Student's Taste in Periodicals Changes—Dealer Reveals

According to our local magazine publisher, the end of the term means the beginning of the summer period. The phrase "June-July" is now going into print, and it is being pointed out that the usual students' taste seems to be toward "Collier's" and "Liberty," or "Liberty," as they are known among students.

The publisher believes that this change in taste is due to the fact that a number of students have been going through the summer period without the usual distractions of school life, and that they are now more interested in the world outside the campus.
