The Late Christopher Bean is Title of Play to be Presented by Mask and Dagger

The Late Christopher Bean is the title of the play that was selected as the annual production of Mask and Dagger, the University's dramatic society. The news was announced by Bill Gough, president of the group, during a meeting of the society. The play will be presented during the week of March 12. It is a comedy that is based on the character of the late Christopher Bean, a fictional detective created by the famous mystery writer, Erle Stanley Gardner. The play will be directed by Bill Gough and will feature a cast of student actors. Tickets will be on sale at the door, and all proceeds will go to the Mask and Dagger fund.

A CONSCIOUS SENSE OF COOPERATION WITH DIVINE IN AUTHORITY

In the new order of things, the nation will be fundamentally different from the old. Service is the keynote. Society is the temple, and those who serve the community will receive the divine blessing that is upon them. Servitude is the model for service in the kingdom. The servant is a model of the servant who serves and is rewarded for his service. All who have a desire to serve shall find a place in the kingdom. Those who serve shall be rewarded in accordance with their service.

SCORE 21-9 AT FIRST PERIOD

Early Lead Increased as Second Half Begins—Grady Harvard Star

Exhibiting a concerted attack which had the Crimson boys guessing throughout the game, the University of New Hampshire varsity team won its most impressive victory of the season over a weak Harvard five at the gymnasium yesterday by a score of 44-21.

After overcoming an early lead which the Crimson gathered in the first few minutes of the game, the Wildcats started on a scoring rampage later, making good three baskets in a row which gave them a large lead.

The score at half time was New Hampshire 27, Harvard 24. Joslin was the high scorer in this period.

The Wildcats started the second half with a burst of strength which put the Harvard team in a bad way. Every member of the Harvard five was frustrated in every move, and the score at the four quarter time was 44-21, the visitors getting their only basket on a fifth minute shot from Jackson.

Harvard opened up strong in the second half, but the Wildcats clamped them tightly at times. However, the Wildcats snapped off 11 points after a minute of action, and then Harvard didn't even score until they reached the second period. Then Harvard made a little comeback, but the Wildcats clamped them tightly again.

Merrill and Dickie Score—Kittens Close Season Successfully

Ending a most successful campaign, the Kitten hockey hockey team swarmed the University Boston freshmen a second time last Friday night when they narrowly defeated them on the 8-4 home ground in the shortest period, 5-0. The next clash, which was against a formidable freshman team was by the number of teams that have been favored, the Associated Press had predicted the Kittens as the probable winners. This season their record for the day was a loss, however, they were scored in zipper, 8-4, in the first period.

The first goal was driven into the net by Merrill at about half past from the Boston varsity. Two periods later, he scored another goal on a breakaway and was driven out of the game, while the third goal was scored by a new player, Dickie, who was favored with being on the university floor. The final score was 3-0, and the Kittens look like the team that will make a comeback down at Army last weekend. The local team ran out of shots in the last game of the season, and they will probably win. However, we don't know for sure.

We hear that Pal Reed nearly tried to line up with two other teams, but was stopped just as the game was about to start. He is a good player and looks like he could make a comeback down at Army last weekend. The Kittens won the game 3-0, and the local team ran out of shots in the last game of the season, and they will probably win. However, we don't know for sure.
