

Macfarlan Speaks on Propaganda and Espionage System

Latter Part of Lecture Devoted to Discussion of Present European War

"This present war will be one of nerves. The side which has the greatest morale will win." So declared Major Allan A. Macfarlan, a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society and member of the National Geographical Society, who spoke on "Secret Service Thrills and Propaganda" Wednesday night in Murkland auditorium in the second of the current lecture series sponsored by the University Lectures and Concerts committee.

The lecture consisted of a number of fascinating incidents on glamorous women spies, hair-raising escapes, and similar secrets of spycraft.

The Major also talked on schools for spies, secret inks made from onions, saliva or milk; on various ways of transporting information and a diversity of subjects relating to the espionage system. The later part of his talk was devoted to the present World War, with propaganda now being employed, submarine warfare, anti-aircraft guns, and other topics being discussed.

After the lecture a short question period was held at which time members of the audience asked Major Macfarlan questions concerning the present European situation.

Major and Mrs. Edward G. Cowan gave a dinner party in Major Macfarlan's honor before the lecture.

Piffard is Elected Member of Sphinx

The greater part of the meeting was devoted to discussing plans for the Sphinx dance, which is to be held on Saturday evening, November 25th, in the gymnasium. Arrangements for the affair have been practically completed by the Sphinxers and an orchestra will soon be signed. While they are unwilling as yet to reveal the nature of their heralded feature attraction for the dance, the members of the junior honorary group renewed their promise that it would be something which would interest every member of the student body, and would insure a large attendance. Arrangements for the affair are in the hands of the following committees: Chaperones, Ed Burt and Richard Snowman; Publicity and tickets, Sumner Fellman and Lou Cryans; Decorations, Eugene Duffy, Harlow Nelson and Roger Catabrigga.

A recent activity of the group was the assistance given to the faculty in conducting sightseeing tours around the campus on Dads' Day. This activity was in keeping with the policy of Sphinx of trying to aid the administration and the student body as much as possible during the various occasions when the campus has visitors.

ON TO VICTORY,
WILDCATS!

Inauguration and Stunt Night Feature Homecoming

The annual University Homecoming Stunt Night sponsored by Blue Key, senior honorary society, will be held at the old gym on Friday evening, November 10th. The newly elected mayor of Durham will receive his official welcome and inauguration to the metropolis and will preside over the Homecoming festivities.

Advance notices give indications of bigger and better demonstrations, acts, performances and stunts, as all fraternities, dormitories and sororities are planning their respective presentations. As usual, each group has an allotted fifteen minutes to put on any skit or stunt and at the completion of the evening's festivities, judges will award prizes to the ones selected as the outstanding stunt in each of the men's and women's divisions.

All participating groups should hand the titles of their acts to Dick Nellson by Wednesday, November 8th, so that programs may be arranged.

Wood Ends Service of Eighteen Years

More than thirty years of honest and faithful service were completed last Tuesday when Master Sergeant Fred W. Wood retired from the Military Science department after eighteen years on campus. During this period of duty, Sergeant Wood has worked with over four thousand students.

On Dads' Day before the assembled regiment at Memorial Field, Lieutenant Colonel Paul Starling read the official order which brought Sergeant Wood's service with the United States Army to a close.

Enlisted in the 17th Company, Coast Artillery Corps, on May 29, 1908, Sergeant Woods has spent his entire service in this branch and on detached service at the University. From January, 1921 to the present time he has worked with the R.O.T.C. unit.

Sergeant Wood made no statement except that he had thoroughly enjoyed his tour of service at the University and, though he regretted leaving the campus, he felt that he needed a rest from his work.

Pan-Hell Reminds All Girls of Rushing Rules

Next week on Tuesday, November 7, and Friday, November 10, the sororities will entertain only those girls who have been invited. Girls are not limited to visiting only one house, and are urged to accept all invitations that they may receive. Both the entertainments and the invitations will be very informal.

Fees for rushing have already been paid, but if any girl who has not paid her fee decides that she would like to be rushed, she may publish it on her dormitory bulletin board. Her name will then be considered by sororities.

Formal rushing will be from November 20 to 27, inclusive. November 28 will be the day of pledging.

Pan-Hellenic wishes to remind both freshman and sorority girls that there are rushing rules which must be obeyed, and any infraction of these rules will be punished. If any girl believes that she has a good reason for not observing these rules in connection with any freshman, she may petition Pan-Hellenic.

Ingram Decides on Mayoralty Venture

Candidates Line Up for Start of Bull-throwing Mud-slinging Campaign

by Richard LaRoche

In a surprisingly juvenile and attempted political manner, Al Ingram, last week's indignant victim (?) of mayoralty candidacy rumors, this week issued a statement which to all intents and purposes denies again his consistently rumored venture into the realm of politics. This statement in itself would have been accepted by "The New Hampshire" without a question, had not Mr. Ingram been interviewed and a few very, very weird points uncovered.

In his communique, the U. N. H. namesake of a famous brand of shaving cream stated that the T.K.E. master-minds had a representative in New York City making campaign plans and that a clean campaign must be run this year. Very noble sentiment indeed, but when Ingram stated in his interview that the T.K.E. slogan for Homecoming Day would be "Lather Tufts With Ingram", and "Mow 'Em Down" (another shaving cream slogan), the staff of "The New Hampshire" began to see the light; the light being the attempt to utilize "The New Hampshire" for free campaigning while definitely denying any participation in the race for mayor. So from now on, "The New Hampshire" will speak of Ingram as Candidate Ingram.

Special Harvard Train

Final arrangements have been made for the special train to the Harvard game. The price will be $1.60 round trip, leaving Durham at 11:15 A.M., Saturday morning, arriving at Boston at 12:30. Return trip will be made at 1:00 A.M. from North Station.

Those desiring to stay for the entire week-end will have to procure regular $2.55 round trip tickets, but may use the special train down.

Wildcats Meet Rutgers in Try for Third Win

Blue Key Presents Annual Dance Tomorrow Evening

Blue Key, senior honorary society, will present its fourth annual Barn Dance in the women's gym tomorrow night. Members of the Key are turning the gym into a barn with real corn-stalks, wagons, hens, harnesses, hay, and all the fixings. Informality will hit a new high, as all jitterbugs are expected to wear their old farm clothes. Music will be furnished by Freddy Marsh, who played at the recent Mortar Board dance.

The senior honor group hopes that a number of aggie students will attend the affair to properly demonstrate the art of square dancing and other old timers to the city swing cats.

Work Continues on Murals at Library

The new murals in the library which are being erected with W.P.A. funds have shown visible progress in the past few weeks. The pictures in the newspaper room represent the story of news and newspapers, while the murals in the reference and reserve rooms depict New Hampshire industry and New Hampshire agriculture respectively.

Each panel in the newspaper room represents some particular phase of the journalistic world. Ways of news-gathering, such as radio, postal service, dogsled and airplane are shown, followed by a representation of the news in the world of art. People participating in football, tennis, swimming and other activities are portrayed in another section. Tools of modern warfare are featured in one part of the mural, while the final panel depicts the news of industry. Arrows pointed in the same direction throughout the whole mural indicate the flight of time.

The paintings in the reference and reserve rooms are being drawn first on paper, then the design will be transferred to the wall by spraying through perforations made by a dressmaker's wheel. The newspaper room murals were painted on canvas in the artist's studio, then glued to the walls.

Dark Horses Feature Early Mayoralty Campaign Picture

by Pete Winchellberger

Here they come down the home stretch running neck and neck, kicking up mud and dirt behind them which prevents the cheering crowd from seeing the nose to nose — snuffle — finish. It is a race of dark horses. All dark horses have been winners in the past — it goes on year after year like the melodrama of time. The hour has come for all good white horses to flash their fancy.

Two years ago "Witty" Whitcomb, a dark horse, ran on a "Keep It Clean" platform and was swept into the mayoralty office on the pricked wings of glory — the following year he lost his citizen right. Last year "Dapper" Dunlap, another dark horse, ran a "Private Privy" campaign and captured every vote this side of the Maginot Line. The problem confronting the citizens of Durham amounts to one

Outweighed Wildcat Eleven Places Hopes on Forward Passing Attack

New Hampshire's improved football team left by train today for New Brunswick, New Jersey. Tomorrow afternoon the Wildcats take on the very husky Rutgers University eleven in what promises to be a bruising battle.

A squad of thirty-one boys, headed by Coach Sauer, is making the trip. Saturday night, after the game, the team remains in a New York hotel and starts back for Durham the following morning, arriving Sunday evening at seven.

The Rutgers team, undefeated so far this season, sports a line averaging 193 pounds and a really hefty backfield average of 197 pounds. The New Jerseyites feature "Big Bill" Tranovich, the original one-man gang, in their power-packed backfield. Foster, rangy end, also plays quite a bit of football for the Rutgers outfit. Gottlieb, another backfield luminary, will give the Wildcat defense something to think about. All in all, Rutgers is a very rugged outfit.

Parker and Lampson Out

Although the Wildcats are without the services of "Ace" Parker and Steve Lampson for the rest of the season, Coach Sauer predicted that if the team played as well as it is capable of play-

DURHAM, N. H., NOV. 3, 1939

COOPERATE

The week-end of November 18, when the varsity football team journeys to Harvard to play the Crimson will probably be the biggest week-end of the fall season, if not of the year. Every student on campus has hopes of attending and will do so if at all possible.

Naturally there are some departments which plan to give exams on Saturday or Monday of that week-end. Enthusiasm will be at fever pitch for that week-end. It will be most difficult for students to prepare for exams and even more difficult for them to do well on the exams.

How pleasant it would be for the heads of those departments to postpone the exams until Wednesday or Thursday, thus allowing the students to enjoy the week-end without the fear of a tough exam facing them.

School spirit involves the faculty as much as it does the student body. It is the duty of each department to cooperate with the students to this extent. The cooperation between the two will go far in advancing student-faculty relationship. How about it?

ELECTIONS

Next Monday the annual class elections will begin. In another column the list of the candidates for each office appears. There are many well-qualified for such offices and some not so well qualified. It is your duty as members of your classes to use extreme care and prudence in casting your vote. If you fail to vote or fail to vote wisely you will have no cause to find fault later in the year when functionings of the executive committee do not suit you.

Course in Nursing Inaugurated Here

This year for the first time, the University is offering a cooperative nursing course, in which there are four students enrolled: Shirley Hawker, '42; Adella Jessie Smith, '42; Gretchen Genette Pearson, '43; and Eleanor Holmes Craig, '43.

The students will be expected to spend two years at the University where they must satisfactorily complete the requirements of the freshman and sophomore years, after which they will spend the remaining three years of the course in training at the Elliot Hospital in Manchester.

Upon completion of the course, the students are entitled to a Bachelor of Science degree, and a diploma of registered nurse.

HOME COMING — NOVEMBER 11

ET AL

Before we delve further into a column of philosophic philanderings, we must tell you of a sequel to our romantic scene of two weeks ago: the boy and girl and a morsel of burnt paper signifying hopes or fears or failings, and we like to think it was the latter. The same girl was reading this column in an idle fashion the same night it was printed, and she came to our story about her. "Murder!" she yipped, forgetting her grammar. "That was Bob and me!" And a warm glow swept into her cheeks. It was splendid to watch, and touched us deeply. All her companion could say was "You never told me!" She was evidently a room-mate, and perhaps envious?

We forgot to mention last time, that contributions are welcome, and asked for. In fact, providing it is fit for youthful eyes, we will print the first contribution that comes to us. Please address to "The New Hampshire", Ballard hall, in care of Et Al, and as many others as we deem amusing, worthy or masterful. If we can write a poem so can you:

Editor: (Poem concerning Jones, Smith and Brown).

Mr. David Astor, Sports Editor
University of Maine Newspaper

Your excellent letter as printed in a recent issue of "The New Hampshire" was appreciated by all of us here at Durham, and we thank you for your friendliness. Might we suggest that you attend the U.N.H. - Harvard game on November 18, if you want to see an example of how we really reduce our opponents to their lowest common denominator; for there will be the greatest example of school and team spirit in the history of college football. Students are already squirming with impatience to be in that stadium, and if we don't come home victors at football, and stranger things than that have happened, we will at least come home with the feeling that we showed Harvard a thing or two in sincere cheering. Harvard is a big university and has enveloped itself with an atmosphere of sophistication and has developed a blase attitude: we will show them what real enthusiasm and college spirit are.

Yours faithfully,
Students at Durham.

By a prof: One tells of two students, one staying home to study, the other going out on a date. First student: "If I am still studying when you get back, wake me up, will ya?"

As Westbrook Pegler observed, yesterday was the day of exploitation by patent medicines. Today is the day for exploitation by religion. Father Divine has done a great deal of good, although we strongly suspect that it wasn't entirely his fault. But a new, super, extra-ordinary religion has come to us, known as the Great I Am. The "I" is a gentleman with the mystic name of Ballard, who has invented a series of saints and demons, one of whom, the Great Ascended Spirit, K-17 has been prowling around foreign seas destroying German submarines. Ballard has also screamed to his gullible public that a certain St. Germain, the boss of the Ascending Spirits wrote the works of Willy Shakespeare for the good of England; that Willy Shakespeare was his pen name, and that it concealed in code a message saying: It is the will of the Great I Am to shake the spear of wisdom at the darkness of ignorance. Ballard and his wife, says Pegler, "travel deluxe, maintain a stable of expensive yellow automobiles and carry a staff whose duties include—the ejection of infidels who jangle the mood of the screwball devotion with heretical raspberries."

Now might be the time to tell you that we received a picture post-card from God yesterday, commanding us to guide his University of New Hampshire sheep into the paths of righteousness. So we are having a meeting for you all last Thursday, promptly at midnight. A slight entrance charge of $70 will be asked of you to cover expenses, and imitation pearl membership pins will be distributed free. The secret pass-word is "Sucker".

Sad soul take comfort nor forget the sunrise never failed us yet.

Broader Campus

There is a Difference . . .

Yale vs. Michigan men is a current topic on the University of Michigan campus, and the whole controversy has been summed up by one pretty co-ed: "Michigan men are self-centered and conceited. Yale men are self-centered and conceited too, but they have a right to be."

After All . . .

Handsome young prof of the romance languages: "Why do you insist on using the intimate form of the verb when it is not called for?"

Co-ed: "Well, I thought after last night . . ."

— The Stute.

There's a Way, but There Wasn't . . .

I used to snore so loud that I woke myself up, but now I sleep in the next room.

— DePaulia.

An Art Event This!

There is at least one college prof who believes in frankness — and to prove our point, read what Prof. Paul W. Tappan of Miami University had to say recently about class recitations:

"Cleverly answered questions, with merely an iota of an idea always makes an impression. That is what is commonly known as 'bull-throwing'. Of course, none of your teachers would admit the veracity of this fact. Bull-throwing or tossing is an art and is not to be regarded as a simple task. Please do not try to bull and bull with reckless abandon, for the professor has to have an idea, even if a very vague idea, that the student may know something about the subject."

Was It Worth That Much?

A University of Southern California prof has figured it out that it costs you about $1.30 each time you cut a class.

Where Did He Go From Here?

An epitaph in an old Moravian cemetery read thus:

Remember, friend as you pass by,
As you are now, so once was I;
As I am now, thus must you be,
So be prepared to follow me.
There had been written underneath in pencil, presumably by some skeptic:
To follow you I am not content
Till I found out which way you went!

— The Setonian.

OUTING CLUB

Last week-end the Blue Circle of the Outing club held a house warming at the club's new cabin. A general celebration was held. The group climbed up part way of Mount Washington, Sunday, but were turned back by a blizzard.

A great number of heeblers have shown interest in the work of the Outing Club, and it is planned to have meetings of heeblers once a month.

Barnacle Club

The Barnacle Club held the first meeting of the season at the home of Dr. Fogg on Madbury Road, on Thursday, October 19. At the meeting they decided that the next meeting will be held at the home of Robert Marvel in North Conway. The members will leave Durham this next Saturday noon to return Sunday evening. The committees selected for the affair are: Transportation, Frank Spellman; Food, Louisa Stuart, Margaret Foley and Constance Hale.

Social Service Tea

On Thursdays between four and five o'clock the Social Science Department holds a tea. These are very informal affairs for the purpose of the better acquaintanceship of the faculty of Morrill hall.

Classical Club

The Classical Club in a recent meeting elected officers for the coming year. Those elected were: president, Charlotte Sives; vice-president, Betty Ridlon; secretary-treasurer, Doris Eckhardt; publicity chairman, Priscilla Taylor.

Established in 1927, the Classical Club is open to all students who are interested in classical languages and literature and has been a very successful organization on campus for the past ten years.

Professor John S. Walsh, associate professor of languages, is the advisor of the club this year.

Alpha Kappa Delta

Alpha Kappa Delta, honorary sociological fraternity, initiated seven new members recently at the home of Dr. Charles Coulter. The fraternity, which is open to junior and senior sociology majors, attaining an 80 average or better, aims to foster sociological thought on campus and throughout the state.

The new members are Janet Ford, Elizabeth Keefe, Elizabeth Kinsman, Margaret Lane, Elizabeth McCone, Alice Shorey, and Richard Nellson. Dr. Coulter, head of the sociology department; Julius Ozog, president of the fraternity; W. Otis Briggs, Jr., vice-president; and Howard McClary, performed the initiation ceremony.

During the business meeting following the initiation it was decided that the Sociology Club, which last year was closely related to Alpha Kappa Delta, would become a separate organization. The Sociology Club will elect officers at a meeting in the near future.

Aggie Elections

Members of the first year class of the two-year agriculture course elected class officers recently. Willard Richardson was elected president; Mary Cochran, vice-president; William Gardner, treasurer; U. V. Ober, secretary. In addition, Stacey Cole was elected to represent the class on the Intramural Sports Council.

Freshman Exchange Supper

Last Sunday at their weekly exchange supper in Commons, the freshmen had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Bob James and the officers of the Student Christian Movement Association as well as the football players. Bob James entertained the class with stories.

Next week, the freshman boys may choose their own supper partners if they wish.

Anyone who has any suggestions for making these suppers more successful and entertaining, is invited to offer them.

Yacht Club

Last Sunday, in a dual meet on the home waters, the Yacht Club lost to the Winnepesaukee Yacht Club 11½ to 10. Only one race was held because the wind died down early.

On Saturday the Yacht Club boats are coming out of the water for the winter to be repaired and put into shape for next spring.

The club has accepted a bid to join the Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association.

Phi Sigma

The Phi Sigma, honorary zoology society, held a meeting last Wednesday at which the pledges were put through part of their initiation ceremony. This next week they will be put through their final initiation.

Economics Club Notice

The Economics Club held its annual pledge banquet recently at Ye Cocke and Kettle, Seabrook. Thirty-five attended including the staff of the Economics department. The following juniors were initiated: Stanley Rodgers, Naomi Saven, Harlow Nelson, Eugene Duffy, Fred Hall, Henry Mead, Elton Smith, John Feke, Horace Martin, Edwin Russell, Maurice Epstein and Lawrence Stone. Richard Hay had charge of arrangements and Philip Hodgdon was toastmaster.

German Club Notice

There will be a German Club meeting Thursday, November 9th at 7:30 P.M. in Ballard hall.

Student Co-op

Last Monday evening the Student Co-op enjoyed a festive Hallowe'en party with gay decorations of corn stalks, balloons, and crepe paper streamers. After a buffet supper, some of the talented members presented the following program: story, Dorothy Corbin; tap dance, Mary Ann Wheeler; songs by Co-op Glee Club; piano solo, Helen Almond; tap dance, Mary Ann Wheeler and Edward Stannard; piano specialty, Calvin Heath. Games and a scavenger hunt, in spite of the rain, completed the evening.

At one of its meetings this fall, the Co-op voted to have faculty guests once a week to provide another opportunity for student-faculty relations outside of the classroom. Recent guests have been Professors Adolph Ekdahl and William Crissey of the psychology department, and Professor Lloyd C. Fogg of the zoology department and Mrs. Fogg.

Gamma Kappa

On October 14 and 15 the honorary geological fraternity, Gamma Kappa, sponsored a trip to Madison to the Silver Lake Mine. They also invited a lead and zinc mine to collect specimens, under the leadership of Doctor White.

The next Sunday, October 22, the society made another trip to Newburyport and West Newbury, Mass., to visit the localities of three silver mines. Specimens were collected.

Under the sponsorship of Gamma Kappa, Professor C. Floyd Jackson gave an interesting lecture in Conant hall on Labrador, Wednesday evening, November 1. Professor Jackson has made several trips to the Labrador region to collect specimens of mammals, and had many colored slides showing the type of topography, landscape, and vegetation in the southeastern edge of the Labrador peninsula. Following Professor Jackson's talk the audience asked many questions.

Alpha Sigma

At a recent meeting of Alpha Sigma, honorary architectural society, Myer Wolfe was elected president. The other officers chosen were Benjamin Worcester, vice-president; John Eggleston, treasurer; Richard Winn, secretary.

The following juniors were initiated into membership: James Brodie, Raymond Dyer, Lyle Ewing, Lloyd Hall, Abbott Jones, Harry Rooth, Edward Marcotte, Hamilton Myers, Martin Souders and Richard Winn.

Eight were pledged from the sophomore class: Ivan Arno, Maxwell Campbell, Edward Carlson, William Downs, Ernest Towers, Clifford Towne, and David Webber.

a smile of thanks when a customer digs deep. Winter and summer, snow and rain, hell and fire do not daunt his evening travels, nor does his smile weaken. The man who carries a frigidaire on his back, the perfect replica of an eskimo . . . "Charming Charity", the dixie cup man, will run for mayor. His platform will be sex appeal. His manner, coupled with dimples and smiles, will capture the co-ed votes and may the good Lord bless them.

Close behind comes a candidate from the freshman class who is propelled and managed by a popular Russ Hayes. His bean-stalk candidate Carl Sippelle, will be sponsored on the slogan "Sippelle Will Do". This is a Mutt and Jeff combination to be very carefully watched.

All this beefing and battling will start next Thursday noon, November 8, in front of the Kappa Sigma house, and all candidates for the Blue Key mayoralty campaign should hand their names to the dean by Tuesday. If the dean spells f-e-a-r, just see Dick Nellson about your intentions of running.

Home Economics Club

The first meeting of the Home Economics Club has been held in the form of a Hallowe'en party. The girls gathered in the Craft Cottage for a business meeting and then adjourned to the Practice House, where refreshments were served. The girls elected the following officers: Lillian Robinson, president; Polly Crooks, vice-president; Clara Hayden, treasurer; Ruth Braley, program chairman.

The Home Economics Club and Psi Lambda are sponsoring the annual Christmas sale to be held in Pettee hall on December 14 from two to five o'clock. The girls are now working on things for the sale. Some of the things they are making are: metal work, block printing, gimp braiding, seed buttons and a display of Berea College Indus-

Fine Arts Meeting

A program featuring a paper on World Events by Mrs. George G. McGregor was held by the Fine Arts department of the Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 at the home of Mrs. J. G. Smart.

A special guest was Mrs. Robert Crosley, State Federation Chairman of Fine Arts, of Dover.

Kalijarvi Speech

At a meeting which was held last night at the home of Mrs. Helen F. McLaughlin by the American Association of University Women, Mr. Thorsten Kalijarvi spoke on the present European situation.

The meeting was presided over by Dean Ruth J. Woodruff. Mrs. Lucinda B. Smith was in charge of the hostess committee.

Slides Shown

Mr. Frank Chuteau Brown of Boston, director of the Historical Guide of New England Buildings, will give a talk and show a number of slides on buildings and architecture of New England, Monday night at 7:30 at the Commons.

The students of the University majoring in architecture are especially invited to attend.

Miss Doris Bean is in charge of refreshments.

Thornton Wilder Vividly Describes Rural Scenes

Thornton Wilder, author of "Our Town" which will be presented by Mask and Dagger next week, has best delineated the New England mind and best described the New England town. Strangely enough he is not New England born nor New England bred, unless one takes into account the summers he has spent in Peterborough at the MacDowell Colony.

He was born in Madison, Wisconsin just before the turn of the century. His education was most cosmopolitan and frequently sporadic, for his family traveled a great deal. In California, in China, at Oberlin, Yale, the American Academy at Rome and at Princeton, Wilder received some formal education.

Wilder made his literary bow with a novel, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey", and it immediately created a new trend in novels. He followed this with "The Long Christmas Dinner", a disappointment to many of his admirers, and "Heaven's My Destination."

Few people realize it, but "Our Town" is not Wilder's first dramatic venture. In 1925 he published a play "The Trumpet Shall Sound", but little has been made of this early drama.

At present Mr. Wilder makes his home in New Haven, Connecticut, where he occasionally teaches at Yale.

try goods, which include hand-weaving, hearth brooms and cuddle toys.

The remainder of the year will be devoted to program-lecture meetings.

MAYORALTY NEWS

Things have begun to buzz this week and quite a few candidates have tossed their hats into the ring. Varied platforms will make the campaign very interesting because the poor voters will have to wear rubbers or boots (or both) when the candidates begin to play up their respective qualities.

Charity's Plans

West Hall announces through Campaign Manager Sweatt that: "After due consideration and careful meditation, the barracks has selected its candidate. G. B. Flint, whose political weight has been lined up behind Leon Charity, pointed out that Charity's election was prophesied by the Bible—"There abideth these three, Faith, Hope and Charity, but of these Charity is the greatest." Our candidate is a man of high character and is an individualist. We want no more stooge mayors and no foul bets. We anticipate a clean, honest campaign and hope that any dark horses will be dark and not just plain dirty!"

Sippelle Runs

Sigma Beta has as its standard-bearer Carl Sippelle and has this to say about its chances in the race: "We have a powerful machine ready to swing into action; a juggernaut of political trickery. We're going to give the campus the most colorful campaign it has ever seen."

Betz a Candidate

Charlie Betz's campaign manager from A.T.O. had this to say about his chances: "At the moment we are unable to locate Mr. Betz, but we have a faint suspicion that he is hiding in one of the sorority parlors. Charlie will not run as a dark horse but as a light-brown filly. His campaign will be a combination of a lightning storm, a four-alarm fire, Joe Louis' punch, and the thrill of one of Dorothy Lamour's pictures."

Lambda Chi has broken its mysterious silence long enough to state tersely: "Light Horse Harry Atwood MAY run as a dark horse."

With promises such as these being aimed at the innocent students, it would be a good idea to notice how good the respective candidates are in the art of bull-throwing, egg-dodging, mud-slinging and general wackiness before coming to any final decision.

Notice

There are still a few positions open on the business staff of "The New Hampshire." All those interested in applying should report at 203 Ballard Hall at 4 P.M. today or 4 P.M. on Tuesday.

N.H. Jayvees Clash with Tilton Prep

Fresh from a victory over New Hampton, the Wildcat Jayvees tomorrow will be out to sink their claws into a well-balanced Tilton outfit on Tilton's home field.

The Jayvee squad will be minus the services of right end Sammy Clark, who suffered a broken ankle in the New Hampton game. Lufkin, another end, will also be unable to play, thus making the right end spot a bit dubious. Unless Coach Johnny DuRie changes his mind before game time, Brody will start at the end position. The only other change in the lineup will be the insertion of Osgood at left tackle. Beaulieu, who started the New Hampton game at left tackle, has been shifted to left guard in place of Blaine, thus making room for Osgood as left tackle.

The Jayvee outfit will be trying to out-trick the Tilton aggregation rather than to overcome them by brute strength, because Tilton is reputed this year to be a rather hefty bunch of footballers.

All this week the Jayvees have been working on trick plays in the form of fakes and reverses. New Hampshire will be strengthened by two or three men from the varsity for tomorrow's game. At this writing the names of the players who will not make the trip to New Jersey are not known.

The Jayvee lineup will be as follows: le, Lucier; lt, Osgood; lg, Beaulieu; c, Thompson; rg, Sweet; rt, Fe-

Underwood, Lowry Chosen Captains

The varsity and freshman cross-country squads, this week elected captains for the current campaign. Theodore Underwood, veteran harrier and track man was chosen to lead the upperclassmen and Wayne Lowry, Kitten standout, was unanimously selected as leader by his yearling cohorts.

Underwood who never ran in high school because little Amherst, N. H. High had no track teams has been an outstanding performer for the four years of his college career. He first came in contact with Coach Paul Sweet when he was getting an assignment for "The New Hampshire" as a freshman. Sweet realized that the youngster had possibilities and convinced him to give up reporting for running. Besides starring on the cross-country course Ted Underwood is a prominent two-miler and relay man and last winter won the NEAAU steeplechase championship.

Wayne Lowry who is from Arlington, N. J., prepared for New Hampshire at New Hampton where he was a member of the cross-country team. Lowry has been the first freshman to finish in all of the Kitten meets this year. He is a candidate for president of the freshman class.

Wildcats Tackle Rutgers Seeking Third Victory

ing, New Hampshire will give Rutgers an interesting ball game. Some stress has been placed upon pass defense in drills this week, but Rutgers is expected to rely on straight power plays in its offense. Against the heavier New Jersey combination the New Hampshire team will play the same type of game as it employed in the Vermont contest. The throwing arms of the Wildcat passers will be exercised quite a bit more, however; Hall, pint-sized halfback, is expected to do most of the flinging. Dick Gordon, chunky, heavy-duty fullback, will be back in action this week and ready for full-time service, which bolsters the team's chances considerably. "Buck" Buchanan and Eddie Sauer, senior lettermen, have been chosen co-captains for the encounter. In future games, other seniors will be appointed as game captains and at the end of the season an honorary captain will be elected.

The starting lineup: LE, Winterbottom; LT, Flaherty; LG, Buchanan (co-capt.); C, Burt; RG, Haynes; RT, Piretti; RE, Chase or Jones; QB, Sauer (co-capt.); LHB, Hall; RHB, Clark or Mitchell; FB, Gordon.

N.H. Club Meeting

Next Monday night at 7:30 in the Commons, there will be a meeting of all varsity lettermen and senior managers, for the purpose of the reorganization of the club as well as other pertinent business.

In years gone by the N.H. Club was a strong organization on the campus. With the passing of years, and growth of the student body and number of lettermen, the club has fallen by the way. It is the hope of the athletic department as well as many of the lettermen themselves that the club can be revived to its former position.

At present no other college in New England has such an organization, although they are common in the south and west. Coaches Sauer, Justice and Dougal have the background of similar clubs at their Alma Maters and will present some ideas at this meeting. A cabinet composed of representatives from each sport will be chosen and plans for the year will be discussed.

All men who have earned their varsity letter in any sport are urged to attend.

Varsity Harriers Meet Colby Mules

Running against a strange team on a totally strange course, the Wildcat harriers are meeting the Colby runners today at Waterville, Maine.

Not much is known of the Colby aggregation, as this is the first time that New Hampshire has ever met Colby in a dual meet.

The Wildcats, with wins over Bates and over Rhode Island and a second place in the Triangular meet at Cambridge, have a good chance to come through with a win over the Colby boys.

Little Warren Jones, who has shown so brilliantly this season, is expected to pace the New Hampshire men, but will be hard pushed by Jack Kirk. This pair usually finish within touching distance of each other.

The men making the trip are: Jones, Kirk, Rivers, Swasey, Mullen, Huntoon, Sweet, Townsend, and Ted Underwood, who is the newly elected captain.

Frank Churas Wins Tennis Tournament

Frank Churas, freshman, representing East Hall, defeated Joe Strock of Fairchild, 6-3, 6-1, Wednesday afternoon in the final round of the annual fall tennis tournament sponsored by The College Shop.

Both Churas and Strock are former stars of the Junior ranks, and qualify as seasoned veterans as far as tournament play is concerned. They earned their right to the finals by surviving a series of playoffs which opened with no less than 32 entries, including several of the school's standout netmen.

After getting by the opening rounds without too much trouble, both youngsters were forced to play red-hot tennis to make the finals. Strock defeated Richardson of West Hall 6-1, 6-2, and then had to put on the pressure to eliminate Paul Conway in the semi-finals, finally winning by 7-5 and 8-6. Churas met Jewell of Kappa Sigma in the quarter-finals and won easily 6-0, 6-1, but had to go all out in the next round to get by Hodgdon of Theta Chi, the scores being 6-8, 6-3, 7-5.

There has been little action in the doubles division, with only one match being played.

University Starts French Laboratory

A French laboratory is being established in room 303, Murkland hall, under the direction of Professors John Floyd and Paul Grigaut. French railway posters, maps, and photographs decorate the walls, and French periodicals, newspapers, and reference books are available for students' use. A dictaphone makes it possible for students to practice speaking in French and listen to the sound of their voices.

Any student of French, regardless of his course or professor, may come to the laboratory for help or advice on questions concerning languages. At least one of the professors will be there every afternoon from 1:30 until 4, but students are welcome any time. They may come in between classes to study and avoid loss of time.

It is hoped that the laboratory will be developed into a French information center, so that high school teachers and others will be able to apply to it for information about French texts or for discussion of some of their problems.

Football Takes Spotlight

Tomorrow's big day for New Hampshire football forces. The varsity is opposing a hefty, undefeated Rutgers eleven in New Brunswick; the frosh meet Bridgton Academy on Lewis Field; and Johnny DuRie's Jayvees attack Tilton in hostile territory.

Freshmen Prepare for Bridgton Foe

Kittens Hope to Reverse Former Defeats by Strong Maine Prep School Team

The New Hampshire freshman grid forces, undaunted by their setback by the strong Exeter aggregation, are turning on full pressure in preparation for the game with Bridgton Academy to be played here tomorrow afternoon.

The Bridgton team is usually one of the best prep teams in Maine and there is no reason to believe that this year will be any exception. Word has drifted down that the Academy gridmen are looking forward to gaining their third victory in as many years over the Frosh. Two years ago they were winners by a score of 14 to 0. Last year, although the Wild Kittens scored in the first part of the game, they were beaten by a team that completed passes over them, by them, and through them.

This year the Kitten forces seem strong enough to turn the tables. Mugford is a very accurate passer as well as a very powerful runner. DeGregory is a fine pass receiver and a very difficult man to bring down. Put these two lads, together with MacDonald and Meneghin, behind a good strong line, having such consistent players as Sakioan and Suslak, and Bridgton will have to play heads-up ball no matter how good they may be.

Coach Dougal reports that the team has shown marked improvement during the last two weeks, and expects it will continue to pick up as the season progresses.

No definite lineup has been given out as yet as Coach Dougal plans to use many different players in an effort to get a smooth running combination.

As the varsity is playing Rutgers at New Brunswick tomorrow, it is expected that a large number of students will turn out for the Kitten game.

Durham Bull

by Dick Cook

Just in case you don't know it (and upon investigation we find that a great majority of the student body doesn't), Rutgers is the state university of New Jersey. It is located in a small city (New Brunswick), in the central part of the state and has on the same campus the New Jersey College for Women. It dates back to colonial times when it was known as Queen's College. While in the midst of this history lesson, we might mention that a team from Rutgers played a rowdy mob from nearby Princeton in the first intercollegiate football game on record, in 1869. The rivalry has continued until the present time but the Tigers were victorious in every game until last year when the Crimson made its first win.

Before boredom cause you (kind reader) to throw down this article in disgust we might casually mention the connection all this has to do with New Hampshire and the current football season. Tomorrow afternoon a greatly outweighed Wildcat team meets the undefeated but tied Rutgers aggregation.

This will be the biggest team that the Blue and White will face this year. It's a fact that the opposing line averages 193 pounds and that when we use a little mathematics on the weights in the backfield we arrive at a figure of 197 pounds! WOW!! There won't be much use in trying to go through such a big collection of padded defenders, but the light, fast New Hampshire team might figure out some way to go over or around them.

It's a long way down to 'Jersey and a longer way back, if they lose, so we think and hope that George Sauer and Company will return to Durham Sunday with the proverbial bacon.
