PICK CAST FOR "SEVEN CHANCES"

Katherine Grady, '27, Will Be Seen As Leading Woman

Mask and Dagger Society Has Seven Weeks For Rehearsal

By Frederic H. Smith

The cast for Mask and Dagger's spring production, "Seven Chances," by Roi Cooper Megrue, has been selected and includes many people who are prominent on campus. With the exception of four minor parts, the roles have been filled and the piece will immediately go into rehearsal, performance here on the evening of June 2

Miss Grady played "Kate Hardcastle" in "She Stoops to Conquer," last fall, and Fleming "Tony Lumpkin" in the same play. This will be Miss Grady's last appearance on the University stage, as she graduates with this year's senior class. Harry O. Page, president of the senior class, will be seen as "Billy Meekin," Gwendolyn Jones, '27, president of women's student government, as "Mrs. Garrison;" Ralph Garlock, '29, as "Joe Spence;" Frank Horne, '28, as "Ralph;" William Hoagland, '27, as "Mr. Garrison;" Paul Blaisdell, '29, as "Goddard;" and Hrant Gulumian, '29, as "George," Elisabeth Bauer, '29, and Florence Weast, '30, Elisabeth will play the parts of "Irene Trevor' and "Florence," respectively. The definite assignments for the other feminine roles will be announced in the near future.

The play itself has been very successful wherever produced. Its original showing on the legitimate stage was in New York, when David Belasco staged it with Frank Craven and Otto Krueger in the leading roles. It is a comedy in three acts, possesses excellent dramatic possibilities, and should prove a success here in June. The production staff consists of C. Elroy Chase, '27, William Prince, '30, and Arthur Andrews, '29. The sets will be painted by F. H. Smith, '29.

SENIOR FRATERNITIES ANNOUNCE PLEDGES

Senior Skulls And Blue Key, Honorary Societies, Choose Prominent Juniors To Carry On Traditions

Senior Skulls and Blue Key, honorary senior societies of the University accepted thirty-five men of the junior class as new members at a joint bidding ceremony held in Thompson hall last Thursday. The societies bid the outstanding men of the junior class annually and these men make up the clubs for the senior year. The tap system which is used in bidding to senior societies in many of the colleges and universities of New England is not used at New Hampshire, the societies preferring the perferen-tial method of bidding which is customary with the fraternities of the institution in their fall term bidding.

The new members of Senior Skulls are Frederick Mitchell of Manchester, and other assemblies. Music for the Ralph Morrison of Laconia, William P. The first annual "NH" certificate banquet was held at the University Commons building last evening at 7.15, when all New Hampshire athletes who earned varsity letters in the spring and fall of 1926, and the winter of 1927, received certificates stating their right to wear the "NH." The banquet was well attended by the varsity athletes, faculty committee on athletics, several former New Hampshire men who are coaching in New England, the executive council, and men students of the University.

The principal speaker of the eve-ning was John M. Cates, former Bowdoin coach, now connected with the Athletic Department at Yale. Mr. Cates' talk was well received by the assemblage. One of the leading features of the evening was the introduction of a new New Hampshire song written by Edward Y. Blewett, '26, former varsity hockey goal tender. The song was rendered by Lyle Farrell, '29, and the audience was greatly pleased with the prospect dinner was furnished by the Red Ramblers.

The crowning event of the evening came when the certificates were presented to the athletes by Director of Athletics William H. Cowell, The committee in charge of the banquet consisted of Associate Coach Henry led Elliott of Contoocook. Blue Key bid the following juniors: and Ernest W. Christensen. In the past years the certificates were presented at convocation, but it was decided that this form of presentation would be more fitting, and it is hoped Frances Fairchild of White Plains, N. Y., will give the Benjamin Thompon memorial oration at the Class Day Exercises of the Class of 1927 of the University during Commencement week in June. Miss Fairchild was elected to the honor Thursday at the meeting of the class to elect the principal speakers for the events. The Thompson oration is an innovation in the Commencement schedule this year, its purpose being to pay a tribute to the memory of the man who made the present University possible.

Harry O. Page of Swampscott, Mass., president of the class, will give the main oration of the day, the so-called "class oration." The address of welcome to the alumni will be given by John Neville of Portsmouth, president of the student council, while Alice Osgood of Pittsfield will be the Ivy orator. The class chose Furio A. Abbiati, president of the University athletic association, to write the class will and Frederick L. Robinson of Brookline, Mass., who recently terminated his office as editor of THE NEW HAMP-SHIRE to read the class history. The chairman of the Commencement ball committee will be C. The class also voted that the graduating seniors march on Class Day in a body to the Thompson monument where a wreath will be placed. In addition to the elections, the class constitution was read and adopted.

WE OBJECT

Casque and Casket, the interfraternity council, has undoubtedly worked for what it believes to be the best interests of the University in drawing up the new constitution which was tendered to the fraternities for acceptance or rejection during the past two weeks, but we believe that in the case of the new rules to cover rushing as mentioned in the document, they have woefully erred. Two of the proposed changes seem to be meeting unheralded opposition from many of the keener minded students on the campus.

The first of these unpopular suggestions calls for a one hundred dollar guarantee of good faith to be put in the hands of the University treasurer before the next rushing season by each fraternity and to be forfeited by a fraternity if it does not keep the faith. We feel that if the morale of the fraternity men on this campus or any other campus is such that a monetary guarantee is necessary to insure the honesty of the individual members, it is high time that we dropped organized rushing-and the whole fraternity idea, for that matter.

The second point under discussion is the one which calls for a faculty board of control which shall judge when a fraternity has wilfully vio- end of their junior year at which time lated rushing rules and consequently

Carry out that simple request and you will have done your bit. The courts will stand the strain of much use if they are not abused. Instead of needlessly handicapping the varsity by carelessness, think twice and give them a court on which accurate tennis can be played. There will be no one there to stop you if you feel that you have to wear heavy shoes when you're playing tennis, but it is not giving the tennis squad a square deal. All they ask is an opportunity to produce a team that will be worthy of New Hampshire.

A SENSIBLE CHANGE

The plan under consideration by members of the 1928 Sphinx society to change the organization to a junior club seems to us to be a very wise move and one which deserves the earnest consideration and encouragement of the student body and the athletic department. The Sphinx at present, as we see it, has two reasons for its existence; first, to care for visiting athletic teams during their stay in Durham and, second, as an honorary society which by membership bestows a certain recognition and honor to the men belonging.

The first reason for the existence of the Sphinx society is by far the more important and is generally recognized as such. Since this is the case, it would seem that upper classmen would prove far more competent to act as hosts to visitors of the University because of their longer residence on the campus and consequent better acquaintance with its customs and facilities. In practically every institution in New England where similar organizations are fostered, the men are elected to membership at the end of their sophomore year, rather than at the end of the freshman year as is the case at New Hampshire. New Hampshire teams have been loud in their praises of the receptions rendered them at Dartmouth, Williams and other sister colleges of the East. Might it not be for the good of the University to practice a plan which has proofs so effective and practical in other institutions? The honor part of the Sphinx function need not, as we see it, necessarily suffer by the change. Men are now ricked in the various fraternities and from among the non-fraternity men because of characteristics which make them outstanding during their freshman year. Sometimes by the end of the sophomore year of these same men, some upper classmen feel that a mistake has been made. At the end of a man's second year in college a campus has had ample time to judge him as a flash in the pan or as a big man in his class and to reward him. New Hampshire now has no honorary junior society. The members of the senior societies are too busy during their last year in college to spend the time necessary to attend visitors. Why not give Sphinx to the juniors? The plan of the present Sphinx members is to pledge as usual this year and to stay in office with the new members for the college year 1927-28. At the end of next year the 1928 Sphinx will retire and the 1930 men will stay on duty until the they will pledge men from the Class

MOTHS ATTACKED IN EXPERIMENT

Professor O'Kane Tries To Find Brown Tail Poison

Extermination Of Many Other Pests Sought By Head Of Entomology Department And His Assistants In Experimenting On Insect Life

Walter C. O'Kane, Professor of Economic Entomology, announces ed. Professor Thomas G. Phillips, that the experiment station is mak- head of the Department of Agriculing tests with various kinds of spray for destroying the brown tail moth caterpillar. Helping Professor O'Kane in this work are W. A. Osgood, alumnus of the university and assistant in the department of insect control, and

E. A. Pillsbury, graduate student. The entomology department of the experiment station has become interested in the subject of sprays and spraying because of the many inquiries received in the spring. A series of chemicals are being tested to find out which one is the best for destroying the young caterpillar which eats the budding foliage on apple trees.

The problem which the department is up against is unusual, because ordinarily the foliage can be sprayed with arsenate of lead or some other compound and when the caterpillar eats the leaves he dies. But the brown tail moth caterpillar is on the tree when the leaves come and he eats the leaves as they come forth. A soray which will kill the insect when it comes in contact with him is the only kind which will assure success. The best results so far have been obtained by the use of organic and inorganic oils, in particular an oil containing some organic poisons. Experiment work is also being carried on with the codling moth which is causing increased damage each year in New Hampshire. More restrictions on the use of arsenate of lead, ordinarily used to kill this moth, have made it necessary to find a substitute spray. Experimental spraying will be tried out in orchards near either Milford or Wilton.

A bulletin containing the results of four years research work on the corn borer by Professor W. C. O'Kane and Assistant Professor P. R. Lowry is now on the press. It will give interesting facts about this destructive insect. Another forthcoming bulletin will give the results of three years' work on the plant stalk borer.

EDWARD NECKER TO LEAD

Edward Necker, '28, of Norwood, N. J., was elected captain of the University of New Hampshire boxing team for the season of 1928. The manager for the coming year will be John Ferguson, '28, of Goffstown, who was assistant manager during the past season. Necker has been a member of the boxing team for the past two seasons and is University champion of the 175-lb. class. He was recently pledged by Senior Skulls, the honorary senior society.

The New Hampshire boxing team which met such teams as New York University, Yale, and M. I. T., had a very successful year and according to should be Coach Fred Brown better in 1928. He will have six letter men from this year's team again in college, three of whom are University champions. The champions in the remaining four classes are freshmen who defeated the varsity regulars in the annual spring tournament and who will also be eligible for next winter's aggregation.

forfeited its money at the business office. We do not feel that fraternities are a point in which the faculty should be asked to arbitrate at the present time. Things on the campus have not yet reached that unfortunate stage, we hope, despite the evident belief in this condition which Casque and Casket seems to hold. Another matter which we feel should be considered in connection with this point is the fact that it might be found exceedingly difficult to find three faculty members willing to take the responsibility and incur the possible hard feeling and unpopularity which their duties would probably bring about.

Extra curricula activities call for wise guidance and are very properly band which rehearses one or two directed by members of the faculty, nights a week behind closed doors, but fraternities are primarily and absolutely a student institution and fits of its efforts in the form of outshould remain as such until such time door concerts in the circle around the as they very definitely begin to harm flagpole in front of "T "hall as is the the University. ### WANTED-A SQUARE DEAL

With the coming of spring the perennial question of the university tennis courts arises. We are handicapped in not having enough courts to set any aside for the exclusive use of the varsity tennis squad. They must use the same courts as the rest of us.

In a great measure, their success this season, as in the past years, will depend upon our cooperation. Tennis is a game that requires, among other things, extreme precision and accu-Weeks of hard training and racy. practice must be undergone in order to attain this and even then, the work of these weeks will be fruitless if the courts are not kept in good condition.

That is where we can be of service. The courts have been re-conditioned and put in excellent shape. Will you who observed the tradition about not help to keep them so? The varsity is smoking on the campus. We beg the dependent upon your help. It is the administration to give the matter choice between an even break for a every consideration. As we understand it from the military department, the installation of permanent lights would cost less than the cost of erecting temporary lights for six Commencements. Perhaps, our figures are wrong, but, assuming that they are approximately near the truth, wouldn't the administration be saving money in the end at the same time providing some reasonably harmless amusement for the student body if they arranged for the concerts? (This is not meant as a sock at the band.) We feel that students and faculty alike would enjoy the hour or so of music and the only people who could really be expected to kick are ourselves when we try to get this sheet ready for press here in the evening. We'll wave our claim to consideration for the general good. In regard to the matter of our suggested plan spoiling study for one evening a week, we beg to state that the last New Hamphshire student

SEVEN SENIORS ELECTED MEMBERS OF PHI KAPPA PHI

Durham, April 7-Seven seniors of the University of the New Hampshire class of 1927 were elected to membership in the New Hampshire Chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, the national honorary scholastic society at a meeting held here last Thursday. They were chosen because of high scholastic standing and are the last that will be taken in this year.

The announcement of the pledging was made by Miss Edythe M. Tingley, Instructor in the Department of Zoology, Secretary of the Society. The members of the graduating class selected were: College of Agriculture, A. Cook of Newburyport, Mass.; College of Liberal Arts. Helen Lowenberger of Norwich, Conn.; O. F. O'Leary of Newfields, C. E. Chase of North Stratford, and Hazel Eaton of Portsmouth; College of Technology, Horace McRae of Springfield, Mass.; and H. C. Jordan of Berlin.

CONCORD PLAY RECEIPTS GO TO STUDENT LOAN FUND

The Concord Alumni Branch held a meeting on April 6, and voted to send $400 receipts from the Mask and Dagger play given there on March 9, to the Student Loan Fund of the University. A small financial gift was voted to Mask and Dagger in appreciation of the spirit of cooperation shown by the society in taking the play to the capital.

Thirty Meet At Electric Club-Some Show Interest By Traveling Long Distances-Hear Plans For Coming Year

The first annual meeting of the Philadelphia Alumni Club was held Friday night, April 8, at the Electric Club on 127 South 12th street, Phila-DURHAM, N. H. delphia. The Philadelphia Alumni attained nearly a 100% meeting, for in this city, far away from New Hampshire, thirty enthusiasts were gathered. The exceptional turnout was the result of the confidence placed by the local alumni in their president, M. C. Huse, '08, and their secretary, L. H. Kenney, '99. Several of the alumni traveled long distances in order to renew old fellowship and to show their allegiance to their Alma Mater. Miss Marion Page, '24, came from Baltimore, Md. Stephen Demerritt, '12, was present from Trenton, N. J. Jack Cronin, '24, came from Wilmington, Del. Illness in a local hospital prevented R. E. Parkhurst, '23, from attending, and thereby making the meeting 100%.

A banquet was served by the chef of the Electric Club, which turned over to the alumni the entire facilities of a private dining room. "Dad' Huse, '08, ran true to form in the capacity of toastmaster and his congenial temperament made the banquet radiate with old New Hampshire spirit. Jack Cronin, '24, served in the capacity of cheer leader, while an effort was made to force "Babe" Hunting, '21, to lead in the songs of the evening. George Perley, '08, of the University faculty at Durham, was the guest of the club for the week-After conveying the official end. greetings from the University and the Alumni Association at Durham, he outlined the advances made about the campus during the past year, the new plans for next year as outlined by the President's office, and the needs for greater interest on the part of the alumni in their own University. A flashlight picture was taken of the group by a former instructor, Mr. A. A. Brainard. After an evening of reminiscence, songs, and goodfellowship, the gathering left for their homes at a very late hour. Those present at the banquet were: Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Huse, '08; Mr. and STRAFFORD MOTOR CO. Mrs. E. C. Williams, '13; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hunting, '21; Mr. and Mrs. C A. Dodge; Mr. and Mrs. Jacobi; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Reed, '15; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. ### VARIETY OF FLOWERS SHOWN IN DISPLAY

Experiments On Vegetables-Tropical Plants Both Economical And Ornamental-Large Class Hindered By Lack Of Room

By Doris Reney, '29

With the coming of Easter, the great display of flowers at the University greenhouse gives the visitor a glimpse of real spring. Potted plants now ready for Easter decoration are Easter lilies, Paris daisies or marguerites, Genestas, Hydranges, and roses. Snapdragons, Petunias, Marigolds, Ageratum, Impatience, Nasturtiums, and other flowers add their bright colors. Especially beautiful are the reds and pinks of the geraniums. Carnations, a continuous crop, occupy one section of the building, almost all standard varieties being grown.

The propogating beds are used by twenty-six students in the flower gardening class, which Mr. Macfarlane, who has charge of the greenhouse, states is the largest class in the history of the course. Owing to lack of space, there is difficulty in providing for so many students.

Some of the most healthy looking plants in the greenhouse are potatoes growing in the midst of flowers. These potatoes are only used for experimental purposes, however, and are not a profitable crop. So much of the space at this time of the year is given over to vegetables that flower production is somewhat curtailed.

The tropical palm house is always interesting with its extensive collection of tropical plants. There are economical as well as ornamental plants, arrowroot being obtained from one and sago from another. Bowstring hemp provides the natives of New Zealand with bowstrings. There are rubber trees ranging from the largest to the smallest plants, and a variety of ferns add to the great mass of foliage. The Philodendron probably attracts most attention because of its large leaves with slits that are supposed to provide lighting for vegetation growing below.

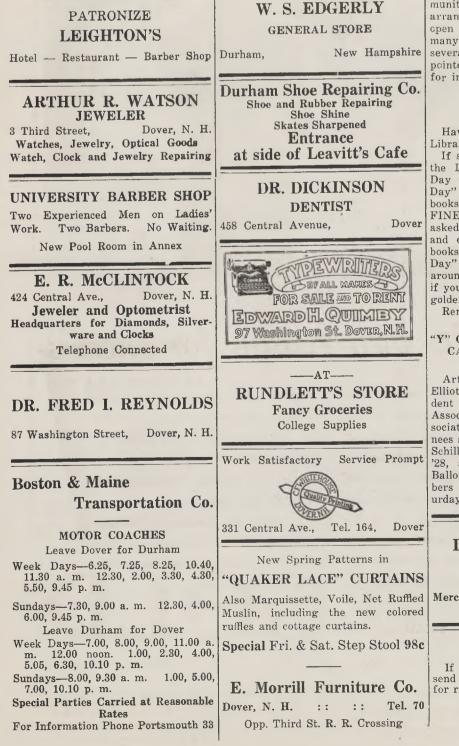

STATE HOSPITAL VISITED BY SOCIOLOGY PROFESSOR

Miss Ester Brown of the Department of Sociology, Pearl Hartshorn, '27, and Margaret Torrey, '28, spent two days during the recent vacation at the State Hospital in Concord. The hospital, according to Miss Brown, is not only an excellent institution caring very ably for its 1650 patients, but it is also concerned with the preventive aspects of mental hygiene. Consequently it welcomes anyone interested in psychiatry and cordially places its facilities at his disposal, thus giving him rare opportunities to study pathological psychology.

In a few weeks an automobile trip to the hospital is to be conducted for those interested in mental hygiene.

International Champions To Receive President Gray Tells How He Meets Recognition For Successful Season In Form Of Gold Charms Designed By Prof. Schram

As John Neville, president of the Student Council, announced in last Wednesday's Convocation, a canvass was made by the Blue Key society, for the purpose of collecting the money pledged by the students, in order that charms might be purchased for the members of the Winter Sports Team inter-national champions. The sum of fifty-five dollars was collected. through four committees which meet This sum shows that only five hundred the various problems at different students of the fourteen hundred in angles. At Bates there is an alumni the University were interviewed. Ac- committee, a trustee committee of six cording to Neville, every student ap- members, four of which are former proached gave his or her ten cents | Bates graduates, a faculty committee and Neville asks that those who have not yet paid do so at the earliest moment in order that the Blue Key members may go ahead with their plans. The charms to be given to the letter men of the Winter Sports team have been designed by Mr. Shramm. They will be of gold, and will show three scenes, in bas relief. The top one will show a ski-jumper after taking off, below, at one side a snowshoe runner in stride, and the other side will show a speed skater. Mr. Shramm conceived the idea of the ski-jumper, the other two scenes were taken from the Intercollegiate Association. On the reverse side of the charm there will be space for the name of the winner and the events in which he placed.

As soon as enough money has been for members of the Episcopal church turned in, and the charms can be made, they will be presented to the ten letter men and to the two coaches.

Problems Which Challenge The American Liberal Arts Colleges Today

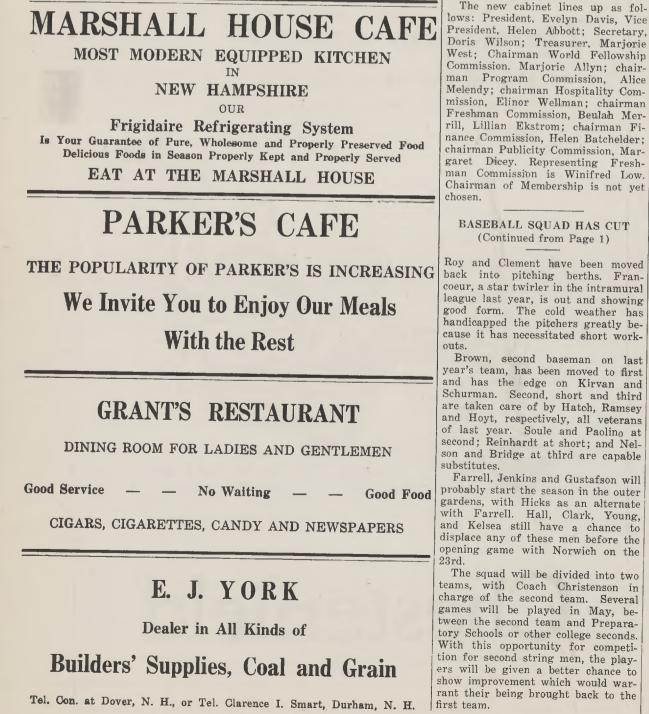

Following Convocation last week about thirty faculty members met with President Gray of Bates and discussed the problems which challenge the American Liberal Arts Colleges today.

President Gray told his audience how he was meeting the challenge and an undergraduate committee. The trustee committee is subdivided into a Social Science and Philosophy committee, an English and Languages committee and a mathematics and science committee, two of its six members serving on each of these sub-committees.

The Under Graduate Committee is already an established institution at Dartmouth, Bowdoin, Harvard and Wesleyan. About two years ago Dartmouth published a report of its Undergraduate committee in which curricula problems, administration problems and extra-curricula activiies were discussed.

There was much discussion of the merits of President Gray's plan and the advisability of establishing an undergraduate committee to aid in solving the problems which are facing the Liberal Arts College.

Camel is its own reason for success

THERE is just one reason, why Camel is the most popular smoke tobaccos, are so skilfully blended in all the world—why it leads in favor all cigarettes of all time.

It is the one cigarette that will stand up all day and as far into the night as you care to go. You can your taste or leave a cigaretty from a cigaretteafter-taste.

Camels are rolled of such choice that there simply can be no better cigarette-made.

And that stands, regardless of the price you pay.

If you want the choice of the smoke one or a million in daylight world's experienced smokers, the or dark and Camels will never tire mellowest mildness that ever came
