Sports Events Cancelled Although Snow Hits Durham Early Saturday

WINTER SPORTS

Delays are not the order of the day planned for the North Carolina College meet, which will be held in Durham Saturday, January 28, and Sunday, January 29. The weather will probably be reasonably warm and we expect a good attendance.

The meet being held on neutral ground for all colleges concerned will provide a good test of the athletes' ability to carry on normal activity without the usual advantages of their home fields. The meet will be held at the University Indoor Track and Field and will begin at 11:00 a.m. Saturday, January 28.

The meet is sponsored by the North Carolina College Athletic Association and is open to all colleges in the state. The meet will feature track and field events, including running, jumping, and throwing.

The meet will be judged by the North Carolina College Athletic Association and the results will be reported in the next issue of the New Hampshire.

Economic Statistics for Shrewsbury from Langleys, Former Relief

Katz is the head of the Social Work Department at Shrewsbury, and his work has been instrumental in developing the economic statistics for the region. He has been a leader in the field of social work and has made significant contributions to the understanding of unemployment and its effects on individuals and communities.

The session will be led by Katz, who will discuss his work on economic statistics for Shrewsbury. He will provide an overview of his research and will share insights into the challenges of measuring economic conditions in rural communities. The session will also feature a panel discussion with experts in the field of social work and economics.

Katz's work has been widely recognized and has contributed greatly to the field of social work. His insights into the economic conditions of Shrewsbury have been instrumental in shaping policy decisions and helping to address the needs of the community.

The session will be held on Thursday, January 26, at 2:00 p.m. in the University of New Hampshire's Social Work Department. It is open to all interested in the field of social work and economics.

The Editor's Mail

To the Editors of THE NEW HAMPSHIRE
At the present moment there is before the legislature of the state of New Hampshire a House Bill, number 617, which seeks to banish gambling, both legal and illegal, from the state. If it should be passed, our citizens would be required to abjure not only forms of gambling at the present time, but also such activities as horse races, cards, dice, and lotteries. This bill, which, if passed, would have far-reaching implications, is being debated without regard to the social and economic consequences that might result.

We are writing as citizens of New Hampshire who believe in the principles of freedom and liberty. We support the rights of individuals to make choices about how they spend their time and money. We believe that the government should not interfere in the personal lives of its citizens beyond what is necessary to protect public safety.

We urge you to oppose this bill and to advocate for policies that respect the rights of individuals and promote the well-being of the state.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

By Frances D. Peabody

A. W. W.

Last Thursday evening, May 1, Professor Peabody, art director of the University of Michigan, addressed the art group, "Women's and American Women and Their History."
The speaker was welcomed into the group by Mrs. E. L. Emich, M. E. E. Peterson, and Miss E. C. Smith, who presented Miss Peabody with a silver pen and ink set. This gift, which was a token of the hostesses' respect, was presented after a Miscellaneous program of the general art society.

The group is a very active and efficient one, and we feel sure that they will make the best of this fine opportunity. They have a monthly meeting, and the meeting of the art group is held on the last Thursday of each month.

The Programme of the Night was as follows:

1. Opening Address by Miss Peabody
2. Presentation of Pen and Ink Set to Miss Peabody
3. Address by Miss Peabody
4. Closing Address by Miss Peabody

Arrows have been one of the most popular men's accessories in recent years. They are not only an essential part of any man's wardrobe, but they are also considered a symbol of masculinity and sophistication. The Arrow brand of ties is known for its high-quality materials and craftsmanship, making it a popular choice among men who value quality and style. In conclusion, the Arrow Trump is a classic choice for men who want a timeless and elegant appearance. Whether you're dressing for a formal event or just a casual outing, the Arrow Trump is a tie that will never go out of style.
