INK DOES THINGS

We are particularly gratified by the recent reform in the checking system employed at our infirmal dances.

And we take some pride, pardonable, we hope, in the fact that these columns were to some degree instrumental in bringing this about.

May we take this opportunity to emphasize, through this occurrence, the definite power which may be embodied in the printed page?

In the future we shall continue to bring matters of this nature to the attention of our readers.

ELIMINATING THE FOUR YEAR LOAF

A new educational system now in operation at the University of Chicago is aimed at doing away with the traditional college "four year loaf." The new program, initiated by the new president of the University, Robert M. Hutchins, separates college curricula into two divisions, a "general education" course, and the specialized professional course which takes up the junior and senior years.

The first two years of university study, now spent in narrow, specialized work, is utilized under the new system in general, broadening courses which give a "Liberal Arts education" to the student before he takes up the specific course requirements of his chosen vocation.

Another novel phase of the Chicago program is made possible by the select group of students which attends the University. By fostering student initiative, the University has given students the privilege of registering for classes at the beginning of the term, getting an outline of the whole course, and then attending classes or not, as the student sees fit. A comprehensive examination drawn up by an examination board, will be given students at their own request at any time at which the student feels he has mastered the subject. Thus dull students can work slowly and not retard the class work of the more brilliant students.

Of course some phases of the plan could not be adopted on this campus, because of our limited teaching facilities and the nature of the student body, but such items as comprehensive exams over complete courses, and the two year introductory plan could be worked into the curriculum of the College of Liberal Arts.

When the student sees the value of his college education, brought out in the two year series of broadening and orientating courses, he is more likely to profit by the two later years of intensive study in a narrowed field. As applied to the University of New Hampshire we feel that the so-called "graft" courses would be eliminated and useless courses be dropped from professional curricula. The "four year loaf" which has become so popular in this University, can be met by some such action on the part of the administration.

OUR RIFLE TEAM

With the arrival of the winter season we find our rifle team making extensive preparation to carry on the notable work which they did for us last year.

Out of the ten matches into which our team entered last season they emerged as victors from no less than seven. It is almost needless to say that this is quite a remarkable record, especially in view of the fact that it marked their first taste of intercollegiate competition.

As proud as we are of this record, it is certainly conceivable that it can be bettered this year if all students enlist their active support.

College men have a peculiar habit of graduating, which of course, has left some vacancies on the team. It is therefore to the interest of every student who feels that he has some measure of ability to enter the competition which will soon be begun for the purpose of filling these vacancies.

Another good team and another good record ought to do much to convince our Athletic Association that faithful and concentrated training in rifle marksmanship is as productive of beneficial results to the University as is the same type of training in any other sport.

ON THE HOOD HOUSE

And we wonder why we have to wait! In October alone the Hood House staff attended to 795 students. Try dividing thirty 10 to 12 hour days between that number of students and you will see what the University physician is up against. Just putting adhesive tape and iodine on a cut takes time—to say nothing of saving the life of pneumonia-minded persons. Even the faculty and University employers have their troubles cured at the infirmary.

Business is rushing this year. In just two months over 1200 cases have been taken care of while last year there were only 8000 cases of sickness reported. This takes in the epidemic, too. The normal capacity of the Hood House is 24 beds but during the January epidemic 72 beds were in use. During September and October there have been 76 X-rays as contrasted to 149 for all last year. Since November 1, 785 have been treated at Hood House and 28 X-rays taken.

Colds head the list for frequency while dressings and skin diseases come next. There were 1,659 miscellaneous cases handled. Last year's records show a deficit of $85 per person treated at Hood House.

 Afterthought
 (by ourself)

Long nights of lassitude,
 Hours that come and go,
 Multitudinous books reviewed
 Love went, it must be so.
 Thoughts of that and this
 No more sweet, silk stockings feet.
 Dreaming of your kiss,
 So long ago, yet, so sweet
 At night I pass your door,
 And see a little doll,
 You're not single, any more,
 (Again) You're through with me,
 That's all.

An anonymous note slipped under the door of our Web tells us that two gentlemen and two ladies left Durham on the Q T Tuesday. The note goes on: "The well known Durham gossip is swirling with the word 'elopement.'" We wonder who the happy couple is, or is it just another rumor?

In Flaubert's "November" we read, we think, the following: "The illusion of love is preferable to the reality of desire." Wise words.

Yowsahl.

If New Hampshire doesn't have that special election and remains the only dry state (that interests us), we hear that Louis is going to ask for bids for a radio-equipped cruising car so that the fair town of Durham, so conveniently near the Massachusetts border, will be properly parched and protected.

Alumni News

A meeting of the Providence Branch of the Association was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Fairchild in Rumford, R. I., on November 20, 1933, with 28 members and friends present. During the business session, the Club elected the following officers: President, Archie Hurford, '25; vice-president, Marion Hough, '33; secretary-treasurer, E. T. Fairchild, '17; corresponding secretary, Olive Haskell, '33. There was an interesting discussion as to the type of meeting which the club should hold in the future and the officers of the club were chosen to act as a committee to plan the next meeting. After refreshments had been served by the hostess, movies of the campus were shown by the alumni secretary, Harry Page.

It is difficult to write a critical review of a picture like "The Private Life of Henry VIII," the new film at the Franklin Theatre on November 27-28, without a new set of superlatives, for only the highest praise can be given to the brilliant direction of Alexander Korda, and there are no words to describe the magnificent acting of Charles Laughton, who definitely makes claim to the title of the greatest actor to date on the stage or screen.

With its delicious risqué passages the film shows us the private life of Henry VIII and five of his six wives, the court intrigues, the jealousies, the beheading of Anne Boleyn, the coming of Ann of Cleves, the beautiful Katheryn Howard, and finally Katheryn Parr.

Above all it is the amazing performance of Laughton, who literally lives Henry VIII, and who renders a portrayal that is nothing short of astounding. His rage, his whirlwind moods and amorous adventures are put before us as if we were looking upon the real Henry VIII.

The rest of the cast also yield brilliant performances. Binnie Barnes as Katheryn Howard gives a scintillating portrayal. Elsa Lanchester, in private life Mrs. Laughton, does wonderfully well as Ann of Cleves. Merle Oberon as Anne Boleyn, Wendy Barrie as Jane Seymour, Lady Tree as the old nurse Franklyn Dyall, Miles Mander, Claud Alister and Robert Donat all lend magnificent support.

Kitten Eleven Has Victorious Season

Lundy's Freshman Outfit Comes Through With 3 Wins, 1 Tie, 1 Loss

The Kitten football squad was cheated out of its final game of the season when the Brown officials called it off due to six inches of snow, which covered the football field. This game would probably have been another victory for the Frosh, though several valuable men have been lost to the team. Due to the loss of this game, the freshmen completed their season, a very successful one, with the Clark School eleven, when the Kittens went on a rampage scoring 38 points to Clark's nothing.

The Frosh lost their first game of the season to Exeter, 6-0. This loss was due to the uncooperating eleven which was put on the field. "Lundy" and his assistants had at this time not yet found Nathanson, Lang, Leskesy, Rogean, Mirey, or Karazia who starred in most of the following games.

The Freshman eleven made up for this loss in the following game when they defeated the Boston University Terrier outfit, 13-0. The Kittens were unable to penetrate the B. U. line for the first half; but, then they broke through for four touchdowns two of which were not counted.

The thanson and Segole starred on the offensive; while Costa, Lang, and Bolles showed themselves as the bulwarks of the defense.

The next clash which was against the Dartmouth Freshman eleven, the traditional rivals of the Wild Kittens, ended up in a tie game, 6-6. However, the N. H. team outblocked, outran, and outwitted the Green eleven.

The Kittens also ran away with Andover the following Saturday when Nathanson again started the team on to victory during the second half after he romped around the end on a superb twenty-eight yard run. Points were scored in every possible manner—touchdown, point after touchdown, field goal, and safety—bringing the score to 18-7.

Again the 1937 eleven held a team scoreless when the Clark School outfit was sent back to Hanover, beaten and dispirited. "Lundy" used three backfield combinations in this contest; Mirey at the helm of the first, Quadros leading the second, and Davison directing the third. Each of these backfields put over at least one touchdown.

The line-up for the Brown game would have been: re, Iwyon; rt, Wilson; rg, Lang; c, Costa; lg, Norris; lt, Currier; le, Rogean; qb, Mirey; lbh, Nathanson; rlb, Karazia; fb, Segole. The subs who were to make the trip are: ends, Facey and Hepworth; tackles, Almgren and Dus-sault; guards, Emmott, Belson and Moody; center, Bishop; backs, Leskesy, Hines, Quadros, Merrill and Manchester.

Varsity Harriers Finish '33 Season

Many Cross Country Men Will Report for Winter Sports

With the fall sports season coming to a close, the Wildcat Varsity cross country team again completed a very successful campaign.

It opened the season by defeating the Maine harriers in a close race at the latter's home course.

The following week, the New Hampshire team travelled to Boston to easily conquer the forces of Harvard and Dartmouth. This victory was staged on the standard New England title run course.

Being somewhat familiar with the course, the following week a group of New Hampshire men, who failed to place in the New England's last year, represented the Wildcats. This group minus the services of Captain deMoulied, Glover, Raduazo and Blood came through to win the Harvard Open Intercollegiate title.

Two weeks later the entire team journeyed to New York to take on the favored national-championship Manhattan team. The New Hampshire team received its first defeat. Although deMoulied captured first place, the Manhattan unit captured the team total by a slight margin.

The following week marked the event of the year—the New England Championship race. Here the team, led by deMoulied, who won the race, again took the title back to Durham.

With cross country completed, many of the harriers are turning toward the winter sports season. They have started training for the defense of the various titles in winter sports held by the New Hampshire team.

Ed Blood, Olympic star and last year's winter sports captain, is preparing for the defense of his ski-jumping crown.

Jim Trachier, slalom racer and ski-jumper, is looking forward to his specialties. Charlie Marlak, speed skater, developed wind by running cross country and being aided by the appearance of early ice, has started conditioning himself.

Bob Downes, veteran of last year's speed skating event is also taking advantage of the early ice.

Snowshoes of high ability include Dave Webster, Henry Raduazo, and John McLeod.

Sports Slants

by Robert K. Dow

Ex-Sports Editor

Once again Durham is filled with a festive throng to witness the colossal entertainment festored by Scabbard and Blade. We hope and pray that you enjoy yourselves, and we are sure that you will, but if you'd like to do us one small favor PLEASE don't stay in the Gym during intermission at the ball, all of this being done for purely personal reasons.

There does not seem to be a great deal of sport news circulating around our fair town at the present, soooooo, we are going to do our humble best to make some of our own. First of all we are going to start in by picking an All-New England team. I realize that most of my readers will probably disagree with me, and will wonder how I have the nerve even to attempt to pick an All team. But the time is fast approaching for the so-called sports experts to begin picking their All-American teams, so I'm just getting in practice.

All-New England First Team
Left End—Tosi (Boston College)
Left Tackle—Harvey (Holy Cross)
Left Guard—Michelet (Dartmouth)
Center—Casey (Harvard)
Right Guard—Zaitz (Boston College)
Right Tackle—Kopans (Harvard)
Right End—Caito (Brown)
Quarterback—Stangle (Dartmouth)
Left Halfback—Saba (Vermont)
Right Halfback—Lassiter (Yale)
Fullback—Karaban (Brown)

Second Team
Left End—Parsons (Maine)
Left Tackle—Stone (Bates)
Left Guard—Manning (N. H.)
Center—Morandos (Holy Cross)
Right Guard—Gundlach (Harvard)
Right Tackle—Glazer (Dartmouth)
Right End—Rankin (Yale)
Quarterback—Freitas (Boston College)
Left Halfback—Walker (Brown)
Right Halfback—Haphey (N. H.)
Fullback—Dean (Harvard)

Honorable Mention
Ends: Camp (Dartmouth), Killelea (Boston College), Nazro (Harvard), Choate (Harvard), Reiss (Holy Cross)

And so that is that. Now we'll get on to whatever local news which can be scared up. Just about the only sport at present is the great outdoor game of "gunning." Practically the entire male population of Durham may be seen prowling about with shot guns at unearthly hours in the morning—or so I've been told. It's rather strange though that one never seems to see the hunters returning. And would you like to buy a duck? See Hodgdon at Theta Chi.

Basketball practice has started, and from all outward appearances New Hampshire should be represented by one of the strongest teams in years. I have not as yet interviewed Coach Swasey, but even if I had there would be only the same old story—as I've learned from previous experience.

There have been no cuts in the squad as yet, for there have been only two or three practice sessions. There is a nucleus of eight lettermen around which to build a winning quintet, namely: Koehler, Armstrong Targonski, McKiniry, Walker, Toll, Demers, and Trzuskoski. Wilde, a holdover from last year's squad is sure to see plenty of action during the coming season.

Then at the present there are nine members of last year's strong freshmen club trying out for the varsity. They are: Leen, Joslin, Ranchynowski, Robinson, Rogers, Ahern, Bronstein, Clark and Jositas.

Rifle Club Elects Officers for Year

Gibson Elected Captain Varsity Rifle Team for 1933-34 Season

With many men back from last year's varsity Rifle Club, the 1933 season is expected to be successful. The letter men of last year's team are Gibson, Carswell, and Foster. Other members of last year's squad are Carlisle, Tross, Bossalit, Johnson, Dearborn, Connor, Seavey, and McKee.

Officers of this year's N. R. A. Rifle Club are S. L. Gibson, president; P. J. Carswell, vice-president; D. Carlisle, treasurer; McKee, secretary; and Foster, executive officer.

S. L. Gibson, this year's president, has been doubly honored by being elected captain as a reward of his excellent record in the past season. Favorable results are expected from this year's captain.

This year's schedule as yet has not been made public due to the fact that the officers in charge are negotiating with other teams in order to arrange enough matches for a match a week. As in previous years, there will be shoulder to shoulder matches with neighboring New England colleges; also, there will be telegraphic matches with the leading colleges of the country.

FIELD HOCKEY WON BY FRESHMAN WOMEN

The freshman women's field hockey team defeated the sophomores, 1-0, Friday, November 17. The line-up was as follows: Freshmen, center forward, Dorothy Baldwin; left wing, Marjorie Carlisle; right wing, Carol Hooper; inner, Pauline Spear; inner, Margaret Wooton; half-back, Jean McKone; half-back, Ruth White; half-back, Margaret Pratt; full back, Mary Muligan; full back, Marion Platts; goal, Dorothy Grimes; Sophomores, Winifred Carlisle; right wing, Arlene Brazel; left inner, Eleanor Conathon; Gladys Granville; half-back, Frances Tuttle; half back, Catherine Mason; full back, Eleanor Huddleston; goal, Barbara Brown. Wooton scored for the Freshmen.

Lambda Chi's Defeat Theta Chi All-Stars

Funston and Wilde Lead in Scoring for Winners—Walker for Theta Chi

Overwhelming the opposition with a five man attack which piled an early lead, the Lambda Chi Alpha All-Star basketball team defeated an all-star team representing Theta Chi by a score of 28-16.

With every man on the team taking an active part in the scoring, the Lambda Chi's quickly overcame an early lead of their rivals and went on to an easy victory. Funston was the high scorer of the game, while Walker led the Theta Chi team. Hanna also showed a good offensive game. Wilde made some sensational shots to keep his team in the lead. He and Funston started the attack at the opening of the second half, and they quickly assumed a commanding lead which they held until the end of the game.

A feature of the game was the appearance of Howard Hanley, ex-all star athlete, who is coaching freshman football team this year, at a forward position for the Theta Chi team. His size was an asset to his team, but his old form was missing, and he was finally relieved by Hanna, last year's baseball captain.

The line-up of Lambda Chi Alpha included Joslin, Rogers, and Robinson, forwards; Funston, center, and Armstrong and Wilde, guards.

Theta Chi was represented by Hanna, Hanley, and Musgrove forwards, McKimney, center, and Walker and Wilson, guards.

The fast Theta Kappa Phi basketball team won the intramural championship Tuesday, November 22, by defeating the strong Phi Delta Upsilon aggregation with the score of 36-16 in the rubber game.

Both teams waded through their respective leagues without a defeat. Thus, they were pitted against each other in a three-game series to decide the championship.

In the first game, the Theta Kappa's, after trailing 12-4 at the half, came back in the second half to win the game 27-20. Trachier, Ranchynowski, and White led the scoring assault. The second game found "Red" Ellsworth of the Phi Delta Upsilon team scoring frequently to give his team a 27-23 victory.

With both teams having a victory apiece, the third game was the deciding game. The Theta Kappa Phi team, with too much speed for the Phi Delta Upsilon team, ran away with the victors, leading 16-6. The second half found the winners coming to life and scoring almost at will. The final score was 36-16. In the early part of the game, Trachier pulled the game out of the fire with rapid-fire baskets. Ranchynski staged a late rally and dropped in enough two-pointers to settle the game.

The Theta Kappa Phi team consisted of Novack, center; Trachier and Mullen, guards; White and Ranchynski, forwards. Substitutes were McCaffrey, Surowiec, and Rafferty.

The Phi Delta Upsilon team had Ellsworth, center; Wheeler and Foster, forwards; Dustin and Wilkins, guards.

Percy Rogers of Exeter officiated at the games. And then there's the Soph who had Bright's disease and who thought he could make Phi Beta Kappa.

Are You Getting Your Meals Most Economically?

Have you ever stopped to realize that the meal ticket at $5.50 for 7 breakfasts, 7 dinners and 7 suppers averages but 26c per meal?

Is it clear in your mind that this type of meal ticket does not require 21 consecutive meals, but that meals may be taken at the option of the holder?

Or, there is the Cafeteria ticket, punched for the amount on the tray—a $6.00 value for $5.25. Some prefer it, but the maximum value is in the 21-meal ticket.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO BREAK RECORDS IN THE AIR!

HE FLEW AROUND THE WORLD ALONE! Wiley Post climbs out of the Winnie Mae at Floyd Bennett Field as the whole world applauds his skill and marvelous physical endurance. "Smoking Camels as I have for so long," says Post, "I never worry about healthy nerves."

FLYING EIGHT DAYS AND NIGHTS without a stop, Frances Marsalis and Louise Thaden set the world's endurance flight record for women. Miss Thaden says, "For some years I've smoked Camels. They taste better." Also a Camel fan, Miss Marsalis says, "I've never changed because I can't afford to take chances with my nerves."

RACING ACROSS AMERICA in 10 hours and 5½ minutes, Col. Roscoe Turner recently added a new West-East transcontinental speed record to the East-West record he won earlier this year. "Like most pilots I smoke a lot," says Col. Turner. "I smoke Camels for the sake of healthy nerves, and I enjoy them more."

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

Men and women who are famous for their brilliant flying agree about smoking and healthy nerves. "I never worry about healthy nerves," they say, "because I smoke Camels."

They cannot afford to make a mistake in choosing their cigarette. They have to know. And it is more fun to know, because of the greater smoking pleasure they find in Camels. Camels are milder... better in taste. They leave no "cigaretty" aftertaste.

Change to Camels... and see for yourself that they do not get on your nerves or tire your taste!

Phi Delta Upsilon
The engagement of Helen Daggett, '32, to Dean Williamson, '32, has been announced.
We take pleasure in announcing the final initiation of Earl Haven Tryon, '36, and Charles Frederick Cannell, '36.

Dean Williamson, '32, visited the house last week-end.
The third in a series of attempts to produce a closer relationship between student and faculty occurred last Friday night in the form of a card party held at the Phi Delta Upsilon fraternity and sponsored by them. Eighteen representative members of the faculty enjoyed fraternity. Prizes were awarded to Arvi Waananen, Professor Fred Jackson, and Roger Gray.
Later in the evening a discussion group formed and each faculty member was asked questions devised by the fraternity members in complete reversal of the usual class procedure. This innovation was well received and is recommended to similar groups in the future.

Tau Kappa Epsilon
Dean Alexander gave the chapter a very interesting informal talk on fraternities.
A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monroe Walker on November 14.

Alpha Gamma Rho
Omega Chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho takes great pleasure in announcing the pledging of Harold W. Cross.
A "vic" party was held last Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Edson Eastman as chaperones.
Henri Sefton, '32, was a visitor at the chapter house last Sunday.

Theta Kappa Phi
James McCaffrey and Edward Slozak were visitors last week-end.
Paul Richards, Peter Balon, and Robert Coolidge visited the house last Wednesday while en route to Dartmouth.

I know this lad, he is my classmate, a fellow I admire wholly—a pleasant, world-wise youth with a hard-earned smile and a firm grip.
Not so long ago, he told me a story—a story of himself which was meant to be entertaining and turned out to be a startling revelation of what grit and sheer persistence can do to achieve an end. But to go on with the story

Joe was only seventeen, we'll call him Joe simply to identify him in this narrative, a sophomore in high school when he first thought of going to college. College was to him the ultimate motivation of his whole existence. However, though somewhat of an idealist, he also could be practical and that meant: how could he fulfill his desire? He decided instantly, not even waiting to finish out the few remaining months of school. His parents advised and then pleaded but nothing could change Joe. He was fixed with one desire and only through work and acquisition of money could he see it through. So Joe left home. He went to Boston. While in Boston, Joe soon met with the first few bitter lessons of life—hunger, cold. For days, he wearily trudged through the streets looking for work. Now and then the more kindly employers gave him promises but Joe did not want man, were selected delegates for the National Convention in Chicago next month.

Phi Lambda Phi
A meeting of Phi Lambda, honorary physics society, was held last Thursday evening.

The business meeting was opened at 7:30, following which the president, Alvah Swain, introduced the speakers on the program, prepared under the direction of Conradene Bowen.

Talks and demonstrations were given by Professor Moran, Mr. Starke, Kenneth Blaisdell, and Duane Carlisle; the highlight of the evening was the handling of startling electrical effects by the last named speaker.
Refreshments were served by Grant Davis and Dana Goodwin.

promises, he wanted food, nourishment, money. The few dollars he had, dwindled to mere pennies. Finally, as is always the case, Joe got a break. He found a job as a cook's assistant on a Greek ship sailing for foreign ports.

The crossing was rough, but they soon reached their port, Bremen, Germany, after first stopping enroute in England. Joe, at this point, was thoroughly disgusted with the vile smelling galley of the Greek vessel, so he deserted.

He drifted from city to city—now and then working, more often going hungry. As a last resort, he became a beachcomber on the cold shores of the North Sea. Thus he lived for two weeks or more until one lucky day, in his daily rounds of the piers, he secured work on the S. S. President Harding. With this ship, Joe sailed to many lands—Italy, France, Algiers, and even Africa. In these travels he met up with many most interesting experiences which are stories in themselves.

After nine months of random cruising, Joe again found himself in New York Harbor. This time an experienced seaman, hardened by the sea, and a hard worker. From the S. S. President Harding, Joe transferred to the S. S. Archer where he secured a better position and a higher salary. However, this job was short lived. He left the boat at Baltimore, Maryland, and drifted northward to the coal fields of Pennsylvania. Here he worked for a time as a miner but tiring of this and wishing to again see his friends, he leisurely made his way back east. He came back, two years older, perhaps, but also much wiser in the ways of the world and men.

He deposited the little money he had saved, and went back to high school to prepare for a triumphant entrance to college. After graduation, Joe registered at the University of New Hampshire but unfortunately, monetary demands were too numerous so Joe left to earn more. This time Joe worked as a high diver, diving sixty-five feet into a tank of water as part of a high diving act of a group of carnival performers. This job paid well but the act disbanded. He soon found a job, however, as a life guard. Here, as fortune would have, Joe met the girl. They fell in love and were married. And what happened to Joe's college aspirations? He still retained them, and his wife, a smiling, gay person, encouraged and helped him. And so, Joe is back. It's his second year now with two

Alpha Chi Omega

Romona Adams was a guest at the chapter house over the week-end.
Saturday evening an informal dinner and dance, held at the chapter house, was given for the pledges. The occasion was the opening of "The Red Horse Night Club." We are still wondering who won the dance competition and if all the horses found nice homes.
Mrs. Harold Leavitt, a patroness, and Mrs. Thomas Phillips, a member of Alpha Chi Omega, entertained the pledges Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Phillips.

Alpha Xi Delta

Last Thursday evening, Mrs. Smith, Theta Chi house mother, was a dinner guest at the chapter house.
Tuesday afternoon the new pledges were entertained at tea before the regular weekly pledge meeting.

Chi Omega

The pledges were entertained at a formal dinner on Friday evening, November 17th, before the Pan-Hellenic dance.

Mu Alpha of Chi Omega takes pleasure in announcing the initiation of Genevieve Mangurian and Vincena Drago on Tuesday evening, November 21.

Kappa Delta

Gabrielle Grenier, '33, and Dorothy Kelly, '34, were week-end visitors.
Alpha Sigma held its fall term dance Saturday evening, November 18, at the chapter house. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. George Hughes, Mrs. J. Lowry, and Mrs. E. Shorey. The guests were: Edward Slozek, Courtney Williams, Arthur MacLean, George Horton, Nurbert Diotte, John Gillin, George Sumner, Leslie Pike, William Isherwood, Lucien Dancause, Arthur Toll, Louis Agera, Harland Goodwin, Ernest Gould, and Glendon Cheney.

So ROUND, so FIRM, so FULLY PACKED

*Luckies draw easily
—burn evenly*

It's easy to see why so many women prefer Lucky Strike. Luckies are fully packed with long strands of choice tobaccos, round and firm to the very tips. That means Luckies always draw easily, always burn smoothly. It also means no annoying loose ends to cling to lips or mess up the nice things in a woman's purse. And every day more and more women are showing their appreciation by saying "Luckies please".

ALWAYS the finest tobaccos
ALWAYS the finest workmanship
ALWAYS Luckies please!
