ON THE CHARITY DRIVE

The New Hampshire
Durham, N.H., December 8, 1933.
Price Five Cents

ATTENTION!

If you desire prompt delivery of the first winter term issue of The New Hampshire on January 3rd simply sign your name at the bottom of the order form and mail the paper to a friend at $3.00 or the remainder of the college price of $6.00. You need not send any money this term but an authorized member of the staff will collect and give you a receipt next term. Drop this clipping in your New Hampshire box when you mail your subscription to the University Book Store. Your name will be placed on the mailing list at that time.

STUDENT AID

The Student Loan Committee of The New Hampshire has available money which may be borrowed in small amounts for emergency cases. Any girl who has an urgent necessity may obtain the money she needs and pay it back at the end of the term by paying a nominal interest of five dollars per term.

COLLE GE LIBRARY

Soda Fountain

Light Lunches

STATIONERY

COLLEGE PHARMACY
The New Hampshire
Durham, N.H., December 8, 1933

 seven 80s business is a "rich, cheerful, sparkling thing"
American humorist that this book is for those who want to know that the other methods of the world, through long and hard practice sessions, are mostly to be sought. It is an interference of our own and the student or the little space on such a valuable piece of work as Bill and Dolly. It is a small piece of work of our city and the student will have needed a mutual advantage.

World Weather Forecast from the Harvard Room.

U.S. OUTLAWS

Friday, 12 M. A.

The pressure is rising slowly. Perhaps this morning will be the high point of the season and the title of a new low. The Alberta high will continue to spread northward on Friday, bringing mild weather to the northland, and a southeast wind will precede the arrival of the cold front on Sunday. The temperature is expected to drop sharply on Monday, with a strong northeasterly wind. The cold front will move through the area on Monday, bringing a sharp drop in temperature and a possible snowfall. The temperature will remain below freezing for the rest of the week.

America's Favorite Short Cut, Long Distance

America's favorite short cut, long distance, is the Transcontinental. It is the first class service of the national railroad system, providing a comfortable and efficient means of travel between the East and West Coasts. The train leaves New York on Tuesday morning and arrives in San Francisco on Wednesday morning, covering the distance in less than three days. The service is known for its comfort and efficiency, with passengers enjoying a variety of amenities, including a well-stocked pantry car, comfortable seating, and a experienced and friendly staff. The Transcontinental is a popular choice for travelers looking for a comfortable and efficient means of travel between the East and West Coasts.

Cigarettes

Not so long ago practically all cigarettes were made by hand. Now, Chesterfields are made by high-speed machines that turn out 750 cigarettes a minute, and the cigarettes are practically not touched by hand.

Broadway Setting in Backstage Romance

The New Hampshire, December 8, 1933

The New Hampshire, December 8, 1933

By the use of long steel ovens—drying machines of the most modern type—and by aging the leaf tobaccos for 30 months—like wine is aged—Chesterfield tobacco is milder and tastier better.

Pure cigarette paper—the best meal—is used for Chesterfield. And to make sure that everything that goes into Chesterfield is of the highest, perhaps even the best, 100 different materials are used that are not touched by hand.

Chesterfield cigarettes are just as pure as the water you drink.
Sports Slants

There is still a dearth of news from this week, and even Durham, of course, cannot start its reports. It will be months before we are able to give you any actual news from the offices of the Daily and the Herald.

And as we have said before, there is a few sports and court events that may interest some of our readers. Though we may not have the exact information of who is on the starting line, we are able to give you a general idea of who is running.

The choice of Cobb of Maine over Waverly in the state’s game at the University of New Hampshire is quite obvious. Waverly is rated as the best all-around quarter to face the Wildcats. Cobb of Maine has been working out for the past two weeks to try to get in shape for the game. Waverly has been working out for the past two weeks to try to get in shape for the game. Cobb of Maine has been working out for the past two weeks to try to get in shape for the game.

Then there is the story about the University’s homecoming game. The choice of Cobb of Maine over Waverly is quite obvious. Waverly is rated as the best all-around quarter to face the Wildcats. Cobb of Maine has been working out for the past two weeks to try to get in shape for the game. Waverly has been working out for the past two weeks to try to get in shape for the game. Cobb of Maine has been working out for the past two weeks to try to get in shape for the game.

The chief objection to this plan is that the meeting would be open to all, and there is no sense of a meeting of the public on a given subject. The only objection is that the meeting would be open to all, and there is no sense of a meeting of the public on a given subject. The only objection is that the meeting would be open to all, and there is no sense of a meeting of the public on a given subject. The only objection is that the meeting would be open to all, and there is no sense of a meeting of the public on a given subject.
TO THE EDITOR

Society News

Two articles in last week’s “News” (Nov. 27) were of interest to me. The article entitled “The New Art of Christmas” by Miss Martha H. Gherin was well written, and the one in the New Hampshire Review, “Christmas in New Hampshire” by Miss Mary B. Meader, is delightful.

The article on “The New Art of Christmas” is a timely reminder of the joy and beauty of the Christmas season. It describes various customs and traditions associated with Christmas, such as the exchange of gifts, and the decoration of trees and homes. It also highlights the importance of spending time with family and friends during this special time of year.

On the other hand, the article in the New Hampshire Review offers a nostalgic look at Christmas in New Hampshire. It describes how people in the state celebrate the holiday, including the lighting of the tree, the exchange of gifts, and the gathering of family and friends. This article also touches on the history and traditions of Christmas in the state, providing a rich and informative perspective.

Both articles are well-written and provide valuable insights into the joy and tradition of Christmas. They are a welcome addition to the Christmas literature and will no doubt be enjoyed by readers of all ages.

I hope that future issues of “The New Hampshire Review” will continue to publish such informative and engaging articles on the holiday season.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]