N. H. JOINS IN MONTREAL MEETING OF INTERCOLLEGIATE SKI ASSOCIATION

Held in Connection With Annual Winter Sports Meet Between Six Colleges from United States and Canada

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT REPRESENTATIVE REPORTS

Professor Perley Gives an Account of Gathering and Impressions of Big Carnival—Name of Organization Changed to "Inter-collegiate Winter Sports Association"—Radical Changes Proposed—Anticipate Affiliation of Many More Institutions—May Be Senior Board of Control

The Intercollegiate Ski Association held its annual meeting at the McGill Union in Montreal on March 1, and although the University of New Hampshire does not have membership in this Association, the Athletic Department was represented at the meeting by Prof. George A. Perley. The meeting was held in connection with the annual winter sports meet in which McGill, Dartmouth, Williams, Middlebury, Norwich and Loyola had teams entered.

Some of the more important features of the meeting include the changing of the name to "The Inter-collegiate Winter Sports Association," and a proposal to hold only one real intercollegiate winter sports championship meet at the end of each winter season. It was decided to hold the final meet of next year during the last Friday and Saturday of February. It was also decided to hold the following events at this meet:

7-mile ski cross country.
Ski proficiency.
Ski jump.
150-yard ski dash.
2 to 3-mile snow shoe cross country.
150 yard snow shoe dash.
2-mile skating race.
440-yard skating dash.
Fancy skating.

No institution will be permitted to have more than two competitors in any event and four places are to count in the scoring. The scores will rate as 5, 3, 2, and 1 for first, second, third and fourth places respectively. No relay events will be included in the total score, yet such may be held. It is probable that the finally ratified constitution will only score the 150-yard ski dash and the fancy skating events on the basis of half points. The matter of the 150-yard snow shoe dash points is still under discussion.

Radical Change in Organization
A radical change in the organization of the Association has been proposed. Prof. Proctor of Dartmouth and Major Forbes, graduate manager of McGill, have been influential in the attempts to secure greater stability of the association through a senior Board of Control. A committee is now at work upon the final draft of a revised constitution of the organization and this is to be sent to the various colleges for ratification. It is anticipated that Maine, Bates, Col-

NEW UNIVERSITY CLUB TO FEATURE VARIOUS SPORTS

Chance to Buy Ownership Certificates Still Open

WORK WILL START SOON

After April 1 Applicants Must Pay $100 Initiation Fee—Organization Is Primarily for Young College Men

A distinctive feature of the new University Club of Boston will be the sports. Squash, racquets, swimming, bowling and billiards are to be fostered by club tournaments with the consequent continuance of intercollegiate rivalry. The best exponents in each sport will represent the University Club in Boston, and intercity club competition.

Upper classmen who expect to be in Boston after graduation will certainly want to be identified with this club, the location of which will be in the center of activities at the corner of Trinity Place and Stuart Street. (Continued on Page 2)

Yesterday morning he spoke to the students of the Manchester high school and spent part of the day as the guest of Headmaster H. R. Eaton. Next week Dr. Hetzel will go to the Massachusetts Agricultural College to speak at the regular weekly convocation exercises. The next day he will go to Keene where he will speak at the noon luncheon of the Rotary Club and in the evening before the Keene branch of the University Alumni Association.

Two Surviving Teams of Interscholastic Debating League Will Compete at Durham to Decide State Championship

SCHOOL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION WILL BE IN SESSION HERE FROM JULY 14 TO 21

Several New Instructors and Lecturers to Give Courses in Ninth Annual Convention—R. W. Manton Will Have Charge of Music—The Rev. Moses R. Lovell to Teach New Testament—Many Recreational Activities Planned

That the University of New Hampshire will by no means be idle during the summer vacation is well evidenced by the fact that in addition to the regular summer school session there will be held during the week of July 14 to 21, the ninth annual session of the Northern New England School of Religious Education, with an enrollment of around seven hundred. This, following on the heels of the Public Health Institute which will be in session from July 1 to 12 will keep the Durhamites as active as they ever were during the regular college year.

The Northern New England School of Religious Education is arranging this session in a manner that will make it broader and more comprehensive than ever before. More than thirty courses, covering all phases of religious education, will be given during the week. Many of the members of last year's faculty will conduct these courses, and many additions to this faculty have been made. One of the most popular members of the faculty will be Dr. William B. Forbush, of New York, who will give two courses, one in general psychology, and one on "Understanding Our Boys," and "The New Girl Problem." R. W. Manton, director of music

WOMEN LEARN TO MAKE OWN HATS

Spring millinery does not have terrors for the farm women of the state who are studying the principles of making their own hats. Over 2000 hats were made last year with the assistance of the home demonstration agents; and since individual characteristics are taken into account, the bonnets are said to have "lasted" better than usual. With Easter in the offing, the interest in millinery is again approaching its height.

PUBLIC HEALTH INSTITUTE CHANGED FROM JULY 1 TO 12

It has been found necessary to change the dates of the Public Health Institute, which will be held here next summer during regular summer school session, from July 14 to 25 to July 1 to 12 in order not to conflict with the Northern New England School of Religious Education, which will be held July 14 to 21.

HIGH SCHOOL CHAMPS OF TEN COUNTIES BATTLE FOR HONORS IN TOURNAMENT

Schoolboys from All Parts of State Are Guests Of University Students During Annual Title Series

MANCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL STARTS A FAVORITE

New Hampshire Fraternity Houses Crowded to Accommodate Visitors—Sleeping Quarters Established in Grange Hall—Portsmouth and Queen City to Send Special Trains if Their Teams Play in Final—Brown Game to Follow Championship Contest Saturday Night

The annual invasion of schoolboy basketball players is now taking place in Durham, and as The New Hampshire comes off the presses, the town is jammed full of the high school athletes. In former years the visitors have gone home as soon as possible after their game was played, and the only visiting athletes left here on Saturday night were the two teams who fought for the State title in the final game of the Tournament. This year, due to the co-operation of the Athletic Department and the Sphynx, an honorary sophomore organization, all the men have been invited to remain at the University throughout the series and as a consequence, every fraternity house is overflowing, and thirty beds have been placed in Grange Hall to accommodate some of the visitors.

Champs of 10 Counties Enter

The occasion for all this enthusiasm is the Annual Interscholastic Basketball Tournament for the State championship conducted by the Athletic Department of the University. A careful analysis of the records of all the high school teams in the State has been made, and the champs of each of the ten counties in the state have been selected to compete in the tournament. In several cases it was necessary to arrange a game on a neutral floor between the two leading teams in a county in order to decide which team should have the honor of entering the championship games. The teams finally selected to compete and the places where they can be found during their stay here, are: Hillsboro County, Manchester high school, S. A. E. House; Strafford County, Rochester high, A. T. O. House; Coos County, Lancaster Academy, Sigma Beta House; Belknap County, Laconia high, Theta Chi House; Merrimack County, Proctor Academy, L. C. A. House; Cheshire County, Conant high, A. T. O. House; Grafton County, Hanover high, P. M. D. House; Carroll County, Kennett high, (North Conway), Tri Gamma House; Sullivan County, Walpole High, D. P. E. House; Rockingham County, Portsmouth high, Kappa Sigma House.

Tilton School Not in Meet

Tilton school is not entered in the tournament this year because it is considered that the prep schools of the state have more athletic advantages than the high schools and should not compete in the same class. The games started Friday afternoon will continue Friday evening and Saturday morning.

No games will be played Saturday afternoon due to the boxing match with B. U., and the final game of the series will take place at 7:30 Saturday night, to be followed by the game between the New Hampshire varsity and Brown University.

Hanover High Undefeated

Manchester high school has the most formidable record of any of the teams, and if her strength on paper means anything, the team from the Queen city should win under wraps. Coach MacDonough's team has only been defeated once this year, by the New Hampshire freshmen, and the list of their victories includes practically all of the strong high school teams in this section. Although Portsmouth has not as strong a team as in former years, she still has a chance to reach the finals. Hanover high has not been defeated this year although little is known of her real strength because many of her games have been with small schools. In case either Manchester or Portsmouth reach the finals, fans in those two cities plan to run a special train to the game and if the two teams come together on Saturday night, the gymnasium should be packed to the roof to accommodate all the Royal Rooters, augmented by the New Hampshire students who are anxious to see their team in its final game of the season against Brown.

The pairing of the teams for their matches was made by drawing lots. This method forestalls any criticism from the teams of the order in which they play. During their stay in Durham the teams are eating at the Commons Dining Room.

INTER-FRAT. DEBATES WILL START MONDAY

Ten Teams to Compete for Huntley Spaulding Trophy

FACULTY MEMBERS JUDGES

Contests Under Direction of Phi Delta and Mr. Hennessy—Question To be Recognition of Soviet Government

Next Monday evening ten of the campus fraternities will hold the preliminary debates of an interfraternity debating tournament, the winner of which will be the possessor of a silver cup presented by the Hon. Huntley N. Spaulding, of Rochester. The question to be debated among the fraternities is: Resolved that the United States should recognize the Soviet Government of Russia. The tournament is being conducted under the direction of W. G. Hennessy, of the English department, and Phi Delta, the university debating society.

Each fraternity will enter in the tournament a team of two men, who may be asked to argue either side of the question. All debates will be held in the various fraternity houses. The teams debating the negative side of the question will "travel," being the guests of the fraternities debating the affirmative side of the question. The judges will be chosen from members of the faculty by the affirmative teams, but they must meet the approval of the opposing teams. (Continued on Page 4)

PRICES AT THE COMMONS

The drop in the price of meal tickets at the Commons has astounded many persons, all of whom ask, "How can it be done?" One thing that it has done is to increase the trade at the Commons and to greatly augment the number of "regulars." The New Hampshire has an explanation for the "How" question but it in turn asks, "With this reduced price, will the quality of the food be as good, or will it be better (as we hope), or will it be worse (as we fear)?" This question will soon be answered. Those who have purchased the $4.75 tickets will be the first ones to answer it. If the food is of the same quality, some of them will stay on as long as the price of the tickets does not go up again. Others will get tired of it as they have in the past and go elsewhere. If the food is better, they will all stay and others will join them. If it is worse, only a few who care not what they eat as long as they get it cheaply will stay. The rest will go where they get good food, but they will have to pay a larger price for it.

Now for the answer to the question, "How can it be done?" A careful investigation into the Financial Report of the New Hampshire College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, which was given out right after the Christmas vacation, revealed the following interesting facts: The total income for the dining hall, as the Commons is called in the report, as shown in schedule B-3 was $81,128.94. In schedule C-3 the total expenses are set down as $75,955.58. A little simple arithmetic not shown in any schedule in the Report shows that the profit derived from the Commons during the college year 1922-1923 was $5,173.36. The three largest items in the expenses are: Supplies, $55,708.71; labor, $16,080.61; and salaries, $2,213.89. And yet, in spite of these heavy expenditures, the profit was over five thousand dollars.

A comparative report of the expenditures and income with the resulting profit and loss, by the Commons, completed through November showed a profit for this present year that compared very favorably with that of last year, although it was a little bit smaller. The New Hampshire has not had the good fortune to see a similar report for the months following November, but it feels certain that the amount of the monthly profit has not dropped off.

With the profit piled up this year, added to that salted away last year, The New Hampshire sees no reason why the Commons cannot afford to give the students the benefit of this. The benefit derived from this may be of two kinds: (1) higher quality food at the same rate as has prevailed previously this year; (2) same quality of food at the reduced rate. The second method has been adopted. The greatest danger that The New Hampshire sees in this is that the quality of the food may not be kept up even to the standard now maintained by the Commons; but if it is not, the reduction will be a failure, for it will not benefit the students and the inflation in the patronage at the Commons will soon be brought down.

FINAL EXAMINATIONS

When The New Hampshire comes out next week, the final examinations for the term will have started. There will be, as there always has been, worrying on the part of many of the students as to whether or not they will pass their finals, and there will be much "cramming" on the part of some in a desperate last minute effort to get by.

This brings up the question, "What is the purpose of a final exam.?" Some students as well as some instructors seem to think that a final examination is designed to determine how many of the details of a given course can be remembered. There are others who believe that a final examination should be an attempt to determine whether or not the student has grasped the fundamental and the essential points of a course. The New Hampshire believes that this last view is the right one.

In the two hours allotted for the giving of a final examination it is impossible to cover to any appreciable extent the details of an eleven weeks course where 33 hours of classroom work have been conducted. The most logical thing to do with this two hours, then, is to spend it in bringing out the "high spots" of the course. In this way the main features and the fundamentals of the subject taught can be picked out and finally impressed on the students' minds.

Last term there were some very foolish persons who believed themselves to be very smart, and who, because they held to the first theory of finals, stole copies of a few of the various examinations. These copies were circulated among members of the classes affected by them and the questions contained on them were the only ones studied in preparation for the examination. When these classes assembled with pencil and paper for the final, an entirely different, and what they considered harder, set of questions was handed out. When one of the instructors was asked what action he was going to take against those who had stolen his first set of examination questions, he said that he would take no action, "that the students had suffered enough."

All during exam. week last term those who were in the classes where the finals had not been stolen were gloating over those who had the misfortune to be in classes where the finals had been stolen. It was found out then that getting hold of a final examination before the time allotted to the giving of that exam. was much more of a deficit than of an asset. This term there may be some who will try to get hold of the final, but The New Hampshire doubts if as many attempts are made as were made last December. The students learned their lesson then, and they also learned that finals are not necessarily restricted to a few questions. If these persons had known the fundamental principles underlying the subject matter of the entire course, a little cool reasoning would have enabled them to pass an examination which included a large number of details. But lest this be used as an argument for basing a final exam. on details, The New Hampshire reaffirms its belief that the main function of a final is to make the student remember the fundamentals of the course. In order to do this, the questions composing the final should touch only on the "high spots" of the course as emphasized in the text book used and in the lectures given during the term.

ENJOYMENT ANTICIPATED

It is with pleasure that we publish this week the announcement of another play by Masque and Dagger. "The Rivals," with the leading parts filled by those who took the leads in "Dulcy," while a play of a different character and a different time, will be watched for with great eagerness. The only regret that we have is that the play will not be given this term. The great ability shown in the production and presentation of "Dulcy" had led us to hope that we would be entertained on at least one evening this term by Masque and Dagger. But as this was not possible, due to the activity of the players in debating, and to the other work that their coach, Mr. Hennessy has had charge of, we shall have to content ourselves with the realization that Masque and Dagger and Coach Hennessy are at work on a play which we shall see sometime the first of next term.

As this play will be given at the Community House, we are to be compensated for having to go a whole term without seeing a Masque and Dagger production, for there will be two public performances of "The Rivals." If we like this play as much as we did "Dulcy," we shall go to see it both evenings, and then again if it is given a third time. —C.

C. A. TROW, '95, WRITES ABOUT ORIGIN OF PICTURE FIGHT

The following letter telling of the origin of the freshman-sophomore picture fight was received this week from Charles A. Trow, 2-year '95, who is connected with the Pacific Oil company of California. "The Orphanage" of which Mr. Trow writes, is now the Practice House.

Coalinga, Calif., March 6, 1924.
Editor of The New Hampshire,
Durham, N. H.

Dear Sir:

In the February 22nd issue of The New Hampshire I noted that it had been decided to do away with the annual class picture fight and it occurred to me that probably few of the present students knew much about the origin of that ancient and more or less honored institution, the said origin dating back to a time somewhat more recent than the reign of King Tut.

It was the writer's fortune to be in Durham at the time and although taking no part, except in an advisory capacity, to know something about the circumstances.

As the college records will show the class of '97 was much larger than those preceding it and in the college activities had things pretty much its own way, consequently becoming somewhat unpopular with the upper classmen as present students will understand if they can imagine the present freshmen starting in to run the whole show.

On a beautiful spring morning the said class of '97, having entered into an agreement with a man owning a strong camera, congregated in front of Thompson hall for the purpose of having a class picture taken. At that time there stood on the north side of the street opposite Thompson hall a small cottage known as "The Orphanage" and inhabited by certain alleged students among whom were several sophomores well known to the writer as being of riotous disposition. Fearing that they might do something to disturb the peace of that beautiful morning and realizing that it would be easy for them to interfere with the ceremonies by some such methods as flashing the sun, by means of mirrors, in the faces of the freshmen, he decided, in the interests of peace and harmony, to give them certain advice, which he did, thereafter leaving the immediate vicinity hoping that his advice would be taken and all would be peaceful. But they were too deeply steeped in iniquity and on his return he found that they had disregarded his advice to their own doing, as they had been captured, tied hand and foot, the mirrors appropriately inscribed set up like tombstones at their heads and their photographs taken and later distributed about town. Whether any are still in existence the writer does not know, although "Tommy Schoonmaker" might have one.

It is believed that since that time no freshman class has had a picture taken in peace. Charles A. Trow, '95.

R. O. T. C. OFFICERS HAVE "BLOWOUT"

Give Informal Reception
To Captain C. S. Pettee

PLAY BASKETBALL GAME

Group of Advanced Military Art Students Hold Party in Gymnasium—"Flashes of Action" Shown

An informal reception was tendered to Captain Pettee by the advance course Infantry Unit on Monday evening, March 10.

The advance course students, both Infantry and C. A. C., assembled at the gymnasium at 7.30, when a basketball game was played. The Infantry far outclassed the C. A. C. and won by a wide margin. The spectacular shooting of Joe Horne was the feature of the game. Following the game Capt. Pettee was marched into the Gym where he was presented with a very valuable smoking outfit by Colonel Draper. The Colonel made one of the most finished attempts at oratory ever essayed within the hallowed walls of the gymnasium. "Drape" spoke of the fact that Capt. Pettee was the freshman officer of the outfit and some public recognition of the fact was necessary, and also mildly alluded that the final ranks of the assembled company lay in the capacity for pity of the Captain. As a further token of the regard in which the Captain is held a tin hat was loaned to him as a partial protection against tonic bottles.

After the formal acceptance by Capt. Pettee of his treasured gift the moving picture, "Flashes of Action," was shown. The different scenes and places in the picture were spoken of by Major Walker and Captain Pettee who were near the spots where the pictures were taken during the war.

Two games of handball were played following the moving pictures. The Infantry was again victorious in the first game, but the result of the second game is still in doubt because of the unique scoring system used by the scorer. Joe Horne played a wonderful game for the Infantry, and Lieut. McGill played a strong game for the C. A. C., so strong, in fact, that he broke the handball on a return. A basketball was used for the remainder of the game.

Immediately after the handball games refreshments were served in the Infantry room. During this time Edward Blewett, "Mud" Stevens and "Pete" Lemieux entertained with anecdotes of city, country, and celestial life. Major Walker, who had been in Manchester during the day, outlined the result of his trip. The tentative schedule arranged is as follows:

May 28—Arrive at Manchester 3 p. m.; arrive at grounds; marching, 4 p. m.; guard mount, 5.40 p. m.; parade to follow guard mount; camp fire and band concert, 8-9 p. m.

May 29—Bayonet exercises, platoon, 2 p. m.; shelter tent pitching, 2.20 p. m.; infantry attack, 3 p. m.; rifle drill, 4 p. m.; retreat, 4.30 p. m.; guard mount, 5 p. m.; supper, 5.30 p. m.; dance in the evening, to be arranged.

May 30—Participate in Memorial Day exercises; baseball game, p. m., five minute drill before game.

Following Major Walker's talk Alma Mater was sung and the company dismissed.

Announcement has been made by the Executive Committee that the construction of the building will be started within a few months. The cost of the new club will reach nearly $2,000,000.

As it will require a year or more in construction, and, also, as there will undoubtedly be a long waiting list by the time the club is completed, it is the desire of the Executive Committee to offer the members of the two upper classes an opportunity to make application for membership at this time. On April 1, the privilege of purchasing certificates of ownership will be withdrawn. After that date, the applicant will be required to pay an initiation fee of $100.

Dues for the first three years out of college will be $25 each year, beginning when the club house is ready for occupancy.

Provision has been made in the plans for Turkish baths, several floors of sleeping rooms, a commodious library, large dining-room, private dining-room, ladies' dining-room and other features of the modern club.

The club is primarily for the young college men, rather than for those who have been out many years. The headquarters of the Executive Committee are at 24 Federal Street, in charge of Donald D. McKay and Barton K. Stephenson.

EXTENSION BULLETINS ARE USED AS WINDOW DISPLAYS

The use of New Hampshire Extension Service Bulletins as window displays is one of the latest methods in the advertising program of at least one New Hampshire firm. A recent letter to the Extension Service from Brown and Batchelder, enterprising clothiers of Concord, N. H., says that they use all of the recent bulletins published by the Extension Service in this way.

1314 NOW IN BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS

New Method Being Used in Distributing Instructions for Each Project—Much Interest Shown in Work

The Boys' and Girls' Club department of the Extension Service reports a total enrollment in the state of 1,314 boys and girls during January and February. This is nearly equal to the entire enrollment in 1921 on July 1st.

This year the instructions in each project for the entire year are sent out to each club member in the form of a neat pamphlet which may be referred to at any time during the season. Formerly, the instructions were sent out at different periods during the season, and it was not at all unusual for a club member to lose part of his instructions. On the cover of each set of instructions is drawn an attractive picture illustrating some point to be brought out in the project. For instance, in the poultry instructions there is a picture showing the difference in the number of eggs laid by pullets hatched early in the season and pullets which were hatched later.

A great deal of interest is being shown in Club work this year, and everything promises to be one of the best seasons yet.

Finals in 2B, 22B, and 8B Military Art will be given Thursday, March 20, at 2 p. m. Other exams in Military Art will be announced.

During this term 50,000 rounds of ammunition were fired by the freshmen students. Among those who made excellent scores in marksmanship this week were: C. H. Ingalls, offhand; G. H. Wales, W. P. Moore, and M. A. Wilmot, sitting.

A new system of teaching Military History has been inaugurated in the Military department this year. The freshmen are to study the period of Colonial time to War of 1812; the sophomores from 1812 to 1863; the juniors from 1863 to 1870; the seniors from 1870 to present period.

According to rumors from the Military department, we have an embryo Kipling in the University, Lieut. McKenny having had a poem accepted by one of our leading periodicals.

Gustafson Uses Eleven Men in One-sided Contest—Freshman Record Good—Nine Victories and Three Defeats

The New Hampshire freshman basketball team closed its season with a record of nine victories and three defeats by easily outclassing the freshman team of Northeastern University 40 to 15 in a one-sided game in the local gym played as a curtain raiser to the Varsity contest with Worcester Tech.

Northeastern was weak in the fundamentals of the game, while the 1927 quintet was working at top speed throughout the contest. Craig and Kelsea starred for the freshmen. The passing of the frosh has improved in every game and on Saturday night the team showed the results of the training that they have received from Coach Gustafson. Very few fouls were called in the game, which was refereed by Mr. Rogers of Exeter. Before the game was over Coach Gustafson used his entire squad.

The defeats which the freshmen suffered all came during the early part of the season before they had developed their teamwork and passing game. The team will play the sophomores some afternoon next week.

field High school, and Laconia High school. They have been regrouped as follows: Lisbon vs. Whitefield; Sanborn Seminary vs. Berwick; and Pinkerton vs. Concord. The winner of the Lisbon-Whitefield debate will then meet the Laconia High school team, and the winners of the Pinkerton-Concord and Sanborn Seminary-Berwick contests will debate each other.

The two teams surviving these contests will be determined by April 12, and they will meet here in Durham shortly afterwards to compete for the championship of the state and the Parker debating cup.

The question being debated in all these contests is, "Resolved, that the Philippine Islands shall be given complete independence in five years."

"Best Paid Hard Work in the World"

IS the way a JOHN HANCOCK salesman described his work. He is a college graduate and in five years has put himself at the very top of his business. He never yet has called upon a prospect without a previous appointment. The best life insurance salesmen today work on that plan, making it a business of dignity, such as any worthy and ambitious college graduate can find satisfying to his mental needs, and highly remunerative as well.

The man above quoted is the John Hancock's youngest general agent. This shows what college graduates of the right type can do in this business, how they can build up earning power and at the same time provide for an accumulated competence for the years to come.

Graduation is a vital period in your life and you are liable to hold to the business you start in. It would be well before making a definite decision to inquire into life insurance as a career. Address, "Agency Department."

UNIVERSITY OF NEW HAMPSHIRE ALUMNI
MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP FUND145A Belmont St.,
Everett, Mass.,
March 10, 1924.

Dear Alumni:

I have just received a very interesting letter from a member of the committee, in which are several excerpts from letters that he has received. As these may answer the questions and arguments of more than one, I am embodying them in this general letter.

The first one is as follows: "Alumni dug their deepest only two or three years ago for Alumni Field. Let the younger classes endow Scholarships." It is true that the Alumni did dig their deepest two or three years ago for Alumni Field, but surely by this time most of them have recovered financially, and should be able to contribute to this Fund. Contributing once doesn't mean that they are through. Their duty to the Alumni and the College is such that they should contribute to drives of this and similar kind, where the College is concerned, the rest of their natural life. This means, of course, without serious financial embarrassment to themselves. "Let the younger classes endow Scholarships" is exactly what they are doing.

The second reads thus: "Alumni Association is sending out requests for money. Students' Christian Association is sending out requests for money. Scholarship Committee is sending out requests for money. What shall the Alumnus give to?" As self-preservation is the first law of nature, it is perfectly fair that an Alumnus should be in a position that he can afford to give, before he should be expected to give. The three things mentioned in this are worthy of help, and are entitled to the support of every loyal Alumnus. If you can only give to one, give to the one that will do the most good for the largest number. They all do a real good and the Scholarship Fund is helping some one through College who maybe had a harder struggle than you did, financially.

The third is this: "The writer has seen no publicity on the matter in the Alumni Association Bulletin, and no appreciable amount in the New Hampshire, and what organization is behind the thing?" The lack of publicity in the Alumni Bulletin is mostly the fault of the writer, but this matter has been taken care of, and space has been promised in all Alumni publications for the balance of the year. For the month past weekly letters have been appearing in The New Hampshire, and will appear until June. The organization behind this Scholarship Fund is the University of New Hampshire Alumni Association acting through a committee whose names were published some two weeks ago. This is, therefore, an authorized project of the Alumni Association.

The fund today totals $31.00.

"Jimmie" Tufts, '14, has very generously made us the same offer this year as last, namely; He will give 5 per cent. of the amount of sales from his nursery in Exeter, made to an Alumnus of New Hampshire, to the Fund. This we feel is a fair and equitable bargain, and we hope that the Alumni will aid us in this matter. Last year this amounted to about $15.00, and was surely appreciated by the committee.

Yours for New Hampshire,

ED. HARDY, '06.

Fitzpatrick to Box in Two Classes—Interfraternity Bouts for Durham Drug Cup Will Be Held Monday Night

Saturday afternoon at 3 p. m. the University of New Hampshire Boxing team will meet Boston University in the big gymnasium in the only intercollegiate boxing tournament to be held in Durham this year. The meeting between the two teams last year resulted in a tie. Several of the same boxers from B. U. are entered for this year's fracas and some fast bouts between old rivals will be in order. The admission to the bouts will be 25 cents.

The program includes 7 bouts. Charlie Fitzpatrick, the speedy N. H. flyweight, will box in his own class and the bantamweight also. John L. Sullivan is to box for New Hampshire in the featherweight class. Sullivan was slated to meet John Wallace in an elimination bout before the B. U. meet, but as Wallace has been suffering from a cold, this bout has been postponed until the day of the freshman-sophomore basketball game.

The bout between these two men to settle the featherweight championship of the University will be fought immediately after that game. Bill Smith, winner of the middleweight bouts in the recent tournament is unable to fight because of an infection in his arm caused by boils. "Mo" Mansell will fight in that class. Locke, who won the light-heavy class is barred from representing the University in athletic contests because he is not registered as a regular four-year student. "Al" Smith, the runner up in that class in the interclass bouts, will fight for New Hampshire.

Benjamin Osterhues, of the B. A. A., has been engaged to referee the bouts and the fans are already hoping that the popular "Benny" digs up another batch of stories to tell between the fights. The timers will be Professors Dewey and Perley.

On Monday night, March 17, the annual interfraternity bouts will be held at 8 o'clock, admission 25 cents. These bouts will be held only between fraternity men and will bring out some scrappers who have not shown their wares before this winter. The Durham Drug store has donated a silver loving cup for the winner of this tournament.

The entries for the B. U. meet are as follows:

Flyweight: C. Fitzpatrick, N. H.; W. Darkin, B. U.

Bantamweight: C. Fitzpatrick, N. H.; L. Gropman, B. U.

Featherweight: J. L. Sullivan, N. H.; F. Gannon, B. U.

Lightweight: Ed. O'Gara, N. H.; S. MacLeod, B. U.

Welterweight: Akmakjian, N. H.; C. Lynce, B. U.

Middleweight: M. Mansell, N. H.; Gagliolo, B. U.

Light-heavyweight: Al. Smith, N. H.; "Spike" Carlson, B. U.

PUBLIC HEALTH
COURSE OFFEREDWill Be Important Part Of Coming Summer School

LASTS FULL SIX WEEKS

Courses in Bacteriology, Chemistry, and Nutrition Included—An Opportunity for Nurses, Premedical Students and Others Interested

The coming session of the University of New Hampshire Summer school is to include a course in Public Health lasting the full six weeks of the session. This will constitute one of the most important features of the session, offering especial attraction to nurses, premedical students, and teachers interested in Public Health or School Hygiene.

By far the most important of the subjects which will be offered in this course will be Botany 30-S, Public Health Bacteriology, given by the Botany department, under the supervision of Dr. Mabel Brown. This will afford teachers a good opportunity to become familiar with the nature and methods of the transmission of bacterial diseases. In connection with this course there will also be offered a course in General Bacteriology listed as Botany 8-S. This is for those students desiring a more fundamental training in the subject of bacteriology. The two will furnish a good basis for the teaching of hygiene and sanitation in the public schools.

The subject of the relation of nutrition to public health will be treated by the Chemistry and Home Economics departments. Prof. George A. Perley will offer a course in Household Chemistry, consisting of elementary work in the chemistry of nutrition. Mrs. McLaughlin, of the Home Economics department, will offer a course in Nutrition and Dietetics, listed as Home Economics 35-S. In addition to these courses the Department of Zoology will offer its regular work in Hygiene and Sanitation.

TO DO RESEARCH WORK

Has Chosen New Hampshire in Preference to Institutions Because of Desire to Work Again with Dr. Slobin

A notable addition to the faculty of the University of New Hampshire was announced this week in the appointment as associate professor of mathematics of Dr. George Neander Bauer, formerly professor of mathematics at the University of Minnesota, and President of the East Hennepin State Bank of Minneapolis. Dr. Bauer is retiring from a successful business career because of his desire to go on with teaching and research and has refused offers from several universities in favor of New Hampshire in order that he may again collaborate on works on mathematical subjects with Dr. Herman L. Slobin, professor of mathematics at New Hampshire with whom he has published several books. He will give courses in mathematics and in money and banking.

Dr. Bauer has studied at the University of Minnesota, University of Iowa, Gottingen University, and received his doctor's degree at Columbia. He taught mathematics at Iowa and Minnesota and was made Chairman of War Savings Societies for Minnesota and Assistant Director of the War Savings Organization of the Federal Reserve District. In 1919 he was made vice-president of the Exchange State Bank of Minneapolis, and in 1920 President of the East Hennepin State Bank of Minneapolis. He is the author of "The Parallels of U. Cass and the Positions of Fifty-six Neighboring Stars," "Transcendental Curves and Numbers and Algebraic and Transcendental Numbers" (with Dr. Slobin), and several other books.

Dr. Bauer will become a member of the University of New Hampshire faculty in time to give courses in money and banking and mathematics in the Summer School.

MIDNIGHT SERENADERS

Fraternity Banners, Moon, Stars, and Blue and White Streamers Help in Decoration Scheme

The annual Aggie Ball was held in the "Gym" on the evening of March 7. The "Gym" was artistically decorated with many streamers of the University colors. This was one of the largest dances of the year as was proven by the support of over one hundred and fifty merry couples. The various fraternity and sorority banners, the "new moon," and the stars which covered the lights together with the many streamers made the Gym appear at its best. Music was furnished by the Midnight Serenaders from Boston who were located opposite the door among many palms. From these palms emerged the notes of the latest pieces of modern dance music which made the evening the success that it was. Deep colored punch which made one think of the old days even though it was within the extremes of the eighteenth amendment added its deliciousness to the festivities.

The chaperons for the evening were Professor and Mrs. J. C. McNutt, Director and Mrs. J. C. Kendall, Professor and Mrs. L. V. Tirrell. With them in the receiving line stood President Wayne Parkhurst, '24, and Miss. Dorothea Brummit, ex-'24, of Wolfboro, N. H.

The committee in charge of the dance consisted of: Carl Hewitt, '24, Durham; Carl Martin, Colebrook, and Charles French, Laconia.

McKINLEY STARS FOR N. H.

Local Team Never Headed in Next to Last Game of Season—Delphos and Sharpe Feature for Worcester—Large Crowd Sees Game

The New Hampshire basketball team defeated Worcester Polytechnical Institute at Durham on Saturday, March 8, in a fast game by a score of 26 to 20. Although the New Hampshire team was never in danger they did not seem to have the snap and precision that has characterized their previous work.

John McKinley and the New Hampshire backs, Fernald and Nicora, starred for their team. Cotton and Captain Metcalf played hard, but their shots lacked precision. The New Hampshire passing was inaccurate and several times the Blue and White team lost the ball by passing into the hands of the Worcester players.

New Hampshire was slow in starting and for the first five minutes the teams played evenly. A basket by McKinley, followed by a long shot by Nicora, started the New Hampshire scoring. Delphos and Sharpe both scored for Worcester and McKinley dropped one in for the home team. With the score 6 to 6 time was called out by New Hampshire. At the resumption of play Cotton and Metcalf both scored, and the score at the half was 12 to 7, New Hampshire. Captain Metcalf was given a rest during the last few minutes of the first period and Oscar Foote took his place.

At the beginning of the second period, New Hampshire played with the same form that has enabled her to defeat Harvard and Brown in the last two weeks. The fast work of Cotton and McKinley had the Worcester backs bewildered, and the score was soon 22 to 11. The shooting of the New Hampshire team suddenly went bad and many easy shots were missed by the New Hampshire offense men. Worcester then began to score and outplayed her opponents for a time. The diminutive Higgins dashed down the floor three times for beautiful baskets, and Delphos added several more points to the visitor's score. Captain Higgins blocked several New Hampshire rushes and the playing became rough and fast. With the score 22 to 18, New Hampshire tightened up and prevented Worcester from gaining, although Delphos scored once more on a long shot. Fernald scored for the home team, and Captain Metcalf followed him with the final score of the night.

The long passes of the Worcester team netted them several baskets. Sharpe and Delphos starred for the visitors, the work of the light and fast Sharpe being especially good. Captain Higgins played a strong game at left forward.

The summary:

MASQUE AND DAGGER TO GIVE NEW PLAY

Dramatic Society Will Present "The Rivals" Next April—Hope to Eclipse Success of "Dulcy"—Cast Chosen

"Masque and Dagger," the University dramatic society, is actively preparing to present another play, "The Rivals," the success of which is expected to eclipse that of "Dulcy" which was given in such a highly creditable manner last term. "The Rivals" is a play which has had a very successful run at the Copley theatre in Boston, being presented there by the famous Jewett Players. It will be given here by "Masque and Dagger" about the last of April. It is expected that two performances will be given at this time, both of which will take place in the Community House.

The tryouts for the principal characters in the play have already been conducted and the cast practically chosen. Mr. Hennessy, who is coaching the play and who is spending a great deal of time and energy to make it a greater success even than "Dulcy," says that the choosing of the cast has been made exceedingly difficult by the excellent work shown by all those trying out.

Those chosen to act the principal roles in the play are:

Sir Anthony Absolute, Carroll Dyer, '25
Captain Jack, Edward Sweeney, '26
Bob Acres, John A. Clay, '27
Sir Lucius O'Trigger, Edward Blewett, '26
Faulkland, Harry Page, '27
Fag, Raymond Corey, '26
Boy, Elroy Chase, '27
Mrs. Malaprop, E. Jane Tuttle, '25

Tremendous Enthusiasm

Prof. Perley reports that the enthusiasm in winter sports in Montreal is almost unbelievable. It is a very common sight to see from a thousand to two thousand men, women and children all along the sides of Mount Royal. The enthusiasm in skiing has resulted in a marked decrease in the interest in hockey. However, the whole city is dotted with skating rinks and at no time of the day or night did he see any of the many rinks unused. The co-eds of McGill find pleasure in hockey and the fancy skating events would be meaningless were it not for the feminine enthusiasts. All the rinks were made on the snow surface and very simple methods of flooding the surface were employed. The longer races were conducted on a course prepared over a regular cinder track similar to that on our own Memorial field, where the ice was made by the aid of the city sprinkler.

The Ski Jumps

The Montreal Ski Club ski jump is located fully three times as far away from the McGill Campus as is the New Hampshire jump from Thompson hall, yet this distance is no cause for disuse. The jump receives very careful attention each day and its supervision is quite similar to that of a golf course. The whole mountain is lined with small jumps which are prepared in the summer season through building up a variety of small earth mounds. The jumping is considered chiefly as a means to the ultimate end of developing a person who is a cross country ski expert. The Canadians feel that a person must be proficient in ascending and descending hills, jumping over small imperfections in the landscape and with sufficient endurance as to travel over fairly long stretches with speed and ease. Hence the major emphasis is placed on ski hikes, the performance of Telemarks and Christianias, etc. The agility of the Canadian youngsters as they wend their way down through the maze of trees on Mount Royal was a bit startling to the New Hampshire representative.

The interest in snow shoeing was not very intense and yet the snow shoe races created a goodly bit of excitement among the McGill student spectators. All of the snowshoe and ski dash races were run in lanes that had been carefully rolled to a compact surface and great speed was possible.

Such a meet as is anticipated in the future would be a very big affair for the New Hampshire campus, and plans for such a meet two or three years hence should certainly be made.

MANY STATES ARE USING
N. H. EXTENSION PLAYS

Reports of the continued presentation of New Hampshire Extension plays which were first produced at the Aggie College continue to come from many different states.

One of the latest reports comes from the Upper Vincennes township of Knox county, Indiana. At thirteen different plays given in the county, there was a total attendance of 3,757 and an average attendance of 289 at each play.

The plan now being followed out by the Knox County Farm Bureau is to have a different town present a play each month and entertain the other towns of the county.
