Gridiron Club Fetes 'Bill' Cowell at Boston

Dignitaries of World of Sports from All Over East Attend Testimonial Dinner

With gridiron luminaries from all over the East in attendance, and congratulatory messages being received from many who were not able to be present, a huge testimonial dinner was given, Tuesday evening, by the members of Boston's famous Gridiron club, in honor of Bill Cowell, coach and athletic director at the University of New Hampshire for the past 22 years. The scene of the gathering was the Hotel Lenox in the city of Boston.

Many Sportsmen Present

In addition to the personalities of the football world, a number of representatives of the other sports were present to pay tribute to Cowell's popularity. The master of ceremonies was George Bulger Lowe, and the long list of speakers included Tuss McLaughry of Brown university, a past president of the American Football Coaches' association, who spoke first; Dick Harlow, head gridiron mentor at Harvard, an old friend of Cowell's; Leo Daley, president of the Eastern Association of Football Officials; Lloyd Jordan, head coach at Amherst; Harvard's Athletic director, Bill Bingham; and President Bird, of the University of Maryland.

All of the speakers joined in praising Bill for his fine record and for his integrity. Dick Harlow spoke for most of them when he said, "Bill is a great guy, who has always played the game on the level."

Telegrams congratulating the genial New Hampshire athletic director were received from a number of his friends who were too far away or otherwise unable to attend in person. Among those heard from were the following: Elmer Layden, Dave Morey, Fred Brice, George Little, T. P. Hurd, Ray Morrissey, Harvey Harmon, Bo MacMillan, Andy Kerr, Bill Alexander, Dana Bible, Bernie Bierman, Bob Zupke, Biff Jones and Lou Little.

The feature of the evening came at the end of the festivities when Cowell was presented a miniature of the Lewis fields gridiron, completely of silver, with a scoreboard and clock topping the top of the stands. Dan O'Connor, formerly a star tackle at Georgetown, and present president of the Gridiron club, made the presentation while the assembled guests gathered around to shower congratulations upon Bill.

Abbey Theater is Final Step In Irish Drama Development

by Kay Metcalf

Since Lenox Robinson's The Far-Off Hills, which is to be presented by Mask and Dagger, May 24, 25 and 26, is so representative a play of Irish life, a short resume of the development of Irish drama in recent years is apropos. Until 1899, not very much had been heard about Irish drama or Irish playwrights. It was then, however, that the Irish Literary Theatre was organized in Dublin for the purpose of giving plays by Irish dramatists upon national themes with English actors. William Butler Yeats was one of the founders of this movement, and the first presentation was his play, The Countess Cathleen. This Theatre went on for a time, producing one play in Gaelic and six in English, and then was discarded.

In 1901 the Irish National Theatre took the place of the Irish Literary Theatre. The chief difference here was the fact that the actors were to be Irish instead of English. This theatre was trained as a repertory company and specialized in plays concerning Irish peasant life, fairy stories, legends, and other forms which were all highly

STUDENTS INVITED TO COUNCIL MEETING

Students interested in the proposed changes in the Athletic Association are urged to attend an open meeting of the Student Council, Monday at Commons, to hear plans for the reorganization discussed. A member of the faculty, properly informed on the new system, will be present to answer any questions that may arise and to explain the proposed changes.

Under the new plan the present Executive committee would be disbanded and an Advisory committee would be set up.

The Advisory Committee, if accepted by the student body, will consist of 3 undergraduates and three faculty members, and the Director of Athletics. The first six members will be elected by the student body in accordance with regulations to be recommended by the Student Council, and approved by the Senate Committee on Athletics. The opinions of a committee consisting of the present president of the A. A., and a representative of the Student Council and the student body, as to the class representation, length of membership term, and qualifications for membership, as well as many other items, will be sought.

New Duties Outlined

The duties of the proposed Advisory Committee on Athletic Awards is as follows:

"The advisory committee on athletic awards, consisting of three undergraduates, and three faculty members elected by the student body and the director of Athletics, shall award recognized men's athletic insignia, shall consider and recommend action on all proposed insignia to be awarded to men athletes by the university, shall, in concert with the president of the women's athletic association, the director of physical education for women, and a woman student elected by the women's athletic association, establish and award recognized insignia for women student athletes, shall approve and ratify all athletic records made by university athletes in competition, shall establish a system for the selection, and shall select all managers for varsity and freshman sports and cheerleaders, and shall serve as agency of advice to the senate Committee on Athletics on all matters of athletic interest as the latter committee may request.

imaginative with bits of Irish whimsy.

The last important movement in the development of Irish drama came about with the beginning of the Abbey Theatre. This has proved to be successful, and is still the strongest maintainer of the theatre there. Such people as John Synge, William Yeats, and Lady Gregory helped to bring this about. It was the suggestion of Yeat's to simplify the style of acting by placing more stress on the spoken words, than on the gestures or scenery. He emphasized the beauty of speech and the bearing that even the smallest parts have on the play as a whole. William Butler Yeats is himself a native of Dublin and he deals with national themes for his own works. His style is mystical and thoroughly poetical, and in his plays he relies on the value of the situation more than he does anything else.

John Synge was discovered by Yeats in Paris where he (Synge) lived a Bohemian life, and was induced to turn to Irish drama. Each of his plays is based on some legend. This is suggested in the titles of the works themselves, among which are such names as

FROSH HOLD SUPPER AND ANNUAL FROLIC

The second annual Freshman Frolic will be held Friday, May 13 at the Gym. Phil Haskell and his Swingsters will play for the dancing which will last until 11:30.

At an exchange supper at the Commons before the Frolic, President Engelhardt and members of the Student Council and Women's Student Government will be guests of the freshmen.

Although the class of 1940 gave the first Frolic last year, this year's freshmen have a novel feature in the supper proceeding it. These suppers at which members of the faculty, instructors of the Military Science Department, house mothers of the campus and deans of the university have been guests, were inaugurated this year by Mrs. Knowlton, hostess of the freshman dining hall. Serving the purpose of helping the freshmen get better acquainted with campus people, the suppers have been informal hours of food and music, often followed by dancing in the Trophy Room.

Plans for the Frolic and the supper are well under way, and tickets will go on sale in the near future.

"STUDENT WRITER" IS LARGER THIS YEAR

Professor Towle Believes
Edition Surpasses Others
In Standard of Quality

The University of New Hampshire Student Writer, according to Professor Carroll S. Towle, will show a considerably higher quality of writing than it has for the last two years. Although the last two Student Writers have admirably kept up the high standard of this student publication, it is believed that the 1938 Writer is somewhat better.

There will be about 128 pages in the edition, containing 40 different items from the pens of 30 different contributors. The writing this year has increased in quantity as well as quality, and although it is quite difficult to pick the most outstanding writers, some of the more prominent are: Robert Kidder, Katherine Metcalf, Florence Crosby, Harry Hatchell, and Dorothy Jordan.

This year has proven to be rather a story-writing one. Another feature is the great variety of subject matter and styles of writing. There is also more of a tendency towards humorous writing; in general, there is less of a sense of pressure disclosed in the style and fewer pieces of a confessional character. Several aspects of college life will be described and campus characters, although mildly disguised, will not be difficult to recognize. Even "Chief" will appear, besides several of the faculty members.

The Student Writer will be obtainable as usual at the Bookstore and the downtown stores about May 12. As usual, the sale will be conducted both before and after the appearance of the publication through student co-operation, and will sell for fifty cents.

School Boys Prepare for Interscholastic Meet

Horde of Eight Hundred Athletes from 51 Schools Expected for Annual Games

With the vanguard of a force of nearly eight hundred schoolboy athletes, representing 51 secondary schools throughout New England, already beginning to trickle into Durham, the University of New Hampshire is preparing for what promises to be the best Interscholastic Track and Field meet on record.

The meet officially gets underway at 8 o'clock, Eastern Standard Time, tomorrow morning when the In-state high school pole vault is held. Preceding this, tonight at 7:30 o'clock, will be a meeting of the coaches of the various competing teams, for the purpose of clarify rules and programs.

Spend Night Here

Those students whose schools are located too far from Durham to be able to reach the campus in time tomorrow, are spending the night here, and they will be housed in the various fraternities, in the gymnasium and in the Commons Organization room. There are 19 of these schools and they will be cared for as follows: Hanover, Phi Mu Delta; Towle, Lambda Chi Alpha; Bellows Falls, Phi Delta Upsilon; Brunswick, Commons Organization room; Canton, Phi Mu Delta; Fairhaven, Sigma Beta and S. A. E.; Melrose, A. T. O.; Milton, Rifle range; Middleboro, gymnasium; Quincy, gymnasium; Waltham, Commons Organization room; Weymouth, Theta Chi; Coburn Classical, Theta Chi; Kimball Union, gymnasium; New Hampton, gymnasium; Maine Central Institute, Kappa Sigma; Huntington school, Alpha Gamma Rho; Braintree, Theta Kappa Phi; Mont Pleasant, Pi Kappa Alpha and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

While information concerning the individual competitors has been unusually scarce for this year's meet, a few outstanding schoolboys are being expected to break some of the established records. Marshall, of Mont Pleasant High school, Schenectady, N. Y., will defend his 100 and 220 yard dash titles, which he won last year at the meet. He equaled the meet record for the 220 at that time. McGowan, Tilton academy weightman is one of the other competitors of whom something is known. Last Saturday, in a meet against Concord High, he took first places in the shot put, discus throw, javelin throw and hammer throw, and tied for first in the high jump. McGowan did not compete in last year's (Continued on page 4)

YACHT CLUB HOLDS INITIAL LAUNCHING

At two o'clock, Sunday, May 15, four new boats will be launched by the Yacht Club. The program includes an invocation by the Rev. Emerson G. Hangen, short talks by Col. Edward Putney and Commodore Albert Egerly; and christening of the boats by the sponsors, followed by the races on the bay.

The sponsors, elected at the last meeting of the Club, include Susan Malsch, Mary Louise Stearns, Nancy Thompson and Janet Ford. The Durham Sea Scouts are to be uniformed orderlies of the day.

Tuesday afternoon the boats were sailed down the river to moorings in the bay. According to Skip Glover and Smiles Leavitt they handle well and are very good sailing boats.

BLUE CIRCLE HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTIONS

On Monday evening, five sophomores and eleven freshmen were elected to the Blue Circle. The sophomores are Bill Moore, Robert Perkins, Ed Stafford, Harold Sweet, and Harry Haynes, and the freshmen are Jan Gagnon, Joslyn Kelley, Ellingwood McClane, Virginia Randall, Joan Sweete, Lyn Whitmeyer, Dorothy Sparks, Paul Townsend, Richard Snowman, Lois Draper, and Stan Lowe.

On Monday, May 9, the regular meeting of the Blue Circle will be held at Mendum's pond, at which time the new Blue Circle members will be initiated and the new officers, elected some time ago, will be installed. It is expected that President Engelhardt and the Faculty advisors will attend.

DURHAM NOTES

The Girl Scouts will give a play entitled "The Girl Scouts at Queen Elizabeth's Court," on Friday evening, May 13, at 7:30 in the Community house.

DURHAM, N. H., MAY 6, 1938

FRIENDSHIP WEEK-END

This week-end a group of students from many lands will assemble here, not as separate nationalities, but as one group, the Youth of the world, to consider mutual problems. United in the search for a single goal, peace and the advancement of civilization, they approach the problem intelligently and calmly without the hysteria and excitement that far too often characterizes peace gatherings. They seek not a panacea for all their difficulties, but rather a better understanding of the many problems that inevitably arise between groups separated by distance and different racial and cultural heritages. As the hatreds and antagonisms among individuals are often the result of imperfect knowledge of the other person's true character, so the quarrels and misunderstandings among nations can be traced to faulty conceptions and prejudices based upon ignorance. The task of these meetings is to displace this ignorance by a knowledge of the other nations' problems and culture.

This is an excellent opportunity for us by discussions with these students to at least make a crack in the shell that has so long shut off Durham from the rest of the world. Many of our concepts of other nations and their citizens would not be unfamiliar to Ben Thompson should he again pass this way. Few of us are aware or at least ignore the conflict between the two great philosophies of government which are battling for superiority all over the world. True they have not as yet made themselves very strongly felt in this country, but with continued depression and a close contact with the rest of the world, we cannot crawl into our shell and expect everything to be alright.

The world has grown small and the nations have established closer and closer contacts with each other. Nevertheless, they still maintain the stereotyped beliefs that have been implanted firmly by a previous generation. If peace is ever to become a reality, we must displace these by a true picture of the life and the philosophies of the peoples of all nations. Only with understanding can differences be solved intelligently.

This week-end offers an opportunity to clarify and broaden your range of knowledge. Make the most of it!

WELCOME

We wish to extend a cordial welcome to the many guests of the University competing in the Interscholastic Track and Field Meet and the Prize Speaking contest this week-end. We hope that your stay will be pleasant and that while you are here you will feel as one of us. Good luck to you all!

DON'T THROW IT

We are fortunate in possessing one of the most beautiful campuses in this part of the country, and a large crew of men are employed in keeping it in first class condition. Unfortunately they cannot cover the entire campus every day and as a result, its appearance is considerably marred by clouds of papers blowing about. This is especially noticeable in the vicinity of the boys' dormitories.

The University could aid greatly in this matter if they would place a few rubbish containers at various spots about the campus. The prevalence among the study body of the habit of cheating during exams is not worth a fair and comprehensive test of what I know."

TO THE EDITOR:

I believe The New Hampshire desires to be accurate concerning local history, so in that spirit I desire to call your attention to an error made in your issue of April 29. In the write-up of the exercises recently held at the Sullivan monument, it is stated, "Lucien Thompson, grand-nephew of Benjamin Thompson, the donor of the monument—"

Under the provisions of Chapter 109, Session Laws of 1893, $1,000.00 was appropriated by the State for this monument, on condition that the Town of Durham furnish the ground and the foundation which it did.

With the Outing Club

At a previous meeting of the Blue Circle, it was voted that a combination four-year membership ticket be issued next fall at a substantially reduced price.

There was also considerable discussion concerning the construction of a cabin somewhere on Great Bay. It is planned that this cabin be much larger than the one at Mendum's Pond and within easy walking distance of the campus. It is also planned that there be facilities for the projection of moving pictures, and it is hoped that good bathing and boating facilities will be available.

The date for the Annual Horse Show has been designated as October 12, 1938. Plans for the show are already under way.

The Outing Club will be represented by three delegates at the annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Outing Club Association at Cape Cod on May 6, 7, and 8. The delegates elected are Miss Priscilla Emery, Miss Ruth Payne, and Mr. Lewis P. Bissell. It is at this meeting that many of the outing club problems are discussed and new ideas received.

Unless further notice is given, there will be a supper-outing at Mendum's Pond every Thursday night, weather permitting.

FROSH NINE SPLITS IN FIRST TWO GAMES

Starting off its season in an encouraging manner, the freshman baseball team, after losing to Austin-Cate, 519, on Monday, surged to a 3-2 victory over Andover, Wednesday afternoon.

The game with Austin-Cate was originally scheduled for last Saturday, but unfavorable weather conditions forced its postponement to Monday. Austin-Cate opened up the scoring in the initial inning and went on to score one run in each of the ext two frames, while the Kittens tallied twice in the second inning. In the sixth, the visiting academy players got one more run across the plate and New Hampshire scored twice, tying the count at four apiece. Momentarily, Lundy's lads took the lead in the eighth inning only to have their opponents tie it up again in the following frame. It was in the 12th and final inning that Austin-Cate staged the rally which gave it four runs and the victory.

In the Andover contest, the going was much closer. The yearlings tallied in the third inning when Ray Lane, who had socked a long double over the left fielder's head, came in on Lou Cryan's single. They scored again in the following inning and a third time in the seventh, gaining the necessary margin to defeat the Andoverians, who got their two runs in the third inning.

Allowing Andover only six hits and striking out ten men, Stan Hicken did a fine job on the mound for New Hampshire. Phelan, starting hurler for the losers set down seven men, while his successor, Chase had one strikeout to his credit.

In 1891 this writing desk type telephone was installed in a Long Island general store. It was a good telephone, but it could be connected with only a part of the Bell System's 250,000 telephones in the country at that time. Service was slow and expensive.

Year by year this strange looking telephone, with a more modern transmitter and receiver substituted from time to time, grew in usefulness as the Bell System grew longer in reach—shorter in time needed for making connections—higher in quality of service—lower in cost.

In 1937 "old faithful" was retired to become a museum exhibit, but 15 million modern Bell telephones "carry on."

THE STORY OF THE SPANISH CIVIL WAR (Concluded)

by Lyons

Editor's Note: This column does not necessarily represent the opinion of The New Hampshire. It is the writer's own personal opinion.

During the summer of 1936 the army of Spanish rebellion swept through South and Central Spain. As the army marched toward Madrid more and more volunteers joined its ranks. The Nationalists had the more efficient army since it was managed by the best army officers in Spain. As Franco approached Madrid the Reds were forced to conscript members of the civil populace to stem the tide and many foreign officers and generals helped to keep the Nationalists at the gates of the metropolis. If the Russians had not assisted the Madrilenos it would have been easy to enter the city. It was because the Loyalists had a large amount of foreign assistance that forced Franco to retaliate by allowing German and Italian soldiers to fight with the Insurgents.

In spite of several setbacks, the Rebels pushed forward in the spring of 1937 and smashed through steel and cement fortifications to capture the great steel center of Bilbao. After the fall of Bilbao they swept along the northern coast, captured Santander and cleaned up the mountainous Asturias.

Those that fought for General Franco were the Regular Spanish army, the Carlist monarchists of Navarra, the Falangista, the Moors, and a few Italian volunteers. Last year Franco was made President of Nationalist Spain. In his territory El Caudillo has created a social program that is neither Liberal nor Radical. Although capital is unhampered with, there is one National Syndicalist trade union organization aimed to give the worker a fair deal. Throughout the territory enough is being produced even in wartime to stabilize the economic system. With government pressure on the absentee landlord class and a wrong state control over all producing organizations, the Rebel's country is better off than Spain was under the regime of General Primo de Rivera.

PROBLEMS OF PARENT-TEACHERS' DISCUSSED

Teachers, educators, parent-teacher leaders, and local association officers will convene in a five-day institute under the direction of the New Hampshire Congress of Parents and Teachers, July 18-22, at the University of New Hampshire.

A part of the University's summer program, the institute, through discussion groups, lectures, and clinics, will treat many problems confronted by the parent-teacher associations. Round table groups will discuss such topics as "The How and Why of Membership," "Radio Broadcasts," "Library Service," and "Cooperation with Outside Agencies," while special clinics will be offered in health, education, and home-making. Among the special lecturers for the conference session is Professor Helen Wilkinson, Boston Teachers college, who will speak on "Remedial Reading." Other lectures tentatively scheduled include "Mental Hygiene," "Phychology," and "Childhood Education as a Cooperative Venture." Speakers for these lectures will be announced shortly according to Mrs. Andrew J. Ayer, Keene, president of the Congress.

Through the cooperation of the University Department of Education, conference members may attend early morning classes of the summer school during the institute.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

The newly formed Psychology club of the U. N. H. held its first meeting at the Phi Delta Upsilon fraternity on Wednesday night. The following were elected: President, Harry Weathers; Vice-President, Horace Scruton; Secretary-Treasurer, Athelie Leighton; Program Chairman, Stephen des Garennes. Doctor Adolph Eckdahl was voted as the Faculty Adviser and Prof. Naomi Eckdahl was elected as an Honorary Member.

The Menorah Society will hold a special meeting on Tuesday night, May 10, to receive the reports of the social committee.

Interscholastics. In the same meet, Hall, captain of the Concord squad ran the 440 yard dash in 53 and 6-10 seconds, which equals the meet record. He also won the 880 yard dash. Concord is the town which produced Huck Quinn and Dick Meade, two of the foremost trackmen in the University, at present.

A number of last year's winners are now enrolled in the University of New Hampshire. Matt Flaherty, winner of the out-state hammer throw, is heaving the weights for the freshman track squad in their meet at Hanover, while Wally Mather, who took fourth in the preparatory school 100 yard dash and third in the broad jump is competing in these events and the 220 yard dash in the same meet. Dick Meade, who won both the in-state mile and half mile in record-breaking time, turning in what was probably the outstanding performance of the meet while doing so, is also at the New Hampshire - Dartmouth freshman meet, and Clayt Follansbee, winner of both the high and low hurdles in the in-state high school division is doing the same thing along with Stan Styrna, who took third places in the in-state hammer throw and 440 yard dash.

The meet this year will be under the supervision of student-manager William Anderson, and Coach "Chick" Justice, who is filling in as track coach for the vacationing Paul Sweet. One less school has entered the meet than last year, when the list of competing teams numbered 52.

The preliminary events in all divisions will be held in the morning, with the finals due to be run off in the afternoon.

A. S. M. E.

The local branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers is acting this week-end, as host to a gathering of representatives from other New England branches of the A. S. M. E., including those of the universities of Maine, Vermont, Cornell, Syracuse, Rhode Island, Brown, Northeastern, Yale Tufts, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute and M. I. T. One student from each of these is scheduled to read a technical paper to the assembled members in James hall.

The meeting does not consist of technical papers only, however, for the conference members were taken on inspection trips of the Portsmouth Navy Yard and the National Gypsum Plant in Portsmouth, to be followed this evening at 7:00 o'clock by a banquet in the Commons at which Dr. Harvey M. Davis is to be main speaker. Dr. Davis is the National president of A. S. M. E. and is also president of Stevens Institute. The subject of Dr. Davis' talk will be "Engineers of the Future."

ABBEY THEATRE

In the Shadow of the Glen, and The Well of Saints. Lady Augusta Gregory has been manager of the Abbey Theatre until very recently. She deals with the re-writing of Celtic Legends and stresses local color in her pieces. Among her better-known works are The Rising of the Moon and Hyacinth Thelvey. Lord Dunsay, still another playwright associated with the Irish Theatre, lays his scenes in no particular land with no particular characters. They are of no one country, but rather of all countries. His The Gods of the Mountain depicts seven beggars who try to impersonate seven stone gods and are themselves turned to stone when the gods come to life. This portrays the humor as well as the imagination of this particular writer.

The Irish drama movement is one which will doubtless be appreciated not only for its deep sincerity, but for its national significance as well. It will always prove interesting to its audiences because of its foundation upon the fanciful, theemotional. It is something new in the dramatic world, mainly because it brings the richness of Irish fantasy to us.

AL ROPER STARS ON MOUND AS WILDCATS ALMOST NIP HARVARD

Sophomore Hurler Limits Crimson to Five Hits and Strikes Out Eight Batters

Behind the canny, five-hit pitching of sophomore Al Roper, New Hampshire's varsity baseball nine handed a proud Harvard team its biggest scare of the season, only to finish up on the short end of a 2-1 score as a ninth inning rally failed to gather enough runs. While they lost, the Wildcats turned in one of the best games seen here in many years, and showed a complete reversal of form over their previous two starts.

The game was definitely a pitchers' duel, with southpaw Roper setting down eight men as he allowed a scant five hits, and Harvard's Hom Healey striking out five while yielding four hits. Roper outshone his opponent as far as control and skill was concerned, but he lacked the support that the Crimson hurler had.

No Score Until Fifth Inning

Until the fifth inning, the game was scoreless; Roper did not allow so much as one hit until the third inning, while Healey was equally stingy. Gannett started the Harvard drive in the first of the fifth, when he drew a walk. Second baseman Johns flied out, but the next man up, Lupien, beat out a bunt and was followed by Grandah, the shortstop, who singled to left field, allowing Gannett to score with the first tally when Stewart fumbled the ball. A minute later, Lupien was tagged out, as he tried to score on Soltz's bunt. The second run was brought in by Grandahl, aided by Soltz on a double steal.

New Hampshire's run was made in the final inning, the last-minute surge arousing memories of the past basketball season. Charlie Cotton, first man up, drove a long double to left field, Pete Murphy fouled out, and Jack Hersey beat out a bad throw to first, running into a forced play at second on the following play, when Stewart reached first on a fielder's choice. The next man up, MacDonald, sent a Texas leaguer into center field and the Harvard right and center fielders, finding trouble in deciding who should field the ball, allowed it to drop to the ground between them, scoring Cotton from third with the Wildcat's lone run. The rally was ended when Johnny Decker grounded out to Ulin, the third baseman.

Lupien, the Crimson first sacker, with two hits, a stolen base, and some fine fielding, turned in a stellar day's work. Again and again he pulled in his teammates' pegs from all angles, turning their erratic throws into putouts. The crowd received a great deal of amusement from Pitcher Healey's occasional wild pitches, which soared high above the batter.

Swasey Praises Charges

In commenting upon the game, Coach "Hank" Swasey, while repeating that his players "needed more hitting," declared that the boys had come through with one of the best-played ball games he has seen in some time. Swasey had particular praise for Al Roper, who performed quite a feat in holding the powerful Cambridgeans to five hits, in his first nine-inning session.

The Wildcats left this morning on a two-day trip, during which they will meet Conn. State and Rhode Island State. Today, against the former team, at Storrs' Bob Kershaw will handle the pitching assignment. Last year, Bob licked the Nutmeggers twice. At this writing, the pitcher for Saturday's game, against R. I., had not been decided upon. New Hampshire returns to the Brackett field diamond, Tuesday for a game with the strong Providence college team.

Score by Innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9

Runs—Gannett, Grandahl, Cotton. Errors—Grandahl 2, Ulin. Two-base hits—Hoye, Cotton. Stolen Bases—Lupien, Soltz, Franzbaum. Sacrifice hits—Soltz, Ulin. Hit by pitched ball, by Roper (Ulin). Struck out, by Healy 5, by Roper 8. Wild pitch, by Healey. Umpires—Robinson, Geary.

To the 800 participants in the annual interscholastic track meet, the sporting department of The New Hampshire extends a hearty welcome. To each of you we wish the best of luck in your endeavors here tomorrow. The meet itself should prove to be a huge success. There ought to be a huge crowd of students at the meet, as it often produces as many or more thrills than the varsity meets. The schoolboys put forth their best efforts in this meet and many stars in college have run in the New Hampshire Interscholastic track meet while in high or prep school. There are so many good schools to pick from that it will be difficult to forecast a winner, but we're going over board for our alma mater Tilton. In the prep school bracket, Laconia to repeat in the in-state class, and Portland in the out of state class. St. John's prep, Manchester Central or any one of several other schools may make us out to be terrific liars.

It sure was a tough game that the varsity lost to Harvard the other day. Had Harvard had anyone but their great captain, Lupien playing first base, they would have been on the short end of the score. Several times he saved a certain error by his great defensive play. Too bad that the New Hampshire team couldn't have given Al Roper better support at bat and in the field. However, the boys all put up a great game, and when one considers that Harvard has had the benefit of several more games experience, the defeat is even more creditable. Herb Johnson looks like a great find on first base. He fields like Elbie Fletcher, and if he gets so that he'd pound the apple out of the infield a little more, he'd prove to be one of the best ball players the place has seen in a long while.

The undefeated varsity lacrosse team takes on Williams here tomorrow and it should be the best game this year, so far at least. This is the year for the varsity to cop that league championship if they are ever going to do it and this is the team that can do it. By the way we understand a certain party was offended that we omitted one of Fred Gilgun's goals in a game account last week. Sorry, Fred and!

The varsity lacrosse team will be without the services of Johnnie DuRie, the stellar defense man who is laid up in the Hood House with a broken blood vessel in his leg. John has been the hard luck player in New Hampshire athletics for two or three years now and deserves a better break than that. Here's hoping you get back into uniform before the game with Dartmouth, John. Holy Cow! do they need you for that one!!

EDUCATION TEACHERS CONVENE AT COLLEGE

The New England Association of College Teachers of Education is holding its annual meeting on the campus of the University of New Hampshire today. The afternoon meeting started at two o'clock when a discussion was held in the Commons Trophy room. The Committee planned that no prepared speeches or papers would be given, but rather the time would be devoted to informal discussion.

The evening session starts at 6:30 with a dinner in the President's Dining Room, at which the members of the Association will be guests of the University. President Fred Engelhardt will be the speaker. A business meeting will follow the dinner.

Dr. A. Monroe Stowe, head of the Department of Education at the University of New Hampshire, is the president of the association, and chairman of the planning committee.

CHRISTIAN WORK

The Student Christian Work bi-weekly radio broadcast over WHEB on May 9 will feature two soloists. Hertzell Weinstat will sing Night and Day, from "The Gay Divorcee," by Cole Porter; Jeanie of the Light Brown Hair, by Stephen Foster, Short'nin Bread, by Jacques Wolfe and Song of the Blind Plowman by Robert Clarke.

Miss Huldah Boerker, '38, will accompany at the piano. The other soloist has not yet been announced.

WEEK-END SPOTLIGHT GOES TO TRACK WITH THREE MAJOR MEETS

Frosh and Varsity Compete Away From Home as Durham Welcomes Interscholastics

Track grabs the New Hampshire spotlight this week-end with three major events scheduled in that sport. This afternoon, the freshman squad is at Hanover, engaging in a meet with the Green yearlings; tomorrow, the varsity trackmen travel to Boston for a quadrangular meet with Boston College, Northeastern, and Maine. The third event is the long-awaited Interscholastic Track and Field Meet, which takes place at Lewis fields, all day Saturday.

In the Dartmouth frosh, New Hampshire's yearlings face stiff competition. Recently, the Hanoverians tacked a top-heavy defeat on the same Exeter squad which nosed out the Kittens by a scant two points. Nevertheless, New Hampshire, which has shown much improvement in the last week, will be aiming to surprise its opponents.

Accompanied by Coaches Justice and Blood, the freshmen, numbering 25 men, left for Hanover at about 8 o'clock this morning, with the expectation of returning tonight. The list of entries in the various events reads somewhat as follows: High and low hurdles—Pieciewicz and Follansbee. 100 and 220 yard dashes—Lang, Cook, and Mather. Mile Run—Meade, Snowman, Kirk, and possibly Shaw. 880 Yard Run—Meade, Hendrick, Jones and Griffin. 440 Yard Dash—D. Jones and Reed. Broad Jump—Mather, Stryna and Lufkin. High Jump—Whitmyre and D. Jones. Pole Vault—Onella and Lampson. Javelin Throw—Openshaw, Cox, and Lufkin. Shot Put—Flaherty, Wilson and Hogan. Discus Throw—Flaherty and Stryna. Hammer Throw—Flaherty, Stryna, and possibly Openshaw.

The Kittens are expected to get many of their points in the mile run, the sprints and the hammer throw. Dick Meade stands a very good chance to take the mile, while Bob Lang, Will Crook and Wally Mather are expected to give the Papeoses plenty to worry about in the sprints. A certain first place is expected from Mat Flaherty in his specialty, the hammer throw. Furthermore, Mike Pieciewicz, who has been coming along in great shape since he took the low hurdles at Exeter, is being looked for to break the tape in at least one of the timber topping events.

Probably the feature of the varsity's four-cornered meet, tomorrow, will be the duel in the 440 between New Hampshire's Huck Quinn and Boston College's Dick Gill. The two have been rivals throughout their college careers and, with first one and then the other winning, neither has been able to establish permanent superiority. Last year, when Boston College visited Durham, "Hurry-up Huck" handed his cocky Eagle opponent a smashing defeat, while, two weeks later at the New England Intercollegiate, in Cambridge, the flame-haired Gill re-vengeed himself by leading Quinn to the tape, being forced to a record-breaking 48 second clocking in doing so. Thus far this year, Gill's best time has been 48.6, hung up in the Boston university field day meet last Tuesday; on the other hand, in the one chance he has had this year to show his stuff, Huck ran the distance in 50 seconds flat, without much pressure. This was against Brown last week.

All three of the teams which face New Hampshire tomorrow are especially strong in the field events and it is probable that the Wildcats will have to collect most of their points in the running competition, if they are to win. With such men as Underwood, in the two mile run; Johnston and Wright in the sprints, Larson and Abbott in the hurdles, and Huck Quinn in the middle distance events, Blue and White supporters are hoping for a fine showing on New Hampshire's part.

"THE NEW HAMPSHIRE" SPONSORS T.V.A. FILM

"The River", Epic Saga of The Mississippi Floods at Franklin Theatre Monday

On Monday, May 9, the Franklin Theatre, through the courtesy of Arthur Stewart, will present the government picture, "The River," in conjunction with the regular feature. This film is being sponsored by The New Hampshire, for the benefit of the students and faculty of the University, and the people of the town.

"The River" is a feature drama of the "great Mississippi," a story of its rolling life and the people it supports. Throughout magnificent photography of the great floods which have ravaged the valleys of the lower United States, and realistic photography of the misery that followed, runs an epic poem of narrative length, which is in the same cadence as Hiawatha. The life of the sharecropper is portrayed to show the terrible results of flooded waters, which cause economic as well as social upheavals. Of particular interest to the Agricultural College, is the background of the lumber industry. "The River" shows the disastrous effects of ruthless timber cutting, in that it causes soil erosion, which in turn is the real maker of floods.

"The River," it is true, is a government propaganda film, to show how the TVA has benefitted mankind. But lacking the usual dry dogma of a propaganda film, it has been received with high acclaim and much praise from the critics. Thus feeling it to be praiseworthy The New Hampshire has obtained it.

"Majestic, impressive, intensely dramatic," says the Literary Digest. "Startling photographic beauty, sweeping scope," says Time magazine. Several critics have called the narrative poem running through it, as being "comparable to Homeric ballads," while others compare it with Walt Whitman and Carl Sandburg.

"The River" is the creation of Pare Lorentz, who made "The Plow that broke the Plains," dramatizing the effects of dust and drought. The musical score, and the sound accompanying the film, is directed and conceived by Virgil Thompson. It includes folk songs, hymns, and actual sounds from the 1937 Mississippi flood.

The complete list of entrants is as follows:

- 120 Yard High Hurdles—Larson, Pokigo and Ayer.
- 220 Yard Low Hurdles—Larson, Abbott, and Pokigo.
- 100 and 220 Yard Dash—Johnston, Wright, Whitcomb, and Tabb.
- 440 Yard Dash—Quinn, Abbott, and Whitcomb.
- 880 Yard Run—Quinn, McCaffrey, and Parker.
- Mile Run—McCaffrey and Mason.
- Two Mile Run—Underwood, Jennison, and Bishop.
- Broad Jump—Mitchell and Maillard.
- High Jump—McLaren and Cullis.
- Pole Vault—Mitchell and Whitcher.
- Javelin Throw—Swenson.
- Hammer Throw—Long and Nelson.
- Discus Throw—Long.
- Shot Put—Long and Johnson.

FROSH LACROSSEMEN EDGED BY EXONIANS

Showing a marked improvement in form over the previous encounter, in which they lost by a much larger margin, New Hampshire's freshman lacrosse team, led by Stan Smith, held a rugged Exeter stick club to a 4-6 score. Exeter's final drive, during which they drove in four goals, came in the last period.

With goals in the first, second and fourth period, Stan Smith was the star of the Kitten lineup. One of his goals came on as lucky a shot as has been seen around here in some time. Smith was circling the enemy goal, attempting to pass out to Glines, who was wheeling in from downfield. As he drove the ball towards Glines, the Exeter goalie's stick shot up, deflecting the ball into the nets and crediting New Hampshire with a goal. While he did not score on this play, Glines chalked up New Hampshire's fourth tally in the final period.

The Exeter scores were made in the first and fourth periods, three in each, with Holmes, 2nd attack, accounting for two of these, and teammates Stucky, Copp, Childs, and Hoaglund drilling in one apiece.

It was in the final period that the game really got going. At the half, the score had been 3-1, in favor of Exeter; the Kittens drew up to within one goal of the Academy boys' score as the fourth period opened, and during that quarter Exeter made three goals, establishing a lead that was too steep for New Hampshire to surmount, even though Mayor Morrissey's lads scored twice.

The next game for the Kittens will be a week from tomorrow, when they trek to Hanover to take on the Dartmouth frosh.

The summary:

Exeter—Katzenbach, g; Suman, p; Thompson, cp; Hicks, 1d; Copp, wd; Hoaglund, c; Holmes, 2a; Childs, 1a; Mayfortt, oh; Stucky, ih.

New Hampshire '41—Wentzel, g; Kizala, p; Elliot, cp; Brunel, 1d; Glines, 2d; Hart, c; Knox, 2a; Smith, 1a; Piper, oh; Blackler, ih.

Exeter substitutes—Strubbs, Mitchell, Matteson, Davis, Robson, Ward, MacKenzie, Gamon, Coons, Suthfern, Cox.

New Hampshire substitutes—Lucier, Graham, Burt, Frey, Bulger, Mullon.

Goals—Smith 3, Holmes 2, Glines, Copp, Hoaglund, Stuckey, Childs.

Score by periods	1	2	3	4
Exeter	3	0	0	3-6
New Hampshire	1	0	1	2-4

CHEMISTRY STUDENTS RECEIVE POSITIONS

Three of the seniors in the Chemical Engineering Department have been placed for next year.

Homer F. Priest has accepted a position in the Chemistry Department at Williams College, Williamstown, Massachusetts, where he will teach and study advanced chemistry. Robert Hart has taken an assistance in graduate work in Chemistry and teaching at the University of New Hampshire. Donald H. Kelly will be an assistant and do graduate work in the Chemistry Department of the University of Maine.
