DURHAM, NH – Incumbent Jeanne Shaheen leads her Republican challenger Corky Messner in her bid for a third term in the U.S. Senate. In the race for Congress in New Hampshire's First District, incumbent Democrat Chris Pappas holds a clear lead over Republican Matt Mowers. In the Second District, incumbent Democrat Ann Kuster is locked in a closer race with Republican Steve Negrón, in a rematch of the 2018 election.

These findings are based on the latest Granite State Poll*, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. One thousand and thirty (1,030) Granite State Panel members completed the survey online between September 24 and September 28, 2020. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 3.1 percent. Included were 972 likely 2020 general election voters (MSE = +/- 3.1%). Among likely voters, 504 (MSE = +/- 4.4%) were First District residents and 465 (MSE = +/- 4.5%) were Second District residents. Data were weighted by respondent sex, age, education, and region of the state to targets from the most recent American Community Survey (ACS) conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau, as well as party registration levels provided by the New Hampshire Secretary of State and 2016 election results in NH. Granite State Panel members are recruited from randomly-selected landline and cell phone numbers across New Hampshire and surveys are sent periodically to panel members.

U.S. Senate Election

Incumbent Senator Jeanne Shaheen is seeking her third term in the U.S. Senate and with five weeks to go until election day, Shaheen leads her Republican opponent, Attorney Corky Messner by double-digits. If the election for Senate were held today, 52% of likely New Hampshire voters say they would vote for Shaheen, 40% would vote for Messner, 3% would vote for Libertarian Justin O'Donnell, less than 1% would vote for another candidate, and 5% don't know or are undecided. When those undecided voters who say they are leaning towards a candidate are included, 54% support Shaheen, 41% support Messner, and 3% support O'Donnell. Shaheen's lead over Messner (+13 percentage points) has slightly declined since August (+19). Shaheen is better positioned for reelection than she was at a similar point in her last reelection; in October 2014 Shaheen led Republican challenger Scott Brown by only six percentage points.

2020 U.S. Senate Election (With Leaners)

* We ask that this copyrighted information be referred to as the Granite State Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center.

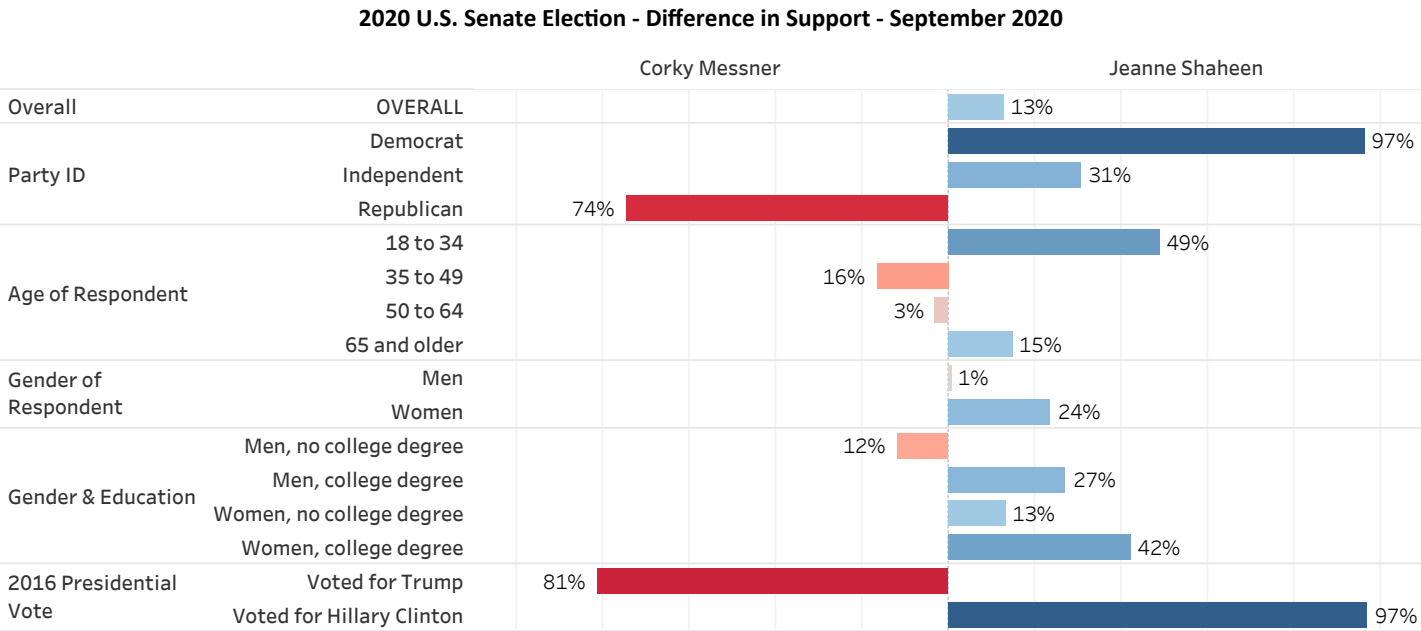

With the election only five weeks away, 86% of likely voters in New Hampshire say they have definitely decided for whom they will vote in the race for the U.S. Senate. For comparison, 79% of likely voters have definitely decided on their vote for governor and 92% have definitely decided on their vote for president.

Nearly half of likely voters (49%) say they have definitely decided to vote for Shaheen, with smaller numbers of voters leaning toward Shaheen (2%) or currently supporting Shaheen but still trying to decide (2%). Thirty-four percent of likely voters say they have definitely decided to vote for Messner, 6% are leaning towards Messner, and less than 1% are supporting Messner but still trying to decide.

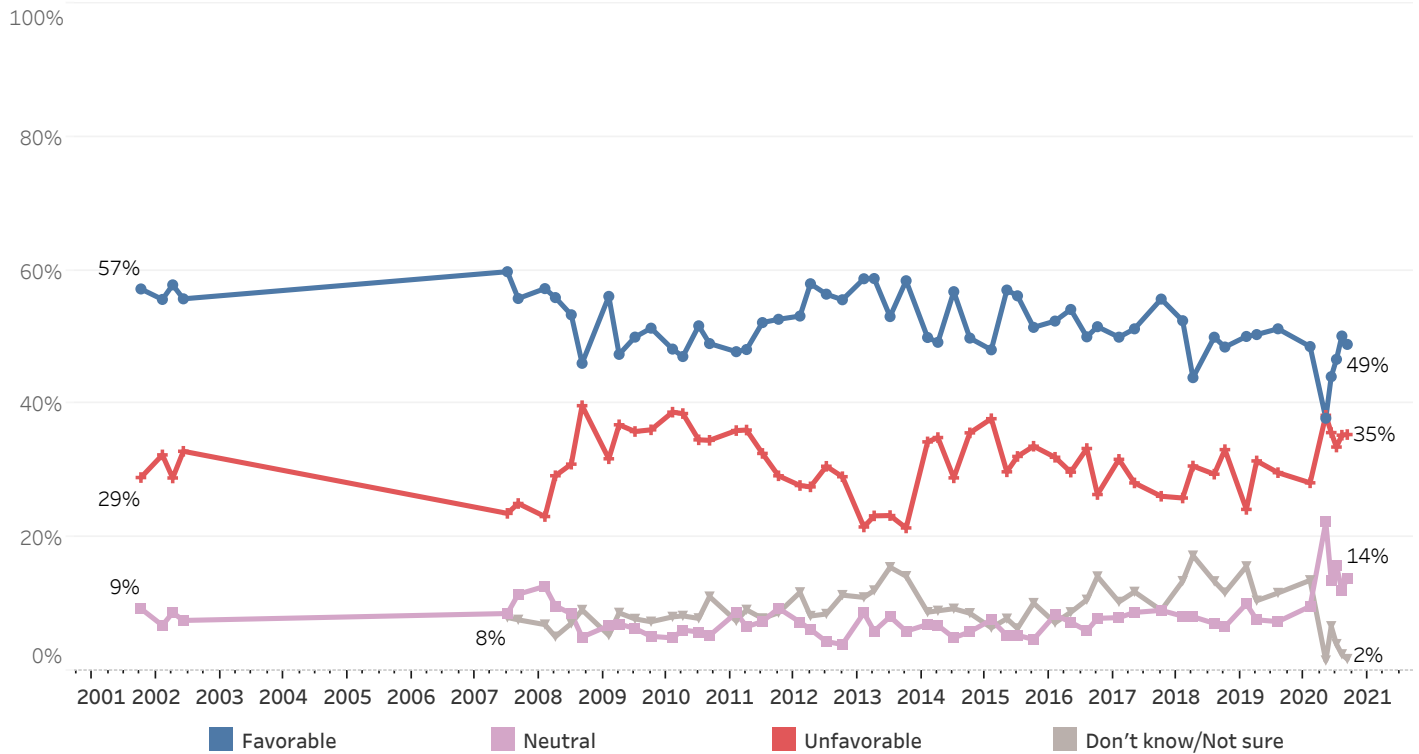

- Shaheen leads Messner by 97 percentage points among Democrats and by 31 points among Independents. Messner holds a 74 point lead among Republicans.
- Shaheen holds a large lead over Messner among those aged 18 to 34 (+49 percentage points) and holds a smaller lead among those aged 65 and older (+15). Messner leads among those aged 35 to 49 (+16) and holds a very small lead among those aged 50 to 64 (+3).
- Shaheen and Messner are effectively tied among men (Shaheen +1) but Shaheen holds a clear lead among women (+24 percentage points).
- Shaheen holds strong leads among women with a college degree (+42 percentage points) and men with a college degree (+27) and holds a smaller lead among women without a college degree (+13) while Messner leads among men without a college degree (+12).
- Shaheen leads Messner by 97 percentage points among those who supported Hillary Clinton in 2016 while Messner holds a somewhat smaller lead (+81) among those who voted for Donald Trump in 2016.

U.S. Senate Candidates Favorability

Forty-nine percent of New Hampshire residents say they have a favorable opinion of Jeanne Shaheen, 35% have an unfavorable opinion of her, 14% are neutral, and 2% don't know or are unsure. ## Granite State Poll Methodology

These findings are based on the latest Granite State Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. One thousand and thirty (1,030) Granite State Panel members completed the survey online between September 24 and September 28, 2020. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 3.1 percent. Included were 972 likely 2020 general election voters (MSE = +/- 3.1%). Among likely voters, 504 (MSE = +/- 4.4%) were First District residents and 465 (MSE = +/- 4.5%) were Second District residents. These MSE's have not been adjusted for design effect. The response rate for the September 2020 Granite State Poll is 37%. The design effect for the survey is 2.5%.

Data were weighted by respondent sex, age, education, and region of the state to targets from the most recent American Community Survey (ACS) conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau, as well as party registration levels provided by the New Hampshire Secretary of State and to 2016 election results in New Hampshire.

The Granite State Panel is part of an effort by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center to investigate new ways of gathering and understanding the opinion of New Hampshire residents. Approximately 5,750 New Hampshire adults were recruited from randomly selected landline and cell phone numbers to participate in the panel. Panelists are then asked to participate in online surveys sponsored by the UNH Survey Center.

The number of respondents in each demographic below may not equal the number reported in cross-tabulation tables as some respondents choose not to answer some questions. Due to rounding, percentages may not sum to 100%.
