Karazia and Nathanson in Offensive Drives Tallied to Rout Vermont 54-0

Emerging from his den where he has been caged in the past two weeks by the forces of Maine and B.C., the New Hampshire Wildcat turned on the heat of the promised pasting attack. The first score came as a result of his 15-yard first carry by Tony Lazzeri made in one of the games. The backs that proved the throes of disaster to Maine and the New Hampshire Wildcat snarled his way to a touchdown. This new regulation goes into effect on November 12. Straw Poll Tomorrow

Students, Faculty, and Administrative Members Cast Ballots for Presidential Election Under New Election System

University of New Hampshire students, faculty, and administrative members will go to the polls tomorrow to vote on the choices of the four major presidential candidates in a straw vote sponsored by The New Hampshire. Besides giving expression to an increasing interest on campus concerning the coming national election, the New Hampshire straw poll will inaugurate a new voting system to be used in the Student class departments and, to some extent, in the following University elections.

The Australian ballot will be used exclusively and is authorized by an order received after registering and marking his ballot, being checked from an official list before the moderator in charge of the ballot box. All operations will be conducted with both, to be accommodated to vote as many as they received, mark, and deposit their ballots. Persons desiring to be in the voting list will be given ballots with the necessity of having students sign their ballots eliminated.

The booth will be installed within the Thompson Hall arch and will be manned by the Student Union. The New Hampshire state executive committee has designated the straw poll of the campaign.

To make the poll of University of New Hampshire opinion toward the national election campaign, faculty members and members of the administration have been urged to the students and were given a chance to join in the campaign in the vote of the University. Attending a meeting of undergraduates with official voting practices and the electoral system, ballot follow as nearly as possible the official state ballot in its arrangement of presidential electors for the New Hampshire state and in the official order and questions to be conducted in the forthcoming elections.

Democratic Platform

The issue in this election is this: The American people are called upon to choose between a Republican administration that would bring again again them in the service of privileged groups and a Democratic administration dedicated to the establishment of equal economic opportunity for all people.

Last week both candidates made a final drive for votes in hostile territory. Roosevelt invaded the New England states. Unfortunately the results were not as surpising as American history. As was expected Roosevelt defended the New England states, which contained his most important cities such as Providence, Hartford, Boston, and a major address in New York City. In Connecticut Roosevelt received a few scattered boos, while in Boston he got a few cheers. The object of many boos be to the students of his alma mater, Harvard University. Roosevelt spent much of his time answering Governor Curley for the Senate, and in general did nothing to show his support for the democratic campaign. He was an original supporter of Roosevelt.

Governor Landon invaded the state of California, a conceded Democratic state. Roosevelt sent Governor Curley for the Senate, and in general did nothing to show his support for the democratic campaign. Roosevelt received 210 electoral votes and Landon 220. The winning candidate must receive at least 260 electoral votes.
