R. O. T. C.—SUPREME COURT

The Supreme Court, in deciding that landgrant colleges may compel their students to take military training, has added a controversy which for two years has mavened in the minds of our people in the column of Education.

The case was an unusual one and it was pointed out that "Government, federal and state, with the one exception, causes a deep to the people within the jurisdiction wherein the court has the power to decide such cases, with the exception of military matters and school matters and all that is allowed by the state."

The purpose of the suit was to test whether or not the compulsory nature of the military training was consistent with the rights of the students.

The court in dealing with the case said:

The purpose of the suit was to test whether or not the compulsory nature of the military training was consistent with the rights of the students.

"We wonder what the Legislature intended by the use of the word 'capacity' as it is to be used in this connection."

"There is only one word which has the same meaning, and that is 'military.'"

yes, and

here's why-

We know that smoking a pipe is different from smoking a cigar or cigarette ... and in trying to find the tobacco best suited for pipes ...

We found out that the best tobacco for use in a pipe grows down in the Blue Grass Section of Kentucky, and it is called White Burley.

There is a certain kind of this tobacco that is between the tobacco used for cigare-tes and the kind that is used for chewing tobacco.

This is the kind of tobacco that we use one year after year, for Granger Rough Cut. We got the right pipe tobacco, made it by the right process ... Wellman's Process ... we cut it right ... rough cut.

The big Granger flakes have to burn cool and they certainly last longer, and never burn the pipe.
