AMERICAN SQUAREDANCE Volume 63

May 2008

“The International Magazine of Square Dancing”

Publishers/Editors      Cartoonist
William and Randy Boyd  Corben Geis

American Square Dance, April 2008
When doing public speaking seminars I frequently use this story. “A refrigerated truck driver was taking a load of penguins to the zoo. When he experienced mechanical difficulties on the highway and called for repairs and a tow, he found that it would be over several hours before either would arrive. Fearful that the penguins would suffer without the cooling effect of his refrigeration the trucker got on his CB radio and called another trucker for assistance and help soon arrived. He told his fellow trucker, I will give you three hundred dollars to take these penguins to the zoo. The other trucker said he would, and left immediately. After a long delay, the first trucker was towed into town for repairs and lo and behold, he saw the other trucker walking down the street with several penguins trailing behind.

He stopped him and said, “I thought I asked you to take these penguins to the zoo!”

“I did”, he replied. “I had money left over so now I am taking them to a movie.”

I try and remember this story whenever I am teaching a class. What you say and what people hear may be two different things. We as instructors must always keep in mind, if the student doesn’t understand what we are teaching, we must find another way to tell, show, demonstrate or write out for their edification. Many square dance instructors start by giving the definition of a call and then expanding on that definition. We must understand, if the student does not grasp your call from the way you explained it, he probably will not understand the call if you repeat what you said the first time. You must find (it is usually best to be prepared in advance) other ways of showing, telling or having the dancer experience the call. One of the most enjoyable things any teacher of any subject taught is seeing success in their students. Whether teaching dancing, speaking, algebra or English, seeing the satisfied look of success on our students is all the praise we need.
Dress Code

The debate has raged on for many years during meetings, at dances, festivals, and conventions about the dress code in today’s square dance activity. I looked back on the CALLERLAB website and found a CALLERLAB Position Paper approved at the 2000 CALLERLAB Convention and sent out as a press release later that same year.

The Position Paper came from documents and discussion that originated from LEGACY and The National Council of Square Dance Organizations. These leadership organizations were the more complex predecessors to the current alliance of nationally recognized dance organizations called ARTS or Alliance of Round, Traditional, and Square Dance.

I personally think this position paper is still valid and says it all in a very concise manner. Until we come up with a better idea, I’d like to revisit the subject again and review its most important points.

It mentions three broad categories of dress. Traditional, Proper and Casual Attire are all general choices that can be considered for each event or individual sessions at larger events.

The most important point of this Position Paper in my mind is the following: We encourage clubs and leaders who run dances and weekend festivals to specify traditional attire, proper attire, or casual attire to their individual dances, sessions, and events.

It’s the choice of those that organize and run the event to choose the “attire” and enforce it as they choose. If there is a preference of the majority of dancers toward a certain type of attire, those events will stay popular and succeed enough to continue to exist. If certain attire is not preferred, then the events adhering to that attire will not continue.

What I’ve actually seen in the last eight (8) years is a very slow evolution of our attire to more casual wear at daytime events while traditional attire remains more popular in the evenings. I think we’ll continue to see more evolution in this area and I sincerely hope that we also see a continued increase in tolerance and acceptance as our activity continues to evolve and change as it has for more than a hundred years.

I believe we have many more important issues to resolve and that, in spite of over-simplified single solutions offered by some, we have many areas that need overhauling before we see a real rise in our numbers again.

Ballroom dancing is exceptionally popular today and not inexpensive to participate in. That tells me people still want to dance. We need to find a way to professionally market an updated square and round dance product that will fit the more complex life styles of today and tomorrow's population.

This is the most current position paper for use by dance and event organizers. I think it still works!

Dress Code

CALLERLAB Position Paper

(December 1999)

During the 2000 CALLERLAB convention in Las Vegas, Nevada, a Position Paper on a proposed dress code was presented to the membership for a vote. This Position Paper was approved by the convention attendees. The vote to approve the Position Paper was not rescinded by the membership during a mail ballot on this issue. The following is that Position Paper.

For many years now square dance leaders have debated the issue of square dancing attire. In 1991 LEGACY adopted a resolution to update the dress code and provide guidance and flexibility in the choices of dress and skirt style. The resolution considered square dance image problems, general preference for more comfort in recreational wear and the high cost of square dance attire as primary reasons for change. The National Council of Square Dance Organizations (NCSDOI) has proposed modifying the definition of square dance attire and presented this proposal for consideration. Many organizations have been debating this issue and there seems to be strong sentiment on each side.

The CALLERLAB Board of Governors has debated the issue and realizes that there exists a great potential for dividing dancers by mandating a more relaxed square dance attire to all participants and events. Therefore, CALLERLAB recommends the following compromise to the issue of square dance attire:

Whereas, “traditional” square dance attire provides a connection to the history of our activity, adds to the visual enjoyment of participants and spectators, enhances individual dancer styling included in individual calls, and provides for the protection and mutual comfort of dancers (i.e., shoes, long sleeved shirts, etc.), we support the choice of dancers, clubs and festivals selecting “traditional” as appropriate attire.

Whereas, traditional attire can at times be an inconvenience to dancers, and even deter people from joining and/or participating altogether, we support the choice of dancers, clubs and festivals selecting the NCSDO proposal of “proper” square dance attire, which would include dress slacks and dress jeans for men and women and short sleeved dress shirts for men. It should be noted that even if an event is advertised as “proper” attire, “traditional” attire is always appropriate.

Whereas, proper attire may allow for a myriad of choices, there may be times when traveling, weather and other conditions would discourage dancers from following either traditional or proper dress codes. In that event, leaders are encouraged to advertise those dances/sessions/festivals, etc. as “casual” attire. It should be noted that if an event is advertised as “casual” attire, “traditional” and “proper” attire are always appropriate.

We encourage clubs and leaders who run dances and weekend festivals to specify “traditional attire,” “proper attire,” or “casual attire” to their individual dances, sessions, and events. We further support a policy of tolerance and encourage all square dance leaders and participants to embrace the joys of friendship, sociability, and fun, first and foremost in whatever extent of participation they enjoy.

REGISTER NOW
Don’t wait to register until the last minute. Registration fees increase June 1, 2008, to $60 per person.

Registration Trivia: Many dancers believe attendance information is transferred from previous conventions. WRONG! The only personal information the 57th NSDC has is what you tell us on your Registration form. Some dancers are interested in having the correct number of conventions previously attended recorded on their badge. If this information is not included on your form, your badge will show a zero, compliments of the computer.

Registration Trivia: To print the label for your Convention Badge, your registration information in the database must be completed. The completion process begins with the return of your full Registration Form. There are still several hundred dancers who need to “convert” their Pre-Registration by completing the full Registration Form.

PRE-REGISTERED DANCERS: DON’T DELAY sending in a full Registration Form because you don’t know your registration number. Give Registration your name and the computer finds the number! Send in the completed full Registration Form today.

Registration forms may be downloaded from the 57th NSDC Webpage www.57nsdc.com. Registration’s fax number, 1-785-215-6684, is available for use, also. Registrations may be contacted at registration@57nsdc.com for any concerns.

CONVENTION FACILITY
The 57th National Square Dance Convention® will utilize three facilities for dancing and meetings. A state-of-the-art facility, the Century II Performing Arts and Convention Center, has a large square building and a round building connected by a glassed-in lobby.

The connecting lobby will serve as the Center’s general entrance. The area will house the booths of general information, tours, and visitor’s information.

The round building contains Convention Hall, with 35,000 square feet and a stage. The Hall will be used for the Wednesday Night Special Event and Plus Dancing. Located also in the round building is a 45,000 square foot...
Exhibition Hall with a stage, where Mainstream dancing with the Ghost Riders Band is scheduled. The Exhibition Hall Balcony will house the Showcase of Ideas. The Round Building’s two beautiful theaters will be used for the Fashion Show, Bid Session, Showcase of Rounds, and the Keynote Speaker.

The 96,000 square foot Expo Hall, located in the square building, will house Registration, Ways and Means, Vendors, and a large Food Court. Clogging, Country Western Dancing and Line Dancing will be located in this area.

The Hyatt Regency Wichita Hotel, a newly remodeled 303-room facility, is connected to the Century II Convention Center by an easy, comfortable indoor walk. Rooms between the two facilities will be used for Mainstream with Rounds, Plus with Rounds, Contra, Advanced, Challenge, Youth, and Handicapable Dancing. The Educational Panels, Clinics and Sew and Save rooms are located in the connected facilities.

The Broadview Hotel, a registered National Historic Landmark, is located directly across the street from Century II, within easy walking distance. The Broadview’s three large ballrooms will be used for all levels of Round Dancing, the Round Dance After Parties and Trail End Dance.

The two large halls in Century II have Terrazzo floors, and the other dance areas will have special flooring. There will be NO DANCING ON CARPET!

With large, visible signs, Kansas has made sure that visiting dancers are not left standing around when they want to dance. After you have danced your feet numb, there will be plenty of water, tables and chairs available for relaxing and refreshing.

Come dance with us at the 57th National Square Dance Convention® in Wichita, June 25-28, 2008. Dancers will be dancing in one of Kansas’ most spacious, convenient Convention facilities. It’s going to be “A Great Party.”

EMERGENCY PHONE NUMBER

The Emergency Number for the 57th National Square Dance Convention® will be 1-316-219-9810. This number will be answered during the entire Convention. Messages for dancers will be posted on a bulletin board near the Registration Area in the Century II Performing Arts and Convention Center.

Mrs. LaVern

Lyons, Colorado, Square Dancer Honored For 50 Years!

Mrs. LaVern M. Johnson of Lyons, Colorado, will be honored at the “LaVern’s” Dance by the Northeast Council of Colorado on Saturday, May 31, at the Longmont Senior Center, Longmont, Colorado, with Roger Schappell, Caller, and Bill Holm, Cuer. Rounds and Squares celebrating “50 Years” of dancing. She is being honored for sponsoring the Red Rock Ramblers Square Dance Club, with dances held every Saturday night throughout the summer, June thru Labor Day, at the Lyons Elementary Gym in Lyons, Colorado, for the past 50 years.

Mrs. LaVern and her husband, also LaVerne (with an “e”) were first exposed to square dancing in September of 1958, when her aunt and uncle, Bud & Frances Emmerling of San Diego, Calif. came to visit. They had just learned, and, of course, were anxious to find a square dance. The Johnson’s found a dance for them at Frank Lane’s near Estes Park. They soon saw an article that Vaughn Parrish, local and famous caller, (who passed away last June) was teaching a beginner’s square dance class in Longmont. The LaVerne’s attended, and had so much fun, they went home and started their own club. They had eleven squares of beginners, and named themselves the Red Rock Ramblers, depicting the reddish sandstone from which the town is founded, and the fact that the club members “rambled” from near and far to area square dances.

The club started in the “Hey Day” with up to 40-65 squares ofttimes attending; even with other large square dances in the area. The Red Rock Ramblers have survived throughout the years, and still average 14-20 squares each Saturday throughout the summer.

For many years, they sponsored classes in the fall and Tuesday night dances in the spring, besides the dances every Saturday night throughout the summer. They held a New Year’s Eve dance for 14 years; have sponsored youth dancing, floats and dances in area parades and fairs. As the years evolved, they settled on Saturday Square Dances during the summer months, when most area clubs vacation. This gives area dancers a place to go during the summer, and with Lyons, being close to Estes Park, is a few degrees “cooler”. The dance hall, the Lyons Elementary Gym, (used to be the high school gym) holds 40+ squares, with a beautiful wooden floor, big fans, and good acoustics.

The Johnson's have taken the responsibility and appreciation of being able to rent the gym to heart, and have been sponsors the entire 50 years.

Mr. LaVerne passed away in 1997, at which time her son, Jerry, and Gary and Nell Coffey came to the rescue with help to set up. Elvira Glenn, cuer, Ed Glenn's wife, supervises the refreshments served by different clubs each night, who then help clean up.

Mrs. LaVern found it hard to be a “single” after having a partner for 40 years, but square dance friends (Vi and Lynn Andrew) and other have tucked her under their wing each week with a ride to dances throughout the area. They spend the winter months visiting clubs throughout the area, announcing their summer schedule.

The summer dances include professional well known callers and cuers. Their 2008 schedule includes: June 21 - Doug Davis; June 28 - Dave Guille; July 5 - Jerry Haag; July 12 - Tom Roper; July 19 - Jerry Junck; July 26 - Dan Nordbye; August 2 - Ed Kremers; August 9 - Jon and Deborah Carroll; August 16 - Dean Dederman; August 23 - Dee Dee Dougherty; and the Labor Day “Whing Ding” by Lanny Weaklend. The season concludes with a “Plus” dance on Sunday afternoon. Local cuers scheduled are: David Parker, LeRoy Shade, Ed Glenn, Arlin Sample, and Bill Holm.

Throughout the years, dancers have attended from throughout the states and various nations, with the Red Rock Ramblers becoming the “place to dance” in the summer. As dancers converge in Lyons, each Saturday, it helps the town’s economy which is much appreciated by area ice cream stores and restaurants, as well there is “camping in the park”.

The club motto by Vaughn Parrish has held true for 50 years: “Our Handshake reaches o’er the Mountains and across the Plains, You are Someone Special at Every Dance in Lyons, Colorado”.

For Fun and Fellowship, we invite you to square dance in Lyons, Colorado.

Are We Cheating the Dancers?

The American Callers' Association in its attempt to be of service to all callers, dancers, and associations has provided current, timely, and effective information on new dancer recruitment, winning ways to retain club dancers, and pitfalls that drive square dancers away. ACA really appreciates the positive comments, encouragement to continue, and contributions from callers and dancers all over North America and abroad to continue these initiatives. ACA will continue to provide information that will help the square dance community recruit, retain and retrieve square dancers as well as encourage the dancers to speak out on the cumbersome and segregationist dance programs.

This month's ACA Viewpoint was sent in by an experienced and very dedicated caller who really understands the beauty and grace of square dancing. The American Callers' Association would like to thank Novis and Evelyn Franklin of Morton, Illinois, for this ACA Viewpoint. It addresses several issues that callers may be short changing the dancers by not teaching the movements by their definitions and by not teaching more than one position for each movement.

Recently Novis Franklin communicated to the American Callers' Association. He wrote: "I love square dancing. If, we as callers do not teach the movements from more than one position, we are cheating the dancers from fun and variety." Novis further believes that if we are not teaching the dancers according to the definition, we are doing harm to the dancers. Novis has been teaching for over 35 years and always teaches by the definitions. Not one dancer every complained about learning that way.

Novis narrates that 2 or 3 years of his 35 years of teaching, he could not get a class together. He did conduct fun nights and sent those dancers to other local clubs who were conducting classes demonstrating his love for square dancing and his love for people.

Novis alleges that some callers think that if they teach too "hard" that the student dancers will not come back. He states that the opposite is true because most students want to learn by the book. If a caller does not teach by the book, why do callers and clubs give student books on square dance movements?

Novis relates to the 1983 Louisville, Kentucky, National Square Dance Jamboree with 30,000 plus dancers attending. I can relate to the 1976 National Square Dance Jamboree in Anaheim, California with 40,000 dancers in attendance. Where all the dancers are now is a big question.

Novis answers the question by using his area of Illinois as an example. "There are three callers who teach in his area. Within a 100 mile radius there are seven more who do not teach. A couple of the callers have not taught in over 15 years. One of the reasons the non-teaching callers offer is that: "I have paid my dues." Novis asks the question: "What if all callers felt like that. Where would square dancing be? (Square Dancingus Extinctus)

In today's square dance world, some very competent national travelling callers, had to get a full time job because calling revenues have dropped along with the number of dancers. One excellent caller even moved to Sweden where square dancing is still in the growth/mature life cycle in order to continue calling full time.

Novis offers this anecdote and I will quote: "If you are one of the lucky callers who teach square dancing especially the American Callers' One Floor program or even the Mainstream program, Keep it Sweet and Simple and Fun. Next look around and see dancers rush to Plus for a little challenge as the prior programs are taught from only one position and soon become boring. If your dancers stay with you, thank them and keep doing the right things." Lastly, Novis believes that if all clubs adopted a one-floor program which would hold two classes each year, the numbers of square dancing would grow once again, but the dancers must be taught more than "plain vanilla" approaches to these wonderful movements. To all callers worldwide and dance organizations worldwide Novis argues: "The ball is in your court."

The Board of directors of the American Callers Association are indebted to Novis and Evelyn Franklin for their communication, and many years of dedicated support and service to square dancing and unanimously encourage and exhort our ACA member callers and other callers to teach movements as they were written, teach more than one approach to the maneuvers, and show patience understanding to their students. Help stop the rush to Plus by teaching better and calling more variety in square dances. Help stop the loss of dancers.

Any individual, club, caller, or association who wishes to communicate his/her opinions on this subject is encouraged to contact the American Callers' Association Loulet@aol.com or Dr. Patrick Demerath at pdemerath@uwa.edu. Please visit our website and newsletters at AmericanCallers.com/news.

Until next time, happy dancing.
Peek Into a Caller’s Record Case

Tac Ozaki began square dancing in 1964 and calling in 1966. Tac joined CALLERLAB in 1979 and has attended eight CALLERLAB Conventions and is currently serving on the Mainstream, Mainstream Definitions, and Overseas Advisory Committees. He has been introducing CALLERLAB’s activities to the Japanese square dancers/callers and helping a lot in its standardization work of square dancing in Japan. He is an active member of Tokyo Square Dance Callers Association, and Japan Square Dancers Association.

Tac actively teaches and calls in Japan. Also his calling has allowed him and the Ozakis the opportunity to travel to the United States of America, Republic of Korea, Republic of China, New Zealand and Australia.

Tac gets strong and tremendous support from Katsuko, his wife of more than 35 years, two daughters, Manna and Amy, and one grand daughter, Riho.

5 Tips for Vinyl Record "Virgins"

Music Trends are Going "Old School" and for Some it's Their First Time

There's a new trend in the music industry as throngs of young and old, both hipsters and hippies, are ditching their CD's for vinyl records (see the Atlanta Journal's recent article about teens turning to vinyl (www.ajc.com/living/content/living/stories/2008/03/06/vinyl_0307.html). Many teens and twenty-somethings are just finding out about this 100 year old technology and need a simple "how to" guide to getting that needle in the groove.

Josh Bizar, Director of Marketing at Music Direct (www.musicdirect.com), a company that specializes in everything "analog" says, "Our vinyl sales are up over 300% since 2005. We get tons of high school and college kids calling us every day looking for records and turntables. Since the technology is all new territory for the vinyl virgin, it can be tough getting through that 'awkward stage.'"

Josh put together five tips to help vinyl record "virgins" get started:

Find the Right Turntable — Used record players are a dime a dozen at garage sales and thrift stores, but a 30 year old record player could have many problems. Make sure you get a really good service tech to get it up and playing properly. There are also countless new turntables on the market today. For an investment of $300, you can buy an amazing new turntable with 21st century technology that will be perfect right out of the box.

Set Up Your System with Care — Any turntable will need to be properly set-up to get the maximum amount of music out of your record. That means finding someone who knows how to install the phono cartridge (needle) properly to get the most music out of the grooves. Also, make sure you place your turntable on a rock-solid shelf to keep vibrations away.

Look for Quality Vinyl — Thrift shops, garage sales, used record stores and even your uncle's basement are great places to start your vinyl collection. There are also more new LPs pressed today than anytime since the mid-80s. Speciality stores, like Music Direct (www.musicdirect.com), can advise you on all the great music that's available on the best quality new vinyl.

Take Care of Your Record Collection — Avoid all those ticks and pops, by removing the decades of grunge from the grooves with a really good record brush and record cleaning fluids. There are even special record cleaning machines that do all the work for you and will vacuum dry the LP so you can play it immediately. Clean records not only sound better, they're much more valuable.

Bring Your Records into the 21st Century — The biggest trend in vinyl right now is taking your records and making them digital. Many newer turntables can connect directly to your computer via USB, and even older, standard turntables can run through a special USB Converter and achieve the same effect. Download some free "ripping" software, like Audacity, and you're ready to put your record collection right on your iPod.

Josh Bizar would be an excellent source to discuss these tips, the vinyl trend in the music industry and all things analog. If you're interested in speaking with Josh or getting more information please contact me.

Drew Schadegg, TC Public Relations

Your Rovin' Corners

Jim and Betsy — Your Rovin' Corners

Jim and Betsy travel across the US and around the world, dancing and promoting dancing. Each month we share with you our experiences and thoughts. This month we want to talk about the National Square Dance Convention.

After two months of complaining about the National Executive Committee, let me brag a bit about the National Square Dance Convention. Tony Oxendine wrote to me in high dudgeon about my complaints. To quote him, "The National Square Dance Convention is the Crown Jewel of Square Dancing in the U.S.A." I could not agree with him more. We have been attending the National Convention since 1988 and intend to continue so long as we are capable of doing so. We once came in a small RV, or stayed in the cheap "college dorm" housing, but now want to experience all we can of the event, so we now stay in the closer hotels. Since Wichita is only about 650 miles from Houston, we can drive it in only a couple of days.

There are far too many events happening to tell you about them all. The dancing is great, starts at 10:00am daily and continues until 10:00pm in the evening — plus after parties until midnight! There will be meal breaks, and opportunities to take a break by watching some of the ceremonies or exhibitions. Shopping for square dance stuff is hardly a break, but it is great fun. If there is anything you need, from petticoats to shoes to custom foot supports to badges, and on, and on, and on — you will find it here!

The hard work of pulling together this great event is enormous. The National Convention is the largest event in the country (world) operated entirely by volunteers. Nobody (and I mean nobody) gets paid. One chairman of a National Convention said that he expected to spend about $40,000 out of his pocket before all was said and done. He also said he retired from his job to take on the chairmanship.

Each year, a city is selected to host a national convention some four years in the future. Right now the four are Wichita 2008, Long Beach 2009, Louisville 2010 and Detroit in 2011. Does that mean that each convention committee has four years to put a convention together? Well, hardly, since a future chairman must be selected, and lots of groundwork laid before a bid is even possible. A suitable spot must be found and committed for, along with hotels, transportation and the cooperation and support of local tourist bureaus and governments. Next a small working committee must be selected and a group must attend the National Convention four years out in order to make the presentation. Normally there are several cities seeking a future convention. Other states may make an “intent to bid” for even farther into the future. In general, it is a 7 year commitment for most of the committee.

Here is where the NEC comes in. Each member has a geographical responsibility and must guide a possible future chairman and his or her chief lieutenants through the preparation for the bid. Several members of the National Executive Board will then continue to work with the future chair and the main committee heads, advising, guiding, even insisting they do things in an appropriate way.

Finally the work of actually putting on the convention can start. About a year and a half out a pre-convention is held as a fund-raiser and early run-through of the convention. Committees are filled in, helpers are sought, programs are planned, and advertising and promotion are planned. The NEC can view the halls and rooms and give more advice.

If you have never attended one of these really great events, you have missed one of the best things about square dancing. We hope to see you in Wichita!

On another front, May is graduation month for many clubs. The newer dancers have been on a year-long learning journey and are ready to be graduate dancers. Does this mean they are “polished” or complete dancers? Hardly! This is the time to bring them into full membership in the club, to cherish them, to welcome them, and teach them something about what is really necessary to run a club. Some clubs see graduation as an opportunity to “haze” or even embarrass the newly minted dancers. NO NO NO! Have them dance with a broom in the square if you must, even perhaps let them play a joke on the caller, but always remember that these newer dancers are the future of your club, and the future of square dancing.

Please feel free to send comments to us at jimbetsy@aol.com. We look forward to dancing with you in the near future.
To whom it may concern;

I would like to add my comments to the response from Ed Foote, specifically to the comment and response concerning callers at the Nationals in Charlotte (March issue).

I agree with Ed that just because a caller is not on a record does not mean he (or she) is not a good caller. Comparing unknowns, or non recording callers to National Callers is like the old cliché “comparing Apples to Oranges” While they (we) may not have the silky smooth voice of Ken Bower, Joe Saltel, or Mike Saestrom, or have choreographic genius of Marshall Flippo, Tony Oxendine, or Bob Baier. I firmly believe there are some very good callers who, if given a chance, could be the next Bower or Oxendine. I also firmly believe that many unknowns don’t have the experience the national Callers have. I have been calling for ten years and believe I am a good caller. And like every one, I have good and bad nights. I call full time for two clubs, but comparing my calling schedule and level of experience to a fulltime caller, who calls double or triple that amount is unreasonable.

My point is, that at conventions, and nationals, all callers are on the edge and try hard to be at their best, even the unknowns. Anyone can tell you that knowledge comes from experience. It takes time and experience on stage, and dancers to perfect the skills of smooth choreography, clever get outs, etc. at any level. It also takes conventions, festivals, and a willingness of the dancers to be patient for the unknowns to get noticed. If an unknown is scheduled to call and there are no dancers, because they want to dance to the recording artists, then the unknowns can not hone their skills. So for all of the unknowns out there, I say “give them a break”, “give them a chance” and “give them a try.” Please understand I am very grateful to both of my clubs, and to all of the clubs who have hired me to call for them. I am also very grateful for all the dancers who show up and let me experiment and learn, and know that after ten years I feel like I am still learning. I am also honored and grateful to the National Callers who have let me call a tip or two with them. I think it helped me to become a better caller. I felt that while I was on stage with them I had to step up my game so to speak.

I would also like to make comment to the article written by Ken Rittuci also in the March issue. Ken made comment that square dancing is not what it was in the days of the 50’s, 60’s and 70’s. I agree it is not. He made a comment that currently there are not the callers and or clubs there were back then. I can only speak from my small corner of the world and I am sure there are some areas that are flourishing! Having said that, when my wife and I got involved with square dancing with our parents in the late 60’s and early 70’s. We would travel from our home towns in northern California, just a few miles south of the Oregon border, south to Redding, California, and North to Roseburg Oregon, as well as east and west simply put encompassing the entire north state. There were at that time in my estimate 30 to 40 clubs and possibly as many callers. There are now possibly 10 to 12 clubs with only 6 to 8 callers including myself.

There have been many articles written about what we can do to bring this wonderful past time back. Like many I don’t have the answers, but do have some thoughts, which are: In the 50’s & 60’s, parents took their children with them more and as a result, the children became more involved. I don’t think it takes much to realize that times have changed. I believe the unfortunate fact is that the biggest reason for the decline in this activity is due to age, and that there is now a very large gap in the age group who participate in square dancing. Both of my parents as well as my wife’s parents have passed away, we do not have children, and at fifty plus do not intend to start one. I believe that in our present time we have made a complete turn around. In most cases, both parents work, and instead of children being involved with parents, parents are now becoming more involved with their children. I believe the trend is for parents to spend more time at sports activities, dramatic events, school and social activities and in today’s instant gratification, many kids (and parents), don’t have the time or patience for long term classes. Children, now days, seem to be more consumed with what they will do after school and their careers, and for many this involves much more education, unfortunately square dancing is not a career. I think what we need to do is try to get more involved in the public eye. I believe if want people to join us they need to see us. If you want to blame it on TV and computers then do it. But let’s try to figure out how to use this to our advantage. Let’s try to get on TV programs, on the internet, and show the public that square dancing is not the “hokey” thing people think it is. If we can some how figure out how to get people over that stigmatism, maybe then we will succeed. Both of my clubs are doing the best they can to get in the public eye, by dancing in parades, at fairs, etc., even when I am not available to call due to my normal work schedule of 40 to 50 hours per week. The club in my home town is going to try to get our local high school to participate in Sober Grad night fund raiser and ask the public to come. The catch (so to speak) is for any form of a dollar donation, every one who attends will get a free lesson in square dancing. All of the proceeds will go toward Sober Grad night. I assure you when I call for them I will use their type of music, and it will be high energy and very upbeat! I will donate my time, as will the angels. My hope is that if we can get even one new dancer or one new couple then we have succeeded.

I don’t know how to get the general public to understand that square dancing is not only physically challenging, but most importantly, mentally challenging. I am very confident that there are many in the square dance community working hard to keep this wonderful activity alive and well, but firmly believe that we are in a temporary lull. My point to all of this rambling is that, we all agree square dancing seems to be on the decline, we all agree we enjoy square dancing and want to see it flourish again. Maybe what we need is more caller clinics to help and entice new callers. And if possible get more involved in the public eye. As Tony Oxendine said in his address to the 54th National Convention, “Most of my friends are already square dancers”. Maybe we need to make new friends, maybe we need to support the new and unknown callers by holding more caller jambo-
I have been hearing a lot of conversations and controversy in the last few months about whether we should be using hands up or hands down dancing. This brings to mind the ongoing battle over Square Dance dress. I have been around western Square Dancing since I was six years old tagging along with Mom and Dad to lessons and dances. I took lessons in 1971 at a club in Waterbury Connecticut. At that time we did not dance to levels in separate rooms, we danced as a club. I agree with the concepts of CALLERLAB, standardizing dancing so we might dance anywhere, up to the point it becomes divisive.

Getting back to the point; I went to a festival in a local park recently and brought a square of dancers to do a short demo. Waiting for our turn on stage we watched many groups of dancers doing traditional or folk dances of various nationalities and backgrounds.

All of these groups wore “Traditional costuming”. The belly dancers were dressed as belly dancers, and the groups showing African Dance were also dressed in their Native garb. And yes, we were dressed as Square Dancers. Yet people are pushing to drop Traditional Square Dance Attire at festivals and conventions. This is “our” heritage and tradition, why should we let it go to appease a few? Why after all these years do we have to adopt hands up dancing? We might go to Germany? Is it not American Western Style Square Dancing? If you want to dance hands up as a personal preference go for it, do not tell me I have to change after 37 years to appease a few. If your caller wants to change your club, and your club wants to change, by all means. Let’s not forget, the caller works for the club. I know there are a few “National Callers” pushing this also. That does not make it right. If I am hired to call a venue, and that club dances hands up in cutoffs and tank tops, it’s not my place to tell them to do it any other way. I do not buy the air conditioning reason either as most venues today are air conditioned, even up north. When you tell me I have to start teaching in Spanish I will be long gone, and if you keep dropping our “Traditions” to please and small few, it won’t be far off. When in Germany – do it their way. When I Swing Thru, I will reach for an arm, not a palm. When I attend a Square Dance, I will wear Square Dance clothes. You do not have to agree, likewise I do not have to drop my traditions because a few are making it trendy.

American Square Dance, April 2008
Hi Dancers. Let us start this month’s column with what I like to call the “Department of the Oops.” I would like to thank those of you who contacted me about last month’s dance, “Happy Radio,” Somewhere in cyberspace, the last four counts of the dance got lost. Just for the sake of continuity, here are the last eight counts of the dance.

Heel forward, Toe Backwards, Left Triple Step Forward, Step, 1/4 Pivot, Right Kick-Ball-Change

I would like to commend the people that recognized that today’s quality line dances will always be in sets of eight counts if the music is in 4/4 timing and groups of six counts in 3/4 (waltz) timing. Phrased dances, those designed to fit a particular piece of music, are another subject all together. Thank you again; and if you spot anymore of those gremlins in cyberspace, please inform me immediately. I do hope that someday those missing four counts meet up with another four counts.

This month’s dance is a smooth, slow dance. I hope you enjoy it.

If you have any questions about this dance or a suggestion for a future column, please contact me at PO Box 2685, Topeka, Kansas 66601-2685. I can also be reached via email at KSDanceguy@aol.com. Until next time, I will save you a spot on the dance floor.
THIS MONTH’S LINE DANCE:

Let’s Dance It Again and Again!
The Importance Of Definitions

Janet Neumann from Maryland is considered one of the best dancers in the country. She feels knowledge of definitions is vital. Here are her thoughts on the subject, as reprinted from Pacesetter magazine.

“Definitions are the most important fundamental you can have. We all learn how to do calls by some definition, but often we quickly forget that definition and do the call by ‘feel’.”

“Most calls can be done from many positions even though most callers may only routinely use them from a few. I believe that knowing and saying the definition quietly to yourself while doing each and every call is absolutely crucial for success. The Mainstream definitions are the most important, because they are the building blocks for all future calls learned.”

“You may think it is foolish to say to yourself ‘half right and half left’ when you hear Swing Thru, but if you always did that you would have no trouble doing it from a left-hand wave or a tidal wave.”

“Sit down with a list of calls from Mainstream up to the program you are dancing, then say the call and follow by saying the definition. If you cannot quickly state a definition, you need to study. Only when you have the definitions readily available in your brain, will you be able to execute them in the square at a dancing pace. If you do not know or don’t think you have a good definition of a call, ask someone.”

“Regarding teamwork, if the person beside you seems to be hesitating, saying the definition a little louder so they can hear it may mean the difference between continuing to dance or squaring up at home waiting for the next sequence.”

Good advice from Janet. Remember the well-known slogan: “If you don’t know the definition, you don’t know the call.” Being able to say a definition IN WORDS will eliminate countless breakdowns, and thus will enable both yourself and your squares to have a much more pleasant square dance experience.
The Frontier Dance: The Miners Dance

A couple of months ago we ran Robert Lee Cook’s article on Frontier Dance, the Covered Wagons. This month we travel to gold and silver country to visit the miners dance.

Much has been made in fiction, films, and general tradition to the “dance hall girl”, and some will argue that the Miners’ Dance really began with these lusty and busty women. They first appeared in the mining towns, stayed for the railroad boom and the cattle boom, and became so important a part of western city life that as recently as last week they were causing a good deal of worry for a grand jury in Denver (October, 1971).

As soon as a mining settlement began to form, three institutions almost instantly appeared: the saloon, the gambling tent, and the dance hall. One of our Colorado towns, just six weeks after its local rush began, boasted a population of 2,600 (of which 2,580 were males), 8 saloons, 3 dance halls, 5 gambling tents. There were also 2 undertakers. In another six weeks an additional 30 or more “girls” had arrived. The first church was not built until the following year.

Let’s forget the romantic hokum of the movies. The “girls” were seldom girls, did not prance around in tights or can can costumes, were not hired primarily to dance, did not dance well when they did dance, and seem to have had an average weight of about 200 pounds. They were nothing more than the original B-girls of the Wild West, and their descendants in our own Go Go Era are tame, pale, and decorous in comparison. The clumsy grotesque dances in which they most often engaged the miners were a far cry from the saloons of the east coast, and are colorfully described in a report sent from Black Hawk, Colorado, by an eastern journalist:

The sounds approach bedlam, rendering conversation impossible and the music such as it is, blessedly unhearable. Some of the ladies of the establishment join with some of the less inebriated customers in what is purported to be dancing, but indeed seems more akin to some savage and aboriginal fertility rite.

But some interesting dancing was done in the dance halls. The miners, coming as they did from all over the eastern United States, represented a rich mixture of backgrounds, origins, and cultures. Wastrel sons of famous Newport families mingled with the dregs of the Missouri river fronts. Sturdy, moral mid-west farm boys worked side by side with hardened, cynical men from the California diggings. Men with high standards and possessing fine educations went into partnerships with fugitives from every sort of justice and with dropouts from eastern failure. The society of the early mining towns was largely classless (except in terms of who had money and who did not), and even the financial status of a person was subject to instant change according to individual luck at the sluice box or at the gambling table.
Such a hodgepodge of backgrounds resulted in a hodgepodge of dancing backgrounds, and most of the dances were — to some degree — attempted in the danced halls. Each hall had one or more fiddlers as well as a hired or volunteer “prompter”. The classier joints often had a “dancing master”, although this occurred later in the mining period. Early in the evening, before the whiskey fumes had become too heady, simple quadrilles or squares were done — very simple, because the miners were already tipsy, the girls overweight, and the place a bedlam of noise.

In the earlier years (1860-1870) these dances were the same simple dances being done in the east — Midwest and Appalachia figures, strong touches of New England, some figures from the south. Style was the important thing, and some quite prodigious jigging, pigeon-winging and prancing took place, depending on where the dancer was from and how well he knew his regional style. Thus, the four men in a single set usually had four different styles (the girls had mostly one: fat), and each proceeded to hoedown the other three. The dances and calls themselves seem hardly to have been worth noting (and indeed, no one seems to have bothered to note them at all*), but the matter of “style” had definitely come to the frontier and would thrive here until as recently as 1948 or so, when the regional styles became swallowed up in the nation-wide Universal shuffle.

Individual Capers

In some few instances particular dancers have become legendary. The was Harry Sullivan, an Irish step-dancer, who was said to be able to outlast and outjig any man in the west. And Elmer Pettingill, from somewhere in Vermont, often interrupted dances with an exhibition of cutting and jigging that commanded all eyes.

What few descriptions of the early quadrilles survive contain some interesting things. While I can find no record of a docey doe, I have run across these: “Birdie in the Cage”, “Shoot the Owl” (the same as the early “Pop the Weasel”), “Pass Right Through and Balance Too”, and “Roll the Jug”. Also recorded were the Grand Chain (grand right and left) and various of the New England patterns such as Ladies Change, Dos a Dos, Gents Change, Stars by Right and Left. Curiously, there is a description of a dance in Denver in 1862 in which there seems to have been done in a form of the Texas Star, this some years before the significant cattle drives from Texas took place or the first cowboy influences appeared. No name is given to the pattern, but it seems to have been a combination of the Gents Star Across and the Texas Star reverse, and I wonder if it was derived from, or related to, the “Pumpkin Blossom” pattern which seems to have been done in the mid-west states as early as 1855. This another of those tantalizing mysteries of dance evolution.

Couple dancing occurred in the dance halls too – basic waltzes, perhaps a bit of a polka, but most often a sort of stomping one-step gallop which usually led to a room upstairs. Like taxi dancers, the dance hall girls charged a fee for a dance, keeping a percentage on this as well as on the prices of the drinks sold. Being B-girls and the only women on the early scene, some of them became quite wealthy, either through their own talents or through marrying a suddenly rich miner. A number of our leading western families got started in this manner, and the descendants have ever since been trying to hide the dance hall origins of their dynasties.

The realities of our mining history have never been properly told. For each miner, prospector, con man, gambler, or manipulator who became a millionaire in the western United States, there were easily 10,000 other men who did not even make expenses. For each dollar’s worth of precious metal greedily taken from the western soils, at least $5000 worth of materials, supplies, and equipment was expended overall. If such tangibles as human happiness, dignity, and life could be given a money value, we would find the western mining man’s deficit to be almost astronomical. Humanity lost.

In his fine poems about early Colorado, Thomas Hornsby Ferril has graphically presented pictures of what the mining life was like. Women often died before the age of 40. An epidemic of measles or diphtheria could wipe out half the juvenile population of a district. Infant, and adult, mortality rates were very high, and the average income of a full-time miner with family would run from $70 to $100 a month. But still the people danced, more and more, and the Miner’s Dance underwent some quite complex and fascinating developments.

[This was the first part of a two part column on the Miner’s Dance that Robert Lee Cook published in Square Dancing Magazine (Sets in Order) in 1971. Part 2 is coming up soon. I hope you are enjoying this journey to the past of American dancing.]
Mrs. Manning Smith (Nita)
April 26, 1917 — March 13, 2008
Submitted by her daughter, Sherry Smith Frisk

Round and Square Dancers have recently lost a pioneer in the dance movement. Nita Smith, age 90, wife of the late Manning Smith, passed away on March 13, 2008 in College Station, Texas. Known for their winning smiles and wonderful way with people, the Smiths danced and taught across the entire country for 35 years. They were legends in their time and lived their philosophy: “Dance happily – dance from the heart!”

Married in 1939, Nita and Manning began their dancing career in 1945. For eight years they studied in Colorado with Dr. Lloyd “Pappy” Shaw, who helped make square dancing popular in the United States. Manning traveled as a professional square dance caller for six years and recorded a singing all on the Columbia label with the Rhythm Outlaws. The Smiths became avid round dancers. They choreographed many dances, two of which are still on the Round Dance Classics List – “Tango Mannita” and “Mannita Waltz”.

“Tango Mannita” was voted a Roundalab “Goldlen Classic” in 2003. The dance itself was written in Seattle, Washington. Manning and Nita were there for a seminar on rounds and staying with Wayne and Georgia Puckett, round dance leaders in the Northwest. Georgia knew that Manning had several “tango routines” he had arranged, but had never presented. Georgia made it very clear that Manning could not come out of their recreation room until “Tango Mannita” was finished. Manning, being the gentleman he was, complied and “Tango Mannita” became an instant success in the area, as well as everywhere in the round dance community.

Manning and Nita were also well known for their dance exhibitions, especially "Lady of Spain" and "Rosie O'Grady". They taught at festivals and workshops throughout the U. S. and Canada and were sent to Europe and Turkey by U. S. Air Force Special Services in 1958 and 1961 to teach round dancing to Air Force personnel stationed there.

As well as traveling throughout the world, Manning and Nita initiated the Manning Smith Conference and Round Dance Clinic for teachers at Texas A&M University in 1950. It continued there and in Stillwater, Oklahoma, for 30 years. The Smiths were a true inspiration to teachers all over the world and were always a source of encouragement and help.

During these years the Smiths also started a business, "Fashions by Nita Smith". They manufactured bouffant petticoats, pantalettes, and custom-made dance costumes. Among square and round dancers, the business was referred to as the "Neiman Marcus of the Round Dance World," and Nita’s dress designs were seen on dance floors worldwide. She was often in demand for sewing panels and style shows at national conventions and loved sharing her expertise.

Manning and Nita Smith were inducted into the Square and Round Dance Hall of Fame in 1971. They were also charter members of ROUNDALAB, the International Association of Round Dancer Teachers, and were honored in 1987 with the first Silver Halo Award for their many years of service. The following words of thanks, written by Nita after receiving the award, summed up the couple’s feelings about their lives as Round Dance teachers: "Manning and I have known for many years how fortunate we have been to be able to dance through life, meeting lovely people from all over the world. Our lives have been enriched beyond our wildest dreams by all of you. Thank you and God bless you all."

In a talk presented to ROUNDALAB in 1996 at the age of 79, Nita spoke about the history of Round Dancing and about the career-long approach she and Manning followed: "Teach and dance with a happy face, use a toe-tapping piece of music and remember that it is the people who are important, not necessarily the dance!" This is the Manning and Nita Smith legacy...
Association/Federation festivals, conventions or benefit dances can be listed free of charge in What's Ahead.

We need the event date, name, location including city and state, contact address, phone number, and email if any.

Please send us the event information as early as you want, but we prefer to receive it more than six months in advance of the event's scheduled date.
