Peace Discussed at Liberal Club Forum

A surprise speaker on the round table discussion sponsored by the Liberal Club last Friday night, was Miss Agnes Ryan, prominent local figure. In addition to the regular speakers of the evening, consisting of Dean H. L. Slobin, Professor H. H. Scudder, Dr. H. F. Rudd, Major D. Swanton, and Rev. E. Hangen, Miss Ryan congratulated the efforts of the Liberal Club in having such discussions and commended in general, the work of the club. She humorously criticized the speakers for having only scratched the surface of the discussion and said that more time should be allotted each speaker. In addition, Miss Ryan suggested that the Liberal Club should sponsor more of these discussions. This program was held in conjunction with National Peace Week-end and took place in the Commons Trophy room.

Rev. Hangen, the first speaker of the evening, advocated a pacifistic philosophy. He quoted from the Bible and said that pacifism was the Christian doctrine.

The next speaker introduced was Professor Scudder who spoke briefly on the necessity of preparedness.

Dean H. L. Slobin suggested that all ideas, good or bad, were gradually evolved and that man too was gradually evolving in a spirally upward direction.

The last speaker, Major Swanton, gave the militaristic point of view. He said that we should not entangle ourselves in any foreign affairs, and that we should maintain an adequate army

Canvas by Marion James Exhibited

The painting of Philip Hale, music critic, who is best known for his program notes on the Boston Symphony orchestra, has been completed by Marian James, a junior at the university, and will be hung in the new music room in the library.

Miss James is majoring in English, and studies drawing under George Thomas, assistant professor of architecture at the university. She painted the portrait in four weeks as part of a class project. Working in oils this year for the first time, Miss James has also painted the picture of Bob Nolan, which was used in the Mask and Dagger production of "Berkeley Square". At present she is painting Richard Phenix as a discus thrower for "You Can't Take It With You."

Miss James is president of Pan-Hellenic, a member of Alpha Xi Delta, and an unofficial member of the Great Bay Writers' project. She is the daughter of Mrs. Marian James of Madbury road, and the late Professor James, after whom James hall was named.

Fred Clark Gives Recital Thursday

Tech Student Sings in Third Student Concert At Murkland Auditorium

The third individual concert of the Student Concert series will be offered by Frederick Clark, bass-baritone, in Murkland auditorium, Thursday, April 27, at 8:00 o'clock. Mr. Clark is a senior in the College of Technology, majoring in chemistry. In response to a request for a sketch of his life, Mr. Clark sent the following brief autobiography:

"None of my ancestors could carry a tune, but I showed an interest in music at an early age. At the age of five I used to tag along behind the band at the Memorial Day parades. At that time, my greatest ambition in life was some day to play in the band, an ambition which I later realized. My first musical instrument was a harmonica which I played so much the neighbors would pay me a nickel to stop. I next procured an old battered baritone horn from the store room of the long extinct town band, and set out to learn to play it by myself. After struggling with this instrument for three years, I was presented with a second hand trombone by a distant relative who hadn't heard me play the other horn, and by diligent practice and loss of friends I finally reached the great heights by playing first trombone in the Keene City Band.

"Since coming to college, I have sung in the Community Church choir, glee club (president, '37-'38), the part of Arac in "Princess Ida", and Pooh Bah in "The Mikado". Late in my sophomore year, Mrs. Helen Funkhouser took pity on me and agreed to let me study with her. Any ability which I may now have I owe to the training I have received from her. Another very important factor to me is

Notice

Editorials and other comments in "The New Hampshire" indicate an interest in a possible change in the rule governing attendance at classes. The Student Advisory Council of the college of Liberal Arts has recommended that all students be allowed three "cuts" per semester and that seniors be allowed unlimited "cuts" during the second semester. Students on probation would be allowed no "cuts".

This proposal has been referred by Dean Jackson to the Committee on Scholarship for study and recommendation. The Committee will hold a hearing on this matter at 4 P. M. on Wednesday, April 26, in Murkland 14. At this hearing, which will be open to both faculty and students, everyone will be given an opportunity to offer arguments for and against the proposal. It is hoped that many students will come prepared to present well-considered arguments.

On many occasions faculty committees have held hearings open only to members of the faculty. So far as is known, this is the first time that a hearing will be open to both faculty and students. As attendance at classes is a matter of great importance to both teachers and students, both groups should be well represented at the hearing.

It should be understood that no final action can be taken at a hearing. Any change in the present rule will have to be acted upon by the Liberal Arts faculty, and possibly, because the present rule concerns the entire University, by the Senate. The Committee on Scholarship, however, when it prepares its report to the faculty, will give serious consideration to the opinions of students and faculty members who speak at the hearing.

Clifford S. Parker, Chairman,
Committee on Scholarship.

Crystal Balls to be Highlight of Prom Decorations

Plans for Gala Affair Nearing Completion According to Chairman

With the annual Junior Prom only three days away, the committee in charge has been working doubly hard in an effort to smooth out last minute details. Ticket sales have gone unusually well this year and Jack Hanlon last night expressed the belief that this year's prom would equal if not surpass the attendance of other years'.

Luella Hirschner, chairman of decorations has announced that the theme of the prom will be "Storm of Color". The school colors of blue and white will be the predominant colors and the decorations will be built around them. Two huge crystal balls will revolve over the two ends of the floor while the multicolored lights shine on the globes as well as on the dancing multitudes.

Tickets are available from members of the committee as well as class officers. Students are urged to purchase their tickets before the dance if possible. Dancing will start at 9 P. M. and will continue until 2 A. M. The intermission and coronation of the queen will take place at approximately midnight.

Betty Brown Will Be Pageant Queen

Betty Brown of Chi Omega sorority was recently chosen May Queen for the annual pageant which is to be held on May 13. Every year the pageant is presented under the direction of the Women's Athletic Association as a highlight of the Mothers' Day festivities held here at the University. Miss Margaret Hoban, head of the Physical Education Department, sponsors the affair, assisted by Miss Beckwith and Miss Evans, physical education instructors. This year's pageant is an original one written by Shirley Barker, and based on New Hampshire folklore.

The queen's aides will be picked by Miss Hoban and will consist of one girl from each of the New England states.

Miss Brown, besides being a member of Chi Omega, was class secretary during her sophomore year, member of Women's Executive Committee, Glee Club, Outing Club, Women's Athletic Association, Sophomore Hop Committee, Junior Prom committee, and was President of Mortar Board.

University Board of Trustees Meets

Approve Relocation of Departments; Adopt New Two-year Aggie Course

A preliminary announcement to "The New Hampshire" of some of the important decisions of the University Board of Trustees at their meeting last Friday was made just before the paper went to press. Chief among these were the following:

A regrouping and relocation of departments, giving much needed elbow room, as a result of the Ne-smith hall development.

Establishment on a trial basis for two years of a School of Agriculture with a non-degree curriculum which would replace the present two-year course and which would tie in with teacher-training under the requirements of the recent federal George-Deen Act.

Reorganization of the Graduate School into related subject-matter divisions.

Adoption of the budget in the new form recommended by the national committee on standard financial reports.

Authorization of a bath house to be erected at the gate of the swimming pool and to be equipped with showers and footbath.

Approval of the plan to cooperate with the town of Durham, under certain conditions, in the installment of the sewer system on Mill Road.

Approval of the Senate recommendation that all students be required to satisfy fraternities and sororities in respect to room and board bills as a condition of registration for each semester.

Approval of the Senate recommendation that students twenty-five years of age who desire to work for a bachelor's degree may secure a substantial amount of the necessary

Newmanites Hold Communion Mass

The third annual Communion Sunday was observed April 23 under the sponsorship of the Newman club. Holy Mass was celebrated in Murkland auditorium, where nearly 200 faculty and student members received Holy Communion and heard Rev. J. Desmond O'Connor deliver a brief sermon on the Eucharist in the religious life of the catholic student.

Major Donovan Swanton presided over the Communion Breakfast which was served in the Commons at ten o'clock. Among those present were the Hon. Thomas A. Murray, member of the governor's council; Mrs. Alice McCushing, state agent of the Catholic Daughters of America; and Rev. William P. Clancy, Diocesan superintendent of schools.

Dr. Fred Engelhardt greeted the club in the name of the university and urged the development of the spirit of Christian tolerance. "We need have no fears about foreign ideologies", he stated, "as long as this spirit of tolerance and mutual understanding prevails in our country."

The Hon. William O'Hare, commissioner of public welfare of the city of Boston, spoke on the necessity for religious faith and morality as the basis of true government and humanitarian progress. He called upon his youthful audience to rededicate themselves in the fundamental religious and social virtues that characterized our founding fathers.

There will be a meeting of the French Club at the home of Professor Grigaut, Wednesday evening at 7:30.

WELCOME HOME, BILL

Quietly and unobserved, Bill Cowell came home last week. He had not been here more than a few hours before the faculty, students and townspeople began to hear the news and either called him on the phone or dropped in to see him.

Their welcome has been wholehearted and sincere. No one has done more for or worked harder for this college than this same "Butch" Cowell. The story of his arrival here and finding the athletic department a nonentity has become a tradition.

The development of that same athletic department from nothing until today it is unsurpassed by colleges in its own class in the country, is an everlasting tribute to this sturdy individual. No college team has better equipment than the teams representing New Hampshire. This is one of the most important phases of athletics as any man who has ever competed in athletics will testify. Our outdoor athletic plant is not to be equalled in New England an few colleges elsewhere can show a layout in the beauty of nature comparable to Lewis Fields.

The new cage, the first step in the indoor program, is another example of the untiring efforts "Butch" has given. No one probably knows the exact amount of work he has put in on the development of the sports and physical education departments of the University.

Throughout the country the name of William H. Cowell means a great deal in the sport and coaching world. A past-president of the National Football Coaches Association, he has almost lost count of the number of times he has been re-elected secretary-treasurer of that body. He is a charter member of the organization and this past winter rose from a sick bed to keep his perfect attendance record at the meetings intact.

His work has ever been to make the University of New Hampshire a better place. His "work days" of past generations are almost legendary by now, but it was the days of hard work put in by students under his direction that has made New Hampshire's campus the spot of beauty it is today.

Moreover, it cannot be denied that athletic teams to the average person are the best way of advertising any American educational institution. That is, it is the athletic teams that publicize any college or school. The rapid growth of the University since "Butch" started here is ample evidence of the great name Cowell has helped to give New Hampshire.

But even the most sturdy of machines must fail sometime and Cowell was no exception. The years of hard work and labor told, and a recurring ailment overtook him. He was in the hospital for months, but during those weeks on end, the men of New Hampshire who had gone forth onto the fields of play under the "Coach", as he is known to those who have played under him, didn't forget him. He says he has letters and cards enough to keep him busy answering them for months. Each one of them is a poignant reminder of the love and affection that his "boys" hold for him.

Welcome home, "Bill". The University of New Hampshire salutes a gallant man.

Marion Anderson will be the subject of a mural to be painted in the Department of the Interior building. . . . Secretary Ickes is sponsoring the move to raise funds by public subscription for the project. . . . A W.P.A. art director will supervise the painting. Several lessons may be learned from the above gleaned from the news of the day. It is the culmination of a reaction which set in last February when the Negro contralto was denied the use of Constitution Hall in Washington by the Daughters of the American Revolution. It shows the extent to which a free people is willing to go to make amends for an enormous wrong done to the representative of an American minority. It is an encouraging sign to note that in spite of all the organizations and individuals dedicated to the suppression of liberty and to the propagation of race hatreds there are some persons who will unequivocally state their adherence to the principles of common decency.

Patriotic organizations cannot continue to hold the respect of Americans when they deliberately foster the repression of minority groups. They should lean backward in attempting to be fair to the groups which constitute in the aggregate the United States. The action of Mrs. Roosevelt in resigning from the D.A.R. because of the Marion Anderson affair has been subject to commendation by numberless Americans. The revolt started by the first lady has spread and the secessionist movement in the D.A.R. has resulted in the founding of a rival organization, the Descendants of the American Revolution.

If patriotic organizations are to protect the principles of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and even of Washington's Farewell Address, they must adhere to the principles therein contained or their work is a farce.

There's That Woman Again

Engineers Present Annual Open House

Six departments of the college of technology cooperated in presenting the marvels of modern science to a large crowd of awed visitors last Friday and Saturday when the laboratories of DeMeritt and Conant halls brought out their finest apparatus for public display. Passing under a gay, multi-colored "Welcome" sign into the electrical laboratory, the visitor was challenged to "Beat the repulsion hoop" and "Enter—10,000,000.37 volts". Other attractive exhibits included the polaroid demonstration, the smoke eliminator, the tin-can motor, and the strength test.

The communications lab showed the process of taking sound from a movie film, and also displayed the perennially popular cathode-ray oscillograph, an instrument by which sound waves are made visible; the smooth sine curves of orchestral music were shown contrasted to the rough, irregular trace of the human voice. The equipment by which the university broadcasts are sent out through WHEB was also on display.

The mechanical lab afforded a view of steam engines, turbines and compound engines running full tilt. An air-conditioning machine and an automobile engine were also on view, the latter for the purpose of studying fuels. Across the hall the stroboscope showed the visitors how a whirling shaft can apparently be stopped so effectively that printing on the shaft could be read—while the shaft was turning over at a speed equal to that of the electric motor driving it! The use of polaroid to determine places of stress in model beams and girders was another feature of the exhibit of the mechanical engineering department.

Upstairs in the physics laboratory, all sorts of wonders were discovered by the visitors—one rang a bell by intercepting a light ray, made lightning with the aid of a Wimshurst machine, and saw the rotation of the earth detected by means of a modified Foucault pendulum.

In Conant Hall, an attractive bit of countryside was produced in miniature, complete with train, bridges, mill and "Bowler Dam". Other bridge models were also displayed in the room. An exhibit of levels, transits, and theodolites, some of which were accurate to ten seconds of arc, occupied another room, while downstairs a complete hydraulic system was laid out, including a perpetual flow faucet causing quite a bit of speculation.

Yacht Club Loses To Dartmouth Team

Sunday afternoon two of the University Yacht club boats bowed in defeat to Dartmouth, in a meet held on Great Bay. In all three races of the meet, the Dartmouth team placed first, and succeeded in piling up 17 points against 12 for the New Hampshire boats.

Each club entered two boats. Those from Dartmouth were skippered by Seidman and Soule, with Thurm and Bartelmez and sea scouts Page and Getchel as crews. The Yacht club boats were under the command of Allan Campbell and Edson Stannard, with Brooks and Woodbury, and Clark and Jordan for crews. One point was awarded for entering a boat and one for each boat beaten.

The first and second races were straight courses of approximately two miles. The fourth race covered a triangular course of about four miles.

Professor Rudd, the chairman of the round table discussion, briefly summarized the previously given points. He prolonged the meeting ten more minutes because of the general interest of the audience, and the popular desire for more discussion.

Varsity Track Team Opens Season with Brown Squad

Stewart, Elliott, Jones Lead Wildcat Runners In Providence Meet

The varsity track team travels to Providence tomorrow to open its 1939 season in a dual meet with the Brown Bruins. Brown, always a strong opponent and with the advantage of two meets behind it, including a victory over Holy Cross, enters the meet as the favorite, since the Wildcats, due to the adverse weather conditions of the past few weeks, have not reached the point yet in their conditioning where they can give their best performances. Therefore, the New Hampshire men will have to make up in ability for the advantage the Bruins have in condition.

Ken Clapp, who grabbed off three firsts against Amherst on Saturday, will probably be the big point-getter for Brown, and his points will be supplemented by those of McLaughry, Chaffee, and Gosnell. Clapp, last year's New England outdoor, and this winter's indoor champ in the dashes, set a new field record Saturday in the 100 yard dash, covering the distance in 9.9 seconds. McLaughry also crashed into the record book by tossing the hammer 172 ft. 11 in.

New Hampshire's strength in winning events lies in the distances from the half mile up, and in the field events, the chances are best in the broad jump. Stewart looks good in the dashes and should give Clapp plenty of worry, as well as give a good account for himself in the broad jump. The Ayer twins and Pieciewicz are strong in the hurdles, and Small is showing great improvement. Elliot and Jones, after a good winter season should be in good shape in the 440 and 880 respectively. The cross country runners form the strength of the distance events with Jennison, McCaffrey and Snowman in the mile, and Underwood and Kirk in the two mile run.

Tom Johnson will be McLaughry's chief opponent in the shot put, with Dick Nellson and Matt Flaherty tossing the hammer against this same son of the Bruin's football coach. Flaherty will have a chance to avenge last year's defeat in the discus by Gosnell, lanky Brown sophomore who was the only man to beat Matt in that event last year. New Hampshire is very strong in the broad jump with

Students, Faculty Meet in Softball

Students vs. faculty! This phrase, so commonly put in practice in the stiff formal atmosphere of the classroom, serves to announce the forthcoming softball game to be held Saturday, April 29, at 2:00 P. M., between the members of the athletically inclined portion of the faculty. Because of the fact that there is no varsity athletic contest scheduled for Durham on that week-end, Blue Key feels that this will be a good time to inaugurate an event in which the students might be able to put themselves on a more equal footing than they are able to obtain in more academic surroundings.

Coach Lundholm seems to be unusually enthusiastic regarding the chances of "his boys" in any sort of contest against the Blue Key, even though they preferred softball.

The challenge was made originally to the members of the athletic department, but "the boys from the cage" appear to lack faith in their own ability, as it is commonly rumored that they will be aided and abetted by "ringers" from the regular faculty. All those Ty Cobbs, Tris Speakers, and Christy Mathewsons from the bygone days of a golden era who wish to get back into harness should get in touch with Captain Lundholm at once, as he is already planning midnight practice sessions in the Field House.

Stewart, Mather, Maillard and possibly Crook all available. Small will be the chief entrant in the high jump with Wilson, Onella, Lampson and Sandusky pole vaulting. Lufkin and Openshaw from last year's freshman team will compete in the javelin, with Currier and Frank also entered.

To add to the difficulties of developing a team in this hectic weather, Coach Sweet has had the added disadvantage of not having regular attendance; and several outstanding men have not yet reported. Abbott, Wright, and Keadin, all dash men, lead this list who, for some reason, have not come out yet. Mitchell, who will be available in the high jump for home meets, will not be competing against Brown Wednesday.

Regardless of the result of the score of tomorrow's meet, the New Hampshire team will benefit by the competition and now that the season is really under way, and with some decent weather in the offing, the Wildcats should develop rapidly and hit their stride about the time of the New England.

Probable New Hampshire Entries:

- 100 yard dash — Stewart, Lang, Mather, Crook, Sweat.
- 120 yard hurdles — F. H. Ayer, F. A. Ayer, Pieciewicz.
- 220 yard dash — Stewart, Tabb, Lang, Mather, Crook, Sweat.
- 1 mile run — McCaffrey, Jennison, Snowman.
- 440 yard dash — Elliot, Abbott.
- 222 yard hurdles — F. H. Ayer, F. A. Ayer, Pieciewicz.
- 880 yard run — Jones.
- 2 mile run — Kirk, Underwood, Snowman.
- Broad jump — Stewart, Mather, Maillard, Crook.
- Javelin throw — Lufkin, Currier, Frank, Openshaw.
- Shot put — Flaherty, Johnson.
- Hammer throw — Flaherty, Nelson, Kew.
- Pole vault — Wilson, Onella, Lampson, Sandusky.
- High jump — Small.
- Discus throw — Flaherty.

Wildcat Stickmen Defeat Tufts, 14-2

Ario Piretti Paces New Hampshire in One-Sided Contest at Medford

Paced by Ario Piretti, the varsity lacrosse team made it two victories in a row by swamping Tufts 14 to 2. Piretti scored five goals and set up several of the others.

The Wildcats jumped into an early lead and dominated the entire game. They scored three goals in rapid succession before the bewildered Jumbos could locate the direction of the New Hampshire goal and tossed in five more in the second period.

Tufts revived near the end of the first half and began to drive a few shots at Jack Wentzell who was tending the New Hampshire cage. Jack was equal to the occasion, however, and managed to turn most of them aside, only one getting past him for a Jumbo score.

In the final half the Wildcats added six more counters, while the best the Jumbos could do was collect a solitary goal. Don Otis contributed three goals to the New Hampshire cause. Slug Knox and Carl Randall played their usual fine brand of ball, contributing three more Wildcat scores and assisting in many of the others.

The summary:

New Hampshire — Wentzell, Brunel and Magay, goal; Glines, Cozella, center point; Tinker, Liberty, 1st defense; Ballou, Gilgun, Plodzick, 2nd defense; Coutts, Plodzick, Gilgun, center; Knox, Costanzo, Cattabrigga, 2nd attack; Piretti, Stevens, Johnson, Carpenter, 1st attack; Quinn, Piper, Sanderson, out home; Otis, Randall, in home.

Tufts — Urban, Kennedy, goal; Anslow, Shedd, Cognetta, center point; Hammond, Shedd, 1st defense; Dolben, Spear, Walsh, Bartlett, 2nd defense; Gould, Yale, Harrison, center; Williams, Ceba, 2nd attack; Yale, Barsalou, Beckvold, 1st attack; Graham, Yale, MacKenzie, out home; Andrews, Graham, in home.

Tennis Team Wins First Engagement

The University of New Hampshire tennis team defeated a strong Maine contingent here last Thursday afternoon by a score of 5 to 4. The Wildcats lost only two matches out of the six singles while the Bears predominated the doubles with two wins in three contests.

Charlie Piffard and Jim Garvey, New Hampshire stars, led the attack by winning their singles matches and then teaming together to cop their doubles.

Maine was paced by Russell Crockett who defeated Bill Greer and then teamed with Bob Hamilton to defeat George Wilson and Dick Wallace in the final doubles match.

This was the first match of the season for the tennis team which sport has recently been recognized as an official university sport.

The summary:

Swaseymen Tame Bates in Opener

Wildcats Defeat Bobcats 11-5, in New Display Of Batting Strength

by Maurice Epstein

Playing under a continuous rainfall, the New Hampshire varsity nine won an abbreviated opener from Colby yesterday afternoon at Brackett field, by a score of 11 to 6. The game, contested on a slow, rain-soaked diamond, was marked by the heavy hitting of the Wildcats and by the sloppy fielding of the visitors. Showing a long awaited punch, New Hampshire got off to an early one run lead in the first when Buck O'Brien led off with a clean single to center, moved to second as Cryans grounded out, and scored as Jack Hersey punched a bingle to right. Decker grounded out and Clark fouled out to end the early rally.

The Wildcats added another tally in the second, putting together a two-base error by the Colby second baseman and a sharp single by O'Brien down the third-base line.

Again in the fourth, Coach Swasey's lads bunched a levy of base knocks to send five more counters across the platter. Jack Hersey started off the festivities by reaching second when the center fielder muffed a short fly. Johnny Decker singled through the box, Hersey holding second. Both runners advanced when Sambo Clark scratched a hit to third base, and Hersey scored when Ace Parker lined a two and two pitch to center for a single. On this sizzling smash, Decker moved to third and Clark advanced to second. Sparky Adams then belted a double to deep left, pushing Hersey and Clark across with two more runs and sending Parker to third. As Wilson grounded out to the second baseman, Parker scored and Adams went to third, but the rally ended as Sparky was caught trying to steal home.

This newly found batting strength made itself evident once more in the seventh frame, when a miscue by the visitor's short fielder put Roper on first from which point he was pushed over the plate by Noseck's single, Cryan's sacrifice, and two more errors by the Colby second sacker on a Hersey roller. Up in the clutch again, Johnny Decker came through with a torrid smash to right to score Noseck and Hersey. Sam Clark topped off the hit-fest with a solid wallop to deep right that the rightfielder just managed to get his hands on after a long run but could not hold.

In contrast to the heavy clubbing of the Wildcats, all the kick was taken out of the Colby Mules by the baffling portside slants of Al Roper. For four innings Al had the Waterville team eating out of his hand, not allowing a man to reach first. With speed, stuff, and a bewildering change of pace, Al set the first twelve men to face him down in order and it was not until the fifth, when Allen singled to left and Peters doubled to right center did the visitors succeed in scoring. In the seventh Al seemed to become slightly disconcerted when the first man to face him singled and he proceeded to walk the next two batters. Al looked tired at this point and Red Hayden was called in to take over the mound duties. Red was nicked for two singles which, along with two infield outs, enabled Colby to score five more runs. The game was called in the last half of this frame when the precipitation reached torrential proportions. During his six-inning trick on the slab, Al whiffed seven and gave up but three hits.

O'Brien, Hersey, Clark and Decker were the big stickers, each banging out two hits. Parker, Adams, Johnson and Noseck each contributed one to make a total of twelve. Coach Swasey's face was wreathed in smiles as he viewed this show of power and the veteran mentor can count on many more victories if the boys continue to wield such potent willows as they did in Monday's battle.

Amid such offensive strength one should not lose sight of the fine fielding gems of the day, Sparky going far to his left to make a fine stop on a snappy grounder and Lou racing at full tilt into right center to make an excellent running catch on a well hit ball.

Bates will be the next opponent, meeting New Hampshire on Thursday, April 27, at Brackett Field. The Bobcats have a veteran experienced outfit, Bergeron at first and several others having played fast, independent ball, and should provide tough opposi-

Frosh Lacrossemen Lose to Andover

Coach Karazia's freshman lacrosse team dropped its first game of the season to Phillips Andover Academy at Durham, Saturday, April 22, by a 7 to 1 score. The defeat may be attributed to the greater experience and practice of the less brawny Andover aggregation. Persistent inclement weather has hampered the New Hampshire Cubs, but if Jupe Pluvius holds off this week, the freshmen can be counted on to make a better showing against Exeter Saturday. Monica and Sonosky showed up especially well for the yearlings. The summary:

New Hampshire Freshmen: Goal, Impota; Point, Mueller; C. Point, Doyle; Second Defense, Gordon; First Defense, McCrone; Center, Monica; First Attack, Fitzsimmons; out home, Judkins; in home, Rudd.

Andover: Goal, Ritts; Point, Burnham; C. point, Arnold; Second defense, Burke; First defense, Campion; Center, Macomber; 1st attack, Schuela; 2nd attack, Day; out home, Heckel; in home, Marshall.

Score: Andover 7, N. H. 1. Goals — N.H.: Fitzsimmons. Andover: Marshall 3, Schneler 1, Macomber 1, Campion 1, Heckel 1.

Yearling Trackmen Downed by Exeter

Coach Sweet's Wildkittens were defeated in their first dual meet of the season by Exeter Academy at the latter's track, Saturday, April 22. The meet showed that the freshmen tracksters, although handicapped by lack of practice, possess some versatile point-getters.

Stacy Clark, whose speed on the freshman gridiron was a revelation, showed his heels to the field in both the century and furlong dashes.

In the field events, Carl Sippelle was very impressive, winning both the javelin and hammer throws and taking thirds in the broad jump and discus throw. Carl added a third in the twenty to round out an excellent day's work. Tom Beaudette also put in a busy afternoon, notching second place in the shot put, hammer throw, and discus throw, and gaining third position in the hundred. Wheeler and Styles also placed in two events.

tion. The contest will be well worth seeing and the students should turn out in large numbers to watch the Lewiston Bobcat do battle with a Durham Wildcat that at last has grown powerful, sharp claws which will make it a worthy rival for any of the teams it will face during the season.

Preliminary approval of plans for a celebration of the 75th anniversary of the University in 1940-41.

Reorganization of space at the dairy barns to provide new quarters for herd sires and more space for young stock.

The housing shifts, made possible by the enlargement of Nesmith hall, are of a major character. They involve the concentration of all the biological sciences of the University (except dairy husbandry which will be next door) under one roof. This will mean a grouping of the departments of zoology, botany, bacteriology, animal husbandry, poultry husbandry, entomology, forestry, horticulture, agronomy, and will thus make possible consolidated effort on problems of large and small animals and large and small plants — a unique development in university organization.

A somewhat similar regrouping of social sciences will take place in Morrill hall, which with the new year will house the departments of economics (including accounting and secretarial studies), agricultural economics, sociology, government, and history, also providing offices for the dean of the college of agriculture.

The General Extension Service, including the state leaders of cooperative work and the informational offices, will move to the second and third floors of Thompson hall. The university news bureau will be consolidated there with the extension editorial office, and a radio broadcasting studio will be installed on the top floor. Also going to Thompson hall will be the office of the dean of the Graduate School. The university bookstore will be enlarged in the basement to include space for the centralization of campus mimeographing.

The offices of the education department and of hotel administration will be moved to Murkland hall, and an English writing laboratory will be established on the third floor of that

by Manuel Kopelman

When, last year, we were privileged to hear the performance of Cesar Franck's "Sonata in A major" by Leonard Coplen, violinist, and Huldah Boerker, pianist, at the Music department's Spring concert, we regretted at the same time that Miss Boerker was to be lost to the university within less than a month through graduation. Here, we were convinced, was a perfect combination which could not be duplicated at least within our stay at the university; thus, we were very agreeably surprised when we attended the violin recital by Leonard Coplen in Murkland auditorium last Thursday evening, at which time Ruth Holbrook was the piano accompanist, forming a new half of a superb musical combination.

Beethoven's "Sonata in F major", an early and therefore strictly classical work, offered like opportunity both for the violin and piano. Requiring a most adroit playing technique from both instrumentalists, it was a very effective work, making an excellent opening to the program. Mr. Coplen demonstrated a facility and fine musicianship which can eventuate only from an inherent talent combined with years of serious and sincere study.

Perhaps the best work on the program—to our way of thinking—was a sonata by Edward Grieg, also in F major. It is full of the warmth of a folk song, and is alternately tenderly plaintive, then almost sprightly as it whirls through the merry measures of the Norwegian dance. Grieg is better known for his Peer Gynt Suite, long a warhorse on concert programs, but the "Sonata in F major" revealed a different Grieg, a more compassionate, and decidedly a most skillful Grieg. It was rendered with sensitive understanding my Mr. Coplen, making it the occasion of enthusiastic and very well deserved acclamation.

The rest of the program, made up of shorter pieces, was in enjoyable contrast to the first part and bespoke an admirable artistry in selection. "Berceuse", by Arensky, is a delicate piece, enhanced by the use of a mute, which lends it a ghostliness that is exquisitely beautiful. "Air", "Wedding of a Russian Soldier", "Dumka", and "Gopak", old Russian melodies, capture the mood of the steppes in eloquent fashion. They are typical folk music, alive and vibrant, and offered a fitting conclusion to an entertaining recital. Mr. Coplen was obliged to give two encores: Massenet's ever-popular "Meditation" and the delightfully quixotic "From the Canebrake", by Gardner.

Viewed as a whole, we would say that this recital was the most successful of the Student Concert Series to date, and also the finest testimony to the worth of a series which had already acquitted itself most admirably. It is perhaps fitting that Mr. Coplen, who was instrumental in founding the series, should convince us so indisputably that student concerts are an integral part of our campus life.
