PRICE, THREE CENTS

Portsmouth, Seton Hall, Lawrence Win in School Meet

Existing Records Are Broken in Six Events By Talented Schoolboys

A brilliant Seton Hall track team from South Orange, N. J., completely dominated the field in the prep school division at the 27th Annual Interscholastic Track Meet held here in Durham Saturday, and compiled the tremendous total of 79 points. Second place was captured by St. John's of Danvers, Mass., while Worcester Academy was third. Lawrence, Massachusetts High School was victorious in the out-of-state class, and Portsmouth, last year's champions, retained its title for New Hampshire high schools.

In the morning the weather was ideal for competition but in the afternoon a strong wind blew across the field and slowed up the runners. Credit for the exact and efficient manner in which the meet was run should be given to Coach Paul Sweet and his assistants, who have been planning the schoolboy classic since last November. The public address system, over which Chick Justice announced the results of every event, greatly added to the convenience of spectators, coaches, and contestants alike.

Six existing records were broken by the talented athletes, and here again Seton Hall led the way with three new marks. St. John's, Nashua, and Towle of Newport shared the other three.

Carmen Bova, formerly of Lowell, now at Seton Hall, won the mile run in 4:32.2, shaving four seconds from the record held by McGuire of Cony High School in 1935. Louis Collado was the first to break the tape in the 880 yard run, as he set the record smashing mark of 2:00.5. The third mark set by Seton Hall was in the one mile relay, where the smooth-striding runners eclipsed a 3:37 record to finish in the fast time of 3:27.4.

Omvila Club Hears Professor McGrail

The Omvila Club, an organization of women living off campus in Durham, held its annual meeting at the home of the advisor, Mrs. Robert L. James, Jr., on Monday evening, April 17th. The officers elected for the following year are Miss Nettie M. Jones of Rindge, president; Miss Margaret E. Flavin of Keene, vice-president; Miss Wilma A. Hale of Rindge, secretary; Miss Ella E. Goodwin of Alton, treasurer; and Miss Cynthia N. Crosby of Dunbarton, chairman of the social committee.

The program, in charge of Miss Hale the retiring president, consisted of an "illustrated" lecture, given by Assistant Professor Thomas H. McGrail of the English department. It included recordings of "The Congo", read by the author, Vachel Lindsay; a group of poems written and read by Robert Frost; and concluded with a number of ballads and cow-boy songs collected and sung by Carl Sandburg.

This club has for its motto the Latin words "Omnia vincit labor", from which the name Omvila was derived. It was organized to provide group social life for its members and representation in campus activities.

Story by Hatchell Selected for Book

"Brute", a story by Harry Hatchell, a former university student, together with selections from such noted authors as Stephen Vincent Benet and Thomas Wolfe, will be included in the new revised edition of Nelson's "College Caravan", a book used by one of the advanced freshman English sections. This story was awarded first prize in last year's Atlantic Monthly contest.

The realistic theme of Mr. Hatchell's tale is concerned with a negro's death by torture, emphasizing in its telling the tragic consequences of race prejudice. The author presents an interesting study of his major character, the woman whose hysteria precipitates the action, his style characterized by vivid description in incisive language.

Mr. Hatchell, who transferred from West Point, contributed to the "Student Writer" as well as to the national contest. At the present time the opening chapters of his first novel are in the hands of the publishers.

Campus Visited by Foreign Students

Christian Work Plays Host to Students From Many Other Countries

Thirty foreign students from New England Colleges visited campus this week-end as part of the fifth annual good-will program. While here, they were entertained by the Student Christian Movement, and housed in the dormitories, sororities and fraternities. Saturday afternoon they attended an informal tea at Ballard hall, and in the evening, a banquet was held at Commons, with a number of New Hampshire students attending. Each visitor spoke briefly of his experiences, and a floor show concluded the evening's entertainment. Mary Ann Wheeler of this University tap-danced, accompanied by Helen Almond at the piano. Mr. Daniel Lew of Harvard sang, with Miss Allie Chang of the New England Conservatory of Music accompanying him. Misses Reggie Frankel and Rachel Kestenberg of Radcliffe sang some old German folksongs. The evening was concluded with square dancing.

Sunday, many of the guests attended church. In the afternoon they had the opportunity to view the campus.

The visitors attending were: Miss Marie Ann Greenough, cosmopolitan; Miss Regina Frankel, Miss Gina Goertler, and Miss Rachel Kestenberg, all o Germany, from Radcliffe; Deborah Alexander of England came from Boston University; Miss Allie Chang of China represented the New England Conservatory of Music; from M. I. T. came Babhoobhai V. Bhoota of India, Boonrod Bison and Nithipatana Jalichandra of Siam, Lothat M. Bahner, Fritz Helverson, Werner W. Schroeder of Germany, Norman C. Chow of China, Henry B. deCerenville of Switzerland, George Miller of Colombia, Audun Fronsdaal of Norway, and Gosta A. Verding of Sweden; Harvard's delegation included J. M. Hagopian of Armenia, W. Kopp of Holland, G. J. Villanueva of the Philippines, Daniel H. Lew, Y. Y. Hiang, C. C. Moy, Larry Lee Kay of China, Dr. and Mrs. Karl Deutsch of Czechoslovakia, H. W. Schumann of Germany, T. C. Sewell, T. P. Dillon, Harry Caulfield of the U. S. A.

Visitors Flock to Library Exhibition

Enthusiastic Throng of Students and General Public Voice Approval

The fine arts and music division of the library was opened to the student body and general public at two o'clock Friday afternoon. A crowd of 550 people, largely of students, visited the flower-decorated second floor to examine the display of student art and the new music rooms. The three-day open house which inaugurated the new department closed May 8 while the display of student art, the first complete exhibition of its kind on campus, will remain until May 18.

When questioned as to the success of the open house, Marvin A. Miller, librarian, stated, "The number of students visiting the new rooms has greatly exceeded our fondest hopes, but as yet we have had very few out of town guests."

The crowd seemed pleased with the entire exhibit and especially attracted by Myer Wolf's satirical clay model "Hitler Speaks". The majority of the crowd seemed slightly perplexed by Ellen Watson's unique gouache "Peace on Earth" and frankly pleased by Leslie Hall's amusing wood-carving "Ferdinand".

Included in the exhibit are drawings done with pencil, pen and ink; gouaches and pastels; many water colors and several oils; a collection of photographs taken by the Lens and Shutter club; a group of historically costumed dolls; furniture and wood carving; hammered copper and wrought iron; weaving and design; architectural and archeological drawings; flower and table arrangements, and pottery.

These exhibits were selected on the basis of originality of subject matter rather than according to technique, according to Professor George Thomas of the architecture department and a member of the Fine Arts committee.

Student Writer Appears on Friday

According to a statement made by Dr. Towle Sunday evening, the new edition of the "Student Writer", annual publication of student prose and poetry, will make its appearance on Friday, May 11. The limited edition of 500 copies may be purchased at the bookstore, downtown, and from student salesmen, and will contain 47 selections by 33 contributors.

The large advance sale has made it possible to add several new selections. One of the most outstanding is an allegorical story, "The Tale of the Courageous Jellyfish", by Joe Kay, a Chinese student and senior engineer. Mr. Kay's flair for unusual idioms adds a quaint air to his allegory of the present Japanese-Chinese struggle.

Another selection will probably be Robert Kidder's "Rain", one of two stories selected for the annual story contest sponsored by "Story" magazine.

Ruth Grady, a member of Theta Upsilon sorority was initiated into Mortar Board last week with the other group of junior women. She is treasurer of her sorority, treasurer of Women's Athletic Association during her sophomore year, a member of the All-star hockey and basketball teams during her freshman and sophomore years, a member of the Big Sister committee, a member of the Sophomore Court, German Club, Newman Club, and International Relations Club.

Mildred Bacon, also initiated into Mortar Board is the president of Phi Mu sorority and not of Chi Omega as previously stated.

Date Set for ROTC Commission Awards

Major Donovan Swanton, adjutant of the department of military science and tactics, announced Tuesday that on Saturday, May 27, Brigadier-General Joseph M. Cummins, Commander of the 18th Brigade, with headquarters in Boston, Mass., will present senior officers of the Reserve Officers Training Corps regiment of the university with commissions.

Some 51 seniors of the advanced classes in coast artillery and infantry will receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Reserve Officers Corps of the army at the annual "last review" of the student regiment.

Special military awards for excellence in drill and rifle marksmanship will be presented at the time. A special award will be made to the best musician in the regimental band, while a sabre will be presented to the advanced student who has excelled in military character.

Well-Known Critic Will Lecture Here

Thomas Craven Speaks Of Trends in Modern Art at Murkland Hall

Thomas Craven, internationally known as the art critic for the man on the street, will speak in Murkland auditorium tomorrow evening in the next to the last of the regularly scheduled Lectures and Concerts committee presentations this year.

Mr. Craven, famed for the note of informality in his criticism, owes his success to his concept of art as a human experience rather than a ponderous, aesthetic science; and it was for this reason that publishers Simon and Schuster chose him to write a book to shake the academic dust and pedagogy from the lives and paintings of the great masters. Craven was voted the honor unanimously by a ballot of many famous art critics and artists, and the book, when it appeared in 1927, read like a novel and was hailed as "clear, human, and exciting, a triumph in interesting reading—and all the more deserving of merit because of the difficulty of making this age-old, dust-dry chronicle a book that the common man wants to buy."

With this book, "Men of Art" Craven's reputation was established, for no less a person than H. L. Mencken praised it highly and called it "the best work of its kind thus far done in the English language." Mr. Craven has written two other books, "Modern Art", and a novel "Paint". He has also contributed to many of the monthly periodicals, and although his writings have always caused wide controversy, they are inevitably praised for their style and content.

Mr. Craven was born in Salina, Kansas, and attended Kansas university, receiving a bachelor of arts degree and graduating with the firm desire to be a poet. After succeeding in selling only two poems, he decided to try greener fields, and went to Paris for the serious business of transforming himself into a Frenchman. But the young poet and painter had no better luck here, and he decided to return and discover America.

When the war was declared, Craven and his friend, Thomas Benton, were not very enthusiastic over stopping bullets, and ended up in the navy, to spend the war on a neutral ship as a

Plans Progressing on Annual Mothers' Day Festivities

Program Includes Tour of Campus, ROTC Parade and Women's Pageant

Invitations to the 14th annual Mothers' Day to be held here next Saturday have been sent to 1800 mothers who for one day will step back into their own college days or enjoy the college life of their sons and daughters which they themselves never experienced.

The day's activities will begin with tours of the campus in which the mothers will have an opportunity to see the work carried on in each of the three colleges — lectures, classes and "labs". At 11:35 the mothers will go to Memorial field to see a special parade of the R.O.T.C. regiment. The meeting with the president and faculty will be combined with luncheon, with all groups meeting at the Field House at 12:10. An address by President Engelhardt will conclude the morning's activities.

The production of the pageant "New Hampshire — Queen" will take up the afternoon. This pageant is being presented for the second time by the women's physical education department. The pageant, which was written by Shirley Barker, is being rehearsed at the present time according to episodes. The first complete rehearsal will be held tonight in the gym. A final dress rehearsal will be held Thursday or Friday afternoon on the lawn between Murkland and DeMerritt, where the pageant will be given before the Mothers' Day crowd.

Preparations for the pageant are nearly complete. The 150 costumes which are required by the elaborate and colorful history of New Hampshire's recreation as it is shown in "New Hampshire — Queen", are nearly ready to be worn. The tremendous task of making, repairing, or renting historical costumes for 150 girls has fallen to Assistant Professor Irma G. Bowen of the Home Economics department. Miss Bowen was in charge of costumes for all seven previous pageants which have been given either

Buchanan Heads Fraternity Council

At a meeting of the Interfraternity Council held last Thursday evening in the Commons Organization room, the following officers were elected: President, Creely S. Buchanan; vice-president, William Sanderson; secretary, Ptolemy Adams; treasurer, John Rowell.

Following the elections important business was discussed and tentative plans for next year's rushing season were formulated. Definite rules will be drawn up at the next meeting of the council. Among the items of business was the official changing of the name of the organization from Casque and Casket to the Interfraternity Council.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the treasurers and faculty advisers, as well as the presidents, were given a talk on the Social Security Act and the State Unemployment compensation board by representatives from the Department of Internal Revenue at Portsmouth and the state capital in Concord.

DURHAM, N. H., MAY 9, 1939

ART CENTER

An event of no small importance to the cultural aspect of this institution occurred last week-end when the second floor of the library which has been undergoing renovations was opened to the public. The entire second floor is now devoted exclusively to the appreciation of art in its various phases.

For the lover of music, an excellent opportunity has been made whereby he may enjoy the works of his favorite composers to his heart's content. The three audition rooms afford ample opportunity for the appreciation of the music of the masters. No doubt the facilities will be taxed to the utmost for the first few weeks, but in a short time there will be sufficient opportunity for all to avail themselves of this wonderful gift.

The remainder of the floor will be devoted to current art and special exhibits of pertinent nature. Many fine pictures and other works will be show here in appropriate surroundings.

The opening exhibits which displayed the work of the students of the University are particularly deserving of mention. The architecture students and the students who have done work of special nature outside of class are to be congratulated for the quality of workmanship which they have turned out. It is a distinct credit to the individuals, the faculty and the entire University family that such work is the product of this institution.

The thanks and appreciation of the entire University goes out to the administration, the Carnegie Foundation and the Federal government, all of whom contributed to the realization of this great achievement. We, as students, are fortunate to have the opportunity to avail ourselves of the new art center. It marks another step on the road to the creation of a perfect institution.

Frosh Stickmen Are Victors, 10-2

The Kitten lacrosse team swamped Governor Dummer Academy 10 to 2, Saturday afternoon on Lewis field, to win its second game in four starts. The yearlings gained an early lead and dominated the game thereafter. The contest was marked by numerous penalties as Coach Karazia's boys took it very seriously.

Harold Monica, New Hampshire center, led the scoring attack with three goals and was followed by Judkins and Sonosky who made two each. The defensive work of Dick Gordon, first defense, and Patsy "Meatballs" Improta, goalie, was also outstanding. Lyle led the visitors as he netted their only two goals.

Seeing as most of the lads and lassies were elsewhere than here for the week-end, it is pretty difficult for sincerely yours to get any pay dirt, although, unquestionably, there exists some which will come to the surface for the next issue. Among the many answers which we received to one of the questions we asked in the last issue, we selected this one as the best as to what happened to those pups that were saved from Morrill. George Rogers and Elijah Jangochian have two of them and the little pooches are thriving on the bottle over at the Student Co-op. Visiting hours: 9-12 daily. Charlie Betz has something new in corsages—daffodils—and pretty cheap too. We're wondering why Charlie doesn't want any ATO to know it.

Rumor has it that those two Lambda Chi's who started for the World's Fair via the first digit have landed in the jug.

"Bedroom eyes" Clisham's one purpose in life to date is to take up dental nursing at Forsythe Dental. Maybe there is a correlation with the fact that Pete Mock is reported to have been accepted at Harvard Dental.

Many addicts of the terpichorean art were seen at Harry James' appearance at the Dover Armory the other evening. One of the fellows kinda fell for the vocalist even to the extent of going out and buying her a nickel ice-cream cone. While we are on the subject, seeing the phenomenal rise of Artie Shaw and Harry James after their engagements at N. H., we deduct that we had a hand in their careers. Will the following people please do something, so we can get their names in this column? Skid Abbott, Augusta Timberlake, Paul Horne, Anna Baum and Stan Low.

Girls are not much help when it comes to fixing flats, are they Otis brothers?

The dances at Alpha Xi, Phi Mu, and Chi O were alright we guess but entirely unproductive from our point of view.

"Connie" the Congreve pup has been rechristened "Heinz—57 Varieties". This name is more descriptive as it determines her pedigree, more or less.

Eleanor Mauricette and Co. were seen playing catch with two Kappa Sigs on the fraternity diamond.

One of the fellows from the foreign contingent in town over the week-end said that North American girls were more beautiful than those in South America. Either he or those nice pictures we see are lying.

The Seton Hall boys took first honors at javelin, jumping, relay and Congreve. Edna Riley gave five of them a bit of roadwork, we hear.

Would you guess that the profits from the production "Snow White" exceed by $2,000,000 the heretofore record profits set by Al Jolson's "The Singing Fool"?

This issue's problem — how does Charity avoid paying for two cars when he wants to park it in a pay lot? For those girls who use the rugged slopes at the rear of the dorms for getting tans we suggest vinegar and olive oil. Cheer up, kids, you will be able to put those bathing suits to real use before long.

AGGIE NOTES

On May 2 and 3, Professors A. E. Tepper and G. M. Foulkrod went to Amherst, Mass., to the annual meeting of the New England rural electrification committee, where Prof. Tepper spoke to the group on "Brooding Chicks With Electricity" and Prof. Foulkrod acted as chairman of the session on "Hay Handling and Ensilage Cutting". Eighty men directly connected with rural electrification attended this meeting.

YACHT CLUB

In place of the old wharf that was carried away during the hurricane, the Yacht club built a new one this week-end in time for the race with M.I.T. and Tufts. In addition to the new wharf a float has been built which also saw service for the first time this week-end.

The honors of the race Sunday went to the visitors with a vengeance. M.I.T. took first place with Tufts in second position. New Hampshire skippers, Mullen and Skerry, trailed in third place. In spite of the defeat Sunday, Skipper Skerry voiced the conviction that better luck was in store for the race at M.I.T. next week-end.

There will be a meeting of the Yacht Club in the Commons Trophy room at 7:30, Thursday evening.

NOTICE

There will be a rehearsal for all people in the Mothers' Day pageant at the women's gym at 8:00 Tuesday night; however all people in the modern episode will be there at 7:30 P. M.

Will the student or students who signed a letter to the editor of "The New Hampshire", the "X and Y twins" please get in touch with the editor and some arrangement will be made whereby their letter will be printed. The anonymity will be preserved but the paper requires the identification of the authors of all communications to the editor.

RECENT EVENTS

by George Edson

Not always can the press refrain from publishing some news distasteful to it. But it can keep the facts out of its editorial comment.

Don't let your editorial writers know what is contained in all your news columns, seems to be a maxim of our American Press. This is illustrated in the "N. Y. Herald Tribune's" editorial "line" on Danzig. Under the title of "Poland's Turn", the "Herald Tribune" editorial in last Thursday's issue pronounced it "incredible" that the British and French governments should do anything "to keep Hitler out of Danzig". To give Hitler Danzig is "simply making the best of a bad bargain" to the "Herald Tribune".

But then in its news columns, in a cable from Italy, we are told:

"An angle of the German-Polish dispute over Danzig which has not hitherto been dealt with at length was brought out today by the Vatican paper, "L'Osservatore Romano". In an article which, although dated from Warsaw, was understood to reflect Vatican convictions accurately, it was pointed out that from the time of Frederick the Great to that of Bismarck possession of the mouth of the Vistula River (where Danzig is located) meant control of Poland and, through that, of eastern Europe from the Baltic to the Black Sea."

Another item from the "Herald Tribune", this time from its Berlin correspondent, which is as follows:

"The reminders to Germans of the grim reality of the world they now live in are usually more homely and simple than ultimatums or mobilization orders.

"For instance, an ordinance issued last week renewed until September the limitation of the sale of cream, which has all but disappeared from the German menu."

Wildcat Trackmen Defeat Huskies in Lewis Fields Meet

Flaherty Breaks Hammer Record and Leads Scoring in First Track Victory

Taking first place in all but four events, the varsity track squad defeated Northeastern Saturday afternoon by the score of 76 1-3 to 58 2-3. Matt Flaherty climaxed the busy afternoon by setting a new school record in the hammer with a toss of 163 feet, 7 inches. Leading scorers were Flaherty with eleven points and Pieciewicz and Stewart with ten each. Mascianica led Northeastern with eight points.

New Hampshire got off to a good start when Mike Pieciewicz and Herb Keadin finished one-two in the high hurdles and Larry Stewart won the 100. Then after leading five closely bunched runners for three laps Ted Underwood showed his heels to the rest of the pack to win the mile run with a good lead, McCaffrey finishing third.

Northeastern picked up a first when Mascianica outkicked Ski Abbott in a fast quarter. The Wildcats proceeded to retaliate, sweeping the two mile race when Bishop and Kirk broke the tape together, followed by Underwood.

Pieciewicz returned to the hurdles, and became the first double winner of the afternoon as he won the 220 lows, with F. A. Ayer finishing third.

Meanwhile in the field events Flaherty had finished third in the shot put and then proceeded to qualify for the record book in his specialty, the hammer throw. Although not pressed by any other competitor, Matt whipped the 16-pound ball 163 feet, 7 inches. This is not as long a throw as he made in the Brown meet when he lost by 1/4 inches to McLaughry, who later won this event in the Pennsylvania Relays, but in order for a record to be made the performance must win the event, and such was the case Saturday. Matt also won the discus.

Burt Mitchell, wearing the Blue and White for the first time this season, won the pole vault, clearing the bar at 11 feet, 7 inches. Jim Lufkin and Larry Stewart turned in winning performances in the javelin and broad jump.

After Jones finished second in the half mile, Tabb wound up the running events with a win in the 220.

Runners were hampered by a brisk wind blowing against the straightaway,

by Richard Cook

The annual schoolboy track meet was certainly a success the other day. Seton Hall's aggregation dwarfed the attempts of such schools as Worcester, St. John's, and Tilton. The boys from New Jersey showed the other teams their heels in each event. Portsmouth again fulfilled expectations by following their victory in the basketball tournament by a great triumph on the cinder path. The Schenectady high schools, absent for the first time because of a New York state ruling were missed, and as a result, a nearby team, Lawrence, walked off with the out of state high school division.

The track team certainly looked like a championship team against Northeastern. Ted Underwood turned in fine performances in the mile and two-mile and then wanted to go into the half-mile, but Paul Sweet refused him permission to do so. Matt Flaherty is without a doubt the outstanding performer on the squad. The battle between John McLaughry of Brown and him here in the New England's meet next week will certainly be a wow. It wouldn't surprise this corner at all if New Hampshire should garner a good many points in the forthcoming meet.

Varsity Lacrosse Team Tops Harvard

Result of Contest Never in Doubt After Early Goals by Ario Piretti

Strong scoring attacks in the first and third periods gave the Blue and White of New Hampshire a victory over the Crimson of Harvard on the lacrosse field in Durham, Friday afternoon by a score of 10 to 5. The Wildcats were easily the better team from the opening whistle and after Ario Piretti, first attack, scored in 6:48, they were never behind. Five more goals in the first period made by Piretti, Coutts and Knox, gave DuRie's stickmen a wide margin.

In the second period the scoring was all done by Harvard as the boys from Cambridge threw the little yellow ball past Sam Levine into the New Hampshire goal. The third period was all for the Wildcats as they kept the play in Harvard territory and scored four more counters.

The high scorer for New Hampshire was Ario Piretti who contributed four goals to the total of ten. Floyd Coutts was second with three. Downey and Zauck were outstanding for the losers.

The summary:

was in the pole vault with Paul Calabrese of St. John's topping 12 feet, 1 inch, to break the present mark by one-half inch. The New Hampshire record smashers were Erkki Mackey, versatile performer from Newport's Towle High School, and Edmund Styrna of Nashua. Mackey, who last year established an unequalled mark of 177 feet, two inches in javelin, smashed the state record in the discus event with a heave of 121 feet, 6 inches. He was one of the individual stars of the day as he copped a first in the shot put and fourth in high jump, in addition to his five point performance in platter scaling event. Styrna threw the hammer 173 feet, 5 inches to better last year's mark by 30 feet. The Nashua performer also won the javelin and placed second in the shot put.

There were many double winners in all three classes as one first place spurred the talented athletes to repeat.

Honorary referee for the day was Dr. Fred Engelhardt, while Coach Paul Sweet served as referee. Joseph Orpen of Medford, Massachusetts, colorful figure in New England track circles, was at the post as starter for all races.

Graduate Scholarship

Departing from past practice, an attempt is being made this year to determine in May instead of September who will receive the Graduate School scholarships. Consequently, examinations are being given in Murkland 6, from 1:30 to 5:00 p.m. on May 11. The results of these examinations will be considered by the Scholarship committee in awarding scholarships. The examinations will be the same for all candidates, regardless of their fields of specialization. They will include general surveys of three fields of study—mathematics, social science, natural science. There also will be a psychological examination. The object is to determine the applicant's general background and probable success in graduate study. Preparation in the special fields has supposedly been measured by the student's marks in his major field.

These scholarships are open only to residents of New Hampshire. The motion of the trustees in establishing these scholarships specified that they were to go to students who otherwise could not afford graduate study. They are open to graduates of other institutions as well as the University of New Hampshire.

If you know of individuals who should take these examinations, please have them make application at Dean Slobin's office.

Everett B. Sackett, Chairman,
Committee on Examinations,
The Graduate School.

There is a tradition at the University of Chicago known as the annual Blackfriars mustache race, when the Senior men compete for the honor of growing the longest beard in two weeks time. The contest is officially opened with an inspection to make sure that no one has a head start. After a two week period of mustache culture, the contestants meet again for the final judging. The winner receives a silver loving cup and has his name engraved on a plaque reserved for that purpose in a local barber shop; the losers are thrown in a muddy pond near to the University.

The annual banquet and dance of the International Relations Club will be held on May 17th at the President's Dining room at the Commons.

Tickets will be available at Professor Hobby's office and also from any member of the executive committee. All members are urged to buy their tickets promptly.

Varsity Baseball Team Loses Three Contests on Road

Disastrous Week-end Sees Wildcats Nosed Out by Close Scores Three Times

Experiencing a trip that dealt a disastrous blow to its chances for the League crown, New Hampshire dropped three games on successive days to Boston University, Connecticut State and Rhode Island State. Each tilt was close, the Wildcats losing on Thursday 4-3, on Friday 4-1, and on Saturday 3-2. The pitching was good, as usual, but the batting and fielding were below par, and so the hurlers' work went for naught.

The first game was played against Coach Mel Collard's B. U. nine in a chilly breeze at Nickerson Fields. Harry Hayden of New Hampshire received his first starting assignment of the season and performed very ably, holding the Terriers to six hits and striking out seven. His control was slightly off as he walked five. The Beantown opponents started off the proceedings in the first inning when they scored once. New Hampshire went ahead in the fourth, tallying twice and adding one more in the fifth. This lead was short lived, however, as B.U. got a run back in the fifth and sixth. The winning tally came across the plate by dint of a single by O'Connell, who reached second on an overthrow by Adams. Braun then sacrificed him to third, from which point he scored when Hersey attempted to nip him off the base and threw into left field. The Wildcats managed to get seven safe blows, Cryans' two-ply wallop the only one going for extra bases. For the Hub nine, Carl Braun, the sophomore twirler, was outstanding, holding the Swaseymen hitless in the last three innings.

Conn. State Wins on Friday

On Friday, the team was entertained by Connecticut State at Storrs. This game was not so close as the previous day's contest, as Al Roper was touched for nine hits and four runs, while Mitchell, the Nutmeggers' mound selection, yielded only seven scattered blows and limited the Blue and White aggregation to one run. Once again New Hampshire managed to connect for only one long hit, that being a double by Tom Carey. Errors were plentiful, Connecticut committing four miscues and the Wildcats coming up with five bobbies. Sam Clark was the leading sticker for the Durham boys, getting two of the seven hits. For the opposition, Yusievicz was outstanding, lashing out a double and two singles in four trips to the plate. Connecticut scored once in each frame from the fourth through the seventh, while New Hampshire's lone counter came in the eighth.

Coach Keaney's Rhode Island Rams handed the 'Cats their third straight setback in a heartbreaking pitching duel in which Buck Jordan made his first start of the year. Each team scored once in the first, and New Hampshire went ahead in the second by one run. This slim lead was held until the eighth when the Kingston outfit bunched three hits to score two runs and salt away the game. Buck had everything, allowing only four hits, but Kaney was not exactly liberal with base knocks and only five hits were made off the delivery of the beefy right-hander. Lou Cryans came through with two of these blows. Coach Swasey made some changes in the lineup in an attempt to hit upon a winning combination starting Tom Carey at second, Toot Plante at short, Herb Johnson at first, and alternating O'Brien and Parker in right field. This jiggling was to no avail as it did not produce the necessary punch.

The seasonal record to date shows three losses against two wins, but there is no need for discouragement, for the power which was so apparent in the first two contests but which was latent in the last three games is liable to break out at any time and send the Wildcats on a prolonged winning streak.

Senior Girls Feted at Smith Hall Tea

The Great Bay Branch of the American Association of University Women held its annual tea for senior girls at Smith Hall on Thursday afternoon, May 4th. Miss Edna Dickey and Mrs. Charles Dawson headed the committee in charge of the tea assisted by members of the A.A.U.W. and of Mortar Board. Dean Woodruff and Mrs. T. Burr Charles poured. The program included piano selections by Miss Erma Andrews of the Department of Zoology and a review of the work of the A.A.U.W. by Dean Woodruff, president of the branch.

The Great Bay Branch grants an award every year to a graduate of the University of New Hampshire for professional or graduate study. The holder of this year's award, 1938-39, is Miss Christine Fernald, a member of the class of 1938 and president of Student Government last year. The branch has taken an active part in improving educational opportunities for women. There are no set patterns for branch activities. The work of some of the branches of A.A.U.W. include collecting books for libraries, establishing museums for children and public schools, conducting forums and study on current social problems, and giving vocational guidance and encouragement of leisure time classes and hobbies.

On May 27th the branch will be hostesses to members of the New Hampshire Division of the A.A.U.W. Miss Dorothy Kenyon, Magistrate of New York City, will be the speaker. Last year she was a member of a conference of the League of Nations regarding the status of women and children. She was the first of twelve members of the New York Bar.

Brown University will award King George VI of England an honorary degree when he visits the United States this summer.

Students to Visit Zoological Museum

On Thursday, May 11, members of the classes in evolution and comparative anatomy and Doctor F. Gaynor Evans of the zoology department will take a trip to Cambridge to visit the University Museum at Harvard.

The Harvard University Museum building is located between Oxford street and Divinity avenue. It contains a zoological section, known as the Museum of Comparative Zoology, as well as sections on botany, mineralogy, geology, and anthropology.

The Museum of Comparative Anatomy was founded in 1859 by private subscription with the assistance of the state of Massachusetts. In 1876 it was transferred to the college. The Museum contains extensive research collections of the groups of vertebrates and invertebrates, recent and fossil, from all parts of the world. Various exhibitions of public interest are often shown here.

German Movie

Die Minnesaenger, with the help of the Language department, will show a German movie, "Emil und die Detektive", next Thursday evening, May 11, at 8 P. M., in the women's gym.

The film is based upon Erich Kaestner's detective story of the same name. It is the story of a boy who in traveling to Berlin, has his money stolen, but who recovers it with the aid of young Berlin detectives. There is constant action throughout, and the picture has English sub-titles, making it possible for those who do not understand German to enjoy the film.

Everyone in the University is cordially invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Reorganization of Cauldrons Planned

At a meeting of the Cauldrons, the organization for non-fraternity men, held in the Commons Trophy room, Tuesday, May 2, it was decided to reorganize the group. The meeting was opened by president Howard L. Bishop and elections were held for officers for next year. The following were elected: President, Kenneth Leggett; Vice-President, Charles Craig; Secretary, Robert Sweatt; Treasurer, Louis Israel; Publicity Director, Paul Shaw.

It was decided to choose a new name for the organization and to obtain a faculty advisor. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, May 9, at 7:30 in the Commons Trophy room. It is hoped that the men on campus who belong to no fraternity group will lend their support to this organization.

CRAVEN LECTURE

second class seaman. Since the war, Mr. Craven has devoted most of his time to his literary activities.

He has been lecturing seven years, and his popularity has increased steadily; he has appeared on radio programs and behind the speaker's rostrum many times, and he always is a fearless critic and frank lecturer. Although few of his colleagues agree with him, they all respect him for his honest judgment and admit he is good-humored and easy to get along with. He never quarrels—except with his pen. And he writes a good deal!

In his lecture Wednesday evening, Mr. Craven will give a brief, non-technical account of the modern trends in art and the events leading to surrealism. He will examine in detail the work of the principal American artists and their followers, including the style of his friend Benson, and compare them with the masters. In conclusion, Mr. Craven is expected to discuss the significance in the present trend in our art, and the question of the "American style".

MOTHERS' DAY

by the Association of Women Students or by the Physical Education department under the direction of Miss Margaret Hoban. An idea of the amount of work involved in costuming a pageant can be gained by observing the diversity of the characters and periods represented in the pageant—Indians, Puritans, early colonists, people of the 1850's and the 1870's, and the Gay Nineties, as well as the girls representing New Hampshire and her sister states Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut; and the spirits of Work, Play, and Leisure about which the pageant is centered.

The task of securing properties for these episodes representing all of New Hampshire's history, which is as great a task has been taken over by Mrs. Edward G. Cowen and Miss Alice Helen Putney. Such things as quilting frames, flint lock pistols, tandem bicycles, a one horse shay, and Indian relics have all been discovered in attics of barns or have been successfully substituted for.

Consequently, after all the work and activity of the last few weeks on the part of the directors and technicians, the pageant is expected to provide interesting entertainment for the visiting mothers. After May Queen Betty Brown has been crowned, the entire pageant has passed in review, and the mothers are leaving the field, various teas will be held at dormitories and sororities.

Social Committee Discusses Petitions for Dates

The Social Committee will meet at 104 Thompson hall at 1:30 on Thursday, May 18, to consider petitions for informals and other dances for next year. Organizations wishing to file petitions are urged to do so before this date. Representatives of these organizations may appear before the Committee to present their case on May 18.

Liberals Present All-Student Forum

In conjunction with its attempt to present student and faculty opinion on matters of current interest, the Liberal club will sponsor the third in a series of forums in the Commons Trophy room, tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. At this meeting, four student leaders will discuss means for best preserving civil liberties in America.

Creeley S. Buchanan, editor of "The New Hampshire" and vice-president of the International Relations Club, heads the list of student speakers. Also representing the press will be Richard H. Phenix, managing editor of "The New Hampshire" and editor of the forestry department's monthly magazine.

John P. Hall, local NYA supervisor and director of the Great Bay project, will present the point of view of the Liberal Club along with William J. Ford, retired president of the club.

The forum will be open to the public and it is hoped that a large number of students and faculty will avail themselves of this opportunity to become acquainted with the problems confronting American democracy. There will be a question period following the formal discussion at which time the audience will be able to put questions to the speakers.

The largest circulation ever attained by a college newspaper has been maintained this year by the University of Minnesota Daily with an average daily circulation of 14,231 copies.
