MAXIMUM EXPENSE ON BLUE KEY FLOATS

The Blue Key committee in charge of the second annual float parade for Junior Prom week-end announced yesterday that a five dollar maximum float expenditure will be enforced on fraternities and sororities submitting entries.

Junior members of the Blue Key are canvassing the Greek letter societies this week in an attempt to achieve a full representation in the parade which will probably become a permanent feature of the Junior Prom week-end.

The parade of floats will be held Saturday, May 15, in the early afternoon and awards to the best entries will be made at the end of the parade by the Junior Prom Queen. The committee in charge of the parade consists of the following: chairman, George Stenzel; judges, Arthur Hanson; awards, James Conrad; fraternity entries, John DuRie, sorority entries, Martin Verville.

SESQUICENTENNIAL REHEARSALS BEGIN FOR MAY PAGEANT

Over 250 College, High And Grammar School Students Will Take Part

Rehearsals are under way for the Sixth Annual May Day Pageant which will be presented on May 22 as one of the earliest celebrations of the sesquicentennial anniversary of the formation of the United States Constitution.

For more than 250 college youths, high school and grammar school students from the surrounding section, the next three weeks will be a period of intense activity as they put finishing touches on their parts for the portrayal of colonial New Hampshire characters who were concerned in the dramatic story of the Granite State's ratification of the document. With historical accuracy as the key-note, pageant directors, committee members, and students alike will strive to make the historical and allegorical episodes conform to the pattern of the state's colonial story.

Mrs. Engelhardt Is Guest of Honor

The guest of honor for the pageant will be Mrs. Fred Engelhardt, wife of the University President, and her attendant will be Jane Woodbury. Nancy Powers, elected recently by vote of the Association of Women Students will be May Queen.

Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and Sea Scouts from Durham will participate in the pageant prologue as they form the background and isle of flags for the appearance of allegorical "Miss Columbia" and her 13 "States" and for the introduction of the guest of honor and her attendant. The pageant proper, which has been planned to portray the important scenes of New Hampshire, first as a religious colony and later as the ninth state to ratify the constitution, will open with the "Ballet of the Wilderness" depicting pioneer struggle against the elements. In the second episode the Revolutionary War will be represented and will reach its climax with the march of the "Spirit of 1776" group.

Gen. Sullivan Portrayed

Exeter's courthouse and the general court of New Hampshire will then be portrayed, showing the Granite State's first president, General John Sullivan in his early struggles in the political field. After a ballet by "Miss Columbia" and the "States," the scene shifts to Concord where the pageant will depict General Sullivan receiving the message of the ratification of the constitution by the required number of states, and dispatching riders to carry the news East and West. The celebration at Portsmouth, where news is delivered, and the military finale, will close the presentation.

Characters represented in the pageant will include President Sullivan and aides, town criers of Exeter and Portsmouth, the militia and minute men of New Hampshire, sailors and civilians of Portsmouth, colonial legislators, and the allegorical figures of the Spirit of 76, the States, and Miss Columbia. PRES. ENGELHARDT ADDRESSES WOMEN AT FINAL CONVOCATION

Barbara Edgerly Is Installed as President Of Executive Council

President Fred Engelhardt was the guest speaker at the final meeting of the Association of Women Students held May 5 in Murkland auditorium. The Executive council for 1937-38 was installed and the latter part of the meeting was conducted by the new president, Barbara Edgerly.

Dr. Engelhardt was introduced by Jane Woodbury, this year's president. He spoke of his pleasure at the opportunity of addressing the women's student body.

Speaks of Women's Influence

He spoke of the influence of women in civic affairs, and responsibility and all the things that go with responsibility that they carry, and that the men "are too busy to do." He showed that the influence is not always discernable, but it is usually there.

He also discussed what constituted education and success after the formal education had come to a close. The development of personality, by entering into social and other campus affairs will count more later than great efficiency alone. The friendships formed in this way are those that will last a lifetime.

In her final talk, Jane Woodbury expressed her thanks for the cooperation of the old council, and the student body, and her appreciation for the aid of Dean Ruth J. Woodruff in carrying on the work of the organization. The old council presented flowers to Gloria Marcy for her work in arranging the programs for the meetings of the association.

Barbara Edgerly Installed

As the outgoing president, Jane Woodbury conducted the installation ceremony for the new council. Barbara Edgerly was first installed and then the council itself.

Members of the council are Barbara Edgerly, president; Christine Fernald, Barbara Foster, Alice Perkins, Betsy Vannah, Bety Brown, Martha Garland, Barbara Parsons, and Rachel Moore. The new president then took charge of the meeting.

Barbara Edgerly and Christine Fernald gave a report of the conference of the New England Women's Student Government association held at Rhode Island State university at Kingston. Many problems that are found on different campuses were discussed and reported.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

ALUMNI CONTRIBUTES MORE FREELY NOW

At the end of the third week of the drive for the Alumni fund, it shows that, as compared with last year, the percentage of contributors is much larger. Also the total amount of money received is far ahead of the amount taken in at the same time a year ago.

Last year 1.98% of the alumni contributed, and so far this year, 4.07% have already sent money. The drive will continue until June 10, so the gain is readily shown. The class of 1879 has contributed 100%.

CONANT HALL FIRE RUINS EXPERIMENTS

Several experiments, which were being conducted by the Engineering Experiment Station, were destroyed when fire broke out in the basement of Conant hall at 4:30, last Tuesday morning. The fire was discovered by the night watchman soon after it had started so that the only damage to the building was the blackening of the walls by smoke. However, several of the experiments can be replaced only by much hard work and time.

The fire was caused by a test which was being carried out on an automatic switch. The switch was immersed in a bath of oil and a short circuit in the switch caused a spark which ignited the oil. The fire spread to the surrounding experiments and might have caused considerable more damage had it not been discovered as soon as it was. A rather peculiar thing is that the switch was equipped with a relay which was supposed to shut it off if anything went wrong with the mechanism.

The cost of cleaning the building and replacing broken windows will amount to about two hundred dollars while the damage to the experiments is estimated at about seven hundred dollars.

PHI KAPPA PHI HOLDS BANQUET IN COMMONS

President Fred Engelhardt was the guest of honor at the Phi Kappa banquet which was held last week in the Commons. Two other guests of honor were Miss Shirley Barker, a graduate of the University and the author of a book of poetry who was recently awarded a year's fellowship at Radcliffe, and Everett C. Huntington, a senior mathematics major who recently won one of the three national Phi Kappa Phi fellowships.

Dr. Engelhardt gave an address on "Scholarship," Dr. Harold A. Iddles spoke on "New Horizons in Chemistry," Olive Richards spoke on "An Undergraduate Views the College of Liberal Arts," and John Arnfield spoke on the subject "A Student Looks at International Relations."

The speakers were introduced by Dean Norman Alexander who is president of Phi Kappa Phi.

HEROS

As dusk drew its blanket over the landing field at Lakehurst, N. J., last evening, the great German dirigible, Hindenburg, gliding in after another successful crossing of the broad Atlantic, suddenly met its tragic end. Blown to torn wreckage and twisted frames, the great ship fell apart a hundred feet in the air. Thirty-six of its passengers and crew died in one of the world's greatest recent air tragedies.

These thirty-six humans died a heroic death in the surroundings of horror and sorrow. Thirty-six more human lives have been given in the steady march toward safe aerial transportation. It is through mistake and tragedy that the engineers discover the faults of present airliners and airships, and it is through the knowledge of the cause of the mistakes and tragedies that the engineers are able to improve the aircraft and advance toward the greatest possible safety.

The thirty-six burned and charred bodies of the dead, lying on the flat ground at Lakehurst last night represented the hundreds of unsung heroes who have given their life, knowingly or not, in the rapid march toward safe air travel.

WEATHER FORECAST

Friday, 10 A. M.

A rather small, weak mass of Polar Continental air covers the Great Lakes region and adjacent portions of Canada, while a mixture of modified air masses still persists over the Atlantic Coast. Polar air from off the Pacific Ocean dominates the weather west of the Rocky Mountains. The movement of these air masses has been very slow and conditions have not changed much for the past 24 hours.

No very well defined storms are in evidence, but skies will continue overcast until the Polar air now over eastern Canada displaces the modified air over New England. This movement will probably take place today or early tonight and tomorrow ought to be relatively cool with clear skies.

For Durham and vicinity: Clearing and somewhat cooler tonight. Gentle north-westerly winds.

Saturday: Generally fair with slowly rising temperatures. Gentle, shifting winds. Increasing cloudiness before evening is possible.

Sunday: Partly cloudy and warmer. Southerly winds.

THE LISTENING POST

by Donald Mendelson

Recently many newspapers brought out the fact that Congress for the past several weeks had been in session approximately two hours and a half each day. To the casual observer it would seem that Congress was not taking their legislative duties seriously enough, as befits the prestige of such a powerful democratic ruling body. However, it is not true that Congress has been shirking its duties; for the simple reason that the basis for all Congressional laws are in the very vast majority of cases determined and planned in the various proper committee sessions. As a matter of fact, for the time actually spent in session by Congress, more bills were acted upon than ever before in the history of the country.

In times of emergency, as typified by the New Deal, Congress was to a very great extent subservient to the desires and whims of the President. Because of this lack of independence, Congress was passing legislation of the type demanded by the President and his "braintrusts," without thought as to the merits of numerous numbers of bills in question. This was a bad policy as it virtually amounted to a type of dictatorship where the Executive branch of the Government was controlling the Legislature.

At the present time, as conditions become apparently better, Congress is resuming true legislative powers. Bills are being carefully considered in committee rooms by individuals with some knowledge of the problem to be considered. In committee rooms both sides of the question can be considered and the proper law evolved or the best possible compromise agreed upon. The people of the country can rest assured that the legislation, which was recently enacted in such a seemingly hasty period of time, was in reality given considerable thought in the Congressional committees of inquiry. This method of determining legislation is clearly the most democratic possible and surely the most desirable, in that it is discussed both pro and con by the various interests concerned with the passage or defeat of the bill.

Although we seem to be emerging from this recent depression, the period of crises are not entirely removed. In bringing back prosperity it is necessary that the people have confidence in their Government. This confidence can only be made possible by the ruling body, Congress, exerting its prerogative to rule at all times with a wisdom made possible by careful consideration of proposed legislation of all types.

THE COMMENTATOR

Want to hear somebody complain of the heat? Try watching the civil engineers doing a lab out front of DeMeritt some one of these hot days. They cuss about the heat waves bothering their sighting. Hum—wonder if it bothers their sighting at the girls taking sun baths back of Congreve. Someone said you could read newspaper print at 50 yards with one of those transits. Oh—the life of a C.E.!

Overheard at the Frosh baseball game. A sweet little Congreve freshman saying to her track hero, "Oh look at me!" He turned and saw two of the nicest burned legs on campus. Another sunbather from Congreve rocks!

Are the baseball dugouts so popular because that's the only place on campus where you can get a drink of water—or are we being naive? Honestly though, the bubblers really work.

P. S. When do we get some water? How's about it, Doc Prince? Aren't those bubbles ever going to be turned on?

These chem profs have the lecture hall doors locked seven minutes past the hour every day. Tsk, ts, are their lectures as sacrosanct as all that? Of course this locking doors to late students is a disciplinary measure that has to be taken every once in a while. It seems unnecessary however to make a rule of it because most students try to get to classes on time. An occasional latecomer doesn't disturb the class very much. It seems unfair to penalize him for what may not have been his fault.

A track letterman was out walking his girl friend's dog last Sunday when a fraternity brother came along and asked him how much he got for it. "Oh," said the tracker, "that depends on the dog." "No," said the brother, "I'd say it depends on the girl!"

We have our own set of weather flags. When it storms, a tattered "Old Glory," so torn it looks like a forked pennant, whips in the wind. On sunny days we see a bright new flag in front of T hall.

Don't it beat all how Prexy remembers our names?

Say what you want to, but Al Mitchener is doing a great job with the varsity lacrosse team. He has developed several players this year and has had the team on their toes all year. It was too bad that they had to lose to Harvard. However, with two games, one today and one tomorrow, they should be able to improve their standing in the New England Lacrosse League.

Some great running will be seen on the new Lewis field track which will be christened tomorrow with the running of the Interscholastic Track and Field meet, followed by a closely contested triangular intercollegiate track meet between three great collegiate teams. Men to watch in the college meet are: Tommy Macfarland, hurdler and jumper from B. C.; Hawk Zamparelli, mile and two miler from Northeastern; Huck Quinn, 440 and half-miler from New Hampshire; Dick Gill, 440 and dash man from B. C.; John Cronin, B. C. miler; Dimmy Zaitz, B. C. and Olympic shot putter; Ed Chertok, and Karl Craigin, New Hampshire distance men. If his arm is in shape, Maury Kimball will give the visitors a lesson in throwing the javelin. Lets see a good crowd out there and cheer the team along.

Tomorrow the varsity takes on the alumni. Among the old timers who will be seen in the lineup are Isaak, Lynd-bour, White, Slayton, Fred Walker, the Chase brothers, Mal and Jere, Landry and Hoitt. Now, if the alumni had Bill Wier to chuck them over, it would look pretty good for the "old men." Perhaps the varsity can strike a winning combination at the expense of the grads.

By the way, Weir did a sweet job on the Giants the other day. He limited them to six hits and beat them 3-1. It looks as though he were definitely established as a starting pitcher for the Bees. Keep up the good work, Bill. You sure would look great in a New Hampshire uniform this spring!

Some of the fraternities have been heard to offer unfavorable comments on the idea of getting up to play a ball game at 6:15 A. M. They maintain that it is hard enough to get up to go to classes at eight, but when you have to get up to play ball two hours earlier—that is asking too much of the already harrassed college student.

Dr. Alfred E. Richards is being sent to the centennial celebration of Mt. Holyoke college this week-end as the official delegate of the University.

SILVER JUBILEE OF SECONDARY SCHOOL TRACK MEET HERE

Fifty-four Schools Enter UNH Interscholastics Which Have Sent Up These Stars

Participating in the twenty-fifth edition of the same track and field meet in which many of the present "collegiate cinder greats" of New England colleges made outstanding records and started on their several paths to athletic prominence, 889 contestants from New England and New York State high and preparatory schools will appear on Lewis fields tomorrow at 8:30 A. M. to compete in the silver anniversary of the Interscholastic Track and Field Meet. Fifty-four schools have filed entry lists with Coach Paul Sweet, director of the meet: 14 New Hampshire schools, 11 preparatory schools, and 29 out-of-state high and preparatory schools.

Some of the record holding track and field stars in the national and regional collegiate realm, many of whom have represented the United States in international athletic events, have been Tony Genewicz, Dartmouth IC4A champion in 1935-36, who as a member of the Clark School team put the shot 54 feet, 3 inches and threw the discus 145 feet, 6 inches to establish records on Memorial field in 1935 and which still stands; Phi Good of Bowdoin who topped the 220 high hurdles for South Portland high school in 1932 to set an all-time interscholastic record of 16 seconds flat; and Arnie Adams, Bates quarter-miler, who, as a Worcester academy track star, won the quarter-mile jaunt in 51 seconds. There was also Irving Folwartshny, now Rhode Island State's IC4A hammer champ, Don Favor of the University of Maine, 1936 Olympic representative of the U.S.A. in the weight events and Cliff Vesey of Colby, National IC4A 3000 meter champ in 1935—to name only a few who exhibited their potential collegiate track and field strength in New Hampshire Interscholastics.

Curt Funston, consistent high scorer for the University of New Hampshire during four years of track competition, first participated in the Interscholastic Track Meet as a member of the winning Nott Terrace high school of Schenectady, N. Y., winner in the out-state group since 1935. Paul Toolin, one-time hurdle star for the New Hampshire Wildcats, and 440 hurdle winner in the Penn. Relays in 1928, as well as Huck Quinn, present National Junior AAU 600 meter champion, once appeared as a schoolboy contestant in the New Hampshire Interscholastics.

Coaches are expecting this year, with the meet taking place for the first time on the extensive layout on Lewis fields, that many of the previous long-standing records will be broken. Medals will be awarded to the first four men in each event and a loving cup will be awarded to the winning school in each of the three classes—In-State High School, Out-State High School, and Preparatory School.

VARSITY BASEBALL NINE MEETS WITH ALUMNI TOMORROW

Probable Pitchers for UNH Grads Will Be Tuck White and Bill Lynbourg

With many familiar faces in the lineup, the alumni send their baseball team back onto the campus tomorrow to face the varsity in their annual fracas on Brackett field. The results last year were both in favor of the varsity, 4 to 3, and 10 to 3.

Included in the alumni lineup will be several well-known ball players who are still active on the diamond in semi-pro leagues, and some who saw service in the majors.

Nick Isaac, alumnus of last year, will probably be seen behind the bat catching. Tuck White, who tried out with the Red Sox, and Bill Lynbourg, relief hurler last year, both of whom are now playing in the Portsmouth Sunset League, will do most of the pitching for the alumni. Steve Slayton, Traip academy coach, and a former try-out with the Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals, will be on hand for relief duty if necessary.

The infield will be made up of Fred Walker, former captain, Mal and Jere Chase, recent famous alumni, Dynamite Landry, a graduate student and a regular last year, Ray Hoite, and Dick Tilton.

In the outfield will be seen the two Hanna brothers, Weed and Charlie; Lane, and Elizabeth.

Bucky Bissell will oppose the alumni on the mound for the varsity with Harm Holt in reserve to relieve him. The rest of the lineup, somewhat changed, will step up to the plate in the following order: Mirey, rf; Cotton, 2b; Giarla, 1b; Horne, cf; Leary, lf; Flanzbaum, ss; Decker, 3b; Rosinski, c; Bissell or Holt, p.

LUNDY'S FRESHMEN NIP WENTWORTH, 8-6

The freshman baseball team continued their winning streak to three last Tuesday when they defeated the Wentworth Institute, 8-6. Dunn, Jordan and Roper again demonstrated their ability by limiting the Wentworth team to eight scattered hits.

The Kittens scored five runs in the fourth inning on two triples by Noseck and Johnson, together with a single by Jordan, a base on balls and errors by the Wentworth infield.

Herb Johnson with two triples and Ken Noseck with one were the heavy artillery for the Kittens. Jack Hersey continued his great work behind the platter as the the New Hampshire infield kept their pitchers out of trouble.

Wentworth's big inning was the fifth when the Boston team combined a base on balls and three doubles to score three runs. Angier and Lasher were the guns for the visitors' attack with two and three hits respectively.

Score by innings:
N. H. '40 0 1 2 5 0 0 0 0 x—8 9 2
Wentworth 0 2 1 0 3 0 0 0 0—6 9 5

ANDOVER TAKES OVER FROSH, 5-1

The New Hampshire freshman baseball team dropped their first game of the season to Phillips Andover academy Wednesday afternoon on the latter's grounds by the score of 5-1.

The Kittens played a good defensive game and made several outstanding fielding plays but failed to have the batting punch to put the runs across. Off two Andover pitchers, the freshmen got a total of only three hits.

Andover started the scoring with one run in their half of the first and the Kittens were presented a run in the fourth to tie up the count. Joe Lankalas went to second on a wild throw over the first baseman's head. Peanut Hersey then hit to the second baseman who likewise threw wild to first and let Lankalas score from second with the Kittens' only run.

The fielding gem of the day was a Kitten double play. Noseck threw the ball from right to nab the runner at the plate, and Hersey flipped the ball to second to get the batter.

Al Roper started the game in the box for New Hampshire and went the full distance, allowing but six hits.

The three hits for the Kittens were made by Hersey, Doug MacDonald and Earl Hartshorne who started made his debut in the New Hampshire lineup in this game.

Today, as part of the varsity-frosh doubleheader, the freshmen play the Boston university freshmen at Boston. The Eaglets have an undefeated club, having trimmed among others Wentworth Institute by the score of 6-1.

In this game Ed Wheeler, a second-

HOLY CROSS DEFEATS BASEBALL TEAM, 25-0

The Holy Cross baseball team defeated the University of New Hampshire ball club by the score of 25-0, Tuesday afternoon at Fitton Field in Worcester.

Led by Captain Joe Kelly, the Holy Cross team turned their 19 hits and 10 bases on balls into 25 runs. Al Jarlett and Art Kenney, pitching for the Crusaders, were in rare form and only allowed six hits.

Charlie Cotton was the big gun for the Wildcats with two hits out of two attempts. Les Flanzbaum also played well. Norm Nathansson did a great bit of relief pitching and held the Crusaders scoreless in the sixth inning.

Coach Swasey was not so downhearted after the game as might be imagined and congratulated the Holy Cross team for the fine play. "Holy Cross has probably the best college ball team in New England," he said. "It was no disgrace to be defeated by them."

Today the squad faces a strong Boston university squad at Boston. B. U. has beaten Harvard, 18-10.

Score by innings:

string catcher, Earl Hartshorne, utility infielder, and Ken Noseck will start the outfield. Lundholm is not starting Power or Winterbottom because of their recent weak hitting.
