During his seven years as a Congregational missionary under the American Missionary Association in the Union of South Africa, he worked in several parts of the country and towns, among the native missionaries and in the native white settlements. His mission was in the area of the Transvaal, in the eastern part of the country near the Basuto and Zulus, where there are many mission schools and churches.

In addition to his main tasks, Mr. Cauthen also participated in the development of the Transvaal and Zulu missions. He visited several mission stations and participated in the work of the Transvaal and Zulu missions. He also visited several mission schools and participated in the work of the Transvaal and Zulu missions.

Alumni News

Alumni Office, October 12—At the Alumni Office, the college's director of alumni relations presented a new technology apparatus to the college's alumni relations department. The apparatus is designed to facilitate the process of identifying potential alumni donors.

The new technology apparatus includes a database of alumni records, which will be used to identify potential donors. The database will be integrated with the college's fundraising system, allowing the alumni relations department to easily access information about alumni and their giving history.

The apparatus also includes a machine-learning algorithm that can predict which alumni are most likely to contribute to the college. This information will help the alumni relations department to target their fundraising efforts more effectively.

SEVERE TEST FOR CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

By Donald Swallow '32 and Kenneth Learned professors with a prof.

The varsity cross country team will send out its best men to do its best in a series of meets when it makes its championship trip from Maine University next Saturday. The Mainers won the New England Intercollegiate championship at Boston last year and with practically the same club running this year so far as the harriers are concerned, they look forward to a clean run.

The two men who will be depended upon to lead the Mainer charge in the meets are Francis J. Grey and Howard N. McManus. Grey is the six-year man and McManus the junior. Grey was chairman of thevarsity athletic boosters last year and McManus the captain. The other members are Henry M. Jackson, John D. Logan, and Charles F. Smith.

The New Hampshire team has one man who competes in every event—Charles A. Perdue, a three-year man. Perdue, with only one letterman back, Captain Cahalan '29, is expected to make a better showing this year than last, when he had only one letterman back, Captain Cahalan '29, and one of the best men of the pack.
