DURHAM, N.H. -- Sarah Regan, a fourth-grader at the Harold H. Wilkins Elementary School in Amherst, has been named the 2006 Robert Frost Youth Poet for New Hampshire. Regan, a student in Janet Scagnelli's class, was named the state's top poet after submitting her winning poem, "Hay Fever."

The Robert Frost Youth Poet Program offers New Hampshire fourth-graders in public and private schools the opportunity to express their feelings about New Hampshire in a poem. The sponsors of the program hope to increase appreciation of the state's natural and cultural resources, and encourage students to discover the poets in themselves.

Regan's poem was selected from the 600 poems submitted to the 2006 Robert Frost Youth Poet Program, sponsored by the Trustees of the Robert Frost Homestead and the University of New Hampshire Library.

Hay Fever

Muscles clenching as hay swiftly flies
Dust and dirt caked in my eyes
Stab it.
Grab it.

A job well done is half begun
Tomorrow I will do more before the rising sun.

As I walk in the silence of the empty barn,
My throbbing footsteps echo, but do me no harm.

Tomorrow is another day
Through the birch trees, the barn awaits for me to toss the hay.
