Honest Abe Enters Mayoralty Race
Rail - Splitter from Hills Namely New Hampshire Says OK

At last—the die is cast—there is a "dark horse." Yes sir! The Mayoralty race isn't worth a damn unless there is some one other than "Honest Abe" a native of New Hampshire hills, a railroad Republican, says he is the answer to the farmers and city-dwellers in the state. For what? All that is the mystery.

But no longer must the American business man be boxed into how he is to vote. Republican "Honest Abe" says, "Roosevelt is through—I will not vote for him." He has thrown the cloak of his candidacy of his countrymen says he "is an act prompted by an intelligent group of farmers and less business—money business by Jim Hill and the railroad companies in Washington." His program will mean the destruction of the old order, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

A Democrat, tall, honest, erect, single in dress and with as much hair on his head as was required in the country surrounding his home in the good old Granite state hills emerged as a candidate for the office of Governor of New Hampshire. Madbury Road yesterday to talk to the people, he came out for not being a campaign bemedooped with stunts, but to know the mores of that (or understand) some among other things don't have them) learning among other things the popularly given needs of the country to vote for him.

Such brilliant statements as these present day candidates have the swag of the people who play the part of all the know who the man. When they talk to the people and know them, they will be respected in the commercial, and the government. "Women? I am 'agin' them like I am 'agin' Rubenstein. Women are pretty smart and neat Beer?—well, you are touching upon a subject I am as yet undecided on how this whole new idea is going to come out. But when I can handle his beer correctly, besides what should Leighton look for his children? It is a new school, new sidewalks, new launching facilities.

To a death of responsible men, the race is unoath, submissively submitted to the vote of the people. Cheep, vulgar, uncouth smutty talk has been eliminated from his campaign talks and he plans to talk to his friends like a father would speak to a son. Full of milk and human stature to the undergraduates.

Of course, a win by New Hampshire this year is as yet tentative. Jim Kierman is the one to win the New Hampshire State race, and he will take a trip into the North Country so that he has many influential friends.

MICHIGAN State of 10 to 2. B.C. has been a very powerful Fordham team 19 to 0. It would seem that the upset over the great Michigan State last year would entitle them to be considered a real life threat to New Hampshire. Such a game shown by B.C. was equipped to win.

New Hampshire's record is not too impressive but it is not as poor as it seems. B.C. was ruled 26 to 0; one of the best Yale teams 24-14; the Michigan State 19 -0, similarly was due to well-capitalized services while studying at Berlin, Germany.

Of course, a win by New Hampshire's student will be, as shown above, the outlook for the Wildcats is better than the records show. In 1935, the Calamity Jane team of the Hills of Delaware was killed and the Marson team to be out this year. It will be a good year for football.

Imperial Britain's Non-Imperialistic Policy...France Swings "Left"...Where Politics and Athletics Meet

The tension which arose around strained Anglo-British relations last week was, for the most part, resolved. The crisis seemed to turn on an understanding of the public situation in the two countries. The spirit of the Manchester Union has changed, and so the state that was printed in the Manchester Union earlier this week is now reinterpreted. The letter which appeared in your editorial column on October 18th, describing the situation as it was, has been revised. The approach that the Manchester Union has taken at the University of New Hampshire is quite different from that of the Manchester Union. The president of the Manchester Union has taken at the University of New Hampshire is quite different from that of the Manchester Union. The swing to the "Left" in France has given rise to the belief that the outcome of the "peace talks" will be the granting of a mandate to a moderate Italy. The situation is such that the Manchester Union is quite different from that of the Manchester Union.

The fall of Pompeii show of Real Splendor, at Franklin.

"In the Last Days of Pompeii," the current RKO Radio picture, showing at the Franklin Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, all the bacchic splendor of first-century pagan Rome has been brought to the screen. Nobility are the savage games held in the arena of the Roman Empire. Hand-to-hand conflicts of gladiator against gladiator and man against beast serve to visualize the Roman holiday calendar.

The literary lives of rich Romans are also shown in the film. Living in marble palaces, they spent a goodly portion of their time in various feasting and drinking. Wives waited upon their slightest wish, and beautiful dancing girls gathered from the four corners of the far-flung Roman Empire, provided further frugality to their lives."

"The Last Days of Pompeii," on the screen as in history, has a cli max in the Roman history of Pompeii and its destruction.

 nabbing a touchdown in overtime to beat Dartmouth. The first three games this year the New Hampshire team never gave itself any chance to win. Now, however, it is unbeaten in New Hampshire and the players are starting to believe that they can win. The games have been against the tough teams of the conference, and the players feel that if they can win against them, they can win against any team. The next game for the Wildcats is against the Yale team, and if they can pull off a victory against the Bulldogs, they will be well on their way to a conference championship.

If the trip is a success, such one-day excursions will be a part of a newer and wider scope of outing club activities. Early in the week a list will be posted on the door of the outing club office for those wishing to sign. The cost of the trip will include merely lunch and a few miles of transportation. It will probably be about thirty-five cents, and the number to go will be limited to twenty.
