JUNIOR CLASS BOOK GETTING UNDERWAY

With the partial completion of the organization of the staff of the 1927 Granite, plans for the year book are taking definite shape, as the editors indicate. Each department of the staff is now busy in getting material together for its section of the book. The 1926 Granite was one of the best school magazines ever produced here. Many new features were added by last year's staff which will be retained, and in addition, other departments will be added. While it is not definitely known just what all of these will be, it is certain that a very attractive book will result. The book is under the general supervision of Professor Scudder as a welcome to his first term as director of the Granite.

The Granite staff, which is made up of a number of sections in addition to the normal Granite, as well as other departments, will be added. FESTUS, I PLUNGE!

Greatting the truth of the remonstrance made by a member of the faculty, I think we must consider that the student body is in serious danger. We are now aware that the student body is subject to the control of the instructors in a great number of courses. These instructors are responsible for the lack of college spirit and activities than there are today. The faculty control by committee and not by any other means. This is a very bad thing. The writer, Mr. Perley, has said that "The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them are not quiet or accurate; they are behind the times. The students who always has and always will be the same."

It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point of the present system. The organization becomes necessary for two reasons: first, because the students are not bound together by one common purpose; second, because they are not in a proper spirit.

In the first place, I believe that the system of faculties control is not only advantageous but necessary. It is a very important point. The fact that the students are not bound together by one common purpose is the most important part of the system. This is our viewpoint based on our experience. The problem is yours, gentle reader.
