

BOWDOIN DEFEATS VARSITY ELEVEN

Blocked Punt Wins Game For Maine State Eleven

Real Football Shown by Both Teams Despite Wet Field—Hill Repeats Play Which Defeated Boston University

Bowdoin took the varsity eleven into camp with a score of 7 to 0 in the final period of a hard fought, evenly matched battle on a spongy field at Brunswick, Maine, Saturday. Hill, left tackle for Bowdoin, broke through the New Hampshire line and skillfully blocked a kick on the forty yard line, dashed up the field scooped the ball which had bounded toward the New Hampshire goal, and rolled across the line after being tackled by Reynolds, the New Hampshire quarterback. Hill is the same man who successfully blocked a punt and scored a touchdown against Boston University on Saturday, September 25.

The slightly wet condition of the field slowed up both teams but permitted plenty of action and hard, driving line play. New Hampshire outshined Bowdoin considerably carrying the ball ninety-nine yards to the opponents fifty-nine, while Farrington's kicking and passing was better than anything the "Wildcats" showed.

In the opening quarter, Stewart skirted right end for an eighteen-yard gain. Line plunges by Nicora and Abbiatti brought the ball to Bowdoin's thirty-five yard line from where Nicora attempted a placement kick. The ball, after crossing the scrimmage, rolled to the twenty-yard mark where Farrington who picked it up, was downed in his tracks. Bowdoin punted out of danger and it was not until the last period that New Hampshire had a second chance to score. With the ball on the opponents' thirty-yard line Reynolds attempted a drop kick which missed the mark by a few feet.

Frank Farrington, left half back on the Bowdoin eleven, was the outstanding star for his team. He repeatedly ripped off gains through the tackles besides working well on the defensive. Morrill, the diminutive full back, supported the line in great shape and made some fine gains around the ends. For New Hampshire, Nicora, Abbiatti, and Stewart worked especially well. Tommy Stewart, in spite of the soggy field, got away a number of times for substantial gains. The line-bucking of Abbiatti and the off tackle plunges of Callahan and Hoagland looked especially good on the tackling end of the game.

Harry O. Page of Swampscott was elected President of the Senior Class for the third consecutive year at a class meeting in "T" Hall last Wednesday night. Page was President of Mask and Dagger last year, has served on the Student Council, and was the New Hampshire delegate to the World Court Conference. He is president of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Margaret Marnoch of Dover was reelected Vice-President. She is a member of the Phi Mu sorority, the 1927 Granite Board, and the Women's Student Council. The class reelected Eleanor Atwood, Alpha Chi Omega, of Gloucester, Mass., secretary for the second time. Walter Hopkins, Theta Chi, was elected treasurer. These officers have been elected for three years and will serve as alumnae officers until an official reunion of the class.

WORK BEGUN ON 1928 YEAR BOOK

Large Number of Healers Report at First Meeting

Work on Individual and Group Pictures to Start by November 1—C. N. Elliot Editor-in-Chief

The 1928 Granite Staff under the direction of Ned Elliot, editor for the current year, has already begun work on this yearly junior publication. Many new ideas will be developed in this issue and the staff hopes to make it one of the best Granites ever published.

Eight pages will be devoted to views of the University and the campus. All of the cuts are new and there are some exceptionally fine views of the buildings. Work on the individual and also the group pictures will be begun by November first. The advertising department has been organized and will be put to work at once.

There was a good response to the call for "healers" from the freshman and sophomore classes. Assignments are now being prepared for the students that reported as healers at the meeting held on Thursday evening of last week. The complete list of healers follows: Mary Baker, Louise Sprague, Ruth Morrill, Margaret Baker, Elizabeth Child, Pearle Mason, Charles Johnson, Mildred Corey, Frances Loughlin, Alice Spinney, Elizabeth Murdoch, Nancy Hoeselon, Jane Blake, Margaret Cournoyer, Harold Turner, Marjorie Dahlberg, Alice Eastman, Robert Eastman, Peter Agrafotis, Horace Francis, George Dyer, Leon Morresette, Louis Kelley, Ralph Brown, Celia Williams, Shirley Putnam, Eloise Ledoux, Ruth Lindell, Molly Stanley, Celia Campbell, Ruth Smith, Hattie Record and John Fleming.

CHEER LEADERS REPORT TO MICHELSON FOR TRYOUTS

Three freshmen candidates for cheer leading reported to Gunnar Michelson, senior cheer leader, at the men's gymnasium Thursday afternoon for tryouts in cheer leading. The men who reported are Willey, Rogers and McIntosh.

All of these men have had prep school experience as cheer leaders, but an urgent request has been made by the leader in charge that more freshman try out for the positions open.

CLASSIC COMEDY FALL TERM PLAY

Goldsmith's "She Stoops To Conquer" Planned

John Fleming, '29, Chosen for Leading Part—Ability as Actor Well Known on Campus—Presentation First Week in December

Mask and Dagger, the university dramatic society, will produce Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" as its fall term production according to an announcement made this week by Prof. William G. Hennessy, coach of dramatics. The play will run three performances and will take place in the Community House the first three days of December.

Tryouts for the production were held last Saturday and Monday and the cast will be announced by the end of this week. Rehearsals will commence Monday. Todd Wallace, '27, and Frederic Smith, '29, will have charge of the scenery while Elroy Chase, '27, will act as technical director.

Last year the society produced Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice," "The Whole Town's Talking" by John Emerson and Anita Loos, and Ian Hay's "Tilly of Bloomsbury." Several stars of these plays are expected to be named in the cast of Goldsmith's comedy.

Coach Hennessy announced late Tuesday that John Fleming, '29, who played the lead in "The Whole Town's Talking" last year, will take the leading part of Tony Lumpkin in this fall's production.

MIDDLE CLASSES ELECT OFFICERS

Frederick Mitchell Junior President—Sophomores Reelected Justin Clark of Portsmouth

Frederick Mitchell of Manchester and Justin Clark of Portsmouth were elected presidents of the junior and sophomore classes respectively at meetings held this week. Other officers chosen were Lester Brooks of Dorchester, Mass., vice president; Marjorie Thompson of Keene, secretary, and Paul Hunt of Haverhill, Mass., treasurer for the class of 1928, and Edward Hunt of Exeter, vice president; Marjorie Dahlberg of Manchester, secretary, and Harlan McIntire of Manchester, treasurer for the sophomores.

Mitchell is assistant manager of varsity football and will hold the full management next season. He is a member of the Theta Chi fraternity. Brooks is a member of the tennis team, while Miss Thompson is president of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

The sophomore president is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, while Hunt, the vice president, made his numerals last year in his class football and baseball teams. Miss Dahlberg played a prominent part in "The Whole Town's Talking," the winter term production of Mask and Dagger last year. She has since been elected to the organization.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL TEAM BEATS KEENE

Score of 28-0 Rolled Up As Rain Falls In Torrents—Tufts Game at Oval Saturday—New Hampshire Doped To Win

Playing a flashy game on a wet and slippery field, the University of New Hampshire Freshman football team defeated Keene High school by 28-0 on Memorial Field last Saturday afternoon. The Freshmen held the advantage from the kick-off to the final whistle, out-running, out-bucking, and out-punting the Keene team during every period.

Gibson, Frosh quarterback, opened the scoring in the first quarter with a dropkick of more than thirty yards, and in the second period he took the ball across the line on a linebuck formation. The work of Gibson as a pilot was outstanding.

The Freshmen scored heavily in the third period when Small, Grant, and Wilkins all made touchdowns. Gibson completed one try for point. Tinker, Wilkins, and McShane showed up well in the line, as did Fish and Bronson. Averka played a consistent game at center.

Lane and Thrasher in the Keene backfield, teamed with Fleming for several long gains, which were ineffectual. Martin, Perreault and Clark were stubborn in the line, but were ridden out by the powerful Freshman linemen.

Saturday the Freshmen play the Tufts "Baby Elephants" on the Tufts Oval at Medford. This is their first game away, and will be a tough one despite the fact that New Hampshire is doped to win.

DATES DRAWN FOR RUSHING PARTIES

Sororities Decide Rushing Rules at Pan-Hellenic Meeting—Preferential Bidding to be Used

Dates for rush parties were drawn by the representatives of the various sororities at a meeting of Pan-Hellenic held last Wednesday. The dates chosen were: Alpha Xi Delta, October 6; Chi Omega, October 8; Delta Kappa, October 13; Phi Mu, October 16; Alpha Chi Omega, October 20; Sigma Omicron, October 23.

According to an established system each sorority has one rush day a week making a total of five rush days. Rushing began September twenty-first. All parties except the specified rush party must be "Dutch treat." No sorority girl shall be allowed to go home with or take home with her any freshman girl for an over-night visit during the rushing season. The preferential bidding method will be used. Bids will be issued on the evening of October 26 following a day of silence.

COLBY OPPOSES WILDCAT ELEVEN

Soccer Team to Battle With Clark University

Hour of Soccer Game Advanced to One O'clock—Win Expected Over Colby in Football—Dads to Witness Both Contests

The athletic program for Dad's Day on Saturday will include a varsity football game with Colby College at three o'clock and a varsity soccer game with Clark University at one. The starting time of the soccer contest has been advanced to enable the Dads to see both varsity games.

Coach Cowell will send about the same team that faced Bowdoin last week against the Colby eleven. A stiff practice has been held all the week in learning new plays for this game. Substitutions are expected in the line before the game is over, for the showing of the regular linemen against Bowdoin was not pleasing to the coaches, while the backfield was able to make three first downs to two first downs for the Bears, the Wildcats could not push over a touchdown. The varsity will lineup probably as follows on Saturday: Prince, Hoagland, lt; Barnes, lg; O'Leary, c; Langdell, rg; Hubbard, rt; Callahan, (capt.), re; Stewart, qb; Roy, lhb; Nicora, rrb; Abbiatti, fb.

Several changes have been made in the varsity soccer team since it lost the game with Dartmouth last Friday by seven points. Gustafson has been moved to right halfback and Currie shifted to the position left vacant by Gustafson at center halfback. McNab, a new man, will start at Williams' place in inside right, the latter moving over to center forward. A stiff game is looked for with the Clark team when Capt. Kirk leads his teammates against the Bay Staters on the lower field at one o'clock Saturday.

FIRST SERGEANTS CHOSEN BY MILITARY DEPARTMENT

The Military department has appointed Donal McPhee of Springfield, Mass., John Rogers of Everett, Mass., and Paul Toolin of Leominster, Mass., as first sergeants in "A", "B", and "C" companies respectively of the infantry battalion. These men, who are members of the junior class will have command of the companies until such time as the senior cadet officers are assigned to units. Coast artillery sergeants have not yet been announced.

DARTMOUTH WINS 7 TO 0 FROM SOCCER PLAYERS

Coach Swasey's varsity soccer team lost a one-sided game to the Dartmouth eleven at Hanover last Friday by the score of 7 to 0. The Blue and White players were clearly outclassed by the offense exhibited by the "Big Green" team which ran roughshod over the Wildcat eleven.

The strength of the new players to this year's squad, Currie and Gustafson, was shown in the contest. Both men starred in the New Hampshire offense. Captain Kirk played his usual flashy game at center halfback. The men received no injuries during the contest and showed midseason form in physical condition. Nelson kept down the score by making some difficult stops at goal.

PRIZE SPEAKING FOR MEN OF UNIVERSITY

Four Best Original Speeches of Preliminary Try-outs Will Be Delivered at Convocation—Gold Medal for Winner

A prize speaking contest under the auspices of the Department of English will be held at Convocation, Nov. 17, and will be open to all men of the University. The speeches will be limited to ten minutes and must be the original, written work of the candidate and must be signed by him.

The preliminary tryouts will be held before a board of judges between the hours of seven and eleven p. m., on Wednesday, Nov. 10, 1926, in Thompson Hall. The four best speakers chosen at the preliminaries will be the contestants at Convocation, when a different board of judges will choose the winner.

There will be no restriction as to subjects. Those chosen may be of local or national interest. However, the candidate should choose one that is interesting and should give special attention to the correct use of English.

The winner of this contest will be presented with a gold medal and it is possible that he may be the New Hampshire candidate at a New England or national intercollegiate contest. If a freshman wins at Convocation and is not eligible to enter an intercollegiate contest, the next ranking upper classman takes his place.

Candidates may register at Mr. Uford's office, 209 Shops building, any afternoon between 1.30 and 4.30. A registration fee of fifty cents will be required of all candidates payable to the "Debating Income Fund." The last day for registering is Wednesday, Nov. 3, at which time the manuscripts will be presented for inspection.

At the beginning of the winter term there will be a similar contest for the women of the University.

DADS

For the second time in the history of the University of New Hampshire it is the pleasure of this paper to give an official heartfelt greeting to the Dads of the students of the university. And for the second time the writer extends his own personal greetings to his Dad and other Dads who will be here to visit, inspect, and make a general tour of the new campus of the university.
 It is the hope of every member of the institution that the visitors will take every advantage offered them to view the many improvements of the campus which have been completed during the reign of our recently resigned president. Take especial note, Dads, of the new dormitory which has been dedicated to our beloved president. It is a building to be proud of and because we appreciate the earnest efforts of the man who made this improvement possible we wish to show off to our Dads some of the recent changes made here.
 We have been planning on this day for a year. The success of Dad's Day last year has given us added encouragement and we have looked forward to this second visit. Our only hope is that our Dads too will appreciate the university as much as the students.

LIBRARY NOTES

The year 1926 marks the fiftieth anniversary of the Association and in many respects the birth of the American library movement. To signalize this year the Association is holding an anniversary conference in Atlantic City and Philadelphia during the week of October 4. Invitations have been sent to practically every country in the world and many foreign delegates have signified their desire to take part in the conference.

The day of the birth of the American Library Association, October 6, will be celebrated by a special meeting and reception in Philadelphia. This reception will be held in the Library of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, the same society which served as host to the American Library Association when it was organized at the Centennial in 1876.

The results of fifty years of progress are shown in the following facts: Public Libraries in the United States and Canada.

- 1876—300.
- 1926—6,600.
- Library Expenditures.
- 1876—$518,000.
- 1926—$37,000,000.
- 1876—Closed shelves.
- 1926—Open shelves.
- 1876—Books for reference only.
- 1926—Books circulating freely.
- 1876—Children not admitted.
- 1926—Special rooms for children.

That there are still 51 million people in the United States and Canada who do not have access to public libraries, is a fact recently brought to light by an investigation of library extension. Future plans will accordingly be an even more important topic than past accomplishment at the Philadelphia meeting of the A. L. A.

NOTICE

There will be a debating contest at Convocation Dec. 8, on the subject, Resolved that the University of New Hampshire should adopt the Policy of Establishing Separate Classes for the Men and Women Students. This debate will be between the best debaters in each of the debating sections and will probably include some varsity debaters.

We want you to look us over, Dads. And because we are proud we know that you will leave a mark of approval for the members as well as the university itself.

FROM THE SHELVES

This is a new venture. It is fun to sit about here in the office of THE NEW HAMPSHIRE and wonder with what reaction a column of this kind will meet. Will it have two readers, for I intend to read it every week, or will it gain popularity like that of a certain soap advertisement, not to mention a well-known throat spray that to mention in society is to be ever a dub and an ill thought of person; will it?

It is the hope of THE NEW HAMPSHIRE that this will be an interesting bit of print every week and that there may be at least two readers by Christmas; I shall go still further, I shall give one autographed copy of THE NEW HAMPSHIRE to the person who proves that he has read even this, the initial one of a series of reviews of the books one MUST have read to be entirely à la mode.

Doubtless I am a little hit by the weather today, it is so very conducive to sentimentality, for it makes me think of football games, fur coats, crushed hats, cheers and all. It is with this sentimental outlook that I try to show that in John Galsworthy's "The Silver Spoon," I was delighted, not in the main by the stem plot or story as much as by an almost Machiavelian half tone theme, a tale of love.

The story centers about two painfully subtle women who remark cattily of one and other in such loving words as "cat," "snake in the grass," "snob," "un-moral," and other pet-names.

One of the painfully subtle women, Marjorie Farrar, a confessed advanced thinker, is of the gold-digger type and appealed to me rather greatly, more so than the others in fact. The sentiment that I speak of was aroused by her love affair with Francis Wilmot—Mr. Galsworthy calls him an "unobtrusive American boy"—who was related by marriage to Mrs. Michael Mont the other subtle woman.

Wilmot is, as other reviewers say, rather preposterously portrayed and he certainly is "unobtrusive" to the letter Z. From the actions of the lad, one is led to think that Mr. Galsworthy has about as keen an idea of an American youth in London as a college boy's father has of the way his son gets rid of the family shekels.

But, after forgetting Wilmot as any normal American youth amid the pubs of London and putting in his place, a kind of sleek, sane—horribly so—lad, polite to the last and even to the discomfort of his observers, and whose outlook on life is none the less romantic and trusting than that of a girl in her early teens, I liked him. I almost felt his ethereal love for the gold-digging Marjorie Farrar, whose name was so very greatly hurt when it was shown during her court proceedings against Mrs. Mont that the lady had had a rather shady rendezvous.

Wilmot was so hypersensitive that he became quite ill as the result of a little perfumed note, from Miss Farrar, in which she told him that she would not marry him, that he should go back to the land where cotton was grown. That deepness of his hurt, that ideal-lover, that dramatic hero stuff appeals!

I have always had a longing for acquaintances with people having odd names and I'm sure that the longing would have been almost satisfied if I had had the friendship of Mrs. Ppynrryn, oh that awe-inspiring name! Names have ever held a peculiar or an awful interest for me and perhaps, if I may be so egotistic as to say it this way, it was awe at the name that made Mr. Galsworthy have so little to do with the woman.

The book is another chapter in the history of the Forsyte family, in which Soames due to the very very great load of his years gives way and allows his daughter and son-in-law to take his place in the center of the stage. As I read of old Soames I caught myself more than once whimsically thinking of Theodore Roberts, late of movie fame, for the old man does have that characteristic of combining the characteristics of the bulldog and the Persian kitten in true Galsworthy style.

My enjoyment from the book grew as I progressed, reaching its greatest as I closed the back-cover, it is the sort that grows on one, that one goes to after dinner with one's pipe. It is so very near true to say that there is not a bit of drabness that one hates to imply that there was, true, there were places where the interest was not as pointed as others but those places, as Anita Loos puts it in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," were not close enough together to matter.

The book is, all in all, quite worthwhile and it must be at least glanced through but in order to be really a la mode read it; it's great, ripping, really.

Next week, I shall try and give a quick and short summation of that very clever bit of satire on woman; the book which did much to change the fun of the tired business man in the front row, and to cause Flo Ziegfeld's avowal that brunettes are still in the running though, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

With the hemispherical integrator the illuminating engineer measures light intensities and distribution. These laboratory findings are practically applied to improve our everyday illumination.

When the sun goes down

More than 350,000,000 incandescent lamps, with a combined light of nine billion candlepower, make city streets, stores, and homes brighter than ever before.

In bungalow or mansion, workshop or factory, dormitory or auditorium, there is no excuse for poor illumination. We have cheaper and better lighting in the electric lamp than ever before; for the dollar that bought 1,115 candlepower-hours of light with the carbon-filament lamps of 1886, now buys 16,200 candlepower-hours of light with the MAZDA lamps.

Not only more light, but correctly applied light, is the order of the day. The electric lamp, with its flameless yet highly concentrated light source, lends itself ideally to reflectors, shades, and screens. It is controlled light—safe light. And illumination becomes an exact science.

During college days and in after life, correct lighting must ever be of paramount importance to the college man and woman. Good lighting is the worthy handmaiden of culture and progress.

The General Electric Company is the world's largest manufacturer of incandescent lamps. And behind the G-E MAZDA lamps are vast research laboratories dedicated to cheaper and better electric illumination, and to the conservation of eyesight.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

It's a hit!
You can bat out
lots of good stuff with a Remington Portable Typewriter

It is surprising how the Remington Portable helps with college work. Long reports, theses, and transcriptions of lectures simply roll out of this machine. You don't have to be an experienced operator to speed up your writing to an unbelievable degree.

Your theses and reports look better, too, and quite naturally create a more favorable impression on the professors when they are written on the Remington Portable.

Weights only 8½ pounds, net, and is the handiest, fastest, simplest to operate, and most dependable of all portables. Smallest, lightest and most compact standard keyboard portable.

He's Still Telling the Judges

C. M. Laffoon

"The speaker for the affirmative, ladies and gentlemen, will be Mr. C. M. Laffoon." That line was not unfamiliar to student groups at the University of Missouri a few years ago.

Now the undergraduate debater of other days is the Design Engineer in the Turbo-Generator Section of the Power Engineering Department. He is in his eleventh year at the Westinghouse Company.

Laffoon today is the builder of the fastest things that go, electrically. For those intricate high-speed machines, he must not only act as designer, but must often assist in selling, and must look after the service when problems arise in operation. Because the designer is the man who knows, he is the "speaker for the affirmative." "Honorable judges" are fact-seeking engineers of electric light and power companies.

The question sometimes is asked: Where do young men get when they enter a large industrial organization? Have they opportunity to exercise creative talents? Or are they forced into narrow grooves?

This series of advertisements throws light on these questions. Each advertisement takes up the record of a college man who came with the Westinghouse Company within recent years after graduation from his university.

Out of a clear sky one day Westinghouse called for a high-speed generator for use in commercial transmission of radio messages. There was no such machine. Laffoon designed one. Then, through an unexpected change in a trade situation, the machine was not used. Did it go to the scrap heap? Read and see.

Industry had been seeking a better way to melt expensive metal of high heat resistance—aluminum, platinum, certain alloy steels, and the like. Ordinary smelting methods couldn't be used. Properties had to be kept unchanged; and the great heat liquefied the ordinary crucible as well as the metal. Laffoon's discarded radio-generator was found to offer an ideal application to a new high-frequency induction furnace for melting those special metals; and so Laffoon designed that machine.

You can measure the advance in high-speed turbo-generator apparatus by comparing the models of 1918 (when Laffoon entered the particular field to which he has contributed), with those of 1926. Then 25,000 KVA was some machine. Now, at 62,000 KVA, no limit is set on the future.

High-speed machines must be fitted to the individual needs of customers. After understanding what the customer wants, the design engineer must determine the size, weight, dimensions and performance, depending on voltage, frequency and speed of the installation. Then he must "follow through."

Men who "follow through" in any phase of electrical engineering may have confidence in their careers at Westinghouse.

DEBATE SCHEDULED FOR CONVOCATION

Separate Classes For Men and Women, Subject to be Discussed by Argumentation Classes in December

Resolved: "That the University of New Hampshire Should Adopt a Policy of Separate Classes for Men and for Women" is the subject of a debate which will be held at convocation on Dec. 8, according to recent announcement of the English department. The teams will be selected from among the students taking the courses offered in argumentation and debating.

In the finals of the interfraternity debating contest last year, teams from the Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Theta Upsilon Omega fraternities spoke at convocation. The success of this debate was so great that a similar debate has been scheduled for this year.

The increase in interest in public speaking on the campus is demonstrated by the fact that thirty more students have elected courses in public speaking than last year. A debating trophy donated by the Hon. Huntley N. Spaulding of Rochester has added to the rivalry on the campus.

NEW RESTAURANT OPENED BY HAROLD LEAVITT, '21

Leavitt's Cafe, the new restaurant in Durham, located on the ground floor of the new apartment house opposite the Franklin Theatre, was officially opened Tuesday noon.

Harold I. Leavitt, the proprietor of the cafe is an alumnus of the University, having been graduated with the class of 1921. During his four years as an undergraduate he distinguished himself on the gridiron, playing end for four years. He was captain of the 1920 football team which won the New England State College Championship.

The restaurant will serve table d'hote and a la carte meals, and will be open until after the second show at the Franklin Theatre is over.

HARVARD GRADUATE ADDED TO LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

With the increased student enrollment this term, the Language Department has added to its staff Wallace Perkins of Woburn, Mass.

Mr. Perkins is teaching classes in Spanish and French.

After receiving his A. B. degree at Harvard in 1922 Mr. Perkins taught languages at Lehigh University for three years and during that time did some advanced studying toward his M. A. degree.

Mr. Perkins is especially interested in music and drama. At present he is organist in the Congregational Church at Woburn and while he was at Lehigh he was organist in one of the churches there.

BIRTHDAY PARTY GIVEN FOR DEAN E. DEMERRITT

A birthday party in honor of Dean Elizabeth DeMerritt was given at the Home Economics practice house last Friday evening by the girls living there. On next Saturday the girls will serve luncheon to their dads who are expected to arrive for the Dad's Day program.

PARENTS VISIT UNIVERSITY ON DAD'S DAY

out at the time of registering at the Faculty Club and seats will be reserved for Dads and their sons and daughters. At one o'clock the varsity soccer team will play Clark University at the soccer field. This game will be over before two-thirty.

Dad's Day was set aside last year to afford the fathers of the University students an opportunity to become better acquainted with the college. More than five hundred guests were present on that day. They toured the campus, inspected the buildings, visited classes and ended the day by attending the varsity football game on Memorial Field.

The program in effect this year is practically the same as that carried out last year. The day will start off with tours of the campus and will end with the football game on Memorial Field, when the Blue and White will line up against Colby College.
