On Wednesday evening Ruth Breton, outstanding American violinist, climaxed the concert series in Murkland auditorium. Opening her concert with Beethoven’s Rondo in F Major, Op. 130, No. 1, she played the variations of the composition. She did not reveal the content of any of the encores. According to Coach Lundholm, the sheer beauty of melody and the ability of the performer to give them to account for their decided popularity.

Famous Pianist to Give Recital Here

Mr. Bauer First Became Prominent As Violinist

The Lectures and Concerts committee will present Harold Bauer on February 18 at eight o’clock in Murkland auditorium. Harold Bauer, a violin virtuoso, has developed his own style of playing. He was born in England and began his career as a violinist and pianist. He was very interested in both violin and piano, although he felt that the violin brought him more importance in his life. At the age of ten, he played with an orchestra, and he later started his career as a viola soloist. During this period he toured England, and started to tour Russia as assisting violinist to a singer. Because of this, his concert tour of this country during the war, Mr. Bauer was forced through necessity to accompany the artist on the piano. After this, he confesses he could not persuade people that he was not a professional musician, and after two years of study to really become one. He finally completed a recital tour in the year 1932. The audience just loved this recital tour.

When he made this marked reduction possible, Miss Breton responded to encore after encore until she had played five selections. Three of her encores were extremely beautiful. The last one was a soulsong which displayed the beautiful style of the youthful artist. The compositions were: "Melody," Chopin; "Moderato," Brahms; and "Rainbow." Miss Breton has given the public much enjoyment at her concerts.

"Today’s audience was so appreciative that it was impossible to give the final encore until they had a full house," said Mr. Bauer.

Lack of Practice Shows Up As Team Fails to Coordinate

According to Coach Lundholm: "Lack of conditioning and timing in offensive play may be attributed to lack of practice. The team is not in their best form at this time."

St. Anselm Bows to Frosch in Wild Game

Hersey and Leocha High Scorers in 42-7 Victory

Facing the St. Anselm freshmen in a very one-sided chagrining, and much soothing, the smothering Hersey Bantams broke the New Hampshire Royals’ eight point lead at the half to 15-point gap, and a 22-struggle in the preliminary to the varsity game at the gym on Tuesday night. With the Bantams aggressive pair of forwards, Jack Hersey and Buck Litts, the Leocha Bantams were in the control of the game almost from the first point of the game, on a foul shot. Score at the end of the period to 6 to 16. The Leocha Bantams were demonstrating a pace which could not be stopped and Hersey and Litts featured with some spectacular shooting. In spite of much uncharitable chagrining of foul shots by both, the score piled up 20-32 by the half.

Advisory Council Discusses Important University Changes

Improvements in Curricula, Admissions System and Calendar Sought

The Student Advisory council, at its fourth meeting of the year, discussed changes in the University’s curricular, advisory system, and brought to the attention of the Student Council these matters. The Advisory council acts in an advisory capacity to the council for the benefit of the student body and the faculty. The individual student problems may be presented to the council for solution.

At this meeting it was suggested that a simpler course in History 1 be offered in the present course. It is argued, however, that a simpler course in History 1 may be difficult to students who are not interested in the subject. Also, a proposal that the University provide more opportunity for students to be involved with the University and with the community is being considered. This would not only benefit the student but also be of service to others who help him. It is suggested, that the system of advisories be changed.

In order to provide the best time for review of the previous week, and for the additional examinations, it was proposed that classes be held for two days before the semester final begins. This would give the students a week’s rest before Christmas was also argued.

A number of nominations were offered for the permanent chairman of the council. The nominees were George Neale, William Arndt, and Ollie Richards. The election will take place at a later meeting.

DEBATING, PRO OR CON?

A short time ago there appeared in the columns of this paper a letter from a disconsolate reader, one of our own student body, disapproving of the abolition of an inter-collegiate debating team representing the University of New Hampshire.

Why was this intellectual sport struck from the extra-curriculum? It wasn’t because of finances, as a great many of the students have been erroneously led to believe. Nor was it a lack of facilities or keen enough competition.

The real reason behind the dropping of an organized debating team from the platform, but the students who should have been interested listened to the speakers. The audience, as a whole, was by no means enthusiastic.

For a time, the best competition in this part of the country was from the platform, but the students who should have been interested listened to the speakers. The audience, as a whole, was by no means enthusiastic.

But there never was a large following behind the speakers. The audience, as a whole, was by no means enthusiastic.

However, with a week or ten days, it is hoped he will be available for practice. He may participate in the last five games of the season, four of which will be in the New England Conference league.

Debating stands high among intellectual outsiders, with a good team, the real reason behind the dropping of an organized debating team from the platform, but the students who should have been interested listened to the speakers. The audience, as a whole, was by no means enthusiastic.

Why can’t we bring debating back into the extra-curriculum of the university, as a benefit to the school collectively and to us personally? Why can’t we bring debating back into the extra-curriculum of the university, as a benefit to the school collectively and to us personally?

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE, FEBRUARY 5, 1937.

There are three outstanding teams in Class A basketball throughout the state, according to Carl Lundholm who is preparing to conduct his eighth consecutive Intrastate Basketball tournament. The three teams are Keene, Nashua, and Manchester Central. Berlin should not be forgotten, however, for the boys up North have a strong outfit.

Keene has won eight and lost none to hold the distinction of being the only undefeated Class A team in the state although they have another game to be played, this one with Claremont. Nashua has won eight and lost one. However, the game lost was to Lawrence of Massachusetts. They still have two games to play, one with Central and one with St. Joseph's. Manchester Central has lost to Nashua and Lowell but has won six games, counting Portsmouth and St. Joseph's among their victims. Berlin has already defeated St. Joseph's by a large score and has another game to play with them.

Coach Lundholm is now in the process of visiting the teams under consideration and although hampered by his duties as hockey coach, hopes to comb the state as thoroughly as possible.

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Colbert verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen, and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat!

"An actress' throat is naturally very important to her. After experimenting, I'm convinced my throat is safest with a light smoke and that's why you'll find Luckies always on hand both in my home and in my dressing room. I like the flavor of other cigarettes also, but frankly, Luckies appeal most to my taste."

FRESHMAN PUCKSTERS DOWN BY ANDOVER

Team Makes Good Showing Despite Lack of Ice for Practice

After waiting for good weather for the past four weeks, the freshmen puck classifiers finally got a break from the weather man and journeyed to Andover for the annual game with that school where, handicapped by lack of worthwhile practice and also by the loss of Jerry Gaffney and Blinn Ward by exams, the freshmen were defeated 2-1.

Andover Sugar

Andover, playing their third scheduled game since the championships at Lake Placid, showed superior team play, and attacking power. New Hampshire, on the other hand, getting off to a slow start, showed superior strength in the final period and kept the puck in Andover territory almost the entire period.

In the second period, Andover, led by their great center, Gip Haaren, scored two goals and carried the game to the wild Kittens.

Randall Scores

Entering the final period on the short end of the score, the collegians played excellent hockey, scoring one goal, a combination pass from Spearman and Carlson to Randall, and having another ruled out after the whistle.

For Andover, Haaren, Tenney and Rounds were outstanding. For New Hampshire, Thayer in the net was good. Carl Randall and Bill Spearman looked good as did Johnson and Winterbottom at the points.

Coach Melchion was satisfied with the showing the team made, realizing the handicap under which they played.

THE SUMMARY:

New Hampshire—Spearman, Moore, Roper, rw; Randall, Carlson, Senior, lw; Davidson, Richmond, c; Johnson, Carlson, rw; J. Randall, pd; Winterbottom, Haseld, Id; Thayer, g.

Andover—Trossey, Davis, Adams, dw; Foster, Seymour, Blanchard, Id; Haaren, Pike, c; White, ed; Hunt, Poor, Ml; Rounds, g.

Referee—Cole. Time—Three 15 minute periods.
