Think Of A Good Mayor For Durham
"I Do Not Choose to Run" Are Famous Last Words of Silent Bill Burke

By Frederick H. Smith, '39

In a private interview conducted at his residence last Tuesday, William 'Blodget Burke, local political highlights, and strong candidate for mayor of Durham, in part, recently made known the following statement of his political career. Burke had not chosen to run for mayor in 1925. In making this statement, Burke refused to give any reasons, except to reveal that he was convinced that his future career lay in the field of public service. Burke decided as a surprise to those associates who thought he would seek the nomination for mayor this year. Shortly after his decision was made, the local Republicans sought Burke's support, but Burke refused to give any assistance.
Burke's decision was made before the convention met, and it has been his policy not to run for police commissioner or any other office since his 1925 decision.

The decision comes as a surprise to those associates who thought he would seek the nomination for mayor this year. Burke has been active in the local Republican organization, and it is probable that he will run for an office in 1928. Burke's decision was made before the convention met, and it has
office since his 1925 decision.
