Explorer LaVarre Lectures on South America, Thursday

Harvard Graduate Credits His Success to Lady Luck And His Early Training

Mr. William LaVarre, who will speak on "South American Sideshow" in Murkland auditorium at 1:30 Thursday afternoon, is a man unique in his chosen profession. To be an explorer merely for the sake of exploring is no uncommon hobby — indeed, such explorers are almost too numerous to mention, and almost every part of the earth has been so explored. But to be an explorer from the business standpoint is a highly specialized occupation, one that takes skill, courage, scientific genius, and much perseverance. In William LaVarre one finds all these qualifications, and consequently he has become the leading commercial explorer in the world today. Exploring for a profit—for a business and not a hobby—is Mr. LaVarre's profession.

LaVarre was born in Richmond, Virginia, and his exploring and hunting propensities made themselves manifest while he was still quite young, for William did quite a profitable business in skunk trapping! His family forced him to keep the pelts and a change of clothing a good distance from the house, but they tolerated the business adventure; LaVarre's uncle laughingly prophesied elephant hunting for young William when he grew up.

Before he entered Harvard, LaVarre had decided upon his exploring profession, and he studied only the subjects that he thought would be of value to him—only the "pay dirt", as he explained to the dean who was horrified

Community Church Offers New Plan

The Community Church of Durham has recently inaugurated a plan which is designed especially for students attending the University of New Hampshire. A new amendment has been written into the constitution of the church giving any student who is at present a member of a church elsewhere an opportunity to become what is technically called a "student affiliate member" of the Community Church.

It has been felt by the members and minister of the church that there are many students who are interested in the work of the church, who have no way of showing that interest in an active way except by attendance at the services of worship. This new plan is designed to fill that need; to give all students who are interested a closer tie-up with the local organization—an opportunity to show their interest in a more active way, and to give them more of a sense of "belonging".

All that is necessary to accept this opportunity is to present a note from the minister of the church to which the student belongs at present clarifying to the fact of his membership. Then he will be received into a student affiliate relationship here, which relationship will in no way affect his status in the home church, and which will terminate at the end of his student days.

This in brief is the plan, and all students interested are cordially invited to confer with Rev. Emerson G. Hangen at the earliest possible date so that arrangements can be made.

Sophomore Hop Committee Chosen

Charles Craig Serves As Chairman of Large Group Selected to Plan Dance

Although the date of the sophomore hop is still many weeks in the future, members of the sophomore class are already busy formulating plans to make this year's dance the most enjoyable and successful one in the history of the event. Under the leadership of General Chairman Charlie Craig, an unusually large committee has been selected to carry on the work. As yet, it has not been definitely decided what the motif of the dance will be; nor has the orchestra been selected. However, the committee has several novel ideas, and promises to reveal them in the near future.

The complete committee is as follows:

General Chairman—Charles Craig.
Orchestra—Stanley Lowe, chairman; Jack Mitchell, Jeanne Gagnon, Louis Isreal.

Publicity—Sumner Fellman, chairman; William Jahoda, Betty Fisher, Richard Smith, Mary Sayewich, Dwight Pratt, Natalie Chandler, Edward Kitfield, Genevieve Lessard, Robert Dudley, Jean Halpin, Clint Morse.

Chaperones—Jean Adams, Eleanor Gay.

Refreshments—Betty Crooks and Ruth Braley, co-chairmen; Paul Shaw, Richard Snowman, Sally Shaw, Ruth Stoughton.

Students Invited To College Parley

The 16th annual parley of the college body of Wesleyan University will be held at Middletown, Connecticut, March 8, 9, and 10. This year the Parley will have as its subject "American Foreign Policy" with particular consideration given to the policy of isolation, collective security, and our relations with Europe, Latin America, and the Far East.

The Parley Committee has invited all students of the university "who are interested in the ever imminent and ever important problem of American foreign policy" to be the guests of Wesleyan University. The Parley committee have expressed their willingness to arrange for accommodations and meals at no expense. Any student wishing to attend should communicate with Professor Kalijarvi of the Political Science Department.

The program will consist of a series of lectures and round table discussions. The committee has secured the best speakers possible in the field of the conference, several of the most important being: Senator Nye, well known isolationist and chairman of the Senate committee investigating the munitions industry; A. A. Berle, the noted economist who was at the recent conference at Lima and who recently resigned as Assistant Secretary of State; and Nathaniel Peffer, one of the foremost authorities on the Far East.

1700 Dartmouth skiers put on the most photographed event in the history of the College during the recent Dartmouth Winter Carnival, with Walter Wanger's four camera crews and newsreel cameramen from all the major newsreel companies and newspaper syndicates taking films.

Blue and White Elections

Elections for the most representative members of the class of 1939 will be held under the "T" hall arch, tomorrow, with two seniors, one boy and one girl, to be selected by the upperclassmen as the most outstanding in scholarship, character, and leadership, during their four years in college. The pair chosen will be declared to be "the most representative of the blue and white", following the custom of past year.

Last year, Christine Fernald and George Stenzel were the ones honored from the class of 1938.

Frosh Hold Annual Dance Friday Night

On Friday evening the freshman class will hold its annual class dance. The committee has secured the intercollegiate Hi-Hatters to furnish the music. This band, just back from successful engagements at Boston College and Holy Cross, features Walter Minnie Jackson, a hi-de-ho colored leader, who is well known to dance fans near Boston for his fast routines. Besides Jackson, a girl singer is featured.

The committee is hard at work on an advance sale of tickets. The theme of the dance will carry out the Hi-Hat and cane idea; numerous cardboard hats have been secured; colored spotlights will be set up; and collegiate banners will round out the decorations. Specialty acts will be presented, a grand march will be held, and refreshments will be served. The committee hopes that the student body will support this dance, because an interesting evening is planned. The dress is informal, and sport clothes may be worn.

Educational Film On Steel Industry Presented Thurs.

Chemistry Department and Lens and Shutter Club Sponsor Technicolor Movie

The department of chemistry of the University, in conjunction with the Lens and Shutter club, will present free technicolor sound movies in the gymnasium Thursday night at 7:30. The film "Steel—Man's Servant" is an educational movie showing the steel industry from the mining of the ore to the different kinds of high-grade steel, and is the regular 35 millimeter technicolor film. This movie played for four weeks in the Fine Arts theatre in Boston and in the Academy of Arts and Sciences, and has been received enthusiastically everywhere.

It is important to realize that this is no ordinary, cut-and-dried technical industrial film. This was Hollywood's first industrial educational picture, and as much time was spent in its production as in the greatest "super-colossal". The acting of the cast of steel-workers proved to be excellent, especially since it was unrehearsed except for a few amusing scenes—this picture, by the way, is not at all lacking in the elements of comedy. The story of steel-making, say reports from the cutting room, was excellent material for color pictures; the molten metal and hot in-

Notice

Because of a last minute development there is still a part vacant in the all-student production of "Winterset". The part is that of an Italian organ grinder. Tryouts will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 and Thursday evening at 7:00 in Murkland auditorium.

Rockefeller Jr. to Address Graduates

President of Rockefeller Center Will Be Speaker At Commencement June 12

Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller, president of Rockefeller Center in New York, will deliver the address at the Commencement exercises in June, it was announced today.

Judged by many to be one of the outstanding young American business leaders, Mr. Rockefeller is a member of the board of directors of the Creole Petroleum corporation. The second son of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., he is the grandson of the man who made the name Rockefeller synonymous with millions.

Like his father Mr. Rockefeller is interested in the development of fine arts in America, and is trustee of the Metropolitan Museum of Arts, the Museum of Modern Art, and the New York Museum of Science and Industry. He graduated from Dartmouth College in 1930.

Preacher for the Baccalaureate services to be held the Sunday before graduation will be the Reverend Allan I. Lorimer, pastor of the Franklin Street Congregational Church of Manchester.

The exercises which begin Sunday, June 11 will be the sixty-ninth commencement in the history of the University. One of the largest classes on record will be graduated from New Hampshire at that time.

State Symphony to Give Concert Here

Earl V. Clay, talented young conductor, will direct the New Hampshire State Symphony Orchestra at a public concert at the University of New Hampshire, Wednesday evening, Mar. 1. Mr. Clay received his training at the New England Conservatory of Music and has played with the Boston Symphony Orchestra under Dr. Serge Koussevitsky.

Established as one of the first units of the New Hampshire Federal Music project under the Works Progress Administration, the thirty professional musicians have received intensive training under capable conductors and have, through some three hundred performances, reached a high standard of artistic achievement. They are generally recognized as the finest symphony ensemble ever assembled in the state.

The orchestra features Milo Goldstein, cellist, as assisting soloist. Mr. Goldstein recently returned from France where he served for eight years as a member of the faculty of L'Ecole Normale de Musique of Paris in the company of Madame Nadia Boulanger, Isidore Philipp, George Enesco, and Pablo Casals. Mr. Goldstein will perform the "Saint Saens A Minor Concerto" for violoncello.

The public concert on Wednesday, is a part of the University Lectures and Concerts program. It will be presented in Murkland auditorium.

FRENCH CLUB

There will be a meeting of the French Club on Thursday, March 2, at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Prof. Clifford S. Parker, 18 Main street. Professor Grigaut's brother, who has just arrived from France, will be a special guest at this meeting. Everyone welcome.

Schoolboy Crowns Won by St. Mary's, Portsmouth High

Placques Awarded Victors; All-Tournament Players Named by Sports Writers

The finals of the state schoolboy basketball tournament were played Saturday night in the Field House, with St. Mary's taking Lincoln 38 to 20 in Class B, and Portsmouth defeating Stevens 41 to 30 in Class A.

In the Class B finals, St. Mary's started off fast in the first period and from then on was never headed. Paced by its brilliant pair of forwards, Pete Nolin and Ed LaPlante, who accounted for twenty-four of the team's points, the Claremont five completely outplayed the Lincoln team.

St. Mary's led at the end of the first period, 10 to 6. In the second period it was curtains for the Lincolmites when St. Mary's went wild and scored 16 points to seven for Lincoln. From this point on, St. Mary's coasted to victory. The Lincoln team, though badly outclassed, put on a game that was really excellent. Paced by Joe Beaudin, veteran guard, the losers put up a hard fight right up to the end of the game. Beaudin, incidentally, was elected to the all-tournament team by the sports writers.

Award Freshman CMTC Distinction

Anthony J. Touart, Jr., of 75 Commonwealth Park, West Newton Center, Massachusetts, and a freshman at the University of New Hampshire, was selected as the outstanding member of the 1938 Citizen's Military Training camp, First Corps area. Mr. Touart was also awarded the all-expense trip to Washington, D. C., arriving in Washington February 16.

According to information released by Brigadier General J. M. Cummins, commanding officer First Corps area, February 10, Mr. Touart's selection was based on his leadership ability, athletic activity, military bearing, and camp and scholastic achievement. He was enrolled on the fourth year, or Blue Course, conducted at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, from July 7th to August 5th. He had previously attended the 1935, 1936 and 1937 camps.

While at Washington Mr. Touart received the General John J. Pershing award "for distinguished attainment in Military Education". He also visited Annapolis, Mt. Vernon, and Fort Myer, where he watched an exhibition by crack troops of calvary and horse artillery.

He plans to continue his training in the University R.O.T.C. unit, and hopes to take his commission in the air corps.

Touart is a prominent member of the freshman class and is active in athletics and social affairs. He was outstanding as a regular end on the freshman football team, last fall, and at present is a member of the Freshman Dance committee.

AGAIN

Once more Mask and Dagger has presented a dramatic production of which the society itself and the University as a whole may well be proud. Mask and Dagger is one organization on campus which may be depended on to produce a worthwhile and finished production every time they undertake to put on a play, be it comedy or tragedy.

The recent presentation of "Berkeley Square" by the society in Murkland hall was one of the finest dramatic presentations seen on this campus. A difficult play, it was handled deftly by the director and the participants, and too much praise cannot be given those in charge.

This play will be given twice more; once in Nashua and once in Keene. It is one of the best opportunities students or a society on this campus will have had for several years to bring favorable attention to the University and the work done here.

A production of this calibre and polish will do a great deal towards creating a more favorable impression throughout the state and will show the citizens of the state that something really worthwhile is being carried on here in Durham.

It is interesting to imagine what type of production could be given had we more satisfactory equipment here for entertainment of this sort. With a larger hall, a larger stage and better dressing room facilities, a truly professional performance would be the work of Mask and Dagger.

Any other group will find it most difficult to give a play even approximating one of the quality the campus witnessed on the Murkland hall stage last week.

For their forthcoming "road trip" The New Hampshire extends its best wishes and offer of any cooperation which may make the trip a success; and for the recent play we extend to Mr. Hennessy, Mask and Dagger and all who shared in the production the congratulations and thanks of the entire school.

HOPEFUL

We are advised that the University faculty is today considering the proposal for allowing cuts to qualified students. The New Hampshire has definitely committed itself as being in favor of such a system. The student body through its interest has made its attitude manifest.

The fate of this proposal is now in the hands of the faculty and administration. We hope that the committee in charge will give the matter the consideration due it and that the result will be favorable to the progressive trends of the University. Let it not be said that New Hampshire is backward in the regulation of the students and their academic freedom. Show the students that they are trusted and the result will be gratifying.

TO THE EDITOR

From time to time complaints have been made by instructors who conduct classes in room 14 Murkland that the commuting students and resident students who frequent the lounge room opposite that room make such a disturbance that it makes the conducting of classes difficult. It should not escape the good judgment of the students who use that room that there are other people in the building who are perhaps disturbed by the uproar from that room.

It may be that some adjustment could be made which would give the commuting men a better room for their use during off hours. Nevertheless, they all should use discretion in their conduct in that room. I am sure the instructors who are bothered will appreciate it and I do not imagine the boys themselves will miss a great deal of the fun they now enjoy if they will please be a little more quiet during the time that classes are in session nearby.

(signed) One of the Ones Disturbed.

TO THE EDITOR

In "The New Hampshire" for Feb. 21 you published a letter for the German Student Refugee committee over Bob James' signature. That letter has occasioned considerable discussion. Consequently the German Student Refugee committee has decided to reconsider its decision in the light of campus discussion.

German Student Refugee Com.

While the campus is picking itself up and dusting itself off from the hasty exodus of high school fans, students, and players, we once again return to action with the usual "Glad and Sads" of collegiate life as the various happenings and doings pass in review before our eyes. One event, stands alone in the brilliant kaleidoscopic pattern—the Chi Omega house dance.

Following the cue of Maestro Julian Ross' baton, the opening curtain was rolled aside to portray a scene resembling our grand-dads' prized tintypes. Warned by some very novel invitations, the boys drank lightly from the Fountain of Youth and appeared dressed in the costume of the "gay nineties."

Candidates for the best dressed included Joe Doyle, Brad Moore and Charlie Betz, while on the feminine side it was up to Miss Hawkes to show the girls how it was done. Johnny Damon and Stan Otis appeared on the scene once again to accompany Libby Drowns and Kay Ahearn. Other features included Miss Hirschner's friend, Ziggy Bosivitch, from Loyola University of Los Angeles, who, so 'tis said, will transfer here next year. Speaking of transfers, Freank "Judge" Heald celebrated the failure of M. I. T.'s Phil O'Neil to come here by appearing with Ruth Dickson. "Ace" Parker relaxed from tournament worries by jigging around with Edna Riley. Carl Randall, photo-finishing ahead of Brother Ayer, exercised the winner's privilege by promptly going into seclusion. Barb Chase dropped in with Henry Trow, former Kappa Sig prexy, after the games. Rita Donahoe, continuing the Carnival spirit stepped it out with Pete Urban, the Commons Comet. Miss Donahoe, it is rumored, will soon be contracted to feature "Curley" Lowe's Carnival Pageant next year. Barbara Clausen featured the coed's costumes by wearing the old type high buttoned red shoes, while Franny McCrillis donned the former familiar bustle. . . .

While covering the general campus we couldn't help noticing the Crookes' sisters, Goo-goo and pretty girl, Theta Chi-ing with Ferry and Ferris, respectively. And then Louis "Mask and Dagger" McDonough has been receiving roses from a Smith College coed while he was convalescing at the Hood House. While on the subject, Al Ingram didn't beat a path to that hill dispensary while Chick Hale was under the weather. Ken "Poor Sportsman" Bishop was seen booking some of the players during the tournament. . . . All the boys are wondering how Buck "suction" Jordan has acquired this new cognomen. It's quite a story. . . . Eddie Sauer, Exeter's wrestling coach, watched his boys start off with an undefeated record when downing Tufts frosh. . . . Two main questions are doing the rounds. Why don't the librarians smile, and who stole the coat of the Princeton man? . . . After seeing the picture of the Junior Prom candidates we're wondering how many votes Jack Hanlon received. . . . Ginny Parker has been receiving letters from a Montreal Lonely Hearts Club, but hastens to explain that the letter was post-marked from Boston. . . .

Freddy Winterbottom, a second Voltaire, will shortly head for Mt. Holyoke with Larry Steward, the latest track star. . . . Who were the home town boys that Winnie Kennedy was showing around over the week-end? . . . Ed Lyszczas dropped thirty iron men during the course of the tournament. . . . Just a hint, but quite a few boys are missing a good bet in Lois Richardson. . . . The boys are still trying to decide whether Barbara Ames is going to laugh or cry when she starts to talk. . . . And in closing, we would like to nominate Bing Pratt as Heel of the week—and he knows why.

To the Editor

I would like to answer the charges implicit in last Tuesday's "New Hampshire" editorial against the Liberal Club. In the first place, the embargo against arms to Loyalist Spain does not "apply as strongly and as effectively to the insurgent forces as to the Loyalists", as was stated in the editorial, since the U. S. has supplied arms and materials of war to the Fascist countries, i. e., Germany, Italy and Portugal, who tranship these arms to Franco's rebel army as well as to the German and Italian soldiers who are aiding Franco's forces in Spain. An example of this is the recent entrance of Franco's troops into Barcelona in Ford trucks.

In the second place, the Loyalist government is and has been a democratic government and is not as the editorial asserts communistic. The Loyalists were in a position very similar to the Republican Government of America in 1860. A legally elected and democratically constituted government was set up in Spain after the elections of February, 1936, as in the U. S. in 1860. In July, 1936, an armed revolt led by the high military authorities, supported by the large landowners, and the feudal aristocracy (as in the South in 1861), and aided by Mussolini and Hitler, broke out and precipitated the long drawn out war which has been going on for almost three years now. Frederick L. Schuman, authority on International Relations and International Law, says in his book, "International Politics," the text in the International Relations course at the U. N. H., on page 118: "The 'nonintervention' agreement was by implication, a recognition of the rebels, though this was later denied. . . . Paradoxically neutrality was unneutral in its practical effects and non-intervention was an act of intervention, both in law and in fact, since the signatories denied to Madrid its customary right to purchase arms to suppress rebellion and thus aided the insurgents. Germany, Italy and Portugal, though parties to the agreement, surreptitiously sent war material to the rebels."

I would like to quote one of the purposes of the Liberal Club concerning free speech: "To enforce the fundamental rights of man to express himself in radio, press and assembly," and again "to advance academic freedom." Is the Editor's definition of democracy, which he discussed so authoritatively in last Friday's editorial that of Voltaire's who said, "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it?" Or does he stand for the denial of free speech (which is the negation of democracy) in order to preserve "democracy"? I believe it is the essence of democracy as set forth by the Constitution of the U. S. to allow freedom of the press, freedom of speech, freedom of assembly to everyone. To qualify democracy as the Editor of "The New Hampshire" has done is to open a loophole for suppression of freedom of speech in every sphere. The rise of Fascism to power in Italy and of National Socialism in Germany was marked in the beginning by a denial of the right of free speech in order "to preserve democracy" and the result was the most rigid censorship of expression possible.

In conclusion I would like to say that in my opinion the Liberal Club stands for American democracy as set

RECENT EVENTS

by George Edson

Everyone is supposed to be surprised to learn that there are any among the German people who are "half-hearted" in their regard for the Hitler regime. Yet Sunday the papers told of a new wave of brown-shirted persecutions beginning in Naziland against all who are "half-hearted" in their praise of the Nazis.

How can there be "half-heartedness" when with Hitler's plebiscites (with bayonets, of course) 98 per cent of the German people vote "Ja" as against the littler two per cent of lonesome hold-outs? Even if the isolated two per cent were the most thunderous dissenters, what chance would they have against the 98 per cent "confirmed believers", whose ranks are, according to Der Fuehrer, unbroken.

We wonder what the people down in Texas are thinking about that revealing moment at the Nazi rally in Madison Square Garden when G. W. Kunze, public relations director of the German-American Bund, brought the audience shouting with approval to their feet, as he spoke of "Our Congressman, Mr. Dies of Texas."

Mr. Dies has just been given $100,000 with which, presumably, to investigate the Nazis as well as the Communists. But the Bundists are not worried. They have watched Mr. Dies at work and they love him. He is their man. And that is a good thing for the rest of the country to know.

Wildcats Defeated By Maine 48-33 in Season's Last Game

Accurate Shooting and Passing of Bears Stops New Hampshire Quintet

The Maine Bears defeated the Wildcats 48 to 33 at Lewis Cage, Saturday afternoon, in the final basketball game of the season for both teams. This was the second win for the visitors in two days as they had defeated Colby on Friday night. The game was a listless one throughout with Maine taking over the lead at the end of the first half and maintaining it until the final whistle.

Both teams started slowly and missed many shots before New Hampshire took a 12-9 lead with the contest about ten minutes old. Just before the half-way gun Maine found the basket and led, 14-13. This was the lowest scoring period in Durham for varsity competition this season.

Maine began to click in the second half with accurate shooting and passing. Bourgoin and Wilson amassed 11 points before Flaherty could drop one for the Wildcats. The Bears dominated the remainder of the game by regaining the ball on rebounds and working it in for layup shots.

Hatch and Plante shared scoring honors for the Sauermen with six points apiece while Bourgoin and Wilson led the victors by scoring 14 and 12 respectively.

Wildcat Pucksters Meet Northeastern

The Wildcat hockey team will wind up the 1938-39 hockey season Tuesday night when it meets Northeastern University at Boston. The Huskies boast a 5 to 3 victory over New Hampshire in their previous encounter this season, but the Wildcats have improved a great deal since then.

The local team is in third place in the New England league behind Boston University and Boston College, each of these teams having defeated the Wildcats once. A victory will clinch the third spot for New Hampshire.

Coach "Fuzz" Thurston will start Ray Patten, Warren Davison, and Bill Quinn in the first line. Rab Fournier and Don Otis will be at their usual places on the defensive line and Jack Wentzell will tend the goal.

On Thursday, February 23, Dr. Adelbert Ebner of the University of Munich spoke to the members of the Forestry Club on "Forestry in Germany." The same evening he also spoke to the Plant Science Club. The subject concerned exchange scholarships between Germany and the United States. Mr. Ebner is in this country as a guest of Mr. Frank Kennett of Conway, a well-known lumberman. Mr. Kennett presented the Forestry department of the University with a copy of the complete proceedings of the Second International Forestry Congress.

Psychological attitudes among teachers, parents, and pupils will be studied in a new course at Boston university.

Well, now we can at least cross the street without being caught in a traffic jam and get waited on in Commons within a reasonable (?) time, but we were sorry to see the schoolboys leave. The eager faces of the young hopefuls, and the crowds drawn to this quiet, peaceful community by the tournament, added dazzling color to our drab existence. Whether they lost the first day or won in the finals the boys all seemed to enjoy themselves and were good sportsmen at all times, though many of the spectators let their enthusiasm carry them too far. On Friday and Saturday evenings the crowd, which was predominately from Portsmouth and Dover, was quite free with its booing, and the officials were forced to request fairness several times.

St. Mary's of Claremont, the Class B favorite, sailed through without a hitch. Omer Rousseau's team, which placed three men on the all tournament quintet was the smoothest and most confident quintet of school boys seen in many a day.

Pomiecko, the star center, had the ability to loaf at the proper time, and as result never tired. Eddie Lapointe was a deadly shot from outside Lincoln's defense while LaCasse was a stellar guard. Joe Beaudin, captain of Austin McCaffrey's Lincoln team was a pleasure to watch in all games. Winning or losing, he was always smiling, and was the spark which kept Lincoln going into the final game.

Stevens High, also of Claremont, led by all-tournament Ken Therrian, ran circles around Berlin in Friday night's semi-finals. Many sports writers had picked the paper city boys to win, but they were no match for Coach Parker's charges. Earl Thurber, towering Steven's center and all-state football player, who also made the mythical five, was not so successful in grabbing the rebound shots away from Portsmouth in the final game. The result was a Seaport City domination throughout. The Class A champs were never tired for the whole team was substituted for another, and the second seemed as good as the first. Though they had a poor season as far as games won and lost go, the Portsmouth boys were not just lucky in winning; they were clearly the best team.

Ed Blood's skiers brought another winter sport season to a close at St. Margaret's, Quebec, by placing a close fourth in the Intercollegiate Ski Union Championship. Paul Townsend turned in the most brilliant performance when he finished third in the gruelling cross country race. A field of over thirty contestants labored over the 12-mile course but Townsend, who has been outstanding all season, was well up with his 1:44.17 time. Norwood Ball and Bob Clark, the freshman stars, monopolized the downhill and slalom for the Wildcats. Ball dodged through the flags in sixth position and was eighth in the downhill. Clark was fifth in both events against such great skiers as Dick Durrance, Dartmouth's ace, who, by the way, finished first in both of these races, thereby classing himself as the greatest of collegiate skiers.

Now there's to be a lull in the life of our athletes as the winter track, basketball, and skiing season are over for another year.

New Hampshire Ski Team Takes Fourth In Canadian Meet

Paul Townsend, Dana Ball, Ray Whitcher Shine for Wildcats in Season-ender

The University of New Hampshire ski team finished fourth in the annual College Ski Union championships last week-end at St. Margaret's, Quebec. The Wildcats scored 415.90 points to trail Dartmouth, McGill and Middlebury who finished in that order. The other teams entered in the meet were Vermont, Harvard, University of Montreal, Williams, and Amherst.

New Hampshire placed well in all the events—Paul Townsend getting a third in the gruelling twelve mile cross-country race. All the contestants agreed that this cross-country course was the roughest ever run in intercollegiate competition. Bob Johannsen, McGill captain was unable to finish any better than thirtieth in this event, and Eddie Gignac, Middlebury star, finished thirty-fourth.

Chivers, Durrance, and Rideout of Dartmouth monopolized most of the first places in the meet—except that Eddie Gignac of Middlebury got a first in the jumping. Dana Ball finished sixth in the slalom and eighth in the downhill for New Hampshire. Townsend, besides his third place in the cross country, came in eighth in the combined cross country and jump and Ray Whitcher got twelfth place in the jumping.

Rehearsals Get Underway as "Winterset" Cast is Chosen

by Manuel Kopelman

"Winterset" has finally been cast and it is now in the midst of a whirl of rehearsals. At the beginning the rehearsals were held in the uncompromising surroundings of a classroom at the bottom floor of Murkland hall, and even here the beautiful lines came to life in vivid fashion, transforming the drab room into a beautiful stage. Having journeyed since then to Murkland auditorium, surroundings which are much more conducive to play production, the cast has taken on even more zest, and the action rolls forth in beautiful fashion.

"Winterset" is a play of bitterness, or irony, of pathos, and at the same time it possesses moments of rollicking humor, born of ironic situation, which make of it a perfect, well-rounded play. The lines are of life itself, vivid as the splat of the gangster's bullet, moving as emotion wrung from the depths of the soul. A master of the drama, Maxwell Anderson has drawn twenty character delineations, all equally finely wrought, and all intrinsic protagonists in the action. Menacing Trock, conciliatory—and at the same time, hard—Shadow; chaste, virginal, Miriamne; bitterly ironic Mio; bewildered Judge Gaunt; philosophical Esdras; inhibited Garth; progress on their vital way, in a milieu of many fascinating types of people, hemmed in by the walls of futility. Set against the background of a New York "Dead End" alley, the play unfolds its fascinating story of illegal execution, burning desire for revenge, tender love, with ever-heightening interest, rising finally to a crescendo which scales the dramatic heights.

The production is under the general supervision of Manuel E. Kopelman. It is being co-directed by Paul Martineau and Leonard Coplen, and the business manager is George L. Erb. In charge of set construction is Martin Souders.

The cast is as follows:

Mio	John Hall
Miriamne	Ruth Stoughton
Trock	Jerome Green
Shadow	Gratton Stevenson
1st Girl	Evelyn Barenburg
2nd Girl	Ann Eastman
Piny	Judith Weinstat
Hobo	George L. Erb
Herman	David Hazen
Judge Gaunt	Ray Oakes
Esdras	Paul Martineau
Sergeant	Harry Gelt
Radical	Allan Korpela
Policeman	Robert Morrison
Garth	Louis McDonough
Carr	David Holt

Story Begins in Minnesota

Filming is started in Minnesota, where the mining of the ore is depicted. Carried from its source by rail to the ore docks at Duluth, the ore is shown being transferred to the lake steamers. Shots taken at Gary, Indiana, include the unloading, the coke plants, blast furnaces, and steelmaking operations. The camera that caught all of this was one of the thirteen of its kind in existence; it ran three rolls of film simultaneously to record the blues, yellows, and reds. Throngs of steelworkers, employees, and "kibitzers" flocked around the camera crew at every "on location."

Visual evidence of the point which it attempts to prove, the film "Highlights and Shadows", sponsored by the Eastman Kodak Company, will also be shown at this time. The picture traces the steps by which man's efforts to transmit his ideas have led to the perfecting and popularizing of photography. The five reels vividly portray one of the world's most important arts and industries.

Movie Arouses Enthusiasm

This movie was shown to a privileged few enthusiasts in the 1939 Kodak exhibit in Boston and was praised extravagantly by reviewers. "Departs notably from conventional film production . . . shrewd theatrical timing . . . the marvels of precision machinery and mass production are graphically portrayed . . . an indispensable record of photography; at no time does the film become too technical . . . an enormously worthwhile document which should be witnessed by all photographic folk . . . a masterpiece". And the Hollywood cameramen say, "Not only a great education but a grand picture; its technical handling is perfect." From a New York critic came the tribute "awe-inspiring."

These pictures should furnish about one and one-half hours of the finest educational, non-technical entertainment that can be obtained. Students who have seen them pronounce them "swell!"

A new anatomy physiology department, the pride of the University of Kentucky, has an operating room as in a fully-equipped hospital for use in animal operations, and three 750-watt lights illuminate three operating tables.

Inter-House Sports Begin for Women

The annual Women's Inter-house Activities began yesterday, February 27, with the opening basketball games in the women's gym. This competition will be carried on from now until the spring vacation, with basketball, bowling and badminton tournaments, and will continue in the spring with ping pong, archery, and tennis competitions. A large silver cup donated by the head of the department of physical education of women, Miss Hoban, is the object of the inter-house activities. The cup, with winners' names and dates engraved upon it goes from one winning house to another each year, unless some house or dormitory wins it three times in succession, then it permanently belongs to that house. Theta Upsilon won the competition last year, and Phi Mu once had the cup two years in succession.

Each group entered in the contest has appointed or chosen a sports chairman as follows: Alpha Chi Omega, Rachael Cox; Alpha Xi Delta, Madeline Papachristos; Bickford, Eleanor Mauricette; Association of Women Day Students, Iris Valley; Chi Omega, Joyce Sanborn; Congreve, Mary Hayner; Kappa Delta, Alice Peckham; Phi Mu, Ann Carlisle; Pi Lambda Sigma, Louise Fudala; Scott, Rita Donahoe; Smith, Dorothy Merrill; Theta Upsilon, Alice Colman. The duties of these sports chairmen are to keep scoring sheets, and to represent their houses at meetings with Miss Beckwith, who is in charge of the competition.

The houses get points for entering teams; for winning first to fourth places in the contests; when members of the house belong to the Outing club, or make the class squad for W. A. A.; and if a house runs its own tournament in the individual sports, ping pong, tennis, badminton, and sends the winner of the house tournament to represent the house in the competition. Pledges who live in dormitories will enter the contest with their sororities. The ping pong games will be singles, tennis will be played doubles, each house entering the bowling competition will have to have a team of four, and each archery team will have to have four members on it.

The competition in basketball is very keen, and exciting games are expected because the houses are very evenly matched and there are many outstanding players on campus. There will be no admission charged at these games and everyone is welcome. The games will be played afternoons at four, and some at eight in the evening.

Broadcast Debate With Providence

The debating team of the University continues its busy schedule of debates when it engages as its antagonist Providence College on next Wednesday, Feb. 28, 4:00 P. M., in Murkland auditorium. The subject will be: "Resolved that the United States establish an alliance with Great Britain" with New Hampshire taking the affirmative side. The members of the team who will be engaged in this discussion are: Milton Kaplan, Paul Perras and John Philip Hall. The debate will be broadcast over Station WHEB.

The most recent forum held by the organization was one held Friday afternoon, Feb. 24, with Harvard on the negative and New Hampshire on the affirmative on the question: "Resolved that the Neutrality Act Should be Repealed." Home Economics Classes Will Operate Own Tearoom

by Edith Blake

The University Commons and every other place in town where food is sold or served is being faced with a new rival, and their position of honor and affection is being challenged by a new arrival from Mexico, "El Sombrero." But they are not seriously worried as they will have to face this competition only at one meal a week.

"El Sombrero" is a project of the advanced foods class of the Home Economics department. A class of seniors in the tearoom management course have transformed the food laboratory in the new Home Economics lab in Pettee hall. A section of the room has been separated from the rest of the lab and turned into a typical tearoom, decorated in Mexican style. Mexican shawls, and sombreros are hung about the walls and Mexican

Yacht Club News

The Yacht Club in conjunction with Coach Carl Lundholm and Miss Margaret Hoban of the physical education department, is inaugurating a new plan whereby its members may be taught the fundamentals of sailing and receive University credit for it. During March the course will be held at the regular meetings of the club, led by Jack Skerry. In April, however, there will be a sailboat on the University pond, and an outdoor shore school will be conducted by Mr. Leon Glover. Twice a week instruction will be given in rigging, handling and care of the boat. There will be outside reading and examinations given as in the regular physical education courses.

The club is planning to make arrangements so that adequate transportation will be secured to the anchorage so that those who have learned the rudiments will be able to sail. However, only those who are actually members of the club will be allowed to sail in the club boats, although all may take the shore school course.

EXPLORER LECTURES

at his study program. The schedule included all the "ologies" and sciences, but LaVarre never put his nose in a French or History class. During the summer vacation of his freshman year, he had a chance to accompany an old mineral prospector to South America, where he helped locate gold, and even found 500 carats of diamonds on his own account. Not long after, the regular trips to South America began, the first of which netted the young and rather frightened LaVarre a profit of $31,000. The explorations through the length and breadth of South America have continued since. Some of the fruits of these trips have been gold, diamonds, orchids, chicle, rubber, petroleum, medicinal plants, butterflies—and guppies!

As a writer, LaVarre has contributed to many of the outdoor and sporting magazines, and has written four books. His most recent, "Gold, Diamonds, and Orchids", has been translated into many languages, and has been reviewed very favorably everywhere.

Most successful of all as a geologist, LaVarre owes most of the profits of his expeditions to the rare minerals and metals he discovers. He says, "It is no sixth sense. I studied for years under great teachers, and all I did was to apply what they taught me. I've been lucky that nature didn't try too hard, in my case, to keep the doors to her treasure chest locked as tightly as she might have. Luck helps the explorer as well as any other man."

KAPPA SIGMA—The Berlin basketball team stayed at the house during the tournament. William Brown injured his foot while skiing in Gifford. A delegation of trustees inspected the house recently.
