Dr. Alfred C. Lane tells of work in geology to find history of the earth

On last Wednesday afternoon, November 30, Dr. C. L. Lane, Professor of Geology and Mineralogy at the University of New Hampshire, delivered a well-attended address in the auditorium of the community house.

In his talk Dr. Lane described the various methods of measuring the age of rock strata, and the placing of time-measuring instruments on the basis of the known ages of such strata. The talk was illustrated with an interesting series of slides which showed the various methods of measuring the age of rock strata.

Book review

"The New Hampshire" is a new book by Mr. C. L. Lane, Professor of Geology and Mineralogy at the University of New Hampshire. The book is a comprehensive history of the state of New Hampshire, and is well written and well illustrated.

The book is highly recommended for all those who are interested in the history of the state of New Hampshire.
A bird's-eye view showed the way

Telephone engineers recently found the best route for a new telephone line by taking a bird's-eye view of their difficulties.

The territory was heavily wooded, spotted with swamps and peat beds, with roads far apart. So a map was made by aerial photography. With this map, the best route was readily plotted, field work was facilitated.

Bell System ingenuity continues to extend the telephone's reach—to speed up service—to make it more convenient, more valuable to you.

Capitan Haphey plays brilliantly in final game against Springfield—N. H.

Outplays Rivals

Once again the Springfield Replies a brisk hitter. After watching and reading this column for a year and a half, with all sorts of reticances and such as earth, I finally get my chance to write Dudley Hall. Here for a few of my observations of our sport world.

Haphey, Captain Bob to you, plays his last game for the University without doubt the outstanding game on the grass field last Saturday.
Although he had a bad stumble which the goalie saved off his feet.
His ball carrying was with out a doubt the best he has shown this season, and was easily the feature of the game.

Archie Lewis, my worthy opponent for the guard position, ended a medidane career of football by playing spectacular football all season. In the Vermont game, he appeared a though Artho were playing in the Haphey quarter back of the New Hampshire line. In the Springfield game, he made some of the most successful tactics of the season. And as we bid farewell to the outstanding in man.

McKiniry, as usual, played his remarkable defensive game. He stopped many plays that they thought they might lead to long runs. Artho have no New England college can overcome his strength of the Wildcats.

The last quarter was evenly con­ dined, and with every man on the offensive line held, and consist­

As a result of the past football season, "the Friars and their team have decided to specialize in making football players for the summer.

The team has been working out all throughout the week, and are now ready to take on any team that they might develop into long runs. Even though there are a few minor bruises.
