The American Federation of Labor, under the leadership of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, is pressing for an end to the Emergency Meetings. The new labor law passed by Congress last fall, which was intended to curb the Emergency Meeting, has been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. The law was declared unconstitutional because it violated the First Amendment of the Constitution, which guarantees the right of freedom of speech. The Supreme Court ruled that the law was unconstitutional because it did not provide sufficient protection for the rights of free speech and association.

The Supreme Court has ruled that the Emergency Meeting law is unconstitutional, and that the Emergency Meetings are still legal. The Telephone "can take it!"

Your telephone must not break 24 hours a day. It must be immune to fire blast of the frozen north — dry burning heat of the desert— heavy, humid atmosphere of swamp lands. And it is. For Western Electric—manufacturing unit of the Bell System—sees to it that telephones, switchboards and cable are prepared for any-where. Through long experience and vigorous testing, telephone engineers have learned how to make apparatus which is not adversely affected by the whims of climate.

Through pioneering and producing such improved apparatus, Western Electric contributes to the year round reliability of your Bell Telephone service.

Alumni Notes

The second annual of the New York City Alumni of the University was held last Saturday night in the Union Club. Among those present were a number of well-known New York residents who have served in the various departments of the University during their residence here. The meeting was well attended, and the proceedings were in the hands of a number of the older members of the class of 1933. The business of the evening was conducted in a summary manner, and the meeting was adjourned at a little after ten o'clock.

Architectural Plans Resumed Last Summer

The plans for the new library building at the University were resumed last summer by the architect, Mr. Alfred F. Conner, '34, who has been working on the project for the past year. The building is expected to be completed by the end of the present year, and the architect is confident that it will be a magnificent structure, both in architectural and engineering respects. The size of the library is expected to be at least 600,000 square feet, and it is hoped that the building will be completed within the next two or three years.

Weather Forecast

The weather in the coming days is expected to be mild and pleasant, with a high of 70 degrees Fahrenheit and a low of 50 degrees Fahrenheit. There is a slight chance of rain on Monday, but otherwise the weather is expected to be clear and bright. The wind is expected to be light and variable.

The system of teacher training in the University is being revised and improved. The new system is expected to be in operation next fall, and it is hoped that it will be a great improvement over the old system. The new system is being designed to meet the needs of the modern teacher, and it is expected to be a great improvement in the training of teachers.
