DELEGATES GO TO EDUCATION CONFERENCE

Prof. Wellman Conducts Group of Fifteen Men and Women to New York

GORDON THAYER OFFICIAL DELEGATE

Conference Held at Hotel Pennsylvania With Myers, Education Professor, as President

Fifteen students from the Education department accompanied Professor Justin O. Wellman to the Eighth Annual conference of the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers, held in New York City, April 6 to 9.

Gordon Thayer, of the Graduate department of Education, was the official delegate from this University. At the Friday afternoon program offered by the Student Section, Mr. Thayer spoke on "What should be the relationship of the Student Council to the Administrative Head and Faculty." There were general students' problems discussed after each conference, and the New Hampshire representatives contributed much through Mr. Thayer and Professor Wellman.

Professor Wellman led the discussion following the speech of Frank E. Baker, President, State Teachers' College, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Mr. Baker used statistics and formulas in the selection of his students in training for professional education of teachers, and he met with interesting disagreement when other authorities on selective admission presented their methods.

Miss Eva Patridge, Miss Phyllis Moran, Thomas Fielding, and Gordon Thayer were the graduate students attending. Undergraduates in attendance were Jennie Bujnevitz, Muriel Grover, Gabrielle Grenier, Dorothy Kelly, and Margaret Starke.

The conference opened Thursday evening in the Hotel Pennsylvania, with Alonzo F. Myers, Professor of Education at New York University, and President of the association, presiding. The student-faculty banquet and ball were held in the grand ball (Continued on Page 4)

STUDENTS ATTEND CHEMISTRY EXHIBIT

Students of the University Chemistry department and many undergraduates attended the Chemistry show at James Hall last Thursday evening under the direction of Professor Harold Iddles.

Assisted by Professor James Funkhouser and Mr. Alfred Taylor, Dr. Iddles, director of the chemistry department, performed various experiments illustrating the properties of liquid air.

The first set of experiments depended on the extremely low temperature of the liquid air, while the second group concerned the property of liquid air as an oxidizing agent. Numerous experiments performed with aid of fruit, rubber balls, and various types of chemical compounds were utilized to explain the properties of liquid air.

Harvard School Of Business Celebrates Its 25th Anniversary

Cambridge, Mass., April 11—The opening meeting of the Twenty-fifth Anniversary celebration of the Harvard Business School was held last night in the Memorial Church in the Harvard Yard. Some fourteen hundred people crowded into the church for the exercises, which opened with a colorful academic procession of the faculty of the University followed by the student body of the School.

A. Lawrence Lowell, retiring president of the University presided, and the invocation was given by Bishop William Lawrence, veteran Episcopal prelate of Massachusetts. The opening address was delivered by Dr. Ernest M. Hopkins, president of Dartmouth College whose subject was "Unity as an Educational Ideal." He was followed by Wallace B. Donham, Dean of the Harvard Business School, discussing "The Failure of Business Leadership and the Responsibility of the Universities." The meeting closed with Benediction pronounced by Prof. Edward F. Moore of the Harvard Divinity School.

Discussing briefly the crowded action and rapidity of change of the past twenty-five years, covering the existence of the Harvard Business School, Dr. Hopkins called attention to the lack of foresight in the present-day hurried world and the antipathy to repose and contemplation on

NO CHANGE FOR COMMONS BOARD

Despite rumors that the price for board at the University Commons was to be raised next term, an official statement from Mrs. Leighton, manager of the dining hall, reassures the undergraduates that if there is to be any change it will be in the nature of lowering the charge, both at the cafeteria and the dining room.

At present there are more students making use of the cafeteria than there has ever been before. Many fraternity and sorority members are also taking advantage of the good food and low prices both in the regular and in fifteen cent meals. Conditions at the end of this term will decide the board charge next year.

EARLE T. TRACY CONVO SPEAKER

Superintendent of Schools at Nashua Proved Interesting Speaker

Earl T. Tracy, Superintendent of Schools at Nashua, spoke before the student body at Convocation yesterday.

Mr. Tracy has had a long career in educational circles experiencing rapid advancement since his connection with the public school administration in Nashua. Within the last five years he has held in Nashua the positions of Headmaster of the junior high school, Assistant Superintendent, and Superintendent of Schools, respectively.

The consensus of opinion among the students is that Mr. Tracy's address was both interesting and thought-provoking, and that his personality commanded attention.

Next week's Convocation will feature a debate on the subject: "Resolved: That the United States should agree to the cancellation of the inter-allied war debts." A team consisting of Alyce L. Gage and Dorothy McLeod will support the negative, and Robert F. Griffith and Nathaniel J. Eisman will support the affirmative. Romeo J. Bucknam will act as chairman and will introduce the debaters.

On Friday, April 28, the annual Sophomore Hop will be held at the Commons Dining Hall.

This year the Hop will be semi-formal. At the present time the admission has not been determined, except for the fact that it will be less than one dollar and fifty cents.

A committee has been elected to assume responsibility for the Hop. The committee is composed of: Edward Tuttle, Laconia; Ruth Witham Keene; Elizabeth Mecklem, Philadelphia, Pa.; Clayton Barnard, Keene; Kenneth McKiniry, Kearsarge, all of the class of 1935.

PRES. HOLT TO ADDRESS SENIORS

President of Rollins College Since 1925—Pick Bishop John Dallas, Concord, to Give Baccalaureate

According to an official announcement released by Edward Y. Blewett, secretary to President E. M. Lewis, the speaker for New Hampshire's Tenth Annual Commencement exercises will be Hamilton Holt, President of Rollins College in Winter Park, Florida.

It was also announced that Bishop John T. Dallas, of Concord, will deliver the Baccalaureate address, June 11th.

Dr. Holt, famous editor and educator, has received many educational degrees from the leading colleges in the country. In 1894 he was awarded his A.B. degree from Yale, later receiving his LL.D. from Ursinus College and the L.H.D. degree from Boston University.

Among the honors bestowed upon President Holt of Rollins College was his election to the presidency of the Third American Peace conference and Executive Director of the Woodrow Wilson foundation. Dr. Holt in 1918 was located in Paris as the head of the League for Enforcement of World Peace. After the war he returned to the United States where he traveled on a lecture tour speaking for the League of Nations.

Numerous decorations have been conferred upon Dr. Holt by foreign governments including the following: Commander of the Japanese Sacred Treasure, 1903, Officer Order of George I, conferred by Greece in 1919, Knight of Legion of Honor in 1921, Order of Crown of Italy, 1920, and Knight of Sweden's North Star, 1923.

He has lectured at both the University of California and for the Isaac Bromley Foundation at Yale University.

Many books of importance have been written by Dr. Holt, some of the more important being "Undistinguished Americans," 1906, "Commercialism and Journalism, 1909, and accomplishments of the League of Nations."

Dr. Holt resides in Winter Park, Florida, and is a member of the following social clubs: Century (New York Author's Club) and Cosmos (Washington).

STATE HIGHWAY MEN CONVENE

Conclave Program Includes Addresses by Dean Case and Civil Engineers

George W. Case, Dean of the College of Technology, gave the address of welcome at the Seventh Annual State Highway Conference held in Murkland Auditorium yesterday, the auspices of the University Civil Engineering Department.

The meeting was called to order at ten o'clock by President Orrin M. James, Division Engineer of the New Hampshire Highway Department. After the welcome, delivered to the many state employees present, a member voiced the engineers' response by a short speech.

A program was presented which included the report on "Advisory Supervision in My Division" by William A. Grover, Division Engineer of the department. There were suggestions as to Class V road maintenance by D. H. Dickinson and an address on Rival Roads by George H. Duncan, state representative. Fred Gardner, Public Relations Engineer, gave an illustrated lecture on "New Hampshire Beautiful." The work of the Civil Engineering department was discussed by Russel R. Skelton, Assistant Professor in charge of Highway Engineering at the University.

Dinner was served to the engineers at the Commons; after lunch the group was conducted over the upper campus, and special interest was shown in the different departments of the College of Technology.

NOTICE

There will be an important meeting of the senior class in Murkland 19, on Thursday, April 13, at 7 P. M. Many important topics will be discussed at this time so all seniors are requested to be present.

Signed: LAWRENCE R. MCGOWAN, Pres. Class of '33.

ONE HORSE SHAY GONE AT LAST

Fire of an incendiary origin destroyed one of Durham's most cherished relics early this morning after the local firemen had battled the flames for over fifteen minutes in front of Congress Hall.

The relic, a buggy believed to have been the very vehicle which transported the college from Hanover to its present site, was a total loss and as soon as the owner can be found he will estimate his damage, which is believed to be incalculable. The firemen refused to be quoted or rather the authorities which control the destinies of the persons who control the destinies of the press would not permit the printing of their quotation.

FRAT AVERAGE REMAINS FIRM

High Average of Phi Alpha Still Held High Above Other Fraternities and Sororities

Fraternity averages for the winter term show little or no increase over the averages obtained in the fall term and in the corresponding period last year. Fraternities attained an average of 74.23 in contrast to the higher sorority average of 78.028.

Theta Upsilon retains its position in first place among the fraternities with an average of 80.8, while Phi Alpha also holds its place among the fraternities with an average of 83.33. Both of these organizations have a record of high scholastic achievement over several years never losing their first place by any great margin. They are closely followed in line by Phi Mu sorority and Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity respectively who have also evidenced a steadiness of scholarship over an equal period.

Theta Kappa Phi fraternity has made considerable improvement over last term, rising from eleventh to fourth in rank. Among the sororities Phi Mu made the most noticeable gain, going from sixth to second place.

The following is the scholastic standing of the various fraternities and sororities as issued by the registrar's office:

STUDENT WRITER DEADLINE SET

Former Contributors Have Possible Material For Publication This Year

Much material for the 1933 issue of "The Student Writer" has already been received, and any additional material should be passed in by Saturday, April 15, at the latest.

Many of the selections to be published will be picked by the following Tuesday, April 18. Of those who have contributed to "The Student Writer" in past years, at least six will probably be represented this year. Shirley Barker and George Abbe have poetry that may be included; Theodora Libbey, John Starie, and Richard Clarkson have essays; Alice Walker has a story. Catherine Dunlap has a series of short stories. New contributors who will probably be represented are Clyde Blackwell, Edward Dawson, Maurice Kidder, Cecil Martin, and Katherine McInnis.

None of the material now on hand has been definitely selected, and the English department urges all members of the student body to hand in something for consideration.

Lambda Chi Alpha "Ted" Billman and "Brad" Boothby were guests over the week-end. Brother McAllister, alumnus of Colby, was a guest from Tuesday to Thursday.

TALKIE STARS SELECT QUEENS

Movie Stars Render Their Decisions Concerning Five Most Beautiful Campus Co-eds

Returns from Hollywood as to the results of the beauty contest which was held at the Carnival Ball last February have just been received. A group of ten pictures of ten individual girls chosen at that time was sent to Frederic March and Clive Brook, both of movie fame. Their decision on the five most beautiful girls was the following: Miss Gloria Wilcox, Reading, Mass.; Miss Grace Seward, Exeter, N. H.; Miss Ruth V. Johnson, Portsmouth, N. H.; Miss Elizabeth Jennings, Spartanburg, N. C.; and Miss Anne Kipp, Bronxville, N. Y.

The actors, in returning the photographs, included pictures of themselves, which were autographed. "For the 1934 Granite, Luck and Cheerio!" was Clive Brooks' message, and Frederic March signed his with "Best Wishes always, for the 1934 Granite." These seven pictures will be printed in the rotogravure section in seven full-page cuts.

The Granite has already gone to press, and it is expected to come out in about a month. It will be on sale for the public and student body at four dollars and a half per copy. There are pages for autographs, and a directory of the whole student body is inclosed giving the names and home addresses of each.

At the time of release, an announcement of the new staff for the coming year will be made.

COMMITTEE ON CONVO ACTIVE

Student Convo Committee Picks Three Programs—Committee to Assist Faculty in Future

Miss Marian Hough, Miss Gertrude Chamberlain, Herman Edgerley, Arthur Learmonth, and Romeo Bucknam have been chosen to act as representatives on the student committee on convocations.

It is the duty of these five to suggest programs for the consideration of the faculty committee on convocations, thus relieving the faculty of much work, yet leaving the actual decision in their hands.

So far this term the student committee has made arrangements for three convocation programs, and action on still another is pending. The three programs scheduled by this committee are the debate on April 19, the concert by the combined University Orchestra and Men's Glee Club on April 26, and Professor Walter C. O'Kane's lecture on "The Sub-Arctic Mountains" on May 24. A program has been definitely on the calendar for May 3, but had to be cancelled, leaving that date open as yet.

It was thought that a committee of students would be more likely to suggest programs which would appeal to the student body than a faculty committee. A certain feeling of interest has been shown concerning the outcome of such a policy of allowing students the initiative in arranging convocations, and the students themselves have evidenced some enthusiasm.

THETA CHI'S AT SCHENECTADY

Several Members of Theta Chi Attended Conclave at Founder's Day Round-up

"The World would be a better place to live in if the same spirit and cooperation which exists today in the fraternities of the collegiate world, were present in all our affairs," said Congressman Theodore E. Christianson, three times Governor of Minnesota, while attending the Fifth Annual Great Schenectady Round-Up of the Theta Chi fraternity in New York and New England which was held April 8, at the Mohawk Golf Club, Schenectady, New York, in observance of the seventy-seventh anniversary of the founding of Theta Chi.

Carswell, Witham, Brazel Also Obtain Offices—Installation Held Thursday

Ruth H. Johnson, '34, member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, was elected president of the Association of Women Students at the annual elections held April 5. Other officers elected were Vice-president, Mary Carswell, '34, of Phi Mu sorority; Ruth Witham, '33, Theta Upsilon, secretary; Arline Brazel, Chi Omega, treasurer.

The two senior members elected to the governing council are Helen Henry of Pi Lambda Sigma sorority, and Priscilla Glazier of Kappa Delta sorority. Ruth Bresnahan, a member of Phi Mu sorority and Jane Slobodzin of Pi Lambda Sigma are the junior members. Four of the present members of the council were on the same council during the year 1932-1933.

Installation of these Student Government officers will be held Thursday, May 4, at 4 o'clock in Murkland Auditorium.

It was voted to send Ruth H. Johnson to an Intercollegiate Conference to be held at Cornell University April 19-22.

Elizabeth Scudder was given a prize for her winning poster concerning the May Day Pageant to be held on Mother's Day, May 20. This poster will be duplicated and sent throughout the state for the pageant.

Collegiate Progress Of Beer

With 3.2 per cent. beer legalized in the United States many colleges are preparing for a rejuvenation of the "good ole times." Out at the University of Wisconsin where they built a $1,250,000 Memorial Union in 1928 with a genuine Alteutscher Rathskeller in the basement, the students (still drinking .5 per cent.) gloriously anticipated 3.2 per cent. as soon as possible. Alas! Their hopes were shattered when President F. H. Clausen strode up to the bar, downed a glass of milk and said, "I don't believe beer will be sold here."

At Pennsylvania State College an old law was unearched which prohibited the sale of spirits anywhere within two miles of "Farmer's High School" which is the original name of the Pennsylvania college. Harvard students, apparently under the illusion that college authorities are broad-minded in spite of public opinion, voted six to one to have beer served with their meals at the Commons. The consensus of opinion in Cambridge, however, seems to be a bit more pessimistic.

ALABAMA JUSTICE

After eighteen hours of deliberation the jury in the Scottsboro case returned a verdict of guilty against Haywood Patterson, nineteen year old Negro, accused of rape. Two years ago Patterson and eight other Negroes were charged with having attacked Mrs. Victoria Price and Miss Ruby Bates, white hoboes. An Alabama court convicted Patterson. Subsequently the United States Supreme Court reversed the decision of the lower court. On a retrial Patterson was again convicted in spite of the fact that Miss Bates repudiated her former testimony against Patterson.

Clearly a conviction based upon the racial prejudice of the jury, this is a black smirch on the pages of American judicial history. The prosecution would allow no colored persons on the jury. Moreover, it prevented the defense from selecting jurors of the upper classes—men who might have had some contact with liberal ideas, and who might have been capable of shoving race prejudice into the background. Had the convicted man been tried in any state north of the Mason-Dixon line or west of Texas, he would probably have escaped the death penalty.

The prosecution was based upon the evidence of Mrs. Price and Miss Bates, the plaintiffs. Therefore, when Miss Bates repudiated her former testimony, the case against the accused became extremely weak. The jury, however, chose to ignore this and convict Patterson on the flimsy evidence which was divided against itself. The defense relied upon a sensible and unbiased jury. It was disappointed.

We can understand the seemingly narrow-minded actions of politicians; they must curry public opinion. We can understand, or at least sympathize with, the actions of many men in the executive and legislative branches of life. But we cannot comprehend such a judicial mess as the Alabama jury has created.

Samuel S. Leibowitz, chief of the defense counsel, has declared that he will appeal Patterson's case to the higher courts. It is our profound hope that these wretched Negroes will at last find justice in the American judicial system. Alabama has succumbed to a race prejudice inherited from the Civil war; the higher courts, we believe, will render a decision that is just.

It is our contention that the judicial system should be free from racial prejudice and that capital punishment, in this case at least, exceeds the magnitude of the crime, considering the insufficient amount of valid evidence produced by the prosecution.

RESPECTING OUR INFERIORS

A few of the cadet officers of our advanced military course seem to have the mistaken conception that to swear and to act hard-boiled is the only manner in which to obtain results from the freshmen and sophomores. We do not include in this charge all of the officers, but rather those few who correct errors in drill by swearing at the individuals in rank who make mistakes.

We might suggest that after all mistakes are made by every one—even the cadet officers. We could also suggest that erasers are placed on the ends of pencils. We could suggest innumerable things, but we won't. Naturally the officers desire to prevent mistakes rather than to correct them. However, swearing at the criminals seems a bit beyond our comprehension. After all, freshmen and sophomores are human, too, and they resent the attitude of some of their superior officers—and justly so. In all probability, a cadet officer would consider his dignity severely injured if a lower classman swore at him. Being a case of six of one and a half a dozen of the other, the offending officers have no more right to swear at the men in the ranks than they, in turn, have to swear at the officers.

Cooperation is better obtained by a sensible conversation than by a few offending words that tend to arouse one's anger. We believe that the officials of the Military Science department should issue orders to the cadet officers, prohibiting the use of indecent language during drill periods at least.

WHAT PRICE EDUCATION?

May we reprint an editorial which appeared in the Minnesota Daily relative to Education and the price some people pay for it?

Is a college education worth the price some people must pay for it? In the light of a recent report to the American Student Health association by a committee including Dr. Lee H. Ferguson, Western Reserve university and Dr. J. A. Meyers, University of Minnesota, the answer is emphatically "no." This committee has found that tuberculosis among American college students, caused by overwork of those trying to pay their own way and by a lack of sufficient food among those less fortunately situated financially, has become an "alarming menace."

While no exact statistics were available as to the actual number of tuberculosis cases in college, one eastern university had found that as high as 60% of its entering class had had tuberculosis. The percentage is smaller—about 35%-40% in the western colleges, where the students are from a rural population. The report of the committee recommended periodical X-Ray examinations or tuberculosis tests to check up on the health of students and prevent the spread of disease.

The lot of the student who must work his way through high school and college has made it doubly difficult by the present economic depression and, unless he takes every precaution, he is apt to find himself run-down and even consumptive. In order to safeguard the health of their students, colleges must institute regular and systematic health examinations, otherwise, as Dr. Lee H. Ferguson puts it, "there is likely to be a considerable increase in the number of students who graduate into the grave."

SUPERSTITIONS OF PLAYERS ON "SET"

Most screen players are notoriously superstitious but it remained for one Columbia company to admit the greatest collection of unorthodox fetishes and good luck charms ever heard of on the Hollywood front.

The company is headed by Nancy Carroll and John Boles, in "Child of Manhattan" opening Sunday and Monday at the Dover Strand Theatre.

Miss Carroll, for example, would never think of starting a picture without dabbing on a bit of powder from a worn and torn old powder-puff, the one she used, to be exact during her first days as a dancer in "The Passing Show of 1923."

John Boles insists upon going through rehearsals wearing an old, frayed and patched flannel jacket, a bit of wearing apparel he picked up while studying voice abroad.

In the wallet of Tyler Brooke who plays the role of a fashionable modiste in "Child of Manhattan" is an old Chinese coin which was presented to him many years ago by a fellow-player and which is with Brooke in every scene.

Clara Blandick and Jane Darwell, veterans of many years' standing, always make a point of speaking to the property man before going into a scene, professing that this brings them good luck, while the two youngsters of the cast, Betty Grable and Betty Kendall, make a practice of crossing their fingers as they approach the microphones.

Even Eddie Buzzell whose directorial effort on "Child of Manhattan" is his third for Columbia, wears a yellow slip-on sweater while putting the players through their paces. That's good luck for him, he says.

Funeral services for Mrs. Stephen Demeritt of Pennington, N. J., were held at the Pine Hill cemetery chapel in Dover, New Hampshire, Saturday, April 8. She is survived by two children, John and Betty Jane, and her husband, Stephen Demeritt, New Hampshire, '12, formerly of Durham.

Collegiate Progress of Beer

In Virginia there is a pre-prohibition dry law which must be repealed before beer can be sold—legally. Until then the poor students of the state university must be content with their corn liquor and mountain rye.

But way out west at Notre Dame there are virtuous men. One thousand students signed total abstinence pledges. The sissies!

In Princeton the seniors may once again put on their white "beer suits" this spring. The Nassau Inn has installed a 44-foot bar downstairs for their convenience.

Stanford University and the University of Oregon have no restrictions other than a surrounding dry area about their campuses. It is reported that the students may drink at their discretion. Quite liberal, says us.

But at Cornell the students will have to stick to the orthodox speak-easies—Pastime Club, Judd's and the Cat Tail Club which runs free taxis to its doors.

Yale authorities are still timid about serving beer with meals in the dining hall. So, too, at Princeton. It is understood that there will be no 3.2 per cent. at the University of New Hampshire.

The presidents of Lafayette, Muhlenberg, Lehigh and the University of Pennsylvania did not hand down beer decisions. So with the score 4 to 3 in favor of the college authorities—hic!—we still think ish ah wunnerful plash.

Alumni Notes

The Portland Branch of the Alumni Association held its annual spring meeting at Crescent Lodge, Cape Elizabeth, Me., on the night of April 7, 1933, with thirty members and friends present. After supper were served by Mr. and Mrs. Everett S. Whittemore, '97, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Andrew, ex-'29, the members elected officers for the coming year. The following were reelected: President, D. Kilton Andrew, '23; Vice-president, H. Goodrich Hewey, Jr., '18; Secretary-Treasurer, Rachel P. Wilson, '26. Helen M. Graham, '20, was elected club representative to the Advisory Committee meeting on June 10, in Durham. William Armitage, '28, gave an interesting talk on "The Restoration of Williamsburg, Virginia," following which, Mr. Andrew introduced the guest of the evening, President Edward M. Lewis, who gave the graduates an insight into the problems of the University. Alumni Secretary, Harry O. Page, gave a short talk on activities in the Alumni Association. The party adjourned after the singing of college songs.

The spring meeting of the Durham Branch will be held at the Theta Chi House on April 13, at 7.30 p. m. Election of officers will take place and Coach William H. Cowell will show movies of Alaska, the Olympic games, and the Lucerne winter sports meet. Arrangements are in charge of President Carl L. Martin, '25.

Alumni who are seeking employment should write to the Alumni Office which, when filled out, will be placed on file in the Alumni Office. FRESHMEN WORK WITH VARSITY

Lacrosse Coaches Groom Kitten Candidates for Future Positions on Varsity

Although freshman lacrosse is not a numeral sport, and has no organized schedule, about ten members of the freshman class are out daily, working with the varsity squad, in the hopes of some day making their letters in this new sport. Coach Christensen is spending a considerable amount of time with these men, for he feels that they will make good material for next year's varsity. The frosh are encouraged by Christensen, who believes that they will have the inside track on their classmates who report later for the squad.

Christensen feels that, as there is little lacrosse played in preparatory and high schools, none of the men entering the University have had much experience in the game. Without an organized freshman team there is little opportunity to teach the fundamentals of the game before the sophomore year. As it takes at least one year to teach the fundamentals of the game, a man has but two years of varsity competition. Therefore he is very anxious to work with freshman candidates, and he hopes to have the sport organized as a numeral sport as soon as possible.

While no schedule has been arranged this year, there is a chance that one or two games can be arranged, if the interest in the sport becomes a

BASEBALL TEAM GOES OUTSIDE

Several Sophomores Afford Good Material—First Game Held April 22

Coach Swasey has been unable to hold any adequate outdoor baseball practice for the past few weeks. The pitchers and catchers have been working out regularly in the gymnasium since registration day. The other candidates were called out several days later and have been kept busy daily. There are five sophomores who up to date stand a pretty good show of making the varsity, Moody, catcher, Grocotte, second base, Walker, short-stop, Scanlon and Clark, outfielders.

Trzuskoski and Paine are having a hard battle to keep their first place positions from Toll, who, although being a sophomore, at this early stage has exhibited his exceptional ability as a slugger. The remainder of the infield seems to be made up of Grocotte, who played errorless ball for the freshmen last year, at second base, Walker, a hard hitter, at short stop. Both Graffam and Koehler are contestants for the third base job which was held by Graffam last year. Koehler with some experience at short stop last year will divide his time between third base and the pitching box.

The hurling corps which lost Mann, Edgerly, and Stafford, is still formidable with the veterans White, and McGraw, and with the return to eligibility of Targonski star freshman hurllittle more intense. A few more men are needed before a real team can be developed. Any freshman who is interested in the sport should report now, as he will be given the chance to improve before the end of the season.

The men out at the present time are developing rapidly, and with a little more enthusiasm among the members of the class, a promising team can be developed. Those who are on the squad at present are: L. Boardman, A. Mit-chener, R. Richards, R. Smith, W. Swett, E. Hubbard, J. Shean, J. Robinson, D. Hazzard.

LACROSSE TEAM OPENS SATURDAY

Dartmouth Will be Faced at Hanover With Prospects Good for Victory

With the varsity's opening game with Dartmouth only two days off, Coach Christensen is working to develop a strong combination for the first contest. The team has been working out on Memorial field for the past few days, and Christensen has a good idea of the ability of his candidates.

The squad has been divided into two groups, with the more experienced men on the A group, and the remainder of the squad in the B group. As yet no starting lineup has been decided upon, but it is likely that a veteran aggregation will be sent against the Indians.

Freddy Martineau has been showing up well in practice and will probably be at one of the points in the first game. Lewis and Morrison are both putting up a battle for the center position. Chaloner, Ferrini, Dane, Greenwood, Vaughan and Sweetser seem to be sure of starting positions, while Wilde and Hall also show enough promise to be considered for starting berths.

Little is known of the strength of the Dartmouth team, as they have had no games as yet. However, there is little doubt that they will turn out another strong club. Coach Christensen is confident that the game will be close, but he has high hopes for an opening victory.

THETA CHI TOPS ALL POINT RACE

Lambda Chi in Second Place—Intramural Sport Program Complete With Spring Events

Theta Chi has a 2.5 point lead over Lambda Chi Alpha in the all point trophy race as spring activities begin. Alpha Tau Omega is in third place, with Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Upsilon following in that order, while the remaining fraternities appear to be hopelessly out-distanced. Theta Chi collected the majority of their points by annexing the basketball and winter sports championships, while Lambda Chi Alpha took the fall relay and the bowling titles.

The distribution of points in the intra-mural track meet scheduled for Saturday, is to have an important bearing on the all point chase. To date there are fourteen fraternities entered in the meet. The only fraternity which has failed to enter a team is that of Phi Alpha. Theta Chi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Tau Omega, and Kappa Sigma are favored to carry off top honors in the track meet, the outcome of which may change the general outlook of the all point trophy standing.

Intra-mural baseball will begin as soon as the condition of the field permits. The fraternities will be divided into two leagues as formerly, with Phi Mu Delta, Alpha Kappa Phi, Alpha Gamma Rho, Theta Kappa Phi, Alpha Tau Omega, Theta Chi, and Tau Kappa Epsilon in one league and the other made up of Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Upsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha, Delta Epsilon Pi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Theta Upsilon Omega.

The spring intra-mural athletics program will be completed by the swimming meet and tennis tournament. The competition for these trophies will be as intense as in past years.

Sports Slants

by Bob McGuirk

With the grace of good weather, Saturday should show what's what as far as our track team is concerned. So far, bad weather has held them down, but all considered, they will probably be able to do themselves justice. Coach Sweet will undoubtedly have a good line on his material when all is done. The intra-murals give one a most excellent opportunity to pre-view the squad. Funston, Darling, and Jensen will be watched closely, as Sweet is depending on them to strengthen the vacancies made by graduation.

Baseball has also been retarded due to the adverse weather conditions. However, the team has kept practicing in the gym and is eagerly waiting for the field to be put in playing condition. If Coach Swasey uncovers a strong outfield, a winning team seems inevitable; he has a wealth of material in all other departments.

The lacrosse team has managed to have a few short scrimmages and optimism seems to prevail for the coming year. There can be no questioning the fact that there is more enthusiasm, although "tis but an infant," than any other sport engaged in by the University. Chaloner, Greenwood, Ferrini, Martineau, all veterans, and Trow, a new comer, have shown flashes of brilliance at this early date. It looks as though the victories will be on the strong side of the ledger.

Although not an official University sport, tennis has procured a strong hold upon the student body at large. It would be a good move on the part of the Athletic Department to endorse and support a team representing the school in this sport. It is a very inexpensive game and would meet with cooperation on the part of the participants. There is a wealth of material, and if a team could be organized, it would undoubtedly be one of credit to New Hampshire.

player is one that is far from a bed of roses. The eyes of the baseball world are this year focused on Roger Hornsby. He has been given a chance to redeem by the St. Louis Cardinals. Hornsby, not so many years ago, managed this same team to a National League pennant and almost the world's championship. Soon after that he was traded to the Giants, from there he went to the Braves and then the Chicago Cubs. He managed both the Braves and the Cubs; he was a failure with the tribal club but kept the Cubs in the thick of the fight until released last year. His connections with these clubs have been none too pleasant due to his inability to get along with or control other members of the respective club. Financial difficulties, caused by his lack of handling money, has also hindered him. He seems determined to come back and end his career successfully this season. He led the league in batting several years and always had a large fan following, in fact, he still does; perhaps fate will change and he will vindicate himself in his comeback. I hope so, he deserves it.

A move is underway to officially ban wrestling in the state of Illinois, due to the recent Savoldi-Londos match. Londos, recognized as champion in some states, was defeated by Savoldi, of Notre Dame fame, in a finish match. It had a very dubious ending and left much to the imagination of those concerned. This movement, though quite drastic, should do much to deter the faking that has been offered to the fans the past few years. To ban wrestling is unfair, however, to the wrestlers who can do nothing but what they are forced to by their promoters; if they do not obey the promoters they are left in the lurch for matches. Wrestling in itself is a highly enjoyable sport but has been cast in the mud by the dishonesty of these promoters. The wrestlers are not in any way responsible for the shady conditions of the game and the sooner the actions of the promoters are investigated the better off the game will be.

FROSH BASEBALL FAST ROUNDING INTO CONDITION

Infield Cut to Eight Men—Weir and Gaw Promise Good Work as Battery

PREP SCHOOL STARS SHOW STEADY WORK

First Game Scheduled With Sanborn Seminary for April 27—Season Outlook Bright

Coach Carl Lundholm's freshman baseball squad is fast rounding into shape, despite the poor weather conditions. Lundholm has obtained a fairly good line on most of his candidates and has cut his infield down to eight men, so that he will soon have a good combination worked out. The outfield men are somewhat behind schedule, but are working out daily this week, and probably will be cut in a day or two. The battery men are in fine shape, having been in the gym for two weeks.

The pitching staff will be built around "Billy" Weir and "Chippy" Gaw, while Churchill and Welch also show better than average ability. The catching department will be well taken care of by Mervyn Leen, basketball guard, and Pederzani, football and hockey star. Ed Currier, from Pelham, is another promising catcher, but will probably be shifted to the outfield, as he has been hitting well at practice. Coach Lundholm feels that with his natural ability as a slugger he will add the necessary punch to the attack of the club.

The infield seems to be exceptionally strong this year. "Art" Robinson, local boy, who has starred for Dover High for the past two years, will cover first, although Eddie Rogers, former Montpelier Seminary athlete, is pushing him for the position. Charlie Joslin, backfield ace of the Kitten football team, and captain of this year's basketball club, seems to have the inside track for the keystone sack, although Mamos, if his hitting continues up to standard, may make a strong bid for the position. Jere Chase, brother of Mal Chase, varsity second baseman for the past three years, has the inside track for the shortstop position, while "Dynamite" Landry, tricky third sacker, who Lundholm calls the class magician, will probably start at the hot corner. Other infielders who survived the cut are Jim Trachier of Hanover, third sacker, and Jack Perkins of Pittsfield, shortstop. The competition for these jobs is very close and probably will depend on the hitting ability of the men.

The weakness of the team right now seems to be in the outfield. Coach Lundholm is carefully looking over his garden candidates in hopes of discovering some natural hitters. It may be necessary for him to change some of his hard-hitting catchers and pitchers to the field. Tucker and Currier appear to be the outstanding members of the large group of fly-chasers.

There are but ten more days before the opening game with Sanborn Seminary. Lundholm is working the squads in groups from 1:30 until 6:00 each day, and hopes to whip the squad into first class shape before the first, "Play Ball." He expects to carry twenty-five men throughout the season. Much time will be spent in the next few days on blackboard talks, team play, and individual instruction.

The prospects seem quite bright, and Coach Lundholm feels rather optimistic about the possibilities of a great season. With the known pitching and defensive strength, a punch is all that is required to turn out a great Kitten club.

JOHN BARRYMORE IN PARIS FILM

Topaze Introduces Premier Lover of Hollywood in Professor Role

A smart, sophisticated comedy whose central character is decidedly sympathetic and delightfully dumb is the description given John Barrymore's newest RKO-Radio picture, "Topaze," coming Friday, April 14, to the Franklin Theatre.

Barrymore appears in the title role. Professor Auguste Topaze is a quaint and lovable character who sincerely believes and teaches that ill-gotten gains never bring happiness.

Through a series of promotions by sharpers he becomes unwillingly rich and famous, and, to his amazement, happy. It's reverse is English—or French—for the action takes place in Paris. It takes Topaze a while to accept the new code, for everybody's doing it, but when he does he outwits the chief conspirator against him and steals his mistress.

"Topaze" is said to be thoroughly amusing and it certainly promises an interesting and delightful comedy characterization for Barrymore, who

CHEM TEACHERS HOLD MEETING

Annual Meeting of Science Professors at Phillips Exeter Academy Proves Unique

Dr. Harold A. Iddles, head of the Department of Chemistry in the College of Technology, spoke on "Experiments with Liquid Air" at the joint meeting of the New England Association of Chemistry Teachers and the Eastern Association of Physics Teachers held at Thompson Science Building, Phillips Exeter Academy, on April 8.

This was the 124th annual meeting of the Eastern Association of Physics Teachers and the 145th annual convocation of the New England Association of Chemistry Teachers. These meetings have always been a drawing card for the teachers and professors of this part of the country who come together to get the newer methods and ideas, and to profit by discussions among others in their field.

The meeting was held in conjunction with the official opening of the Thompson Science Building at Phillips Exeter Academy. Several prominent men in the fields of chemistry and physics were among the guests, two of whom were Dr. F. W. Adams of M. I. T., and Principal Lewis Perry of Phillips Exeter.

Dr. Iddles, assisted by Dr. James A. Funkhouser and Mr. Alfred H. Taylor, gave an address "Experiments with Liquid Air." The address was explained by actual experiments with liquid air, and was well received by the gathering of scientists. Dr. Iddles recently entertained students of the University with a similar lecture.

Survey of New England Colleges Show Fraternity Averages Higher

Fraternity men are proving to be increasingly better scholars. Such is the conclusion to be drawn from a recent survey of the New England colleges, including those of New Hampshire, by the National Interfraternity Conference. The survey includes 153 educational institutions, with an approximate enrollment of 250,000. Of this number, nearly 70,000 men are members of national groups belonging to the Conference. The survey indicates a steady improvement in the scholarship of the Greek-letter men during the past five years.

The North-Central, Southern, and Western groups of states have been above the all-men's averages for several years, according to Conference reports.

Fraternity standings have moved from a point below the non-fraternity mark to a position considerably higher than the all-men's figures, which include both the fraternity members and unaffiliated students, states the Fraternity News Service in interpreting the above-mentioned survey.

In addition, they report that "Careful study of the data collected has prompted the scholarship committee of the Conference to state that national groups are making their members 'Scholarship conscious.' Greater interest in scholastic records is removing much of the grounds for criticism directed toward fraternities and fraternity systems, the committee believes."

Another subject elaborated upon in the Fraternity News Service bulletin has to do with the rushing of new men. It appears that following the fashion of the day, the smoldering fires of reform in this field are rapidly being fanned to an open flame. More careful attention is being daily devoted to methods of rushing, with the result that the old-time rushing systems are giving way to newer, more serious ones.

To again quote the Fraternity News Service: "For several years this work has been changing from a feverish, hypocritical 'Comedy of manners' to a serious business. Forward-looking fraternity men of many organizations have lost the idea of considering rushing an amusing pastime, and have come to realize that the life of their groups depends upon the manner of meeting prospective Greeks."

"Greater attempts are being made now to contact new men before they pack their trunks for college, or before they receive their high school diplomas. Care is being taken to bring them to chapter houses for dances, dinners, and get-togethers, before they leave the high school. Lower classmen are often required to submit a list of men from their home towns that are going to college. All efforts are directed toward making entering students feel at home and feel that they have friends on the campus. Fraternity editors believe that this work has undoubtedly been of great value to the universities as well as to the fraternities."

"While administrative aid has been forthcoming, members of the active chapters have been taking marked steps forward. Greater attention is being given to the conduct of the hosts in rushing, while the entire procedure is being done along improved lines. Every effort is made to put a rushee at ease and to eliminate derogatory remarks against a rival group. Attempts to bewilder and bulldoze men by 'high pressure' are being abandoned."

And here is an additional item, a bone in the teeth of those who would reform: "Greek-letter groups are abandoning the idea that rushing is a mere formality to be left in the hands of three or four upper-classmen, whose duty it is to defend chapter houses against the onslaughts of entreating freshmen. Rushing is now considered the duty of every member, and is changing from a program for two or three weeks to an activity for 365 days each year."

Harry d'Arrast directed adaptation by Benn W. Levy of the play by Marcel Pagnol. It is a New York and Paris success.

Former Convo Speaker Ganoie Comments on Brown Daily Editors

During the past week no less an authority than Lieutenant-Colonel William A. Ganoie, commandant of the Boston University R. O. T. C. unit and a past speaker at our last fall term convocation program, denounced the anti-war activities and drive against militaristic propaganda that was recently made by the Brown Daily Herald.

"The activities are based solely on ignorance of true American history. The explosion of certain groups against war gives the impression that the remainder of the United States, including the soldier is for war," declared Col. Ganoie.

"There seems to be two main stimuli to such movements in these well meaning classes," so says Col. Ganoie. "The first is ignorance of our complete true history which unfortunately is not a part of either the primary or secondary education in the United States. The second is a belief that the military man is aggressively for war. As a matter of fact, he has been the outstanding pacifist of American history." The colonel went on to say, "If these people will but go to the archives in Washington and delve a little there they will find that much of their ammunition is waste effort. Besides there is not a single aggressive plan against any other country in existence in the administration or military plans in Washington. All the higher military effort is bent upon protection in case we are attacked."

Colonel Ganoie cites three common fallacies which are taking hold of certain classes. The common misconceptions are that the military man wants war, armament causes war, and military training is a provocative of war.

"If there were but a chance for them to read the real facts of history they would be convinced at once of the absurdity of such hypothesis. As a matter of fact, the War Department should properly be termed the Peace Department and 'preparation for war' exchanged for preparation against war."

Why is the Stem removed from the tobaccos used in Chesterfield?

That's a very simple question to answer. The stem in a tobacco leaf, like the stem in most other plants, is "woody". It hasn't any of the flavor or the aroma that you want when you smoke. And it doesn't burn right.

So after tobacco has been properly aged, one of the first things to do is to remove the stems.

But what has this to do with your enjoyment of Chesterfield cigarettes? Just this. It means that we start right when we make Chesterfield—the right kind of leaf with the stem removed, the right manufacture—everything that science knows that can make CHESTERFIELD a milder cigarette, a cigarette that tastes better.

That's why people say "They Satisfy."

Tobacco used to be stemmed by hand—Now this machine stems 14,300 leaves every hour.

Wherever you buy Chesterfields, you get them just as fresh as if you came by our factory door
