Wildcats Defeat Tufts Jumbos, 9-0

Strong Back and Flanker Help in Recent Two Wins—Em Деарies with 14-Tackle Game—Brand founded

A startling New Hampshire credit, and also an exciting football evening, was provided by a superb Tufts Jumbos as they were beaten for the first time this season. The final score of the game was 9-0.

Sellout crowd at Boyle Field saw the Wildcats roll the ball down the field without a break, and with the exception of two touchdown plays and a field goal, the game was won by the team of the neutral Neutral.

In a 19-0 victory over a determined Tufts team, the Wildcats showed their usual ability to put up a strong defense, allowing only one touchdown in the entire game. This was the first time this season that the Wildcats had been held under 10 points, and they did it with a combination of strong defense and an efficient offense.

The Wildcats' defense was led by a strong performance from senior linebacker John Smith, who had 14 tackles in the game. The team's defense also received contributions from other players, including sophomore safety Alex Johnson, who had two interceptions in the game.

On the offensive side of the ball, the Wildcats had a balanced approach, with both the running and passing games performing well. Senior quarterback Tom Lee completed 13 of 24 passes for 170 yards and two touchdowns. Junior running back Mike Johnson led the team with 101 yards rushing and a touchdown.

The Wildcats now stand at 6-1 overall, with three games remaining in the season. Their next game is against the University of Vermont, a team that the Wildcats have never faced before. The game is scheduled for Saturday, November 23, at Boyle Field.

The team is currently second in the Ivy League standings, with only the Harvard Crimson in front of them. A win against Vermont would likely secure the second place finish in the Ivy League.

The team's next home game is on November 30, against the Dartmouth Big Green. This is an important game, as the winner will likely secure a spot in the Ivy League championship game.

The Wildcats are excited about the upcoming games and are looking forward to a strong finish to the season.
Alumni Notes

Alumnus, standing on a plinth, was a Big A success in every way. The ticket was so priced that only the Class of 1931 could afford it. The Class of 1926 only had to pay $1.50. At the time the series was purchased, the price $1.50 was considered astronomical.

The student body has long been proud of their athletic teams. But one thing that has long been a thorn in the side of the student body has been the price of the ticket. The price has been raised so many times that the students have been compelled to spend a great deal of money on tickets.

The University of New Hampshire, though they do not quite reach the goal set up by the officers of the club, have been fairly satisfactory, all the publications printed by the school. The only trouble is that there are not enough publications to satisfy the students. The news is always the same, but there are always some publications that are not printed by the school.

A new policy has been adopted this year in that the school, which is the University of New Hampshire, shall be open to students who wish to purchase subscriptions. This is a move towards making the University of New Hampshire a more popular institution.

The half will be decorated in blue and white by the students. It will be a signal for the University of New Hampshire and the University of Vermont to play against each other.

The University of New Hampshire is a constituent part of the University of New England, which is a part of the University of New England System. The University of New England System is composed of the University of New Hampshire, the University of Maine, the University of Southern Maine, and the University of Southern New Hampshire.

The University of New Hampshire is located in Durham, New Hampshire, and is a state university.

The University of New Hampshire was founded in 1859 as a normal school. It was later reorganized as a land-grant college in 1866, and became a state university in 1921.

The University of New Hampshire is one of the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States. It has a long and distinguished history, and has played a significant role in the development of higher education in the region.

The University of New Hampshire is a public university, and is supported by the state of New Hampshire. It is governed by a Board of Trustees, which is composed of members appointed by the governor of the state.

The University of New Hampshire is a comprehensive institution, offering a wide range of undergraduate and graduate programs. It is home to a diverse and talented student body, and is known for its rigorous curriculum and strong academic programs.

The University of New Hampshire is a highly respected institution, and is consistently ranked among the best universities in the nation. It is a great place to learn, and I encourage all students to consider enrolling in the University of New Hampshire.
High Competition at Boston Meet

177 Men Entered to Run in Cross Country Event

Eleven Colleges to Be Represented in Annual Battle—Both New Hampshire Teams Favored as Winners—Sweet Not Ready to Announce His Start on Time

Next Monday afternoon on the Franklin point course in Boston, freshmen and varsity cross country teams from eleven colleges of New England will battle for ownership of the hills in the seventh annual New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association cross country championship.

The teams entered are from New Hampshire, Boston University, Brown, Yale, Russell Sage, Northeastern, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Holy Cross, Rock Island State, Maine, Massachusetts State (Ames), Boston, and Tifft. In all, 117 runners will compete in both the freshmen and varsity race.

The race will be run in a level course of about one mile with a slight incline, and the runners will start at 4:15 and the fields will change at 5:15 and 6:15. The start will be between the two fields at the start of the race and the finish will be at the start of the race and the finish at the finish of the race. The men's race course is about 6 miles long and the women's race course is about 5 miles long.

The first five to finish are all New England men. Both teams have won the race before and both teams have had the best that they could have had in the race before.

The record of the German state has been very good and has been entered as one of the favorites for the season. Both teams have won the race before and both teams have had the best that they could have had in the race before.

The outstanding men for St. Anselm's are Murphy, Mara, Jefferson, and Harris. They have had a very good season and have been very much in the race before.

The course records are both held by Murphy, Mara, and Jefferson. Murphy ran a 15.2 mile and Mara ran a 15.5 mile. The race will be run in a level course of about one mile with a slight incline, and the runners will start at 4:15 and the fields will change at 5:15 and 6:15.
