COMMENCEMENT PRIZES AWARDED TO WINNERS

American Legion Trophy Won by Frank Horrigan—
Hood Achievement Award Made to Chandler Ryder

Other Awards for Scholastic Ability, Agricultural Superiority, Greatest Improvement in Courses and Personality, Outstanding Forensic Ability, Dramatic and Literary Contributions, and High Ideals of Good Citizenship Made Yesterday at Last Convocation of the Year

By D. S. K.

At the Senior convocation held at 1.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the University gymnasium the various prizes and awards for 1931 were presented to their winners by President Edward M. Lewis. Each winner came forward to receive his award after President Lewis had described the significance of each prize and had named its winner.

The chief award of the afternoon was the large American Legion trophy which was presented to Frank Henry Horrigan, '31, of Wakefield, Mass., by Commander F. J. Drury of the New Hampshire Legion.

This trophy was offered to the University by the New Hampshire department of the Legion in recognition of the University's contribution in the World War. It is presented yearly to that senior man who has reached the highest distinction in military science, athletics, and scholarship, combined with high character and loyalty to the college. It is one of the highest honors which is given here and it is awarded for the third time this year. Fred Cristy Pettee, '30, was presented with the trophy last year.

The trophy itself is perhaps the most beautiful and original one in regard to design in the possession of the University. It is mounted on New Hampshire granite from the Concord quarries and has an ebony base. In the center is an inscription describing the trophy, and the legion seal. Just above it may be seen a lamp, books, and athletic paraphernalia in solid bronze symbolic of scholarship and athletics. Two bronze rifles mounted at the sides symbolize military training and support two silver shields, one of the R. O. T. C. unit, the other of the University. A solid silver band surrounds the ebony base and bears the names of the two previous winners.

The Hood Achievement prize, ballots for which were cast recently, was awarded to Arthur Chandler Ryder, '31, past president of the Student Council. This prize consists of a gold medal which is awarded annually through the generosity of Charles H. Hood, '80, "to that member of the senior class whom the members of the three upper classes choose as giving the greatest promise of becoming a worthy factor in the outside world through his character, scholarship, physical qualifications, personal popularity, leadership and usefulness as a man among men."

The Fairchild Memorial prizes of 25 dollars each were awarded to Francis Edwin Robinson, '31, of Durham, and Gunnar Edwin Kellstrand, '31, of Rockland, Mass. These prizes are sponsored by Mask and Dagger, the dramatic society, and were established in 1927 to be awarded to the two seniors who have done the most to promote dramatics during four years here.

Gordon Roundy Ayer, '32, won the Bartlett prize amounting to $50.

Ernest Bell, '20 Given War Medal

Awarded With Citation for Gallantry in Action

Former N. H. Graduate, Now Attorney at Law in Keene Received Master's Degree from
B. U. in '25

Ernest Lorne Bell of the class of 1920, attorney at law in Keene, was recently awarded with a citation for gallantry in action during the World War by the War Department which will entitle him to wear a silver citation star and other decorations.

Opening his mail in the course of routine work in his law office, Attorney Bell was surprised to find a letter from the adjutant general's office of the war department. On opening it he found that the letter was accompanied by a citation which read as follows: "Ernest L. Bell, formerly first lieutenant, Machine Gun company, 165th Infantry, 42d Division, American Expeditionary Forces. For repeated acts of gallantry in action from July 15 to October 14, 1918. On various occasions Lieut. Bell exposed himself to heavy enemy fire in order to place his guns in the most advantageous positions. On July 29, 1918, during the advance near Viller-sur-Fere, France, Lieut. Bell displayed great coolness and bravery when he stopped in an open field to repair one of his guns, disregarding heavy fire from enemy machine guns and snipers."

Attorney Bell enlisted in the army while he was a student here at the University and attended the first Plattsburg camp at Plattsburg, New York, being commissioned a second lieutenant at the conclusion of the training course. He went overseas with the first contingents from America and was with the various outfits studying machine gun tactics until the coming of the famous Rainbow division. He was then assigned to a machine gun company of the 165th infantry.

Lieut. Bell was at the front throughout the time the United States was participating in the struggle and took part in practically all of the major engagements. He was wounded on two occasions, once by shrapnel and another time by a machine gun bullet. He was within a few yards of Joyce Kilmer, the famous war poet, when the latter was killed. Following the armistice he went into Germany with the Army of Occupation.

Lieut. Bell returned early in the summer of 1919, and entered the University to complete his studies. Following his graduation in the class of 1920 he studied law at Harvard Law school and later at Boston university from which institution he was graduated in 1925.

Forty-one People, Including Graduates, Their Wives and Friends Assemble to Welcome C. H. Pettee and His Wife—Visits Imperial Valley

During Dean Pettee's recent visit to California, he discovered many New Hampshire graduates living there. In honor of his visit, a group of the younger alumni there arranged for him and Mrs. Pettee to meet them at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton B. Tibbets, in San Marino, California. Both Mr. and Mrs. Tibbets (formerly Miss Julia A. Roberts) were of the class of 1917.

The gathering assembled to welcome Dean and Mrs. Pettee numbered forty-one, including graduates, wives, husbands, and immediate friends. Two "old timers," who graduated in the early days before the college was moved from Hanover to Durham, were present. One of these was Charles A. Hubbard, '77, for many years treasurer of the United Fruit company, now retired and enjoying the climate of southern California. The other, Edwin P. Dewey, '82, is also retired, after a successful professional experience as city engineer, at different times, of Long Beach and Pasadena. "Mr. Dewey has bought an orange grove of fifteen acres," reports Dean Pettee, "built himself a comfortable home thereon, and is enjoying a return to the farm life which he started as a boy."

The dean was very favorably impressed with the younger alumni whom he met. "The younger alumni, of whom there are a goodly number, are wide awake and still loyal to New Hampshire. During the week of our stay in southern California, these alumni vied with each other in taking us to different points of interest."

"We spent three days at San Diego, visiting H. N. Savage, '87. Mr. Savage is the consulting engineer, Bureau of water supply, San Diego. For several years he has been working on the problem of developing all possible sources for future water supply for San Diego and vicinity. His work is now coming to a successful head in the development of the Mission Gorge project. It is expected that the foundations for the Mission dam will be put in within the coming year. San Diego is also interested in getting its share of water in the future from the Colorado river after the Boulder Dam project has been carried through."

"While we were in San Diego with the Savages, we met another 'old grad,' Mr. John Y. Jewett, '90, civil engineer."

"Mr. and Mrs. Savage took us on a very interesting day-and-a-half trip through the entire length of the Imperial valley in the United States. New England hears mostly of the Imperial valley through the hundreds of carloads of cantaloupes that are annually shipped from there. It has a wonderfully fertile soil, irrigated by waters from the Colorado river. The future agricultural possibilities of the valley are simply immense."

Dean Case to Act on Crafts Board

Faculty Member Picked to Serve on Commission

Mrs. J. Randolph Coolidge of Center Sandwich to Act as Chairman—Ambitious Program Planned to Stimulate Art in State

Governor John G. Winant recently appointed Dean Case of the College of Technology on the new commission of New Hampshire Arts and Crafts. The purpose of this commission, of which Mrs. J. Randolph Coolidge of Center Sandwich is chairman, is to promote and organize the handicraft work of the state, that is being done in the villages, so that the workers will receive the most profitable return for their efforts.

A major project of the work of the commission, decided upon at its meeting in the Governor's office May 25th, will be the training of the workers to turn out articles of good design and workmanship. If the plans of the commission materialize, this kind of work done in New Hampshire will be, in the near future, the equal, if not superior, to any done in the country.

Although this sounds like an ambitious program, Dean Case says that "with the background of the particular group of our industrial workers who are thus employed, we are in a much better position to develop high grade workmanship than any other section of the country. The commission is agreed, however, that it must be cautious about stimulating interest among individuals or groups beyond a point that can be sustained by good instruction and market outlet of products."

SENIOR LETTERMEN MEET WITH COACH PAUL SWEET

An informal meeting of the senior track lettermen was held at the home of Coach Paul Sweet Tuesday evening and the past experiences and future prospects of the track team were discussed.

Coach Sweet, in the course of the discussion, told of the great pleasure he had received working with the class of 1931. He also spoke of the future prospects in track next year and expressed the opinion that the next year's team would be equally as good as this year's.

PHI SIGMA MEMBERS PLAN WEEK-END AT WHITE'S POND

Phi Sigma, the honorary zoological society, has planned a trip to White's Pond this week-end. They will leave Saturday. While there, they plan to climb one of the smaller peaks, and also pay a visit to Waldron's dogs. One of Mr. Waldron's dogs went on Byrd's expedition to the North Pole.

The lights were up, the curtain was drawn, the ladies received their flowers, the strains of the chaser were heard in the Little Theatre of Murkland hall and the first night of The Perfect Alibi, Mask and Dagger's spring term production, was over. To say that director William G. Hennessy had done a masterful piece of work would not be saying half enough—the work he has done ably speaks for his accomplishments. The piece itself, conceived by A. A. Milne, was superbly constructed and can only be spoken of with the greatest of praise. A mystery play in which the audience is aware of the criminals and it remains for the people in the production to discover them is something different to the ordinary theatregoer, and that one word different is the only clue which we can divulge to those who have not seen this, in our minds the best show which Mask and Dagger has staged for a long time.

The vehicle was, as always, well cast. Ruth Winterton as Susan Cunningham and Thomas Pingree as Jimmy Ludgrove playing the juvenile leads, the persons who really solve the mystery, endear themselves to the audience in the opening moments of the production by their true-to-life appearance. Miss Winterton is a familiar figure on Mask and Dagger boards and Pingree, while new to Durham audiences possesses qualities which should secure him roles in future performances.

In the character of Police Constable Mallet interpreted by Norman Randall, who has also appeared here before, a glimpse of the Sherlock Holmes blundering police constable was seen. Mr. Randall made a real role of the character and although his appearance on the stage was short it was one of the high spots of the performance.

Edward Haseltine as Arthur Ludgrove, Gunnar Kellstrand as "Sergeant" Mallet of Scotland Yard, Francis Robinson as Adams, and Evelyn Huse as Mrs. Fulverton-Pane gave their last performances as members of Mask and Dagger productions and with their going the dramatic society loses four truly great actors. Their faces have been familiar to Durham audiences for some time and it is with a feeling of regret that we see them depart. Their performances last night were beyond reproach.

Robert Ayers as Edward Carter and Edward Dawson as Edward Laverick, playing in roles entirely different from any in which we have ever seen them before, had "the perfect alibi." But was it perfect? That is a question which you can answer only by seeing the play.

Other members of the supporting cast were John Clarey who played the part of Major Hugh Fothergill, D. S. O. and Priscilla Glazier who interpreted the part of Jane West in her first Mask and Dagger role.

STUDENT-FACULTY TEA

Considerable comment and criticism has been heard on the campus in recent weeks concerning the lack of inter-relationship between faculty members and students.

The student meets his professor, in many instances, as simply the one who conducts the eight o'clock class which comes on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and then gives a final examination at the end of the term. The professor knows the student as simply a member of his eight o'clock class.

In hopes that a more understanding relationship can be developed along the student-faculty lines, the association of women students is holding what is to be known as a student-faculty tea on the lawn of Smith hall tomorrow afternoon. This is not the first time that such an affair has been sponsored, but it is hoped that this year's tea will far surpass those of previous years.

It is rather unfortunate that men students are not invited to the affair, although the male members of the faculty have been asked to be present. However, the sponsors of the tea are of the opinion that they can carry out something on a comparatively small scale which will serve at least to stimulate interest in student-faculty relationships, and, in the near future, it may be possible to carry out such an affair on a larger scale and include the entire student body. If such is the case, much can be done to bring the students and faculty members together in some other manner than that provided for through the various curricula.

The success of this year's tea, as is always the case, will depend largely on the cooperation of those invited, and the sincerity of those attending. Here is a chance to become acquainted with some of those persons whom you meet daily, and establish a more intimate relationship with them. Plan to attend!

Frosh Win From New Hampton Nine

Final Contest of Season With Phillips Andover

Coach Lundholm Not Disappointed in Team in Spite of Fact That It Has Won Only Four Games During Entire Season

The frosh baseball team showed great improvement over their previous form Friday at Brackett field by polishing off the fast New Hampton contingent by an 11 to 3 score. The change in form is attested to by the fact that New Hampton beat Tilton six to one earlier in the season, while the Kittens could do no better than to gain an even break with the Tiltonians.

The Kittens hit liberally the best twirlers that the upstaters had, the prep school using three before the last out was called in the ninth. Miller, the starting pitcher for New Hampton, lasted six innings before his place was taken by Hill. Hill, however, remained but one inning on the mound, and Donahue was drafted from the field to take up the twirling duty. He proved to be effective but the damage had been done.

The frosh started their batfist in the second inning when Flannery smashed out a line drive that went for three bases, scoring Koehler with the first run of the game. Flannery and Haphey then fabricated two more runs by virtue of a number of errors before the inning ended. New Hampton tied the score in their half of the third when Donahue doubled, scoring Brock and Ober, and then Simonds tripled, bringing in Donahue from second with the tying run. The game was lost to the prep school team in the later stages by the superior hitting and fielding of the Kittens.

McGraw, the Kittens' hitting pitcher, lined out two hits in four times at bat, at points where they counted, besides turning in a three hit performance on the mound. Flannery, the frosh center fielder, added a couple of points to his average by gathering three bingles in four attempts.

The Kittens played their last game of the season yesterday against Phillips Andover academy at Andover. The prep school has a very strong team this year, being the only club to defeat the Dartmouth freshmen. The Harvard freshman nine, which beat the Kittens, is also a victim of Andover.

Coach Lundholm expressed himself as not being at all disappointed with the team, despite the fact that only

The members of the junior class in architectural design under the leadership of Professor Arnold Perrott, visited the Boston Architectural club, the schools of architecture at M. I. T. and Harvard university, the Fogg Museum of Art at Harvard, and the new dormitory development at Harvard on Tuesday.

At the Architectural club they were fortunate in seeing the conditions under which the members work, at M. I. T. they were in time to see an exhibition which had been arranged in preparation for a judgment and at Harvard an exhibition which had just been judged.

The members who made the trip were Clifford Clark, Alphonse Marchand, George Scott, John MacLellan, Paul Coburn, and Russell Ellsworth.

FROM OUR MAIL BOX

Dear Editor:

It has been observed by students and non-students that, ever since the victory over Brown last fall through to the last triumph of our athletes, the winning of the N. E. I. C. A. A. track and field meet, the University of New Hampshire is fast approaching the point where its athletes are providing competition for the best some of the eastern colleges and universities can offer. Yet, in spite of this fact, the newspapers, rather than give the boys credit for doing an extra good piece of work, slight them and refuse to give but little recognition to their ability.

It is generally accepted that the reputation of most of our universities and colleges is built up and maintained by the athletes of those schools. That reputation, of course, may waver each season according to the type of athlete put into the field.

If a group of schools hold prestige in athletics between themselves for a time, but are suddenly confronted by a newcomer and forced to the wall, why shouldn't the new leader be acknowledged and acclaimed just as fervently as the dark horse aviator who performs a feat believed only possible of execution by professionals?

In regard to the recent N. E. I. C. A. A. meet, you will recall that one or two papers accorded the New Hampshire team a passable story, but that most of them gave more space to the defeated rather than the victor.

The question uppermost in my mind is whether or not the New Hampshire publicity board (if such an organization exists) or the newspapers themselves are at fault. The question should be settled and a solution offered if New Hampshire expects to break into the larger college athletic field and remain there.

Yours truly,

R. J. BUCKNAM

"STRANGERS MAY KISS" AT LOCAL THEATRE TOMORROW

Norma Shearer never looked more beautiful than in "Strangers May Kiss," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle which will show at the Franklin theatre tomorrow.

In the picturization of the daring Ursula Parrott novel, Miss Shearer essays the most glamorous role of her career and to this reviewer achieves a greater performance than in "The Divorcee," which won for her so wide an acclaim from press and public.

Two leading men support the star in her latest offering, Robert Montgomery and Neil Hamilton, the former playing the part of the devoted but humble sweetheart, the other enacting the role of the rugged adventurer with whom she embarks upon an unconventional romance.

George Fitzmaurice has directed this film from John Meehan's adaptation of the sensational book, endowing it with a pictorial background against which races the dramatic plot to a sweeping climax. The supporting cast is particularly imposing, including such players as Marjorie Rambeau, Hale Hamilton, Irene Rich, Conchita Montenegro, Jed Prouty, Albert Conti, George Davis and Henry Armetta.

As Lisbeth, the modern girl who is convinced that men believe in a double standard, Miss Shearer negotiates a difficult characterization. Yet she makes it a convincing one and when she takes her mad fling at life you feel the humility of her realization that, after all, conventions are man-made laws and women must remain within the boundary established by a smug social system.

Attorney Bell then became chairman of the regional rating board of the Veterans' Bureau in Manchester. Some time after passing the New Hampshire bar examinations he went to Keene and became associated with Attorney Philip A. Faulkner.

Blue Embers

William M. Stearns

As the final flames of the spring term burn to an ash it may well be appropriate to rake the embers of the last eulogistic coals.

The pinnacle of fame was attained by the Wildcat tracksters down among the tall pines of Lewiston on the memorable afternoon of May 23, when the first New England championship ever to be won by the University, fell prey to her stalwart band of athletes.

In addition to her championship honors she extended her string of dual meet victories to 15 straight before succumbing to the Eastern intercollegiate champions by a scant five point margin.

Five new University championships were established with the existing marks in the hammer, shot, discus, pole vault, and javelin succumbing to the repeated attacks of Douglas, Learmonth, Hanley, Brooks and Geoffrion.

Another New England record was established by Brooks in the pole vault when he cleared the bar at 12 feet, 8 inches, to become New Hampshire's second record holder, joining Duke Peaslee among the immortals.

Prospects of retaining the New England crown for another season are comparatively bright with 20 of New Hampshire's 26 points returning for the fall term. Only Brooks and Geoffrion will be lost by graduation.

Whatever the fate of future Wildcat tracksters we hope New Hampshire always has the same sweet coach.

On the diamond Coach Swasey's proteges experienced another mediocre campaign with victories over Colby, University of Vermont, Springfield, and Worcester Tech listed as outstanding achievements.

With the two all-important contests with Brown still confronting them hopes of a brilliant finish are still cherished in the breasts of the faithful.

The varsity lacrosse team finished its second season as an informal sport with one victory and a vote of thanks from the Undertakers' mutual benefit society. With the understanding that letters are to be awarded in the future for such barbaric practices, we can but predict a brilliant future for Durham's next promising Mortician.

Graduation will take its annual toll from the ranks of the Wildcat varsity men, and will list among its victims several sterling performers who will bear with them all-time New Hampshire records.

In addition to Brooks, Douglas and Geoffrion in track, the University will lose Herbie Hagstrom, co-captain in two sports, and star performer on the gridiron and court; Albie Lazure, three-letter man, and holder of the intercollegiate two-mile snow shoe championship; Harry Croke, College Humor all-choice in hockey; Wilsie Currie undefeated in two years of intercollegiate competition within the squared circle; and Stewie Richardson, co-captain of cross country and captain of track in '30; not to mention a dozen other defenders of the Wildcat tradition.

The Nationals held at Philadelphia Saturday disclosed a wealth of material for the coming Olympics with the west exhibiting by far the greatest potential strength.

Sometimes we wonder why Stanford and Southern California don't stage their dual meets at home and stop bothering to have them at the Nationals.

Shipwreck Kelley, University of Kentucky gridiron flash, has more recently turned his attention to the cinder path where he has remained undefeated in the dashes for two years, breaking 10 seconds in the hundred and 22 in the furlong.

It is interesting to note that the University of North Carolina, University of Virginia baseball series is several years more ancient in origin than the Harvard-Yale encounters.

The University of Pennsylvania at present holds the sun-berth in the Eastern intercollegiate league and apparently intends to defend it from all usurpers, with Marsters the Quaker twirler, pitching invincible ball in pinches.

EFFORT OF JAMES PROVES FRUITFUL

The Late University of New Hampshire Professor's Work on Hafnium Aid in the Development of Radio Tubes, Rectifiers, Electric Lights, and Other Such Electrical Devices

The United States Bureau of standards recently announced that due to efforts of the late Dr. Charles James, the more recently discovered element hafnium will probably become very important in certain electrical industries. This element has a very high melting point and electronic emissivity, which makes it very desirable for use in radio tubes, rectifiers, incandescent lamps and other such electrical devices.

Professor James came to this University in 1906. In 1912 he was made head of the Department of chemistry, a position which he held until his death, December 10, 1928. He was internationally famous and was then the greatest living authority on rare earths and minerals. Many great commercial companies such as the Bell Telephone company sought his aid and advice continually. He was a fellow of the Institute of chemistry of London of which he was a member and was also holder of the honorary degree of Doctor of science conferred on him by this University in 1927.

This prize is awarded to that junior ranking highest in scholarship who has earned at least one half of his expenses since entering college. Ayer is Editor-in-Chief of THE NEW HAMPSHIRE and comes from Keene.

The Bailey prize of ten dollars for proficiency in chemistry was presented to Thomas Branch Alexander, '31, of North Conway. The Delta Epsilon Pi fraternity won the Edward Monroe Stone cup by virtue of its superiority in intra-mural forensics. The competition for this cup was run off during the latter part of the winter term and first part of this.

The Davis Cattle Judging prizes for two-year students were awarded to Roger Everett White of Winchester, first; Dwight Comings Wood of Cornish, second; and Ivan Bohanan of Contoocook, third.

Elizabeth Josephine Flint, '32, was awarded the Dietrich Memorial cup for attaining the highest scholarship during her junior year. This cup was given by the class of 1916 in memoriam to Rosina Martha Dietrich who died a few weeks before graduation. The cup is to remain in the possession of Miss Flint throughout her senior year and until the next winner is named.

The Erskine Mason Memorial prize for the senior who has made the greatest improvement during her course was presented to Eugenia Szalajeski, '31, of Laconia. This prize is offered by Mrs. Erskine Mason of Stamford, Conn., in memory of her son, a member of the class of 1893.

The Psi Lambda cup for the home economics senior who has shown the greatest improvement in personality and scholarship during her four year's in college was awarded to Pearl Granville, '31, of Madison. This cup is presented annually by Psi Lambda, the home economics society.

The Class of 1899 prize of $30 was awarded to Henry Allen Hazen, '31, as the senior who, in the opinion of the faculty, has developed the highest ideals of good citizenship. The Alpha Chi Omega prize of ten dollars for the best production of creative prose went to Shirley Frances Barker, '34, of Farmington.

The Katherine DeMeritt Memorial prize of $20, awarded to the junior girl showing the greatest aptitude for helpful leadership and cheerful loyalty, with strength of character and scholastic attainment, was won by Charlotte Ann Atwood, '32, of Lisbon.

At the annual election of officers of Mu chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma, professional chemistry fraternity, on May 25, Merchant L. Cushing, '31, of Plaistow was elected to succeed T. B. Alexander as Master Alchemist for the coming year.

Upon graduation, Mr. Cushing is to do graduate work in the Department of chemistry. H. M. Hunter, graduate student in Agricultural chemistry, was elected Vice-Master Alchemist; Henry A. Davis, '31, who is to study here next year, was elected treasurer; Donald Pitz, '31, who is to do graduate work here next year also in the department of Chemistry, was elected recorder; and Fred W. Snell, '32, was elected Master of ceremonies. The offices of reporter, held by C. W. Pike, '32, and Alumni secretary, held by Frederick D. Fuller, '32, will remain unchanged.

LIBRARY NOTES

The library will have, until the close of school, an exhibition of German photographs. There are fifty of these photographs chosen from those submitted in a contest held in Germany in 1927. This library has joined the Library Art club and plans, from now on, to have exhibitions at all times.

It has been found in records in the library that this University as a state institution will be actually 110 years old on June 29. In 1821 the legislature passed an act to establish a Literary fund; "Said fund shall be for the sole use and purpose of endowing or supporting a college for instruction in the higher branches of science and literature, and to be appropriated to this purpose in the manner the legislature of this state shall hereafter order and appoint; Provided, said fund shall never be applied to the benefit of any institution which is not under the direction and control of the state." This fund was raised by a tax on bank stocks or bank notes.

Later, when the act had been repealed, this fund was given to various towns of the state to aid in supporting the common schools. At the present time, this fund is turned over to the State Board of Education.

Springfield Wins Dual Track Meet

Varsity Trackmen Lose to Gymnasts by 5 Points

Meet Featured by Keenest Competition in Every Event—Hanley Establishes New University Record in Discus Throw with Heave of 137 Feet, 4 1/4 Inches

Coach Paul Sweet's New England championship track and field contingent lost its first dual meet in three years of competition by succumbing to the Springfield college Eastern intercollegiate champions by a 70 to 65 score at the Exposition city Saturday. The meet was featured by the keenest of competition throughout with the score reading 64 to 62 as the two teams entered the final event, the hammer throw, only to have victors capture first and third places.

Hanley established a new University record in the discus with a heave of 137 feet, 4 1/4 inches, while Gunby shattered the Springfield mark in the javelin with a toss of 199 feet, 11 1/2 inches.

The Gymnasts displayed unheralded strength in the hurdles with Shaw topping the barriers for two new college records. The tall timbers were run in 15 2-5 seconds while the furlong of lows was covered in 24 and 3-5 seconds. Whitehouse and Thayer finished but a few strides behind the winner in each event.

In the century Springfield's dusky flash Wheeler breasted the tape at 10 1-10 seconds crossing the finish inches ahead of Pike. Evans trailed Pike for third place.

In the furlong Evans flashed his spikes before the field in the fast time of 21.9. Once again Pike was forced to be content with second place, with Ottaway capturing a third for the Crimson.

In the quarter mile Ottaway and Jaeger raced around the oval to finish one, two in the event with Crosby taking New Hampshire's only place. Harrington, Wildcat flash, was disqualified for illegal use of elbows on the first turn which barred him from the scoring despite the fact that he was the first to break the worsted.

Noyes carried the colors of the Blue and White to victory in both the mile and the 880. The time in the mile was 4 minutes, 30.9 seconds with Lazure and Olmstead following him to the tape. In the 880 Noyes and Crosby finished first and third with Bowen taking second.

Three Wildcats, deMouplied, Blood, and Andberg, crossed the finished line with locked arms in the two mile to score a clean sweep in the event. Pike, New Hampshire's sophomore flash, scored first place in the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet, 9 inches. Clark captured third just behind Prince of Springfield.

In the high jump McClelland and Brooks tied for first at 5 feet, 10 1/2 inches to share first place honors. Captain Woolley of the Wildcats was handicapped in his favorite event by an injured leg.

Brooks continued to soar to fame in the pole vault clearing the bar at 12 feet, 4 inches. Brooks made no attempt to shatter his present record of 12 feet, 8 inches established at the New England's a week ago.

Bryant and Geesman of Springfield heaved the iron ball farther than Learmonth to capture the shot put at 44 feet, 2 1/2 inches.

In the hammer Simonson and Thompson, both of whom starred for the Crimson last fall on the gridiron, clinched first and third to assure the Gymnasts of their margin of victory.

In the discus Hanley established a new University record when he shattered his former mark with a toss of 137 feet, 4 1/4 inches. Douglas captured second for the Wildcats with Babcock scoring a third for Springfield.

The most consistent performances occurred in the javelin with all three men hurling the spear over 193 feet. The winning throw by Gunby established a new Springfield record at 199 feet, 11 1/2 inches.

Summary

120 yard high hurdles—Shaw, Thayer, Whitehouse. Time, 15 and 2-5 seconds.

SCIENCE ACADEMY HOLDS CONVENTION

Several Faculty Members and Alumni Present at Gathering in Littleton on Friday and Saturday May 29 and 30

At a meeting of the New Hampshire Academy of science held at Littleton, Friday and Saturday, May 29-30, several people closely connected with the University took parts in the program and in the make up of the committees.

Before this gathering Eleanor Sheehan, '30, read a paper on the "Pre-natal Effect of Carbon Monoxide" and Professor Lawrence H. Oddyke of the chemistry department discussed "The Appearance of Russia in Industrial Chemistry." Following these speeches Frank L. Rogers, '30, instructor in geology at Dartmouth, discussed "Plans for Geology Instruction at Summer Camps."

During the business session of the meeting which was held Saturday evening, Dr. C. H. Dolloff, superintendent of the State hospital and retiring president of the Academy, appointed Dean C. Floyd Jackson of the Liberal Arts college as chairman of the nominating committee and Professor Helen T. McLaughlin, of the Home Economics department, as chairman of the membership committee.

The new officers of the academy elected during the meeting included Professor George W. White of the geology department as secretary-treasurer for the coming year. J. W. Goldthwaite of Dartmouth succeeded Dr. Dolloff as president.

Arthur H. Norton, curator of the Portland Society of natural history, gave an address on "Shore Mammals of Northern New England, on Friday night.

Henry H. Clayton, formerly chief of the Argentine weather service, formerly connected with the Smithsonian institution, and now a consulting meteorologist to various business interests, gave an address Saturday morning on "Long Range Weather Forecasting."

During Saturday afternoon the members of the academy present at the meeting made an excursion trip to the power plant and dam at Fifteen Mile falls.

This Academy of science consists mainly of teachers and professors of science at this University, at Dartmouth, Exeter, members of the State scientific bureau, special employees of industrial companies like the Brown company of Berlin, the Amoskeag company of Manchester, and the State forester, and chemist.

Wildcats Defeat Springfield, 6-5

Ten Inning Game Forced by Lisabeth's Home Run

Blue and White to Play Connecticut Aggies Saturday—Two Games Scheduled with Brown Commencement Week

In one of the weirdest games of ball ever seen on Brackett field for some time, the New Hampshire nine handed a 6-5 beating to Springfield college on Memorial day. The contest travelled ten innings, although nine frames should have sufficed. The previous day, the Gymnasts lost an 11-10 battle to the Boston college Eagles in the ninth.

Springfield went out in succession in their half of the first inning, but New Hampshire put across one run in their half. Until the seventh frame, the lone score was big to the Athletics, but in the luckiest of innings, they pushed over three runs. New Hampshire, however, took advantage of the seventh and proceeded to tie the score, 3-3.

Springfield came back in the eighth with two more runs. In the last of the ninth, with one man on, Lisabeth drove out a home run and forced the game to an extra inning. The Athletics did nothing in their part of the tenth, but the Wildcats promptly filled the sacks. Again Lisabeth proved his worth by hitting a sizzler to end the game.

Both clubs used two pitchers. It was apparent that White, replacing Dunlap, was off form. Nevertheless, he held the opponents. Coach Swasey made a change in the line-up when he placed Lisabeth at second, and Gibbons at third.

On Saturday, the Blue and White goes to Storrs, Connecticut, to play the Nutmeggers. The game has been made a feature of the Aggie's Commencement program. Brown gave the Connecticut Staters an 11-5 drubbing, and the Bears have been beaten by larger scores from stronger and weaker clubs. The men making the trip are: Mitchell, Casey, Strafford, Edgerly, White, Eustis, Lisabeth, Chase, Gibbons, E. and C. Hanna and Smith.

The New Hampshire baseball schedule comes to a close with two games with Brown. The first contest will be played at Durham on June 13; the second at Providence two days later. Brown has had only a fair season this year, having lost to Holy Cross, Harvard and Columbia. Dunlap will pitch his last game here before graduation and White will hurl at Rhode Island.

four games have been won and one tied in the entire season. He pointed out that the Kittens have been without adequate playing facilities and that many men have been playing positions which were unfamiliar to them, having been changed from berths, which they had played in high school. The coach paid tribute to the fine spirit displayed by the team throughout the season, through fair weather and foul, and when the breaks seemed entirely against them.

FOUR TEAMS LEFT IN TENNIS MATCHES

Remaining Fraternities in Intramural Racquet Finals are Phi Mu Delta, Phi Delta Upsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Alpha Tau Omega

Phi Mu Delta defeated Phi Delta Upsilon Tuesday afternoon in the doubles of the first match of the third round of the annual spring term intramural tennis tournament. Evans and Williams took Hall and Cook in tow by the scores, 2-6; 7-5; and 1-6. The remaining matches, the singles between Phi Delta Upsilon and Phi Mu Delta, the singles between S. A. E. and A. T. O., and the doubles between S. A. E. and Theta Chi were played yesterday.

The results of the second round played last week were as follows: Wettergreen, S. A. E., defeated Prentice, Kappa Sigma, by the scores of 6-1 and 7-5. Theta Chi bested S. A. E. in the doubles when Knabenshue and Richards took Wettergreen and Prescott in tow, 6-3, 6-3. A. T. O. made a clean sweep by beating Phi Alpha in the doubles, 6-1, 6-4, and Theta Kappa Phi in the singles, 8-6, and 6-0. Crawford and Kruger were the winners for A. T. O. in the doubles and Crawford in the singles. Phi Alpha was represented by Solomon and Alpers, and Theta Kappa Phi by Sullivan. Phi Mu Delta was victorious in both singles and doubles against Lambda Chi Alpha, taking the singles, 6-1, 6-1, and the doubles 6-4, 6-3. Cook and Hall beat Slack and Bucknam, and Cook defeated Slack in the singles. Phi Delta Upsilon advanced from the first to the third round by drawing a bye.

Wildcats to Meet Brown Next Week

To Close Season Monday With Game at Providence

Success of Mediocre Season to be Judged by Final Game With New Hampshire's Old Rival

With the 1931 baseball season drawing to a close prospects of another mediocre season loom large on the horizon with victories over Colby, Vermont, and Springfield appearing as high spots of the season. With the two all-important contests with Brown still in the future prospects of a brilliant finish are still considered with high hopes in the ranks of the faithful fans.

Previous to this year, the New Hampshire ball season started earlier. Under that plan, practice was cut shorter. Brackett field was never in condition and several postponements and cancellations occurred. This year, however, the first game was played in the latter part of April and the extra practice proved to be beneficial.

The season opened with Colby taking a two to nothing defeat. Later the Maine club gave a surprise by whipping Harvard. Too soon in the season, the Swaseymen met Harvard at Cambridge and lost, 13 to 2. It must be remembered that not only has the Crimson a larger squad but has practiced since February. To show the guess work done in newspaper theories, Colby defeated Harvard, 9 to 7, Harvard beat Dartmouth, 2 to 0, Vermont Indians twice and New Hampshire was victorious over both Colby and Vermont.

Lowell Textile provided material for the Blue and White and their batting average swelled as the Textiles took the count, 17-11. This club is one of the weakest that New Hampshire has faced this season.

Boston University proved its usual annual surprise by defeating New Hampshire. A home hun in the extra-inning game did the trick for the Terriers. The Army and Providence games turned out to be a tour for the Blue and White boys—both games being cancelled. Worcester Tech went under the Wildcat batting power.

Coach Swasey dreamed of beating Vermont and Dartmouth. He accomplished one of the feats by handling the Catamounts a drubbing. It is to be regretted that the New Hampshire-Indian game was cancelled.

The Wildcat-Jumbo game was a heart-breaker to lose. Had the Blue and White won, the club would have beaten one of the strongest clubs in New England, exclusive of Dartmouth, Harvard, and Yale.

EDUCATION NEWS

On Tuesday evening, Prof. Wellman addressed a group at the Temple Parent-Teachers' association meeting at Temple, on the subject, "Modern Tendencies in Education."

The banquet and initiation of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society, was held at the Highland house last night at 6:00 o'clock.

Prof. J. O. Wellman has been invited to give a series of lectures on educational psychology next fall at the Colby school for Girls.

NIGHT AND A FAST TRACK!

A TRACK man will tell you that records are broken when the track is fast. Think of this setting—a cool evening, the stands overflowing, the whole spectacle brilliantly lighted with G-E floodlights, and a fast track—a record simply couldn't stand the "gaff."

Nighttime, when people naturally turn to diversion, is the logical time for a track meet. Lack of support will be a thing of the past. And just watch the athletic fund grow.

G-E floodlighting projectors, largely the development of college-trained men, are easily adapted to any occasion whether football, track, tennis, commencement, receptions, or plays. Efficient G-E illumination promotes athletics and builds school spirit.

Track Team Ends Successful Year

Coach Paul Sweet's Men Capture N. E. I. C. A. A.

Winning of Track Intercollegiate Championship and Fifteen Dual Meets Terminates Historic Line of Victories

By R. E. W.

Coach Paul Sweet's varsity track team closed its most successful season in the history of the University by terminating a winning streak of fifteen consecutive dual meet victories and capturing the New England intercollegiate track championship for the first time.

It is interesting to compare the 1931 season with the great 1919 season of Coach Cleveland's club. In that year, six records were broken. Captain Nightingale, one of the greatest of college distance runners, shattered the mile and half mile records; Melville broke the quarter mile record; Batchelder raised the shot put record throwing 38 feet, 1½ inches; Andrews surpassed the discus record, throwing 118 feet, 2 inches, and Sawyer broke the hammer throw record at 116 feet, 11 inches. The work of Nightingale is particularly impressive. In addition to breaking the college record in the half-mile and the mile, he broke the indoor mile record, the outdoor and indoor two-mile records, besides being the national champion in the latter event.

The 1931 track team smashed five records this year and a sixth is held by Captain Woolley in the high jump, which he made last year. Earl Brooks, '31, topped the pole vault record, clearing the bar at twelve feet eight inches; Art Learmonth, '33, stretched the shot put record by a heave of forty-three feet, 11 5-8 inches; Howard Hanley, '32, shattered the discus record, throwing 135 feet, 4½ inches; Douglas, '31, broke the hammer record by a throw of 131 feet, 9 inches, and Geoffrion, '31, established a new javelin record with a throw of 192 feet, 4 inches.

The 1919 cinder club defeated Bowdoin, Tufts and Massachusetts Aggies in dual meets, besides placing third in the Eastern intercollegiate and fourth in the N. E. I. C. A. A. meet. In the Easterns, the Blue and White scored more points than any other New England college.

But for the fact that the "breaks" were all against the Wildcats, the streak of dual meet victories would have been stretched to sixteen and three years of no defeats in dual competition would have been attained. The gymnasts were decidedly at top form and turned in the best season they ever had. Shaw upset the dope in both hurdle events by breaking college records to win each event. The features of the meet were the javelin throws of 199 feet, 11½ inches by Gunby, of 197 feet, 7¼ inches and of 193 feet, 4¼ inches by Geoffrion. These throws would have been taken second, third, and fourth respectively in the I. C. A. A. meet at Philadelphia.

For the second time, Pike has led the scorers in points on the team he has worked with, since entering New Hampshire last year. He led the frosh scorers and this season led the varsity scorers with a total of 66 points. Brooks followed with 44½, Whitehouse with 38, Douglas with 31, and deMouplied with 28. Pike scored his points in the dashes and in the broad jumps, Whitehouse in the hurdles, Douglas in the hammer and discus, and deMouplied in the two-mile run. Brooks had a clean slate in the pole vault for the season as did deMouplied in the two-mile, and Pike in the broad jump. In dual meets, Hanley won all firsts in the discus, and Learmonth took all firsts in the shot put.

Although there are thirteen members of the varsity track squad graduating, it is expected that there will be another great team next year. Several freshmen have shown up well, and there is a wealth of material among the sophomores and juniors. The seniors lost consist of captain Austin Woolley, Earl Brooks, Ralph Crosby, Rexford Dean, Howard Douglas, Keith Burdett, Raymond Geoffrion, Richard Harrington, Albert Lazure, George Smith, Leroy Moore, and Forest Robinson. The members of this class have made an enviable record for themselves. They lost their first meet of their freshman year to the Dartmouth frosh and were not set back until the last meet of their senior year. The last meet to be lost by the Blue and White was the Bates at Lewiston in the first meet of the 1928 season.
