University Plans for Mother's Day

Seventh Observance to be Held Here April 30

Date Changed to Coincide with Nationally Recognized Mother's Day—R. O. T. C. Unit to be Reviewed

The University will hold its seventh annual Mother's Day on Saturday, April 30. It has been found advisable to change the previously chosen date to that of the thirtieth because of other plans which have been arranged for the week-end of the nationally recognized Mother's Day.

An extensive and interesting program which offers an opportunity for mothers to meet members of the faculty individually and which includes a review of the University's R. O. T. C. unit has been planned for the occasion.

While it has been found impossible for the University to entertain fathers at the luncheon, they are welcome to participate in the remainder of the program.

All mothers are requested to register, at eight-thirty if possible, at the Faculty Club. This is important, as it is urgent that all guests receive their tickets for luncheon and the games, and any other information that they may desire.

The body paid tribute to Mrs. DeMeritt by standing in silence with heads bowed for a minute.

The girls applauded Shirley Barker in recognition of the honor she won in the recent Quill Club Contest.

It was voted to recommend to the Men's Council the following plan: that there should be a social committee made up of six members to take care of informals, the Vice-Presidents of the Men's and Women's Councils with one man and one woman each representing the sophomore and junior classes.

SHIRLEY SUCCEEDED BY MARVIN MILLER

New Librarian Formerly Employed at New York Public Library—Graduate of North Carolina and Columbia Universities

Mr. Marvin A. Miller has recently been secured by the University to succeed William M. Shirley as librarian of the Hamilton-Smith Library in Durham. Mr. Miller is very well fitted to carry on the work, having secured his B.A. degree at the University of North Carolina in 1926, and B.S. degree at Columbia University in 1929. He has also had much experience in this field; he has been employed at the New York Public Library, New York City, since 1928.

Mr. Miller plans to continue the work of Mr. Shirley on the same general policies, making any changes as the need for them occurs. He is quite pleased with his new work, and at present is making his residence on Madbury Road with his wife and daughter.

ATTENTION WOMEN!

A ten dollar prize will be awarded to the undergraduate woman student of the University by the Committee on Award for the best thesis on any subject, dealing with problems of sociology or economics. The title shall be approved by the head of the department concerned and the thesis must be received not later than June first.

SENIOR HONORARY SOCIETY INSPECTED

Cap and Gown Inspected by Mrs. W. A. Howell, Treasurer of Mortar Board, as a Prospective Chapter of the National Society

Mrs. W. S. Howell, of Cambridge, Massachusetts, the national treasurer of Mortar Board, was the guest of the Cap and Gown Society for the week-end. She came to inspect the society as a prospective chapter of Mortar Board. By next year the society will have been established long enough to apply for membership.

The society has been particularly active during the past year, having assumed a new system of freshman orientation and having assembled a booklet of suggestions on courtesy which have recently been distributed. The book has been given free to every underclass woman, with the hope that the suggestions may help the co-eds in their struggle to get along with other people. The money to finance the book was raised partly by advertisements and partly by a dance sponsored at "T" Hall the first of the winter term.

The initiation for new members of the society was held last Friday night in the Commons Organization Rooms. The service was followed by a banquet served by Mrs. Leighton. Those initiated were: Dorothy Calnan, Marion Hough, Dorothy Kessler, and Alice Towle. Mrs. Buschmeyer, Dean Woodruff, and Mrs. Howell were speakers at the banquet. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Dorothy Kessler; Vice-President, Dorothy Calnan; Secretary-Treasurer, Marion Hough.

As is customary, the Cap and Gown Society will act as ushers at the big gymnasium on Mother's Day, to assist the mothers in meeting the members of the faculty.

Plans are already under way for the society to manage the same system of freshman orientation which was used last year.

NEW MEMBERS INITIATED BY GRADUATE SCIENCE CLUB

At the regular meeting of the Graduate Science Society of the University held recently, three new members, who are working in some scientific field, were initiated into the Society. Mr. Stuart Dunn, President of the Society, conducted the meeting and initiation of the new members.

Those who were elected to membership were Merchant LeRoy Cushing, B. S., and Ernest William Anderson, B. S., both graduate assistants in the Chemistry department, and Jack Brown, B. A., instructor in the Department of Geology.

New Organization for Outing Club

Inner Organization Will be Known as Blue Circle

New Officers Elected at Recent Meeting—Professor Johnson and Coach Sweet Elected as Delegates-at-Large from Faculty

At a general meeting of the Outing Club on April 14, a new constitution was unanimously accepted by the members present. This marks the first step towards a revised Outing Club insofar as the new constitution provides for an inner organization known as Blue Circle. Members for this committee were nominated and elected so that immediate steps could be taken to form a constructive program for this term.

At Blue Circle's first meeting, election of officers was held under the direction of Albert Bertelson, retiring President. Barron Rogers was elected Chairman, Hollis Sturges, Jr., Secretary, and Penn French, Treasurer. The following were elected directors of the several departments: Harvey Clark, Department of Cabins and Trails; Philbrook Paine, Department of Trips; Lloyd Wentworth, Department of Public Relations; Francis McSwiney, Department of Membership and Instruction; Albert Bertelson, Department of Winter Carnival; Kenneth Sawtelle, Department of Winter Sports, with Albert Mott as Assistant Director; Karl Purington, Department of Fish and Game; and Helen Crooks and Betty Barnaby as Co-directors of women's activities. Other members of Blue Circle are Fred Perkins, John York, Jack Holt, Lewis Crowell, Richard Tower, Nathaniel Parker, and John Whicher.

From the faculty, Professors Arthur Johnson and Paul Sweet were elected as Directors-at-large. At the next meeting six alumni will be elected to comprise the Alumni Advisory Board of the Outing Club.

With such a group so divided into several departments a definite and concrete program can be established wherein activities can function throughout the college year. A heeler system has been inaugurated to permit freshman candidates to join Blue Circle in the latter part of the term. At the end of the competition ten freshmen will be accepted, who in turn, will elect five of their number to Blue Circle so that fifteen more members will be added to this new organization's committees which goes into full action at the beginning of next fall term.

Glider Club Has Extensive Plans

Newly Purchased Glider Assembled by Students

Members Expect to be Flying by the First of May—New Members Will be Accepted

The glider, which the Glider Club had long been expecting, was received and assembled some time ago and if the present plans are carried out, the members of the Club will be flying by the first of May. Within the next two weeks, according to Arnold Beede, '33, President of the club, the first two lessons in glider flying and learning to manipulate the controls, will be given at Hoit Field, on the south side of Madbury Road.

The glider, a Waco Primary Training Type, has a wing spread of 36 feet and an overall length of 21 feet. It weighs 175 pounds and has a gliding angle of fourteen to one. It was licensed before delivery by the resident Department of Commerce Inspector. The original cost of these gliders is $375, but due to fortunate circumstances the club was able to secure it for $75.

The club meets Wednesday afternoons at 4:30 in Room 102, DeMeritt Hall. The present active membership is between twenty-five and thirty. Membership dues are 25 cents a term, and the initial glider fee for those members planning to learn to fly is four dollars. Students interested should attend meetings and become active members. At present the club is assembling a shelf of books and pamphlets on the subject which will be found in the reserve book room of the University library. Students will find these of great value. They cannot fail to arouse their interest in gliding, which enthusiasts characterize as the finest sport in the world.

"NO ONE MAN" FEATURES THEATRE PROGRAM FRIDAY

Although the underlying thought in "No One Man," Paramount screen feature at the Franklin Theatre, Friday, April 22, follows the purport of the original Rupert Hughes' novel, that "no one man is sufficient to satisfy and occupy the heart of any woman," there is satisfaction for the masculine as well as feminine members of the audience, for in the conclusion, "Nep," the insatiable huntress, appears to have been tamed for the duration of the climax at least.

Entertainment thoroughly adult, timely, and observing, is presented in this amazing story of a search for an answer to the problem that is sending increasing numbers to the divorce court every year. Lloyd Corrigan, director, has enhanced the plot with luxurious settings in New York City and Palm Beach.

Carole Lombard, Ricardo Cortez, Paul Lukas, Juliette Compton, and George Barbier are headliners in the cast, which adequately tempers sincerity with a sense of sophisticated satire, befitting the vein of the author.

NOTICE

All freshman men desiring to enter the Outing Club heeling competition will report at the Theta Chi House on Saturday, April 23, at 1.30 p. m.

THIEVES ROB THREE FRATERNITY HOUSES

Phi Mu Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Lambda Chi Alpha Looted by Thieves During Night

The second of a series of daring fraternity robberies took place early Tuesday morning at the Phi Mu Delta, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and the Lambda Chi Alpha Houses. The thefts at the Phi Mu Delta House were made after the last fire watch which ended at four o'clock. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon's, hardest hit in the last raid, escaped with the lightest losses this time. At the Lambda Chi Alpha House it is believed that the marauders entered by means of a fire escape. The pilfering there was done in the room adjoining the decks where the men were sleeping. Chief of Police Louis P. Bougoin and several detectives called in from out of town are at work on the case and expect to have definite information soon which will lead to an arrest.

ATTENTION WOMEN!

Alpha Tau Chapter of Alpha Chi Omega will award a ten dollar prize to the woman undergraduate student of the University submitting to the head of the Department of English the best informal essay of less than three thousand words on any subject chosen by the student. Dr. Leon D. Batchelor of the class of 1907 is to supervise the construction of what is expected to be the most modern entomology research building in the country. It is to be erected at the Riverside Citrus Experiment Station, of which Dr. Batchelor is director, for the University of California; contracts, aggregating $96,642, were recently awarded. Work on the new building will be completed this spring.

During 1931 Doctor Batchelor directed the expenditure of approximately $150,000 for the erection of a new chemistry unit and an insectary at the station, both buildings being considered the finest of their kind.

For several years the Citrus Experiment Station has been expanding its service to agriculturalists and horticulturalists by conducting researches and experiments to combat insect pests. The work of the station has been handicapped by lack of space and equipment but these needs will be cared for by the new unit.

DURHAM, N. H., APRIL 21, 1932.

WITH the permission of the author we are quoting extracts from an article entitled, "A New Emphasis on Scholarship."

"What has the trend upward in scholastic requirements among American universities and colleges to do with our fraternities? Briefly this, that the continued emphasis placed on intellectual attainment by our administrative officials will make or break the fraternities, i. e., they must align themselves either with or in opposition to the new movement in scholarship. There will be no place for halfway attitude such as has characterized so much fraternity life up to the present; there will be room neither for the star athlete, nor the drugstore cowboy, nor the budding crooner, nor the 'extra-curricula activities' artists, nor the lounge lizard, nor the social lion. The student will regain partially the rightful preeminence he lost when every Jack, Jill, and Algernon began clogging the paths of education directly after the war. The challenge which, sooner or later, will be emblazoned over every fraternal doorway is: You must support scholarship to justify your very existence!

"What indications can we see pointing toward such a millennium? The struggle for post-graduate degrees, the competitive battle in education among men and women, the stricter requirements for professional certificates, the emphasis on a freer and more comprehensive accomplishment in education, and the addition of one or two more years of work to the customary four years for a bachelor's degree may be mentioned, but more significant and more tangible than any of these points is the widespread development of junior colleges in this country which has occurred within the last ten years. More and more, I think, will the present senior college atmosphere sink to the level of the junior college, and in its place will form a relatively more serious and more studious atmosphere similar to that which now envelops many of our graduate schools.

"Too many of our fraternity chapters are now on a junior college plane. Not many of them, in fact practically none of them, were organized in the interests of study. They 'jes' growed,' much like Topsy, with no supervision whatsoever, to meet the exigencies of inadequate rooming or boarding facilities, to satisfy men's social inclinations, or to control various student functions. That many fraternities today have a more or less definite scholastic program is the result of an evolutionary development of attitudes concerning studies rather than of a preconceived plan for the promotion of education within the chapter house. One argument on which I can base my contention with a fair degree of accuracy is the fact that the college year 1930-31 was the first, since investigation was commenced, to witness an average among all fraternity men higher than the all men's average, and higher than the non-fraternity men's average, according to a study being conducted by the Interfraternity Conference. At least, I feel safe in assuming that fraternity men have not been inherently more 'dumb' than non-fraternity men!

"Why cannot fraternities go on thriving in the present tenor of their existence? Because, as I have already stated, they arose in nearly every instance to meet an emergency or a deficiency of some kind. As our college population becomes more stable, fraternities will lose their raison d'être—unless they attach themselves more firmly to the primary purpose of college, i. e., intellectual advancement. There will be adequate rooming and boarding establishments maintained and operated by the universities themselves, as well as suitable club rooms and dormitory lounging rooms for the enjoyment of companionship. On the basis of scholarship, can the fraternity defend itself from extinction the moment the 'boom' period in education has subsided. And since, as I have pointed out, the senior college seems to offer inducements to scholarship superior to those offered by the junior college, the American fraternity can well afford to look to a policy of self-preservation by adapting itself more completely than ever before to that primary function of any institution of learning, scholarship, which is sure to regain in vast measure the prestige it enjoyed originally.

"How can fraternities meet this challenge of the new senior college? Various means have been proposed, but the scheme which has struck me most forcefully is the fraternity tutorial plan which was inaugurated at Iowa State University five years ago. The same plan is now being tried out extensively among the fraternities at Lehigh University. To the critics who may object that fraternity tutors have not proved markedly successful on the campuses where the plan has been operating, let me answer first that the fault has been usually with the attitude of the men or the tutors rather than with the system, and secondly that, as I pointed out above, very few fraternity chapters have been positive elements in the furtherance of scholastic interests. Oftentimes men living in the chapter house have looked on the invasion of a tutor into their sacred domains as an intrusion upon their personal rights and liberty, an intrusion to be scorned or at best tolerated. But I can readily conceive of a different attitude arising toward the tutor in a group motivated by the desire for scholarly attainment such as is being stressed at the present time by the educators who advocate a development of the senior college idea on the basis of more adequately equipped and better trained students. Respect for the tutor is bound to rise with the admission of students with higher regard for scholarship, provided the men have a personality at all positive.

"Other critics of this plan may argue that it lacks demonstration of its worth. I shall grant readily that the plan has neither been a notable success in the American universities where it has been tried, nor has it been operating in them a sufficient time to offer conclusive proof of its worth. But as testimony concerning its use among superior students, I wish to point out its long and effective service in the colleges at Oxford and Cambridge, at Phillips Andover and Phillips Exeter Academies in this country, and more recently in the new residence halls at Harvard. I should not argue that the tutorial system would prove a success in some fraternity houses where scholarship comes last on the list of a man's considerations, but I do maintain that the tutorial plan will become relatively more important and more successful in the fraternities which attach themselves to the new trend in senior college education which is being fostered by farsighted educators throughout the country. A tutor can give the intellectual aspirations of a fraternity group motivation and direction which will surpass in value the most elaborate set of study regulations ever enforced by a conscientious group of upperclassmen in a fraternity house. The tutor adds that incentive and glamor to the pursuit of scholarly attainment which is so essential in the higher branches of education.

"There is a definite program well under way now to raise scholastic standards in American colleges and universities. The American college fraternity is but one aspect in a revolutionary process which universities are undergoing in this country, and, therefore, will lose its present reason for existence the moment our educational institutions evolve a definite program on a stable organization. The lifesaver for fraternities seems to be taking the shape of a more conscious linkage with the present emphasis on scholastic requirements. And the best way they can adapt themselves to this new modus vivendi seems to be through a modification of the English tutorial system, much as Harvard is doing in her new residence halls and Lehigh in her fraternity houses."

PRAYER OF AN APRIL FOOL
Capricious mistress of these fretful skies
Sweet harbinger of lazy summer's flowers,
Soft goddess of the languorous sunrise,
Proud mistress of the springtime
showers—
Turn earthward from your vaulted stary throne,
And calm the turmoil Brother March
has made:
Grant to this weary stepson left alone
Sweet dreams of peace in some far distant glade:
Take this sad madness from my tired
heart,
"This fever that the wily spring has sent,
And mercifully give an hour apart,
One hour of silent peace and soft content,
April! Reach from your mighty seat above
Your mighty hands to drag me out of love!"
George Foster.

You took the words right out of our mouth, George.

Have you ever had that feeling when you haven't seen her for more than an hour all week and then she tells you at nine o'clock that she has a couple of business letters to write? Or do you prefer brook trout?

But cheer up, fellows! This balmy spring sunshine which seems to be descending upon us, will melt even the hearts of second-story Congreve dwellers.

Meanwhile, we might pass the time away by writing to our favorite movie actresses and asking them to accompany us to the Sophomore Hop or Junior Prom. And if they don't accept, well—there's always Ballyhoo.

In a good-natured sort of way, we would like to know if the Junior Prom committee is considering a reduction in the dance subscription this year. May we remind them that the Yale Prom committee reduced their subscription fee fifty per cent. And may we also remind them that there is a depression? Or perhaps they have heard about it.

The new women's dormitory has been calling forth many feminine epithets during the past few days. It seems that when our Leaping Lengens went out to play tennis the other day they discovered that their favorite court is now a steam shovel's scratching ground. And imagine our embarrassment when we had to admit that we thought the yellow work shack was the first story of the new building.

Curse these stupid books and themes,
These notes and other trash,
They bore me to the Nth degree,
I cannot stand such hash.

Galsworthy and Hardy, Wordsworth and Poe—
Of such stuff are nightmares made:
For such trash are professors paid.
I'd much rather go to the cinema,
And mug my Susie, Hot Cha Cha!
Take out a skirt that's got the goods,
And acquire technique in the college woods.
Carry a flask and learn to boo:
Read Slapstick, Hoey, and Ballyhoo.
Such are the longings of a college boy,
Such are the courses he studies with joy!

The Department of Education at Purdue is now offering the men of the senior class an optional course comprising twelve lectures on marriage and sex. More than half the men in the class have enrolled for the course; members of the teaching staff take this as definite proof that the course is filling a definite need in the University curricula.

According to a recent report of "Studies in Deceit" made by the Psychology Department of Columbia University, persons who attend movies cheat most, girls tell twice as many white lies as boys, and country boys rank higher in alertness than city boys.

Sign stealing has become a notorious evil at some schools. At present the Barnard College girls win the rubber pen wiper. They have recently been notified that "if there is any sign which a student very much desires, please do not steal it, but apply at the office, and a duplicate will be obtained at cost."

The Detroit College of Law boasts a freshman 75 years old. Mr. John Eckler left school 52 years ago to enter the real estate business, and he has now decided to finish his "schoolin'." The sophomores regret that they will have to forego the spring hazing on at least one freshman.

It has come to our notice that a Washington, D. C., man, Dr. Frederick Wolter, is starving himself to death as a protest against unemployment. He is reading the Bible for five hours a day, and is being paid ten dollars a week to do so. Rather a puzzle, isn't it? Will his employment as a protest against unemployment last long enough to compensate him for his trouble or will he die and thereby lose the chance to spend his savings in repadding his skeleton after the ordeal? At any rate he offers us a good solution to our board bill problem—just forget the habit.

The Editor's Mail

To the Editor of THE NEW HAMPSHIRE:

"In hopes that the Chief of Police of Dover is a good sport, who can see the fallacy of the bunning law and treat it in the same way that the New York police treat the Prohibition Amendment—that is, forget it!"

In view of recent revelations of citizens flouting laws that interfered with what they wanted to do, and of the sorry spectacle of sheriffs and police being "such good sports" as not to countenance the graft but to participate in it to the extent of millions of dollars—as, for instance, in New York and Chicago—it would not seem possible that a college man in the responsible position of "moulder of public opinion" would so misinterpret the philosophy of government.

Surely, Mr. Editor, in your studies in history you could not have wholly escaped some understanding of the tremendous struggle of human-kind to achieve rules whereby the game can be played for best results to all. Mistakes have been made, but the struggle goes on to improve the game. When players do not like the rules they put the problem up to the rules committee. To do otherwise, only results in a riot.

And, indeed, the only thing that saves the Editor and others, who believe as he does, from the folly of their philosophy is the great body of understanding citizens who still believe that the way to play the game is according to the rules and, if they do not like the rules, to follow an orderly way to change them.

Do not take this as a defense of the Dover ordinance. I have questioned the wisdom of it. But Dover's mistake is a trifle as compared, Mr. Editor, with the ruthless way you would mess up a reasonably orderly game just because it places a temporary handicap upon some of the players.

And may I, just in passing, ask you to consider who pays losses for accidents? The insurance company, did you say? Where, pray tell, do the insurance companies get their money?

Very truly yours,
(Signed) EARL P. ROBINSON.

ENGLISH COTTAGE

A white stone cottage stands upon a hill,
Thick-walled, and capped with weathered golden thatch;
And ivy around its leaded sill,
And crimson ramblers frame the oaken latch.
Inside, the open fire burns within the range,
Its flames reflected on the red-tiled floor;
And soon we find our world becoming strange
When we have passed that sturdy hillside door;
For there in poverty and endless toil,
Young Wesley's fire still burns in quiet hearts,
And Calvin's fertile seed finds eager soil,
From which the blade of homely wisdom starts.

"Hello, Hawaii"

Bringing Hawaii within speaking distance of the United States is one of the latest achievements of the Bell System in its program of telephone service extension.

Australia, Bermuda, Samoa, and Hawaii is daily routine. Today more than 31,000,000 telephones can be reached—approximately 92% of all the telephones in the world!

Five years ago the United States had telephone connection only with Canada, Cuba, and the Mexican border. Since then, Bell engineers have so developed radio telephony that handling calls to Europe, South America,

Making the telephone practically worldwide in reach promotes understanding between nations. It has far reaching effects commercially and politically. That's what puts the thrill into such Bell System pioneering.

"Sprig is 'ere." Brrr!! Who cares about May Day, anyhow? And speaking of May Day, have you noticed the male cast? It sure is appealing. "Foggy" Wood, "Sailor" Moreau, "Pinky" Auerbach, and "Jim" O'Hare are outstanding examples of manhood "gone pansy."

The 1932 edition of the Wildcat baseball club makes its appearance in Worcester Saturday as the opponents of the Worcester Tech. team. It is not well to be too optimistic concerning this first game, because as yet there has been but very little out-of-door rehearsing. However, the squad shows much promise and should develop well in the later games of the schedule.

New Hampshire's first recognized lacrosse team swings into action Saturday, meeting M. I. T. at Cambridge. The team has been practicing for two weeks and numerous black eyes, bruised shins, and prominent limbs appear to indicate a most successful season. This seems to be a great opportunity to meet your friends—try it and see.

Another initial appearance finds the New England Track Champs entertaining Northeastern University on the local cinder path—a tough assignment for the opening meet. The Huskies always have a strong, well-balanced team and should provide a real attraction for the opening of the season.

What a great battle for that intramural track title Saturday. And then only to find Al Bertelson and the Theta Chi's tied for first place. Too bad that the "Dawson gang" couldn't have staged a kidnapping Friday night.

Many promising freshmen came to light in the meet, and this has given the "Coach of Champions" something to smile over. Ed Gale, our favorite actor, threw things all the afternoon and emerged with fists in the discus and javelin, as well as a fourth in the hammer. He just can't help it. Then Curt Funsten, the Schenectady flash, took both the 120 high's and the quarter-mile. Ted Darling and Don Jensen won firsts in the mile and hammer, respectively—or maybe that wasn't much respect for some of our more experienced veterans.

The Alpha Kappa Pi's had their ball team go through a long batting session in the Kappa batting cage recently. The boys weren't long in getting their eyes on the apples and should go well as soon as the weather permits them to get out on the diamond.

The annual assault of Hampton Beach took place on Saturday. Some of our agents, covering the event, said that many old and familiar faces were among those present. The weather is no discouragement to the veterans—can they take 'em!

It was a great privilege to this noble soul to attend the annual certificate night banquet, last week. President Lewis gave a very interesting talk and Lou Little was at his best for the occasion. There were many of our prominent alumni present and, without doubt, it was one of the most successful banquets yet staged by the athletic department. Much credit should be given Coach Christensen, who was in charge of the banquet.

Poor Mr. Raskob!!! What a licking he took.

And our apologies to Columbia, as we referred to them as the Nittany Lions. Somehow or other we always link Lou Little with Penn and now he has charge of some lions but they are just Lions. How's that, Flan?

Frosh Ball Squad Cut by Lundholm

Twenty-five Men Survive Second Cut of Season

Remaining Squad Includes Three Catchers, Eight Pitchers, Seven Infielders and Seven Outfielders —Bright Season Predicted

The freshman baseball candidates have been working out daily, and prospects look bright for a successful season. Coach Lundholm has cut his squad to 25 men. In this group are three catchers, eight pitchers, seven infielders, and seven outfielders.

For catchers Coach Lundholm has John McLeod, Moody, and Stewart. Demers, Desmarais, James McLeod, McKiniry, Saliba, Sloan, McGrath, and Seavey are the pitchers retained and are showing up well. For first base Coach Lundholm has Angwin and Steeves. Grocott and Bannon will fight it out for the keystone sack, while Walker will probably fill the shortstop position. Toll and Ellsworth are candidates for the third base position. Coach Lundholm has seven experienced outfielders, some of whom are equally capable of working in the infield. The outfielders surviving the cut are Clark, Locicero, McDermott, Naimie, Scanlan, Swiklas, and Stylianos.

In view of the poor facilities the freshmen have for practice, Coach Lundholm is confronted with a difficult problem in shaping together a strong team to meet the difficult schedule this year. There are twelve games on the schedule, seven at Durham and five away. The schedule is as follows: April 26, Sanborn Seminary at Durham; April 29, Clark School at Hanover; April 30, Dartmouth Freshmen at Hanover; May 2, Austin-Cate Academy at Durham; May 4, Andover at Andover; May 7, Harvard Freshmen at Cambridge; May 10, Boston University Freshmen at Durham; May 12, Tilton School at Tilton; May 14, Wentworth Institute at Durham; May 21, Nichols Junior College at Durham; May 24, New Hampton School at Durham; May 27, Hebron Academy at Durham.

Varsity Trackmen to Meet Huskies

Northeastern Invaders Present Strong Team

Wildcats Look Good in the Running Events While Bay Staters Show Strength in the Field—Pike Possibly Lost to Team

The varsity track team meets the Northeastern Huskies this Saturday on Memorial field in its first dual meet of the season. The invaders are reported, by reliable sources, to be very strong, especially in field and weight events.

Coach Sweet refused to make any comment beyond voicing his opinion that the competition would undoubtedly be very keen and the score very close. Heavy competition is expected in the high jump, pole vault, javelin, discus and broad jump.

This year's team has been enhanced by the appearance of Gibbons, freshman star in the dashes two years ago. Another promising man in that event is Cunningham, a sophomore. Both of these men stood out in the fraternity meet last Saturday. Norman Klein, captain of the 1933 freshmen, appears to be the most promising member of the quarter milers with Crowell and Brown good seconds. Noyes should come through in the mile run and Hanley in the discus. It is hoped that Knox can clear up the question of his eligibility and compete in the hammer and shot events, and that Pike, high scorer on last year's team and N. E. I. C. A. A. broad jump champion, will get out of the infirmary in time to compete. Pike is also an excellent dashman.

Coach Sweet announced that he intended to enter as many men as possible in order to give them experience in actual intercollegiate competition. He said the team would be chosen from the following, classified according to their respective events: low hurdles: Whitehouse, Thayer, and A. Pike; 100-yard dash: Gibbons, Clark and Cunningham; mile run: Noyes, Little, Allard, and Field; 440-yard dash: Klein, Brown, Crowell, Gilman, Armstrong and Jeffery; two-mile: DeMoulied, Andberg, Blood, Low and Raduazo; low hurdles: Thayer, Whitehouse, Gilman, and Toolin; 220-yard dash: Gibbons, Cunningham, Crowell, (Continued on Page 4)

Athletic Banquet Largely Attended

Little, Columbia Coach, Speaker of the Evening

President Edward M. Lewis Speaks—Many Prominent Alumni Present—Coach Cowell Awards Letter Certificates—Professor Scudder Acts as Toastmaster

The annual banquet and presentation of athletic certificates, held in the Commons Dining Hall last Wednesday evening, was largely attended. In addition to the lettermen, there were many prominent alumni present.

Professor Harold Scudder, of the English Department, acted as toastmaster for the occasion, and introduced President Edward M. Lewis, as the first speaker of the evening. His talk, though very brief, was most interesting as he recounted some of his experiences as a major league baseball star.

Louis Little, head coach of football at Columbia University, was the guest speaker of the evening. He spoke briefly concerning the adopted changes in the intercollegiate football rules, stating that he was firmly convinced that they will greatly reduce the number of injuries sustained in the game. He also spoke concerning the value of intercollegiate sports, and the teaching of team play. He closed his talk with a summary of Coach Cowell's activities in intercollegiate sports, both in his undergraduate days and at the present time.

Coach Cowell then asked for a few words from some of our prominent alumni who were here for the occasion. Ralph Brackett, athletic director at Portsmouth High School; Vincent Rogers, basketball coach at Manchester Central High School; and "Dutch" Conners, former assistant football coach at New York University, responded with a few brief words. Coach Cowell also introduced other alumni including: Richard Richardi, Jeffrey Francoeur, John Shea, Doctor Doyle, Stanley Wright, Daniel Metcalf, John Whittemore, and Francis Geremonty.

In conclusion Coach Cowell presented the letter certificates to those men who have earned their "NH" during the past year.

Ball Team Meets Worcester Tech

Sixteen Men to Travel to Worcester Saturday

Ederly, Stafford, and White to Work Three Innings Each—Shortstop and First Base Positions Undecided

The varsity baseball team will swing into action Saturday when it opens its season against Worcester Tech at Worcester. Positions have been fairly well decided with the exception of first base, where Paine and Trzusoski are having a hot battle, and the shortstop berth, which is being hotly contested by Koehler and Howell. The probable starting lineup and batting order will be: Hanna, cf; Graffam, 3b; Smith, lf; Lisabeth, rf; Chase, 2b; Koehler or Howell, ss; Trzusoski or Paine, 1b; Mitchell, c; and the pitcher in last position. Coach Swasey will use three pitchers, who will each work three innings in the order named: Ederly, Stafford, and White. Stevens will make the trip as second string catcher, and Mann will be the relief hurler. Either Flannery or Kropp will be carried as utility outfielder.

The Wildcat squad which has been working out daily under Coach Swasey, held its first outdoor practice on Friday. However, the poor condition of the field prevented fielding practice until the first of the week. The cold windy weather has prevented the pitchers from developing as rapidly as they would under normal conditions.

This year's team ought to be equal to, or superior to, that of last season. The team will undoubtedly be much stronger offensively, while the fielding is rather an unknown quality, as there are three new men in the infield. The only holdover is Chase, the veteran second baseman. There is a veteran outfielder led by the hard hitting Lisabeth, converted third baseman. Both the pitching and catching departments are headed by lettermen, and the reserve material is stronger than usual.

Coach Swasey cut the squad to 27 men last week. Those surviving the cut are: Mitchell, Stevens, Downs, Tower, Alpers, and Gordon, catchers. The pitchers retained are: Ederly,

Intramural Meet Results in Tie

Alpha Tau Omega Knots Count With Theta Chi's

Phi Mu Delta, Kappa Sigma, and Lambda Chi Trail in Order—Bertelson Individual Star—Freshmen Show Well

The annual intramural track meet, held Saturday in conjunction with the varsity and freshman time trials, found Alpha Tau Omega and Theta Chi tied for first place, with 41 each. Phi Mu Delta was third with 35½ points, Kappa Sigma fourth with 16 points, and Lambda Chi Alpha was fifth with 14 points.

Albert Bertelson, '33, of West Concord, Massachusetts, was the individual star of the meet. He totaled 15 points, gathering firsts in the high jump, pole vault, and broad jump. Edwin Gale, '35, of Concord, turned a fine performance by winning both the discus and the javelin and taking fourth in the hammer. Curtis Funsten, '35, of Schenectady, N. Y., took first in both the 120-yard high hurdles and the quarter mile events.

Eligibility to participate in intramural events prevents any letterman from competing, and as a result the freshmen played a very important part in the meet. As a consequence there were six freshman winners in the fifteen events. This is very encouraging to Coach Paul Sweet, and serves to indicate a strong and well balanced freshman team for this season.

The summary of the events follows: 120-yard high hurdles—Won by Funsten, Lambda Chi Alpha; second, Levensaler, Theta Chi; third, Pike, Lambda Chi Alpha; fourth, Haynes, Phi Delta Upsilon. Time: 16 3-5s.

Mile run—Won by Darling, Theta Chi; second, Little, Alpha Tau Omega; third, Allard, Phi Mu Delta; fourth, Field, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Time: 4m 54 1-5s.

Stafford, White, Mann, McGraw, Weaver, Buttrick, and Smith. There are seven infielders, namely: Chase, Paine, Trzusoski, Koehler, Graffam, Howell, and Sargent. The outfielders are: Smith, Hanna, Lisabeth, Flannery, and Kropp.

Dr. John C. Page, of the class of 1908, superintendent of schools in West Newbury, Mass., lectured before the classes in educational methods on Friday.

The first oral examinations for master's degree are being conducted by the Education Department. A successful candidate last week was Mr. George R. Faxon of Exeter; this week Superintendent Chester W. Doe of Northwood Union, will take his examination.

Friday and Saturday, April 22 and 23, the annual meeting of the New England Association of College Teachers of Education will be held at Bates College in Lewiston, Maine. Professor Wellman will represent the Education Department of the University. At this meeting there will be a discussion of the topic, "The Place of the Liberal Arts College in Preparing Teachers for New England Secondary Schools"; also the sub-topics: Scholarship, Certification, Over-professionalization, College Credits in Education, Sifting of Candidates for Preparation.

The Y. M. C. A. interest groups are being arranged for next year. Groups considering the following topics will be organized: International Relations, Prohibition, Religious Values, College Adjustments, Worship, and other topics of interest and value. The only requirements for joining one of these groups are the willingness to spend one hour a week in discussion, and the looking up from time to time of special assignments relative to the topic under consideration. Every topic must be thought through from the viewpoint of social values. All arguments must be based on facts, positive solutions to questions must be offered. These interest groups will furnish the nucleus from which deputations teams to granges, high schools, and churches will be chosen.

Bishop Dallas of the Episcopal Diocese of New Hampshire will give the sermon at the Community Church, Sunday, April 24. This announcement should prove of unusual interest to all members of the University community.

The Y. M. C. A. will hold a retreat at the Highland House, Packer's Falls, Saturday, May 14th. William J. Kitchen, New England Student Secretary, will be the speaker and conduct the meeting. A supper will be served and plans for the coming year are to be made. Every member is urged to be present.

A deputation from the College Adjustments interest group went to Raymond, N. H., April 16 and 17 to meet there with a group of ten high school seniors. Those making the trip were: Ben Andrew, George Abbe, Robert Griffith, and Kenneth Reardon. Saturday afternoon, following a baseball game, a discussion on the purpose of college life was held. During the evening the meeting was held at a camp, where a hot-dog roast and a discussion of campus institutions were in order. Sunday morning the group attended the Methodist Church. In the afternoon a final discussion was held at which questions on finance and related matters were answered.

A deputation from this same group will go to Concord April 23 and 24 to meet at Camp Spaulding with a group of fifty seniors from the Concord Senior High School. The members comprising this group will be Arthur Mitchell, Roger Osgood, Edward Tuttle and Izola Prohaska.

The Sunday Evening Groups at the Community Church enjoyed an excellent musical program during the social hour Sunday. Olavi Waananen, first violin; William Isherwood, second violin; ad Thornwell Dixon, pianist, in trio and as soloists, played several selections of recognized merit, which were enthusiastically received.

The Y. W. C. A. will hold a regular meeting Monday, April 25. Professor William Yale will speak. This alone should insure a most interesting meeting. All members are urged to attend.

The two following items from other colleges will certainly prove of interest as showing what other groups are doing.

The Christian Associations of the University of Maine recently had Countee Cullen, the distinguished negro poet as their guest.

The Religious Work of Cornell University has a paid staff of nine workers by whom an intensive program of religious education is carried on the campus. The staff comprises a Jewish rabbi, a Catholic priest and representatives of seven Protestant denominations. Each member of the staff has definite duties in connection with the religious work carried on at the University, and in addition is related to the local religious organizations.

Track Meet

The weather was much more suitable for football than it was for running. The tracksters weren't the only runners—we saw many noses doing their best to establish new records.

That sprint finish put on by "Kick" Noyes in the mile event was a beauty, and enabled him to nose out Darling, the classy freshman plodder. Ed Blood also staged a similar rally to nose out Andberg for second place in the two mile grind.

Lacrosse players, fooling around on the straightaway, noticeably slowed up the half mile race.

"Howie" Hanley threw the discus 124½ feet to win the varsity trials. That is a great heave for so early in the season, and certainly a bright spot in the weight events.

Ed Gale threw the javelin a bit over 180 feet on his first try but fouled by stepping over the line. This is the first time that a freshman has contributed as long a throw as this.

Library Bits

by SUSIE

I wonder how many have noticed the two little girls from Smith Hall who run to the Library between classes to eat cheese sandwiches?

There are always those who ask for books which their roommates have out.

Imagine an English prof's daughter doing math problems on the backs of library books.

Too bad that the page who relieves Helen is not on time more for Waller's sake.

We wish to thank Hanley for his generous tips in gum drops.

Hereafter there will be paper beside the stamp pad so that the seniors may amuse themselves while waiting for books.

The Theta U's really should help Ann. She is already paying most of the Library salaries.

A collection is being taken up to purchase Ed. Dawson a fraternity jacket so that he will not have to borrow one. Leny Schurman is in charge of funds.

Applications for the position of locking the Library windows at 9:45 nights may be left with Dot Richardson. International law students are excluded.

Have you heard of Leny Schurman's tragedy? He lost his comb and bought another and then found the first one.

Notice to a Library page: Hay Fever was due April 12. It has not yet come in. Also, please bring Sonnets to a Red-Haired Lady.

There seem to be quite a few young ladies taking economics 42-c with Mr. Smith.

If enough people sign the petition, we will try to have another exhibit of art masterpieces.

The Library is installing a jazz band to accompany Nat Eiseman's hum.

Will all the young ladies please stop waving to Mr. Dawson? The quality of his work is not very good when he is excited.

Why We Behave Like Human Beings has been changed to How to Behave Like Human Beings. We recommend this to the faculty.

EAST OF THE WATER TOWER

Meanwhile, we can't help speculating on the possibilities of such outfits if they are adopted by fraternity men. It would be most enchanting to have the Kappa's attired in bluebird cellophane nightshirts, although we imagine they would prefer to continue sleeping in their B. V. D.'s.

We notice that Cap and Gown omitted from their Book of Courtesy, "Don't read the 'Water Tower,'" for which we thank them most heartily. On the other hand we wish to congratulate them for supplying the University with a much-needed booklet on personal behavior.

YOUR LOVE IS GONE

Your love is gone,
Like a deer across the road, a glancing bird
Your love is gone, unanswered and unheard.
Why do you look so wildly at the sky
And stare at every twisted leaf that falls?
Your love is gone; with empty hands you cry
For something that you held without a word.
Your love is gone; a deer across the road,
A glancing bird.
G. B. A.

By the way, we could stand a few contributions—we print anything!

A campus poet comes to the defense of our News Editor:

IN DEFENSE OF A FRIEND. . . .
Is't odd, because his pen did err one single time,
And twisted certain "C's" and "G's" from line,
And thereby lost the prim respect
Of certain frustrate poets, whose circum-spect
Opinions rule . . . except in retrospect . . .
Their vast, and wind-blown vanities:
That suffering this disfavor, he should be
One wit ashamed? Ah no, 'twere pleasant
By far, then to pursue a sweeter train of thought.

It is man's lot, to be reminded of his failings.
Of witless errors, which, like the fabled toads,
Upon themselves do feed, and thus out-grow
Their own importance!
Forgiveness is a priceless gift, at paitry cost.
Yet, safe entrenched, by license of their muse,
Poets heap indignities on man, their enemy.
Whose reprimanding and paternal hand
Is stayed by codes of decency.

Shame! Suffer thou the harvest of your infamy.
Learn thou to put thy Muse to better use,
Poetry can never be the implement of tyranny.
Repent! Forgive, and take back thine abuse.
The Defender.

fifteen could be shown to be "bunk" and "only propaganda!"

We are following the issues of our several exchange newspapers with a special interest in the women's editions. The latest contribution in college journalism was made at the University of Minnesota where the women edited the "matrix" issue of The University Daily. Some of the tid-bits picked at random from editorials and articles: "Women journalists have risen above the status of sob sisters—" "Why is it that in American universities students are not trained to think; to analyze; to criticize and appreciate the larger aspects and relationships of their particular subjects—?" Speaking of boxing they say, "It's reducing OUR men to pulp. Do we want our young men to be nothing but pulp? No! If we need so much paper let's plant shrubs by the side of the pill but conserve our men AT HOME!"

Registrar Gillis, University of Kentucky, recently completed a series of studies to determine the effect of sex in the grading of students. From a study of statistics collected from 24 schools he has concluded that men have 87 chances out of 100 to pass a course with a woman instructor and only 72 chances per 100 with a man instructor, and that women have only 69 chances out of 100 to pass a course with a woman instructor and 87 chances per 100 with a man instructor.

In a new book just out, "Nudism Comes to America," by Frances and Mason Merrill the authors state that of the two hundred cases they studied, the average age of the nudist was less than forty years and that most of the college graduates among the sect claimed their alma mater to be Harvard University. A rare distinction, Harvard!

Professor Brown of Bowdoin says that "some of our critics find it convenient to divide the United States into parcels: the Bible belt, the cow college belt, the Chautauqua belt and the moron belt." Wonder which belt classifies us?

There need be no fear of an attack of "spring fever" if you select your dining room with a view to high quality, sufficient quantity and ample diversification in your meal schedule.

Palatable meals cost no more. A wide range in the choice of quality food will appeal to your appetite.

Prices are reasonable. A meal ticket good for 7 breakfasts, 7 dinners and 7 suppers is available at $5.75. A cafeteria ticket for those who prefer with a $6.00 value may be obtained for $5.50.

ARE YOUR CLASS NOTES IN SHAPE?

If you have not already started to prepare the most legible notes, it is our suggestion that you consider a National or Lefax notebook.

It will more than pay its way in reviewing convenience at the end of the term. Finals will not seem such a task if class notes are in the best of shape.

Better to investigate than be caught unprepared at the end of the term.
