Sororities End Rushing Season

Forty-two Bids Received
After Six Weeks Rushing

Nineteen Bids Less Than Last Year
—Preferential Bidding System
In Use

The annual Sorority rushing season came to a close last Monday evening with the acceptance of bids by forty-three girls of the Freshman class. The number bid this year is considerably below that of last year, there having been sixty-two invited to join at that time. The season lasted over a period of six weeks with each sorority having one day each week to interview the Freshmen.

The preferential bidding system which has been used for the past few years was again in vogue with Miss Watson, director of Women's Athletics harmonizing the bids of the sororities with the choices of the prospective pledges.

The results of the bidding are as follows:

MAYORAL CANDIDATES AND THEIR MANAGERS

Mayorality Campaign Thrills Entire Populace of Durham

While the citizens of the United States were electing their president the residents of Durham were occupied with the arduous task of selecting their leader for the present year. The third annual mayorality campaign got under way last Monday when three fine candidates, men who are prominent in the activities of this community, presented themselves to a large assembly of local residents in the opening pleas of their campaigns.

From the outset the outcome of the campaign has been doubtful, each candidate presenting attractive features which will be put into effect if he is elected Mayor. At the time of the "New Hampshire" going to press the polls had closed, but the final outcome was unknown.

The three candidates poured forth their views to reporters of this paper early in the week, and their statements regarding the campaign are listed below.

Alexander B. Currie

The Rt. Hon. Alex B. Currie, scion of the Royal Stewarts, playboy of Broadway, and the Dean of Drinkers, cast his hat into the mayorality ring last Monday. Undoubtedly one of the most eligible candidates for the office in more than a decade, he seemed to be the people's choice at the very start.

Beginning slowly but gathering momentum with every appearance, Currie, at present, bids fair to win the post as mayor of Durham. "The Miracle Man" has promised many miracles of the higher class to the people.

The reporter ran into a dark cloud on his way to interview Candidate Currie. The dark cloud turned out to be Alex. Fitted by five years of 'collyer' life and the good old 'collyer daze,' Currie seems confident of giving all the other candidates a race worthy of his father. (Whom, you will remember, was the fastest human in 1878; his only trouble being that he ran too long in the same place.)

Campaign managers Serafini and Cummings refused to divulge the Rt. Hon.'s platform at a late hour Tuesday night. Rumor had it that a gigantic spectacle in the shape of a miracle was due for Wednesday night. Even the man behind the (Continued on Page 4)

Football Game and Dance Expected to Attract Many—Merritt C. Huse, '08, to Address Convocation—
New Airplane Stunts to Thrill Rooters at Grid Contest

All is expectant on the New Hampshire campus with the Annual Homecoming Day looming in the offing. Members of Alumni of the University are everywhere preparing for the annual trek which will bring them to their Alma Mater once more. There they will attend their own convocation, witness a great football game, and participate in a dance at the gymnasium. They will tour the campus and see once again the old familiar scenes, and they will also note the many improvements which are taking place, both in the organization and the physical plant.

A certain tension in the undergraduate body will reach its climax this evening when at the football rally, Durham's mayor for the ensuing year will be elected. Alumni Clubs all over the country will at that time be organizing and setting out for Durham where they will register at the Faculty Club and be home once again.

Edward Y. Blewett, Alumni Secretary, has announced that Merritt C. Huse, '08, President of the Alumni Association, is coming from Philadelphia to address the first old grad convocation to be held at the gymnasium at eleven o'clock tomorrow morning. President Edward M. Lewis and Mr. Blewett, who will preside, will also speak to the assemblage of graduates and undergraduates. Joe Atwood, Presi-

FALL BOOKS TOPIC OF "HERALD" EDITOR

John Clair Minot, Literary Critic, To Be Guest of Book and Scroll on Tuesday—Will Lecture at Community House

Dr. John Clair Minot, literary editor of "The Boston Herald," whose talk at the Community Church here last fall on current fiction was well received by the students and townspeople, will lecture again next Tuesday evening at the Community Church at 8.30 p. m. The book that this year as was the case last year is to be under the auspices of Book and Scroll, honorary literary society, and the title of the talk will be "What's What in Fall Fiction."

Tickets for the lecture are being sold by all members of the society and will also be on sale at the door. Gyneth Prew '29, president of Book and Scroll, heads the committee in charge of the coming program. The time set is believed to be late enough to enable fraternity and sorority members to attend the lecture after the regular fraternity meetings end. Doctor Minot's talk last fall was given on a Tuesday at the same hour and the arrangement proved to be satisfactory for all interested.

WILDCAT ELEVEN OPPOSED BY STRONG CONNECTICUT RIVALS

Many Special Features Planned
For Homecoming Program, Saturday

800 Alumni Expected to be in Durham for Game—Connecticut Conceded Slight Advantage by Virtue of Comparative Scores

CAPT. FARRELL

In the biggest game of the year, Homecoming, the New Hampshire eleven will meet the undefeated Connecticut Aggies on Memorial Field Saturday. To date the Wildcats have had a very successful season, being defeated but once. Against the Aggies they will try to improve their record by winning another victory. Connecticut always presents a strong team, having had the edge on the Blue and White during the last few years. This year is no exception. The Nutmeggers played a scoreless tie with Maine, whereas the Wildcats lost 7-0. This will make the visitors the favorites as they go into the game.

Inasmuch as this is the biggest game of the season, 800 alumni are expected to be present. Special efforts are being made to put on an attractive program. Edward Gadbois, '22, who dropped the ball for the Dad's Day game, will fly over the field Saturday and drop the ball again. Gadbois will also take the newly elected Mayor up for an aerial view of his domain. A parachute jump will be made above the field just before the opening of the game. Among the prominent alumni will be (Continued on Page 2)

The annual banquet of the Sophomore Sphinx society was held Monday night at Simpson's Pavilion, Dover, at seven o'clock. The entire organization left the Commons at six o'clock in two large busses for the pavilion where they enjoyed an excellent menu and listened to several interesting speeches.

After the banquet, Chandler Ryder, president of the society and toastmaster of the evening, assumed charge of affairs and introduced the various speakers. Henry C. Swasey, varsity basketball coach and faculty member of the Sphinx, was the first speaker of the evening. Mr. Swasey outlined the work of the society in a few well chosen words and told of the advancement of the organization in the past few years. Mask and Dagger Players
To Present "The Rivals"

Tickets To Go on Sale This Week—
Performance to be Presented November 15, 16, and 19

Tickets will go on sale this week for "The Rivals," fall term production of Mask and Dagger, which is to be presented in Murkland auditorium November 15, 16, and 19. The performances will mark the second time that this famous comedy has been played in Durham. It was played five years ago by a cast which included Mrs. Claude T. Lloyd as Miss Lydia Languish and Edward Y. Blewett, alumni secretary, as Sir Lucius O'Trigger. Mrs. Lloyd and Mr. Blewett are both now residing in Durham.

The scenery for this production will be of a type never used before by Mask and Dagger, according to Professor William G. Hennessy who is coaching the play. Instead of the conventional "flats" which have hitherto been used for scenery colored drapes will be used in most of the scenes. The costumes will be the best obtainable and a good musical program is being arranged to afford entertainment between the scenes.

The play is a famous old English comedy by Richard Brindsley Sheridan who also wrote "A School for Scandal" which was produced by the Mask and Dagger in 1925. It has been made famous by such well known actors as Nat Goodwin, Joseph Jefferson, May Irwin, and Mrs. John Drew. The latest professional revival of the play was produced last year with Mrs. Fiske in the part of Mrs. Malaprop which will be played here by Charlotte Hirschner, '29.

Because of the small seating capacity of the auditorium everybody is urged by Professor Hennessy to procure their tickets as soon as possible. Tickets will be sold at the University Book Store, the College Pharmacy, and the College Shop.

The cast which has been rehearsing five nights a week for the past six weeks, consists of Avis Henning, '31, as "Miss Lydia Languish;" Paul Kirvan, '29, as "Captain Jack Absolute;" Charlotte Hirschner, '29, as "Mrs. Malaprop;" George Lynch, '30, as "Sir Lucius O'Trigger;" Arthur Somers, '29, as "Sir Anthony Absolute;" Madeline Patten, '29, as "Miss Julia Melville;" Thomas Wilson, '29, as "Faulkland;" Francis Robinson, '31, as "Bob Acres;" Howard George, '30, as "David;" Harriet Wyatt, '29, as "Lucy;" John McLellan, '32, as "Fag;" and Monroe Walker '31, as "Thomas."

Walter M. Ramsey

Tuesday evening, during a campaign speech by Walter Ramsey, candidate of the Week-End Party for the mayoralty of Durham, the attentive audience was much alarmed to hear several pistol shots and bomb explosions, and did not fully realize until later that an attempt had been made on the life of the most promising candidate. Fortunately because of the candidate's iron head, with which he will ram Connecticut next Saturday, he was unhurt. But in the confusion, a woman apparently fainted, whereupon the gallant candidate called an ambulance, which readily answered his cry for help. Soon, however, her hat fell off, disclosing the fact that she was not a she but a he! This discovery led on to other discoveries; discoveries of the underhanded, low-down methods of the other candidates; of the whispering campaign being conducted on the campus against Mr. Ramsey.

Mr. Ramsey, in justice to himself, declared that he had no intentions of charging the fire escapes on the girls' dormitories with 40,000 volts, and that the person who made such a

The society wishes to invite any members of the faculty and any students who would be interested in the lecture.

The first speaker of the year was Mr. Leo Schwarz, former president of the Harvard Menorah Society, and at present an instructor in the New York Hebrew Institute of Theology. He spoke on the general subject of Menorah principles and discussed the work of the Menorah.

The local Society has a list of interesting speakers scheduled for the year, all of whom are Jewish leaders of today.

Wildcats Hold
Tufts To Tie

First Scoreless Jumbo
Game In Three Years

Tufts Team Rated As One of Strongest in New England—Ellis and Kennedy Carry Ball Well for Medford Team

The Wildcat gridsters upset all the dope Saturday when they held the powerful Tufts eleven to a 0-0 tie at the Tufts Oval. This game marked the first time in three years that the Jumbos have been held scoreless by any team. This year Tufts is presenting one of its strongest teams in several years and one of the best in New England this season, and for the Wildcats to hold them scoreless is no small accomplishment. Ellis and Kennedy, elusive Medford backs, did some fine ball carrying and gave their team two scoring chances, but the New Hampshire line was too stubborn for them, and each time they failed to cross the goal. The Granite Staters got within scoring distance once, in the last quarter, but they also were unable to push over a score.

The first period was fairly even, though New Hampshire showed a slight advantage in ground gaining. Small carrying the ball for some steady yards. In the second quarter Tufts had a decided edge, the break coming when Lucas, stalwart Jumbo tackle, broke into the Granite State backfield and blocked a punt, the ball rolling outside on the New Hampshire 15 yard line. Here the Wildcat forward wall showed its strength by throwing Tufts for a loss of ten yards in four rushes, and consequently taking the ball on downs. With the tables turned, the visitors found themselves unable to do much against the Tufts line and were forced to punt. Ellis ran the ball back to the Blue and White forty yard line, and then in two rushes made a first down. A fifteen yard penalty advanced the pigskin to the 15 yard mark, but here the Blue and Brown advance ended, the Wildcat line again proving its mettle.

The opening of the second half brought the second Tufts threat. New Hampshire could not gain and punted to Ellis, who caught the ball on the run and swept away from a swarm of tacklers for a 42 yard run-back, which placed the ball on the 18 yard stripe. Here an offside penalty set the home team back five yards and an attempted forward was incomplete, but another pass, Phillips to Kennedy, brought first down on the New Hampshire four yard line. Two attempts to carry the ball over resulted in a ten yard loss for the Medford team, and a flat pass was intercepted by Paulino on his three yard mark. The Blue and White punted out of danger and after that Tufts didn't threaten.

In the fourth period the Wildcats opened up and Shea threw a pass to Ryder, who eluded all but the Tufts safety man, Ellis, and placed the ball but four yards from the Jumbo's goal line. Nelson was thrown for a five yard loss and the referee imposed a five yard penalty for unnecessary delay. Grenier's attempted field goal went wide. Shortly after, the game ended with Phillips intercepting a Blue and White pass.

The stumbling Tufts line was no match for the aggressive Wildcat forwards, and time and again the Blue and Brown backs were dropped in their tracks by the New Hampshire linemen. Altogether New Hampshire made more first downs than Tufts, gained more yardage and completed more passes.

Frosh Outplay

Team Makes Only Score in Run by Wettergreen

To Wind Up Season By Games With St. Anselm's and Clark Eleven

The freshman team "A" defeated Andover by a score of 6-0 at Brother's Field, Andover, last Saturday. New Hampshire's touchdown came in the second period when Wettergreen made a pretty run from scrimmage on the 35 yard line. Up to this time the Andover second team had been playing, but after the Kitten's score the first team was brought into action in an attempt to win the game. The New Hampshire team, however, successfully prevented a score although they were at a slight disadvantage.

The freshmen wind up their season today with one team journeying to Manchester to play St. Anselms and the other remaining in Durham to meet the Clark school eleven. The question as to how to divide his men will be a difficult one for Coach Lundholm to decide since both opponents have scored victories in all their meetings with University of New

YOUNGER COLLEGE MEN ON RECENT WESTINGHOUSE JOBS

Radio Directs the Navy's Flyers

Where do young college men get in a large industrial organization? Have they opportunity to exercise creative talent? Is individual work recognized?

AIRPLANE carriers are a recent development in naval history—and they have a communication problem that calls for the engineering resources of an organization which has shown it can make radio history.

Complex maneuvers are directed, scouting expeditions controlled, and far-flying planes recalled—by radio.

On the U. S. Navy Airplane Carriers "Lexington" and "Saratoga" the situation is met with crystal control transmitters designed to send on different wave lengths. Each plane's receiving set has its own wave length. A turn of the dial on the transmitter selects the wave length corresponding to that of the plane to be reached with a message.

Radio equipment on the "Lexington" and "Saratoga" was designed, built, and installed by Westinghouse—the organization which in 1920 established KDKA, the pioneer radio broadcasting station of the world, and which also operates stations KFKX, KYW, WBZ, and WBZA.

Opportunities to do the history-making things in engineering fall naturally to an organization with a record for making history in its field. And Westinghouse, quite as naturally, offers powerful attractions to those young college men whose initiative and enterprise fit them for history making tasks.
