Legion Members Present Trophy

Delegation From State Offers Handsome Award

Senior Excelling in Military Training, Athletics, Literature Honored Each Year—President Lewis Accepts Gift at Convocation

Right officers of the American Legion of New Hampshire and delegates to the convention in various sections and delegations of the state among whom were number several University graduates were the guests of the University at Convocation Wednesday, May 22, when they came to present a handsome trophy to be awarded each year to that student who comes to military, athletics, and scholarship.

The delegation was headed by Department Commander Harry MacQuinn of Lebanon and Department Adjutant Frank N. Sawyer of Concord, members of the executive committee for the state association and also of the special committee which developed the trophy under the direction of a resolution adopted at the 1928 convention of the Legion. The American Legion trophy committee included Stewart W. Emerson, ex-'21, Chairman, Deputy Secretary of State Russell H. Kraus, and Albert B. Baker, '21, of Concord.

The trophy itself is perhaps the most beautiful and original in design of any in presentation of the University and was presented by Chairman Emerson of the special committee which developed the trophy.

Mr. Emerson, in his address of presentation, reviewed the history of the Legion and told of its interest and satisfaction in the resolution that directed the presentation of the trophy, saying that he was on the field of the University, as representative of student body and faculty, by President Edward Morgan Lewis, and said the present trophy really means the Union College in its truest sense.

The trophy was built at the Dirigo Machine Company and was presented at Convocation and stands almost 3 feet high. The trophy is a replica of the United States Army's famous Eiffel Tower rising perpendicularly at either side of a camping fire, which is the first of that of the University itself and of the University itself.
