"PA" TAYLOR GIVES PINS

Object of New Club to Promote Honesty in Examinations-Practically All Aggie Men Sign Pledge and Creed-May be Start Toward An Honor System for the University

The students of the college of Agriculture were called together at four o'clock last Wednesday for the purpose of obtaining their ideas as to the students' responsibilities while the meeting the "Honest Examination (H. E.) Club" was formed. The organization is novel in that it has no officers, no dues and that anyone may become a member by signing the pledge. The creed and pledge were unanimously adopted at the meeting and practically 100% of the students present signed the pledge. The Creed and the Pledge are as follows: The Creed

We believe in the time-honored maxim of Benjamin Franklin that, Commissioner Butterfield "honesty is the best policy;" we believe that ill-gotten gains and dishonest grades will profit us nothing; we believe in children doing childish things and we believe in men doing manly things; we believe in the real he-man who is strong in character and in qualities of leadership; we believe in hard, honest work and in joy of self-accomplishment; we believe that every student in our college should obtain his scholastic standing through honest effort and honest examinations, and we have faith that each of them has the moral stamina to do so.

The Pledge

In accordance with our creed, we, the undersigned students of the College of Agriculture do hereby pledge ourselves to write honest examinations and to assist others in doing the same. In witness whereof we do herewith affix our signatures as charter members of the Honest Examination (H. E.) Club of the University of New Hampshire, on this the 30th day of January, 1924.

Dean Taylor is going to present each member of the Club with its insignia, which will be in the form of a small button.

THE VOTE

The New Hampshire has on its exhange list fifteen college papers. These represent fifteen other colleges and universities in the East and Middle West. At each of these places there has been balloting on the Bok Peace Plan. In every case the result at hand with a precipitation which the has been the same, an overwhelming greater part of our country lacks and vote in favor of the substance of the plan. At most of these institutions our high hills. We must keep this the percentage of the student body which voted was larger than the percentage here. Does this show that the students at the University of New Hampshire are less interested in the problems of the world that their fathers and mothers have to face, than the students at other places? The New Hampshire does not think so, but it does think that the small vote cast here shows a careless thoughtlessness that the students have adopted. The idea of having a vote on the plan in the first place was to get as nearly as possible the opinion of the citizens of this country on the plan. This could only be done by having the majority of the people voice their opinions on the question. The New Hampshire regrets that a more representative vote was not cast by the students at the university.

The following findings were reached:

"That the question of student drinking is not entirely a moral issue but is essentially a legal one involving as it does the observance and the enforcement of an integral part of the Constitution of the United States.

"That we as college men and women shall personally make evident our disapproval of student drinking in college dormitories, clubs, and fraternity houses, and especially at college funtions.

"That the various colleges be urged to take a definite stand against all CIRCULO CASTELLANO drinking through their respective Christian Associations, Student Councils, or Government Bodies, and College Publications.

"That arrangements be made with the Intercollegiate Prohibition Associ-A los senores subscriptores de LA ation whereby copies of these findings will be transmitted to the officers of classes and other student activities: the faculties and the alumni of colleges and universities throughout the United States."

AN INNOVATION

On Wednesday of this week Postmaster General New issued a very definite, concise and complete program for the mailing, transmission and delivery of newspapers. This is the first time that the United States Post Office Department has ever done such a thing. This order, an account of which is published in another column of this paper, gives to the newspapers the same service which is given to first class mail. It is a recognition on the part of the Department of the importance in the daily life of the people of this country of the newspapers. Now only an occasional paper will go astray or will be unduly late in arriving at its destination. No longer will the business man have to wait for his morning paper until he gets to the office or until he gets home in the evening when he has read his letters at the breakfast worthwhile work. We feel that it is table. The paper will come with the same speed as did the letters, and the organization will be supported it will be accredited with the same service from the press to the reader. The need for such an act has long been felt, especially in places far distant from the home of the big metropolitan papers.

The big dailies are not the only papers included in this order, but all newspapers, dailies and weeklies. This will probably add somewhat to the work of the post office employees, but it will be appreciated by all the readers of the papers. The Post Office Department is to be complimented on this decided improvement in the service rendered one of their best patrons

New Hampshire will prosper if its education causes us to be skilled producers, courteous buyers and sellers, and resourceful entertainers."

The world is full of doctors who should have been lawyers, and lawyers who should have been writers-men who can't do their best work because they haven't got the reach.

You still can avoid their haphazard choice of a career. Some earnest thinking on the subject, "What do I really want to do in life?" will help you decide right.

That's a real problem. Get all the advice you can-from the faculty, from alumni, from men in business. If you find you have made a false start, change now and save yourself a lot of grief-for once you graduate into a profession, the chances are you'll stay in it.

The annual meeting of the University of New Hampshire Club of Eastern New York was held December 1 at the home of the President, A. J. Woodward, '07, with eleven members present. President Woodward reported that stationary has been purchased and would be produced at the next meeting. A discussion of ways and means to assist the student body of our Alma Mater resulted in the following resolutions:

The Club being in a position to assist the Engineering Division most, be it resolved that:

1. Each member will collect such material including problems and various developments in his line of work that would be of an educational interest and send same to the interested professor.

2. The "Monogram" shall be sent each month.

3. Any descriptive bulletins that any professor might desire should be obtained. A personal letter to the Secretary from Professor Hitchcock was read and enjoyed.

The annual balloting for officers resulted in the following elections: President, A. N. Otis, '03; Vice President, G. E. Plaisted, '20; Secretary, G. N. Perkins, '14, and Treasurer, O. W. Pike, '20.

The Secretary was authorized to write a formal note to Prof. Hitchcock inviting the engineering section as

Stereopticon Lecture Proves Novel-Best of New Hampshire's Fruit Farms Shown-Slides Colored to Show Just How Trees Really Appear

The last meeting of the Agricultural Club held at their club rooms on the top floor of Morrill hall was rather unique, in that instead of having a speaker for the evening's entertainment, a stereopticon lecture was given.

After the regular fortnightly busiess had been transacted, Professor George E Potter, head of the Horticultural Department of the Agricultural College, was called upon as being the entertainer of the evening.

After a brief talk as to the purpose of his being there, he asked that the room be darkened, and that all be made ready for the showing of a set of lantern slides.

Now these were real slides, too. In fact they were the most interesting collection that has been shown in the ub rooms for many a year.

They showed apple trees just before the fruit harvest on many of New Hampshire's best fruit farms. the great opportunities that our state offers to the apple grower with regards to the topography of the land, and the many chances that we people have in marketing our fruit. In fact practically everything that would interest the student majoring in Horticulture was shown.

Professor Potter has had wide experience throughout the state in showing the fruit growers just what they should do to get the largest and most disease-free yields. While on these trips, Mr. Potter has taken hundreds of interesting pictures, and shown Wednesday evening. It was same slides were shown in New York City, at the time of the Eastern States Apple Exposition conducted at the Grand Central Palace.

TRUE SPIRIT

The freshman class, under the guidance of the Sphinx, showed their true metal last week. From the actions of a few members of the class earlier in the year, an unfavorable impression of this group had been created on the campus. But their cooperation with the Sphinx and their working for the Outing Club made possible, to a large extent, the success of the annual Winter Frolic held last Saturday.

It was due primarily to their efforts that a suitable skating rink was constructed, cleared of snow, and surfaced, that the ski-jump was made usable, and that the gymnasium was so wel decorated for the dance that night.

That not one of the freshmen shirked when called upon, goes to prove that this youngest class at our University has been imbued with the spirit of all true New Hampshire men, the spirit which makes them work wholeheartedly for the good of heir Alma Mater regardless of self. With this spirit, much can be expected from the class of 1927.

Pennsylvania's Thirtieth Annual Relay Race Carnival will this year be finer than ever. Cambridge University. England, has sent word that they will be represented. W. R. It is probable, however, that they will decide on the two-mile distance as they have in college, Mountain, ex-champion half miler of Engrland; and Lowe, both of whom have run the half mile in 1 minute and 55 seconds. It is also said that Griffiths, who won the British half mile championship last July, is at Cambridge. If he is there, Cambridge should have a wonderful two-mile relay team. The invitations to the schools will go cut this week. Judging by the early inquiries, more schools than ever will attend. Last year, there were over 450 schools represented. It is going to be very difficult to handle the games in the two days alloted to them.

The Carnival will be of especial importance this year, because of the keen competition for the Olympic team that will represent this country n Paris this year. The Relay Carnival will give the college athletes of the entire country a chance to show their ability and the results will no doubt have a bearing on the ultimate decision of the Olympic Committee in choosing the American team.

Any schools or colleges desiring to attend the Carnival may do so as all are invited by writing to the Manager of the Carnival, George W. Orten, 3301 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

This order means much to the American public. It is one of the most important and far reaching steps in post office history. It is for the benefit of those who desire to have their newspapers placed before them at as early a moment as possible. This should keep both the city and rural population in closer and quicker touch with their several fields of activities.
