COMING EVENTS AND SOCIETIES

CONNECTICUT AND MASSACHUSETTS COLLEGES ARE NEW MEMBERS OF THE N.E.I.N.A.

Sable at New Haven

Two new members were admitted to the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association last week in Connecticut and Massachusetts colleges.

At the Connecticut Convention at the University of Connecticut a large group of students met to hear Eugene T. Beardsley, assistant in the department of English at the University of British Columbia, give a lecture on "English Literature and the War". The Connecticut daily papers were represented at the convention: Bob Stratton, editor; Mark D. Johnson, assistant editor of the Republican; L. H. Bailey, editor of the Argus; W. L. Hackett, assistant editor of the Daily; and H. W. Spear, copy editor of the Daily.

The Massachusetts convention was held at Harvard University under the auspices of the Harvard Students' Association. The convention began on Friday afternoon with an address by President Henry F. Rhees of the University of Illinois. The convention continued through the week with various meetings and resolutions and ended on Saturday afternoon with an address by the President. The Harvard Torch was the official organ of the convention.

"THE WHIRLWIND GIRL"

Debra Casals

This 10th girl is one of the very few that are exploited by a gang of city grifters who are operating in a small town. The mystery of the girl and her sudden wealth, which prevents her from giving up her gang, comes to a crisis when Mr. John Hancox (Debra Casals, General Manager of the Gang) is caught, and the police get a hold of the girl. She realizes the true nature of the girl and her gang, and the story ends with her engagement to Mr. Hancox.

SATURDAY, MAY 8

"YOU can't always tell from the Campus!

This is a plain tale of a regular, everyday American undergraduate—against the University of Vermont with a collection that was tied for the lead of thousands of other schools.

He got a kick out of playing weekly basketball. He caught on the baseball team. When Connecticut won at football, he cheered with the rest. For a year he enjoyed the indoor cooperative baseball. He was president of the Engineering Triad, the student governing body. In a word, he did the things well, that college students everywhere did too.

But of the specialization which he was to receive a Washington—there wasn't a clue.

The case of W. E. Thau is another example of the application of an organization to a man with a fixed policy. This is what they climb on things.

After the usual training given college men, he entered the General Engineering Department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and was president of the freshman class. He left the Institute last spring to work in the shipbuilding company that makes the ships. He did the things well, that college students everywhere did.

But of the specialization which he was to receive a Washington—there wasn't a clue.
