Dr. Little to Give Two Lectures Wed. In Murkland Hall

Prominent as Scientist, Educator and Social Philosopher

A nationally known figure will be on the campus on Wednesday, March 4th, when Dr. Clarence C. Little comes to Durham to give two lectures under the auspices of the Lectures and Concerts Committee. At 11:00 a.m. in Murkland auditorium he will speak on "Some Biological Aspects of the Cancer Problem." This lecture is intended primarily for students in Zoology, but will be open to the public. At 1:30 o'clock in Murkland Dr. Little will give an address of general interest on "Human Biology and Social Problems."

Dr. Little may best be described as an unusual combination of scientist, educator, and social philosopher. He was graduated from Harvard in 1910 with the degree of A.B. In college he was an intercollegiate champion in the shot put and captain of the track team. He has since earned the degrees of S.M. and Sc.D. He has done a great deal of research in genetics comparative pathology, and experimental evolution. At present he is in charge of the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory in Bar Harbor, Me., which specializes in research in cancer.

As an educator, Dr. Little's most important offices have been the Presidency of the University of Maine (1922-25) and the Presidency of the University of Michigan (1925-26). He is a trustee of Rivers School, Cranbrook School, and Noble and Greenough School. He has received the honorary degree of LL.D. from the University of New Hampshire, from Albion College, and from the University of New Mexico and the Litt.D. from the University of Maine. He is a member of at least eight national societies.

In connection with current problems Dr. Little is probably best known for his activities in connection with birth control. He is the head of the American Birth Control League. To the consideration of sociological questions he brings the analytical mind of the scientist and a fertile imagination. Dr. Little's career has been marked by frankness and boldness. His utterances are known to be sincere, striking, and courageous.

LETTERMEN INVITED TO TOURNAMENT

The following notice has been released by Carl Lundholm, supervisor of the interscholastic basketball tournament:

All varsity undergraduates lettermen are invited to attend all but the final games in both divisions of our interscholastic basketball tournament. This invitation includes the games which will be played on March 6 in the morning, after, and evening, and the semi-final games on Saturday morning, March 7.

All letter-men will be admitted at the rear door in the basement of the Gym on the condition that they wear their sweaters with the NH on the outside. Those letter-men who have not yet received their sweater and letter will be admitted at the same door by name.

We are requesting that all lettermen attending the games sit in the section which we have reserved for them on the Memorial Field side of the Gym. We are unable to invite lettermen to the final games, because of restrictions which have been made regarding the capacity of our Gym.

NEW FORUM HOST TO DARTMOUTH MEN

A deputation of students from Dartmouth, members of an organization which corresponds to the Student Forum, will take part in the meeting of that group which will be held tomorrow night at eight o'clock in Murkland auditorium. William Leonard, managing editor of the Dartmouth, will open the program with a short sketch. Herbert Levine, an assistant editor of the Dartmouth, will tell what has been accomplished in Hanover through their "Student Forum." The feature of the evening will be a short concert by Raefel Silverman a well-known concert violinist. The meeting is open to all.

Chemistry Dept. Holds Open House

Large Crowd Sees Many Varied Experiments in Operation

Open house was held by the Chemistry department in James hall last Thursday night, from 7:30 to 9:30. Approximately two hundred and fifty people were present.

Most of the rooms and laboratories in the building were open to inspection, and in the laboratories there were various experiments under way, with people in charge of them to explain the mechanics to the spectators. In all, there were thirty-seven exhibits, ranging from an exhibition of different minerals to the distillation of toluene. Among some of the things shown were the finished product of T.N.T. and the materials used in it, the amounts of elements found in the human body, and all types of chemical equipment and balances. A research laboratory with all the apparatus to study photo-chemical reactions was also open for inspection.

There were two entertainments given in the lecture room in the form of two short skits: "A Janitor's Life," by Cheney, Smith, and Hart; and "Chemical Parade," imitations of the professors by MacLean, Schricker, Johnson, Priest, Huse, and Cheney.

Refreshments were served in the freshman laboratory.

Dr. Cabot in Second Forum Tomorrow

Dr. Richard C. Cabot will give the second lecture in a series tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the church auditorium. The subject of the lecture forum will be "Growth in Body, Mind, and Spirit."

FRANKLIN THEATRE TO BEGIN BANK NIGHT

Starting the first Friday of next term the Franklin Theatre will run a Bank Night every Friday night. Friday night has been selected because more people can participate in the drawing, freshman and sophomore girls not being allowed to go to the movies on most of the other nights of the week.

The rules for participation in bank night are simple. One registration is sufficient for all bank nights. Any duplicate registrations will be eliminated. There is absolutely no charge to register. If the prize is not claimed within a specified time from the time the announcement is made, the money accumulates to make a larger amount the next week. Any adult is eligible to register.

Solicitors will cover the dormitories and fraternities so that everyone will have an opportunity to register. In addition there will be a register in the theatre lobby where any one can register at any time after 3 P.M.

Outing Club Elects Clarke President

Discussion of Alumni Outing Club follows Business Meeting

Harold Clark, '37, was elected President of the Outing Club at a meeting of Blue Circle held last Wednesday evening. Discussion of an Alumni Outing Club followed the elections.

So much interest in an alumni group was evidenced by former presidents of the club, Hollister Sturges, '34, and George Parker, '36, that several of the alumni, faculty, and men prominent in University affairs as undergraduates were to meet last week end in Canada to shape plans for the new club.

Other members elected to Outing Club offices are: Treasurer, Richard Towers; secretary, Jane Woodbury; cabins and trails, William Bartlett; trips, Edgar Wyman; women's activities, Myrtle Congdon; horse show, Comfort Bullock; membership, Paul O'Neil; carnival, Robert Jones; publicity, Paul Carrier, fish and game, John Cheney; and winter sports, John Damon.

Teams Selected For Tournament

Keene and Dover Win Berths in Playoffs Held Yesterday

Facing one of the most mixed up situations in the history of the tournament, Supervisor Carl Lundholm and his well organized personnel of the University of New Hampshire's 15th annual interscholastic basketball tournament have finally completed their arrangements and selected the sixteen Class A and B teams which will contest in the University gym Friday and Saturday to determine the state champions.

The eight teams representing the Class B schools of the state, which were picked Friday night without very much difficulty, include: Groveton, Charlestown, Hillsboro, Appleton, Peterborough, Goffstown, Lincoln, and Somersworth.

The most perplexing situation of the selections arose in the necessity of picking three of the Class A teams from six schools, whose records for the season were so close that a play-off was ordered by Lundholm to pick the three best. Manchester Central, one of the teams in question, refused to come to the play-offs, and as a result Nashua was automatically chosen.

This still left two teams to be selected from Dover, Laconia, Keene, and Lebanon. These play-off games were held last night with Keene defeating Lebanon, 27 to 8, and Dover winning out over Laconia, 31 to 12, to complete the eight Class A selections, which now include: Berlin, Claremont, Portsmouth, Plymouth, Manchester West, Nashua, Keene and Dover.

The selections committee which has now completed its work until the start of the tournament, is made up of Lundholm, "Dad" Henderson, William H. Cowell, Henry Swasey, and Edward Y. Blewett.

Following is the time schedule for the preliminary games:

Friday

Class B—Groveton vs. Charlestown, 10 A.M.; Hillsboro vs. Appleton, 11 A.M.; Peterborough vs. Goffstown, 2 P.M.; Lincoln vs. Somersworth, 3 P.M.

Class A—Berlin vs. Dover, 4 P.M.; Portsmouth vs. Keene, 5 P.M.; Claremont vs. Nashua, 7:30 P.M.; Manchester West vs. Plymouth, 8:30 P.M.

The semi-finals of Class B will be

Senior commencement committees, appointed by President Charles Joslin, have been approved by the administration and accepted by the executive committee of the class. The appointments were released for publication yesterday by the class prexy.

Austin McCaffrey, Blue Key president, was chosen to head the committee in charge of the commencement ball which is the major event of graduation. His assistants will be Robert Page, Thomas Burns, Dorothy Grimes, and Francis Tuttle. The class day committee chairman is Joseph Miller and includes Phillip Shannon, Ralph Robbins, Stephanie Lowther, and Elizabeth Corbett.

The other committees follow: Class Invitations: William Kidder chairman, Ralph Reed, Flora Sanborn, Wendall Knight, and Catherine Mason.

Class Gift: Guy Pederzani, chairman, Jere Chase, Alvin Parker, Helen Henderson, and Isabelle Hermes.

Class Party: Ben Bronstein, chairman, Samuel Page, Fred Hoyte, Millie Shaw, and Arline Brazel.

Cane: Ed Rogers, chairman, Frank Musgrove, Jim Tatem, Kay Spellman, and Margery Phillips.

Cap and Gown: John Maddock, chairman, Herb Carrier, Charles Cannell, Mary Holmes and Eleanor Huddleston.

Men's Glee Club To Give Concert

On April 3 the University Men's Glee Club is to give a concert in Concord under the auspices of the Concord Alumni group.

Later in the term, probably some time in May, they will give a joint concert with Simmons College in Boston. This is one of the most important concerts in which the Men's Glee Club has ever participated. It is the first time the club has sung with a Boston college, and it is the largest concert to be given during the spring term.

The annual spring concert including both the Men's Glee Club and the Women's Glee Club will also be held sometime in May.

played Saturday morning at 9 and 10 o'clock, with the final at 4 P.M. The Class A semi-finals will be played Saturday at 11 A.M. and 12 noon. The Class A final will start at 7 P.M. Saturday evening as a preliminary to the varsity tilt with Tufts college.

To The Editor

To the Editor:

Having but recently quitted the staff of The New Hampshire, I am fully aware of all the handicaps under which you function. Naturally, as everyone knows, a part of what goes in under the head of news is but unpaid publicity.

You and I and most editors in the past have bowed before the necessity of thus donating space in the columns of the Newspaper but may I take the opportunity to ask why there was any need to be so obvious in the front page story of "The Silver Box" which appeared last Friday in your columns? Past policy with respect to Mask and Dagger has forbidden any real intellectual honesty in the criticism of its productions. One small attempt was made, however, toward the truth in reviews of the plays. The actors who were good were praised, while obviously inconsequential blather or neglect was applied to the others.

We all know that it is the policy of Mask and Dagger to present only such plays as have been tried and successful, which will not shock in any way the narrow prejudices of the New Hampshire mind, and which will continue to pay a small surplus into the treasury to Mask and Dagger. No attempt is made to conceal this state of affairs, so one can only wonder why it must be thus.

"The Silver Box" is one of Galsworthy's best efforts and his name has a drawing power to entice pseudo-intellectuals within the walls of Murkland. It's effect in provoking thought of modern social conditions can best be summed up by the most frequent criticism of the many who saw it "Nicely done, but how dreary." In other words, even an audience of an intellectually better than average group of people saw no parallel between the present day American life and this portrayal of English local injustice. Possibly a better effect might be obtained with similar modern American plays of social injustice but that would involve a complete change of policy for Mask and Dagger, an eventuality more to be hoped for than expected.

It is possible to say truthfully of every Mask and Dagger play, "Well done for amateurs," but all concerned with the organization would much prefer to have their work looked upon as fairly professional. This being so there is no reason why newspaper reviews of its plays should not be written in a fairly professional manner.

I know well of the difficulties of securing a student or a member of the faculty who would feel free enough of all ties of pressure to write frankly, and I know, too, how an editor will always think twice before offending any group of persons who may exact revenge some day in the future for wounds to tiny egos. A conciliatory attitude in small matters is ever necessary to protect the good will of the paper, but this latest and most flagrant publicity must be commented on.

The play itself, while far from being the best possible choice, is one of the best that Mask and Dagger has done recently, and as such had a very definite news value. Add to this the time worn fact that people like to see their names in print and there is every reason to play up the story as news.

The story which The New Hampshire ran, however, was neither news nor real criticism. Beginning with the sentence "Do not fail to see this truly great and moving play, presented by a thoroughly trained cast," and ending with "The final performance is tonight—Friday," the story needs only the one word abbreviation, Advt, at the end to authorize the business manager to enter it on his books for collection as any other account.

No editor in the past has been foolhardy enough to try to change this unpaid publicity set-up. Quite possibly no reform can ever be inaugurated. For that reason more than any other I write this letter to you that people who read The New Hampshire may realize fully the handicaps under which you work. But this does not justify in any degree such complete prostitution of the review form as appeared last Friday. The story was terrible.

Sincerely yours,
Wm. V. Corcoran

Recent Events

Neutrality

Congress has extended the Neutrality Act for another 14 months. This act forbids export of arms to warring nations and embargoes loans and credits to the same countries. It makes no distinction between the aggressor and the nation attacked. Under its provisions Ethiopia may not receive munitions to fight Italy but the act does permit the manufacturer to profiteer on the other essential military supplies such as nickel, copper and oil. The League of nations has held that effective oil sanctions against Italy cannot be imposed without the cooperation of the United States. An amendment proposed by Senator Bone of Washington, stated that Americans trading with belligerents traded at their own risk, was defeated.

Students Assuming Major Political Roles

Students of Puerto Rico and in Paraguay made news last week by their political activity. In Puerto Rico two young Nationalists shot and killed Colonel Riggs, retired United States Army officer and the head of the insular police on the island. The assassins in turn were shot dead at police headquarters. One of the assassins declared that he had shot Riggs in revenge of what he described as the massacre of four Nationalists near the University of Puerto Rico last October. The Nationalists are a revolutionary party whose aims are to liberate Puerto Rico from "Wall Street domination" and gain independence for the island.

In Paraguay, according to the New York Times, students are taking an unusually active part in the establishment of a new regime. They have demanded the return of the former Interior Minister to face a charge of having ordered the police to fire on a group of protesting students when he was in office. Among other things students have taken over the editorial operation of all Asuncion newspapers.

Fascism Rebuffed In Spain

Last week the People's Front in Spain, made up of Socialists, left Republicans, Communists, and Syndicalists won a victory over reactionary and Fascist parties. The Left ticket was headed by Francisco Cabellero Socialist leader, often called the Spanish Lenin and former Premier Manuel Azana. Many of the victorious Leftists were elected while still in prison.

The first act of the new government headed by Azana was to proclaim an amnesty for the 30,000 political prisoners arrested during the suppression of the 1934 rebellion.

The referees want it strictly understood that they feel friendly disposed toward everybody and that furthermore, since they are not receiving a thin dime in the way of a fee, neither do they wish to receive any unnecessary malignment on the part of the spectators. THE work of Bell Telephone Laboratories might well be called "assets in the making." It deals with many problems whose solution will be of great future value to telephone users.

The truth of this statement is indicated by improvements already developed and now in daily use. The convenient handset telephone, the dial system, new magnetic alloys, overseas and ship-to-shore radio telephony are just a few examples.

Today more than 4000 men and women are carrying on this work to make tomorrow's telephone service still better.

Varsity Defeated By Gymnasts

Strong Springfield Quintet Defeats Wildcats 59-41 Saturday

Equipped with two teams, one as good as the other, a strong Springfield college basketball team upset the varsity hoop team here Saturday night, 59 to 41.

The Wildcats were able to hold the powerful Gymnasts well in check during the first half, New Hampshire taking the lead once for a few seconds on a goal by Rogean. Before the end of the half Springfield was using their equally as good reserves with profitable results, the half ending 33 to 24 in favor of the visitors. The Wildcats were not able to keep up with the fast pace of the Gymnasts and the Springfield team slowly forged ahead, the Durham five successfully holding them under a 20-point lead at the end of the game.

The preliminary contest was taken by the freshmen, 33 to 28, in a scrappy game against New Hampton.

Frosh Track Team Trounced 53 to 10

The frosh tracksters were severely trounced Saturday afternoon by the Phillips Andover track team, 53 to 10. The freshmen won only one event, Donald Tabb winning the 300. All the other New Hampshire points were made by third places: Tabb in the dash, Piecowicz in the hurdles and broad jump; Parker in the 600, and Bishop in the 1,000. Walker of Andover broke the cage record in the 600.

The simple mechanical details of cigarette manufacture are of surprising importance. April 10 Dead-Line for Student Writer

Short Story Contest Is Sponsored by Story Magazine

"The dead-line on contributions for the Student Writer will be April 10," Professor Towle announced this week.

The Student Writer is an annual magazine composed of the best student writings and is published by the University. The contributions are of any form, fiction, poetry, essays, or articles. The magazine is recognized throughout college circles and has had some students write for it who have since become famous nationally.

Professor Towle stated definitely that contributions are not restricted to any class or English majors but are open to all.

The annual short story contest sponsored by Story magazine has also been announced. This contest requires a preliminary contest here on the campus, and from this preliminary the two best stories will be sent in for national competition.

"Good stories are always needed. There are never too many of them," Professor Towle said. "If anyone wants further information he can see me at any time."

The various contests, which are being held now, will also close soon after the term vacation.
