.

Mr. Hayes, the supervisor of grounds and buildings, has promised (yes, faithfully) to have the men's tennis courts in a finished condition before the season is very far under way. In order that everything may be in readiness for his men when they commence work, Mr. S. H. Boomer, '21, with a crew of about a dozen husky individuals will devote the day to the finishing of the grading of the second court and the digging of the holes for the post footings. In the same manner Professor L. V. Turrell will use about sixty men in the preparation of a new tennis court for the girls in the neighborhood of Smith hall. This work will consist of all the steps connected with the building of a court up to the final grading.

Lay Cinder Walk
A group of the men living at the Barracks have asked the committee to be allowed to spend their time on New Hampshire Day in the laying of a cinder path from their dormitory to the street. Professor J. R. Hepler is to take charge of this work and will have about fifteen men working for him.

There can be no doubt as to the fact that winter sports came to New Hampshire to stay along with the intercollegiate champion, Gunnar Michelson, '26. Consequently it would seem that any steps which will improve the facilities for the enjoyment of ski jumping, tobogganing and all the rest should be entirely comparable with the spirit of the day. So C. L. Stevens, '17, will direct the efforts of some 200 men at the jump on Beech Hill where the landing for the ski jump will be regraded and a series of chutes made for the toboggan slides. In order to conserve the energy of his men Mr. Stevens wishes them all to report to the gymnasium on five minutes to eight in the morning of New Hampshire Day and they will be furnished transportation to the site of their project.

The final project of the day will be supervised jointly by Coach Henry Swasey and Stafford Connor, '23. These two gentlemen will take about twenty-five men and devote their labor to the smoothing out of the outfield and the building of a score board. This last will prove a boon to the fan who arrives at a game late or who has difficulty in believing that the umpire meant it when he called three strikes.

Probably there are those among the readers of this little story who are remarking to themselves that while their interest in what they've to do on Wednesday is most sincere and commendable, it's what the entertainment is on Tuesday evening that is a burning question in their minds. Well, it's a great pleasure to be able to announce that the committee on the fun for this occasion has stepped out of the realms of the usual and have secured an exceedingly unique program. COSTUME PARTY! Does the magic phrase hold any interest to you of the social world? It certainly should for Chairman Ernest Christenson, '23, of the committee on entertainment has promised one of the most colorful parties that the college has ever known. This dance is to be in the men's gymnasium and the admission is FREE, with every one invited and no restrictions except that those who wish to dance must be attired in costume in order to gain admission to the floor. Those who insist on wearing their conventional "best clothes" will be relegated to the balcony without a moment's hesitation.

Costume Party Coming
The party starts at 7.30 on the evening of May 1, the music is of the best and there will be plenty of prizes available. A committee of the faculty will pass upon the costumes and will award prizes to the most striking (not the costliest, or the most resplendent) costume as worn by a lady of the faculty, a lady of the student body, a man of the faculty and a man of the student body. During the intermission there will be an entertainment furnished by professional entertainers.

Work will begin at eight on Wednesday morning and will continue until the tolling of the Thompson Hall bell at noon. After the dinner work will begin again at one-thirty and continue until three-thirty. The dinner will follow a menu similar to that of a year ago, and the price will be fifty cents. There was a practically unanimous vote at a recent convocation that this menu should be adopted and Professor DePew reports that he has secured ample provender for all who may be there.

During the day the personnel committee and group of assistants will take steps to visit all projects at regular intervals and by checking up on various matters with the team captains will be able to get accurate information as to how the students are taking hold of their work and as to the identity of the slackers if there be

On Getting Ahead

It is unfortunate that when most of us think of education we think of school. The greatest fallacy is that the measure of a man's education is the number of years he has spent in school.

You do not have to go to school to become educated. Life is itself an education.

The man who is really alive knows more today than he knew yesterday.

The best a school can do is to give us a schedule. The school can help us to organize our study, to check ourselves up, to hold our attention to a fixed line. But if we don't desire to learn, the school can teach us nothing.

The chief value of a school education is that it relieves one of a false sense of inferiority. In other words, it promotes confidence.

Some of the biggest fools I know are college men. Some of the least educated men I know are college men. They were exposed to education but it didn't take. Notwithstanding their four years in high school and four years in college they have remained uneducated.

The school is simply a point of departure. The best a school can do is to give one a taste, an appetite, for the best things of life. The school can teach one how to study, how to read, how to analyze. But it cannot give one judgment, and that is the reason this quality is so rare.

Yet it would be foolish to suggest that school education is not a good investment. Whenever the average wages of illiterate and educated people are compared, the figures show the high money value of schooling. Parents should give their children all the schooling they can afford—or all the children will take.

What I hope to show in this article is that no one can lean back and justify his lack of progress by the lack of school education.

The source of education is chiefly in books and observation.

We all know how to read. Most of us can train ourselves to observe.

I desire to write of books. I would not trade the desire nor lose the desire to read for all the money in the world.

Books give you intimate companionship with the greatest men that have ever lived. Books open your mind, broaden your mind, and strengthen you as nothing else can.

If I am intellectually awake today it is because I chanced to read about ten years ago a book called "Progress and Poverty" by Henry George. Henry George was a printer, a type-setter. When he was writing this book out in California forty years ago he was living in abject poverty. His wife was sick and he was borrowing money from his friends. "Progress and Poverty" is the most successful economic work ever published. Millions of copies have been sold. When Henry George died in 1897, one hundred thousand people passed before his coffin and another hundred thousand were prevented from doing so by the impossibility of getting near it.

This book woke me up. It did me more good than all the years I spent in school. When I had finished "Progress and Poverty" I was a different person than when I began it.

That is the way with books. "Progress and Poverty" led me to read scores of books on economic subjects. I was led to see business as a great institution, instead of just a petty job of buying and selling.

Some people are wakened up by great novels; others by poetry, others by biographies. Some find great inspiration in Shakespeare and the Bible.

Abraham Lincoln had just a few books in his youth, but fortunately he had the right books. And what an account he gave of his reading! With almost no schooling, he learned to speak and write so well that his letter to Mrs. Bixby about the death of her six sons in the war is graven on the walls of a college at Oxford University as an example of one of the purest and finest expressions of thought in the English language.

Too many of us get the idea we know all we need to know. This is a mistake. No man knows so much that he cannot learn more. No man is earning so much that he cannot earn more if he knows more.

The man who thinks he knows all there is to know about his job is already in his coffin and six feet of earth have been thrown in.

The man who opens his mind to knowledge is on his way to a better job and to a keener enjoyment of life. If you keep your mind open it will keep you young, and if you keep your mind young your body will keep young.

The trouble with most of us is that we get married, and have two or three children, and then we mentally die. We get up in the morning, go to work, go home, read the paper, take off our shoes, and go to sleep.

Feed your mind with new ideas. The public libraries are filled with books which you can have for the asking.

I am fairly busy. I am at my office eight hours a day, and I think I am just as tired when I go home at night as any of the men who work in my plant. But after I have eaten dinner I begin to feel all right again. I always have four or five books around. I read for an hour or so out of one, and then I pick up a second.

I refuse to read any book because I think I ought to read it. I insist on reading books that are interesting to me at the time I read them.

One book I can particularly recommend to young men. Like that other masterful book I mentioned, this book was also written by a printer. It is the "Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin." If you have not read this book I advise you to get it and read it during the next month.

Each day I realize how little I know, but one thing I do know and that is that to be successful in any business one must employ good men, and good men are workmen who know their jobs and take an interest in their work. These are the men who have steady employment the year round, in good times and bad times. The slipshod, devil-may-care fellows are the first to be laid off and the last to be hired.

I have reserved my most important thought for the last few lines.

Do you know that we are all judged by our worst work? It seems that anybody can turn out a good job with fair regularity, but it is the man who rings the bell day after day, month after month, who reaches the top of the ladder.

There will come many times when you will feel that you are getting the "short end of it." The only cure for this feeling is the determination not to let it interfere with your ambition to reach your goal.

As I size it up, one quality is particularly necessary to success in anything, and that is the ability to stand grief, to take punishment.

The higher up you go the more punishment you must train yourself to stand. I don't suppose there ever was a journeyman who was promoted to foreman who didn't wish now and then that he could drop back, and again live the easy life of a journeyman. And when a man gets to be superintendent, the foreman's job looks mighty easy.

But don't get discouraged. You know how you like to see a fighter that can take punishment. Determine you will take punishment yourself; refuse to quit, keep on trying, and you will succeed.

VOLTA EXPLAINING HIS BATTERY TO NAPOLEON

How Electrical Engineering began

IT IS not enough to experiment and to observe in scientific research. There must also be interpretation. Take the cases of Galvani and Volta.

Oneday in 1786 Galvani touched with his metal instruments the nerves of a frog's amputated hind legs. The legs twitched in a very life-like way. Even when the frog's legs were hung from an iron railing by copper hooks, the phenomenon persisted. Galvani knew that he was dealing with electricity but concluded that the frog's legs had in some way generated the current.

Then came Volta, a contemporary, who said in effect: "Your interpretation is wrong. Two different metals in contact with a moist nerve set up currents of electricity. I will prove it without the aid of frog's legs." Volta piled disks of different metals one on top of another and separated the disks with moist pieces of cloth. Thus he generated a steady current. This was the "Voltaic pile"—the first battery, the first generator of electricity.

Both Galvani and Volta were careful experimenters, but Volta's correct interpretation of effects gave us electrical engineering.

Napoleon was the outstanding figure in the days of Galvani and Volta. He too possessed an active interest in science but only as an aid to Napoleon. He little imagined on examining Volta's crude battery that its effect on later civilization would be fully as profound as that of his own dynamic personality.

The effects of the work of Galvani and Volta may be traced through a hundred years of electrical development even to the latest discoveries made in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company.

Dr. L. A. Pratt '09, spent April 20 in Durham.

The Engagement is Announced of Miss Mary E. Gerrish of Dover and Alfred H. Sawyer of Concord, both graduates from New Hampshire college with the class of 1921.

W. W. Evans, '08, was recently elected chairman of the newly formed Akron, Ohio, section of the American Chemistry Society.

Wallace Hatch, '22; Durwood Newman, '22; Christopher O'Leary, '20; Harriet Ford, '21; and Oliver Hubbard, '21, have been seen in town during the past week.

The funeral of Miss Katherine DeMerritt, '08, who died April 14 in Chicago, was held in the Congregational church here on Wednesday, April 18, at one o'clock.

The Rev. Dr. Vaughn Dabney of the Second Congregational Church of Dorchester, Mass., officiated. A large number of friends and relatives, among whom were the Chi Omega girls who attended in a body.

The bearers were Frank P. Morrison, Ralph D. Paine, M. Alton Richardson and Mr. J. C. Kendall.

H. A. Russell, '17, is now located with the Humble Oil and Refining Co. at Houston, Texas. He writes that he is actively engaged in the oil industry and is much interested in the prospects.

The 1902 SCHOLARSHIP FUND has been increased by $165 through the following pledges:

Elvira L. Benfield, 25.00 Box 106, Orleans, Mass. Laura G. Jacques, 30.00 Maine General Hospital, Portland, Me. Ralph H. Proctor, 30.00 919 Lincoln Ave., Moores, Pa. Katherine Thompson, 20.00 East Andover, N. H. L. J. Marshall, 30.00 125 Catherine St., Ithaca, N. Y. J. F. Goggin, 30.00 167 Mt. Vernon St., Dover, N. H.

Although the formal pledges were not returned from 100 per cent. of the class by April 1st yet assurances come from the class committee that the remainder of the class who have not taken the time to return the formal pledge card will certainly make good their group pledge of last June and that the remaining four hundred dollars of the three thousand fund will be forthcoming before June of 1924.

$1,000 NEEDED TO END CHURCH DRIVE

Huntley N. Spaulding and Rear Admiral Sims Only Out-of-Town Subscribers to Fund—$14,000 Mark Reached Sunday

Of the required fifteen thousand, fourteen thousand dollars had been raised in the church campaign by Sunday night, April 22. The thermometer in front of the drug store has been rising more slowly this week than last, but the committee is confident of reaching its goal soon.

Only two subscriptions have come from out of town so far. Huntley N. Spaulding has given five hundred dollars. The other out of town subscription come from Rear Admiral Sims, who gave ten dollars.

The committee for selecting an organ spent Saturday in Boston listening to organs, but yet has done nothing definite.

any. It is the sincere hope of this committee that no difficulty will be experienced in this respect, and they feel that there is little cause for worry from this source. However, if need be, they will spare no pains to inform the public as to who was working on New Hampshire Day, and who was not.

Report to Projects Unless other information is given at some later date the students will report directly to their projects on Wednesday morning where they will be met by their captains and assigned to work.

So here goes for our seventh New Hampshire Day. It promises to be our best one. If it is considered that there will be approximately 1,000 people working through a six hour day, making a total of 6,000 work hours or the amount of labor that a crew of fifteen men could perform in fifty eight-hour days, it can hardly be questioned that this is a day when "things is did."

FRANKLIN THEATRE

DURHAM, N. H.

Thursday, April 26th

"JAVA HEAD." A Paramount production of "Java Head." A story of the late forties in an old Salem town and of the Orient. The story has to do with a seaman of old Salem who rescues a high-born Chinese girl from ruffians in China and although he loves a girl in his home town, he marries the girl and takes his bride home with him and then follows many incidents of great dramatic interest, all calculated to hold one's attention as by a spell. Comedy—"ALL AT SEA."

Friday, April 27th

"N'TH COMMANDMENT." "The N'th Commandment" seems to be that "You should not fool your husband." This picture is another gripping real heart story by Fannie Hurst, author of "Humoresque." Broadway—what does it do to the pretty girl who works all day and finds her pleasures when the gay lights twinkle? Starred by Colleen Moore. Comedy—"THE PEST."

Saturday, April 28th

"YOUR FRIEND AND MINE." This feature draws a vivid picture of the faithless wife, or rather, the one who indulges in secret flirtations. Patricia Stanton saw her real self and a false friend as in a mirror when Ted Madison read her his play. Enid Bennett, Huntley Gordon, Willard Mac and Rosemary Theye are all stars in the cast.

Monday, April 30th

SIGN ON THE DOOR. Norma Talmadge as you've always wanted her; as the girl, the woman and the wife, mirroring the moods of each in a famous play thrilling with action, in a role that calls for all her dramatic fire. Comedy—"EXIT QUIETLY."

Tuesday, May 1st

Coming attraction of interest to all—watch the big bill board. Comedy, International News.

Wednesday, May 2nd

"CRINOLINE AND ROMANCE." Featuring Viola Dana as Emmy Lou who could not quite believe the family tales told her by her old colored nurse, and so she took her destiny into her own hand. You will find plenty to amuse you in the latest Viola Dana production. Comedy—"AROUND THE WORLD IN EIGHTEEN DAYS."

AGGIES TO MEET WITH "HOME ECS."

Gather at Club Rooms To Hear K. J. T. Ekblau

TO DISCUSS RURAL HOME

Doughnuts and Dancing to Feature Initial Visit of Co-eds to Realm of Dean Taylor's Boys

The next event of interest in the annals of the Agricultural Club will be a joint meeting with the Home Economics on the evening of Monday, April 30. The occasion of the gathering will be an address by Mr. K. J. T. Ekblau, who is agricultural engineer for the "New England Homestead" and the Portland Cement Association. Mr. Ekblau will give an illustrated talk on "The Modern Rural Home" and from all reports it should be an evening of intense pleasure.

The presence of the young ladies in the precincts of the Aggies will tend greatly to stimulate attendance on the meeting and it might be said in passing that this is the initial appearance of the "coeds" at the club rooms. Rumors of doughnuts prepared as only the disciples of Mrs. McLaughlin know how to cook them are pleasing notes in the ears of the "one-arm-lunch"-fed boys, and President George Campbell, '23, has promised to do his best to get the administration to permit dancing after the formalities are over. It's certain that everyone is wishing George the best of luck.

The recent programs at the Aggie club meetings are coming in for a lot of favorable comment from everyone and greatly increased attendance on the part of both student and faculty members may be taken as a certain indication that the club is filling a vital part in the life of all true Aggies.

TYLER MADE EDITOR OF 1925 "Granite"

Gray Chosen as Business Manager at Meeting of Sophomore Class April 16—Sophomore Hop Committee Elected

A meeting of the sophomore class was held Monday evening, April 16, in the girls' gymnasium.

Albert Tyler was elected editor-in-chief of the 1925 Granite and Frederick Gray, business manager. These men have been given the power to choose their assistants, the staff to be submitted to the class for approval.

A Sophomore Hop committee was chosen, consisting of President Peterman, Marshall Campbell, Sidney Ayers, Audrey Caldwell and Salome Colby.

Since Kyle Fleming, class treasurer, is leaving next term, an assistant treasurer was elected. Thomas Atkinson was chosen to fill the position for the remainder of the year.

President Peterman suggested that everyone pay his dues so that the finances of the class would be kept up to date.

DEBATE WITH COLBY POSTPONED 2 WEEKS

Date Changed to May 4 at Request of Colby Team—Expect to Complete Arrangements for Debate With U. of Maine Next

The intercollegiate debate between New Hampshire and Colby college which was scheduled to take place Friday evening, April 20, was postponed until May 4, at the request of the Colby team. In the mean time Professor Pottle, coach of the New Hampshire debating teams, is negotiating for debates with other New England colleges.

It is expected that a debate will be arranged with the University of Maine to take place shortly after the Colby debate.

FACULTY PLAYERS TO PRESENT PLAYS

Proceeds to Go to Fund for Restoration of Library at University of Louvain—Restoration of Building Now Aim of Educators

Monday evening, May 7, is the date set for the faculty players to present three one-act plays which they are to give for the benefit of the University of Louvain Library Fund.

Previous to the world war the library at Louvain, Belgium, was the famous European seat of learning. This was destroyed in 1914 by the Germans. Efforts are now being made to restore this magnificent edifice, stone for stone, in the manner of the old cathedrals. This movement was started last year by a committee of prominent American educators. The cost is estimated at $1,000,000 of which $250,000 has already been raised by American institutions of learning.

One noteworthy undertaking in this connection is a campaign by the university women of America to raise $10,000 for this purpose.

It is hoped that this building may be presented to Belgium as a memorial to those of America who gave their lives in the World war.

ANNUAL PICTURE FIGHT THIS WEEK

Frosh and Sophs Hold Meetings Sunday Eve.

STRINGENT RULES MADE

Contest to Last Until Saturday, April 28—Commuters and Women Students Ruled Out—Freshmen Must Have President and 70 Per Cent. of Men in Picture

The annual picture fight between the sophomore and freshman classes commenced last Sunday night at 12 o'clock and is scheduled to last until 12 o'clock Saturday evening, April 28.

On Sunday evening the two classes held meetings, outlined their plans for the fight, and read the rules which were made by the student council. In order to win the contest the freshmen must have 70 per cent. of their class and the class president in the picture, or, if the president is captured, they must have 90 per cent. of the class in the picture.

Only students who are taking a regular four year course at the college and who are sophomores or freshmen on the campus are allowed to take part in the fight. Commuters and women students may have their pictures taken with the class, but do not count as a part of the number required to win.

Last year the picture fight was won by the class of 1925 by default because the class of 1925 broke the rules by taking the freshman class president before the time scheduled for the fight. This year, in order to avoid this difficulty, the student council have stated that the president may not be seized before Sunday night at 12 o'clock.

The present sophomore class has won every contest they have entered except the basketball game, which was won by the class of 1926. It is anxious to keep up its good record by winning the picture fight.

On the other hand, the freshmen say, "We are the only class that has ever defeated 1925, and we can do it again. Let's go."

COACH COWELL URGES NOVICES TO REPORT FOR GRID PRACTICE

Spring Football Started Last Monday—Candidates Drilled in Fundamentals and in Passing—Few Have Displayed Interest

Men who have the ambition to play football next fall on the varsity eleven, are urged by Coach Cowell to get out for the spring practice, which began last Monday. The coach emphasizes the fact that this spring football is not only for the veteran, but also for the inexperienced man, who wishes to play. A great many members of last fall's eleven will graduate this June and their places are vacant. Coach Cowell hopes that the spring practice session will bring to light several dark horses to fill the shoes of the men who are graduating. There is a chance for every man in college on next fall's eleven, he says, and everybody who has the least ability is urged to go out for the session and show his wares.

The spring practice will be primarily in the rudiments of the gridiron game. There will be no scrimmage practice and no attempt to get the men into trim physical condition. To date the men have been working on how to handle a ball, the principle of the forward pass, the psychology of the forward pass, and the rudiments of signal work. More than likely next week will be devoted to a skull session with signals.

NOTICE

The traditions back of our annual observances of New Hampshire Day make essential the working of everyone on that occasion. In order to afford justice to those who conscientiously work throughout the day, a Surveillance committee has been appointed to co-operate with the project leaders in identifying any who are delinquent in labor or attendance. This committee will operate without fear and favor and on their recommendation the names of slackers, if there be any, will be published in a succeeding issue of The New Hampshire.

The question of a fall training camp has not yet been definitely decided. There is a possibility that the camp will be held at Ocean Park, where it was held last year, but there is a faction which think that it should be held in Durham.

The number of men who have been turning out has been disappointing to both Coach Cowell and "Dutch" Connor who has been assisting him. The coach extends an invitation to every man in college to try out for the team by coming out for the spring practice session.

ANNUAL N. H. CLUB DANCE SAT. APRIL 21

Fifty Couples Attend—Big "Gym" Decorated with Palms and Fraternity Banners—Mr. and Mrs. DePew, Cohn, and Swasey in Receiving Line

The annual New Hampshire club dance was given in the men's gymnasium on the evening of Saturday, April 21. From start to finish the affair was a great success.

The hall was decorated with palms and various fraternity banners. The excellent orchestra was built up around an imported pianist and violinist of great ability. There were about fifty couples present.

In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Heber F. DePew, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cohn and Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Swasey.
