Open Lecture

Professor Balderson to

Speak on Famous Author

Book and Serail, literary society of the University, presented a formal lecture to the public Tuesday evening, at which Professor Katherine Balderson of Wellesley College, one of the leading authorities on Oliver Goldsmith in the country, will give a popular lec ture on the famous writer. Miss Balderson, whom the subject of her talk will be Goldsmith, was highly praised by a dean of professors of literature at Yale University.

Tommorrow's lecture will be open to the public and is priced at thirty-five cents. The talk follows that of Dr. John C. Smiley, literary critic of the "Boston Herald," who has been lecturing under the title of "The Classic and Contemporary Novelist" conducted by "Boston Herald." The program will consist of two sessions, each of which will be open to the public.

In addition to the Balderson lec ture, Gryphon Press '29 of Providence, Mass., president of the society, ad nounced yesterday that the third following afternoon gathering sponsored by the literary society will be held Monday in the Commons Organizations room. The lecture will be given by Professor Lewis. The lec ture, which is open to the public and popular and exceptionally well attended, was on "The Prose of John Dryden." Professor Wagner of Harvard University.

EXTENSION DEPT.
AIDS STOCK FARMER
Elimination of Tuberculous Object of Work—Method of Carrying out the Activity—County Conference on Tuberculosis.

An enterprise program on the stock improvement, which has been carried on the farm for the last few years, is being highly advocated in various sections of the state.

The main object of this program is the improvement of the dairy stock for the past season. The farm is located next to the city of Placid and is also situated near many of the best dairy stock producers in the region and at the end of New England.

We've just learned that the college's woolen mill has been open for about two years. We are convinced that the woolen mill is still there.

Here's the news! A great deal of snow has done away with the skis, validing whites and, in many cases, even the best jumpers have been forced to turn to competitive skiing.

The winter sports men have done many things, but none of these can compare with the season's opening weekend. For the past four seasons and several places have performed.
