Popular American Baritone Repeats Performance Here

Last Concert of Season Features Royal Dadmun at Murkland Auditorium

Royal Dadmun, famous baritone, will give the last program in the concert series on Wednesday evening, April 17, at 8 P.M. in Murkland auditorium. This is the second appearance which he has made here, the first being in 1935.

Dadmun, unlike many other American artists, received all of his training in the United States. He has sung with the Boston, Philadelphia, and Minneapolis symphony orchestras, and the New York Philharmonic orchestra, and the New York Oratorio society. At present he is on the staff of Brown university.

The program for the concert will include works of Handel, Schumann, Mozart and Moussorgsky, and a number of negro spirituals. Dadmun is especially noted for his interpretations in oratorio.

Since there is a large demand for tickets, the concert committee has suggested that it would be very considerate of anyone who has a season ticket and is unable to attend the concert to let someone else use it for the evening.

Student Landlords Hold Skating Party Saturday

by Ted Murchie

The last roller-skating party ever to be held on campus will take place Saturday evening at the Women's Gym. The event will begin about 7:30.

As the Women's Gym is set for a fine face-lifting and floor refurbishing in the near future this is probably the last smooth skating set-to that students will see in the magnificent municipality of Durham. Four hundred pairs of skates and an incomparable collection of top tempo transcriptions have been procured by the personnel of the Student Landlord's Club, the sponsors of this admirable affair.

As an added attraction, that scintillating star, that super smooth savant on skates, that somewhat silly scholar, Clyde (Shoot the salami to me Salomey) Brown will indulge in a few exhibition gyrations for the edification of those attending.

Map of New Battlefields On Exhibition in Conant

A new map, "Environment and Conflict in Europe," showing the whole European battleground, has been placed on the geography bulletin board in Conant hall. As before colored thumbtacks and attached newflashes indicate the latest military and naval action of both the Allies and Germany. Moreover, a dozen small maps surrounding the large one have information concerning national resources, power, and military objectives valuable in interpreting war news.

The supplementary maps portray the following subjects: density of population, types of land relief, variations in climate, relative value of mineral resources, situation of navigable waterways, extent of international trade, kinds of land use, international boundaries and spheres of influence, differences in language, location of routes to the Far East, and the position of the western frontiers of Germany.

Student Elections Wednesday, Friday

Student Council elections for the year 1940-41 will be held on Friday, April 19 under T Hall arch. The booths will be open from 7:45 to 12:00 and 12:45 to 2:00. The male members of the three lower classes only will vote.

Any male student not on probation is eligible for a place on the ballot and may have his name placed thereon by submitting a petition with the signatures of fifty students from the three lower classes.

Election will be held by the single transferable vote system. Each voter will vote for all candidates according to preference.

In the last issue several mistakes were made in the list of candidates. The following is the correct list as chosen by the nominating committee:

Seniors: Horace Martin, Edward Burt, Matthew Flaherty, Wilson Brunel, Richard Snowman, Kenneth McLeod, Norman Birenbaum, Herbert Glines, Eugene Nute, Jack Kirk.

Tennis Court Notice

Because of the number of students participating in Physical Education and varsity tennis, it is necessary to request students who are not in physical education tennis classes or members of the varsity tennis squad not to use the Lewis Fields courts from 1:30 P.M. to 5:30 P.M. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Fridays and from 4 P.M. to 5:30 P.M. on Thursdays.

Murals Completed in Newspaper Room

Artist Gladys Brannigan Completes Series Dealing With World News Fronts

The murals in the newspaper room of the library are now completed and are well worth observation and study. The general idea of the whole room, chosen by the artist, Miss Gladys Brannigan, is newspapers, how they are produced and what they say.

A mural on the left, "Assembling the News" shows sun and moon—news from morning till night, iceberg and tropic palms—all corners of the earth and radio and steamships—news transportation. The central block tells the names of important newspapers all over the world.

Another, entitled "News of the Arts of War," pictures cannons, battleships, and airplanes. It is interesting to note that the men in the two opposing armies are pictured alike, except for uniforms. This shows the foolishness of war between people who are really alike everywhere.

A mural "News of Arts of Peace" pictures various symbols of culture such as music, art, architecture and literature, which must stop in times of war.

Other murals show communication, commerce and sports. Arrows running around the whole mural space indicate the march of time. Their straight line is only changed in "News of the Arts of War" where all arrows point downward.

There is no connection between the individual murals, but this again shows the assembling of a newspaper, the pages of which are often unrelated.

Miss Brannigan does the murals on canvas in her studio in Portsmouth. They are then brought to the library and fixed to the walls. The furniture in the room as well as the murals were donated by leading newspaper and newspaper men in New Hampshire, including the following: Mr. James M. Langley, "The Monitor-Patriot," Concord; Mr. Justin D. Hartford, "The Portsmouth Herald" and "The New Hampshire Gazette," Portsmouth; Mr. E. G. Gallagher, "Laconia Evening Citizen," Laconia; Mr. Arthur S. Morris, "Littleton Courier," Littleton; Mr. Edmund F. Jewell, "The Union-Leader," Manchester.

English Faculty Members Will Attend Conference

Most of the members of the English department will attend the meeting of the New England division of the National College English Association at Simmons College in Boston, Friday and Saturday, April 19 and 20. Professor Harold H. Scudder, acting Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, is temporary president of this section of the organization. Although this convention was originally scheduled to take place here in Durham, the meeting place was changed because it was felt that the colleges of greater Boston could participate more actively in this first full meeting of the association if it were held at Simmons.

The College English Association will have its national meeting at Christmas time in Boston, at the same time as the Modern Language Association.

Dean of Men Forms New Organization

A short time ago a group of fifteen non-fraternity men gathered together under the guidance of Dean Alexander to form a new Independent Men's Council. This new organization will in no way compete with the present group, Cauldron's, but rather is formed as a supplement to it, to coordinate the activities of non-fraternity men. The officers elected to serve for the remainder of this year are: President, Jack Mitchell; Vice-President, Robert Johnson; Secretary and Treasurer, George Cricenti.

All independent men were divided into three groups, and a chairman was elected to head each group. The groups and chairman are: Commuters' Group, Bernard Yoffee; Dormitory Group, Louis Israel; Town Group, John Sideris.

The commuters' group was divided into five sections, and a chairman was appointed to serve each section. The town group was also divided into five sections, each section having a chairman. There will be one man in each dormitory representing the Council.

The purposes of the new group are to act as a coordinating agent so that the independent men can be better prepared to take part in intramural activities, and to organize social activities for the non-fraternity men.

Kalijarvi Leads Course On Wartime Propaganda

by Rae Morrison

Dr. Thorsten V. Kalijarvi of the political science department will teach a course on "Press, Propaganda, and Public Opinion" in the coming summer school session. Although a similar course was given very successfully here several years ago, this is an excellent time for examining propaganda, when it has become an arm of the fighting equipment of the warring European nations and when the whole is a laboratory in which public opinion is being experimented upon.

Albig's "Public Opinion" will be the required text, while the course will

Ruth Stoughton and Jean Sughrue Will be Aides at Spring Social on May 3

Miss Madeline Papachristos was elected last Friday to be crowned queen of the Junior Prom which will take place on the evening of Friday, May the third.

Since the freshman year Miss Papachristos has been an outstanding member of her class. She has held the office of secretary for the past three years. Serving in the capacity of secretary, she has also taken part in the Women's Athletic Association as well as the Student Committee of Educational Activities. She is the managing editor of this year's Granite, and a member of the Glee Club, the German Club, and Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Her aides for the occasion will be Ruth Stoughton and Jean Sughrue. Miss Stoughton was a member of the Sophomore Hop Committee, and she has been secretary and vice-president of Scott Hall. Her clubs include Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary public speaking society, Folio, and the French Club. She is also a member of the Women's Student Government.

Though Miss Sughrue was a transfer student from Boston University this year, she has already distinguished herself among the members of her class. She is a member of the Newman Club, the Home Economics Club, and Chi Omega sorority.

The following girls were on the ballot: Dorothy Sparks, Lois Draper, Eleanor Gay, Libby Kinsman, Jean Adams, Josephine Kleczynska, Priscilla Booth, Ginny Percy.

consist of lectures, discussions, material from the text, readings in newspapers, and required reports on special topics by class members. Among the questions that will occupy prominent positions are the agencies for molding public opinion, censorship of the press and mail, news gathering by international combines, the influence of the radio and motion pictures, the management of propaganda in the last World War, and private interests in democracies and dictatorships. A distinction will be made between domestic commercial propaganda and political propaganda.

Dreams, Spring, and Reform Inspirations for Hit Tunes

Dreaming in a psych class, reacting to spring's first rustlings, and the urge to express a reform spirit, were some of the firing sparks which caused the song writers of "Glamorously Yours" to write the music to be used in this show.

Dick Hay, '40, upon reaching the status of senior, finally learned how to use the time spent in psych class to best advantage for that is when he wrote most of his "In the Shadow of the Moon," a smooth, slow fox trot, and a number of students will find it quite all right for a June night when the College Woods are popular again.

With a flair for breezy comedy, Bea Fishman has written a daring confessional number titled "I Don't Want to Be a Virtuous Coed," and wrote the music and collaborated with Natalie Rheinherz on the words for "The Professor's Report," the number in which the professors at the fashionable glamour school indicate the progress they are making with their fluttering female classes in the courses on "The Fine Art of Applied Lipstick," "The Principles and Methods of Walking Your Dog" and similar courses.

Taking classic piano lessons but practicing swing is the formula recommended by Gordon Barnett, '43, ivory tickler of Jack Mitchell's orchestra, who has previously played with the Fenton Brothers. A song was badly needed for the pre-reunion scene so Barnett wrote "Foll That I Am," a readily sung fox trot.

Applying modern harmony which is mostly in the minor mood to his musical writings, Paul McIntyre, '42, has composed "Moon Dreams," the waltz around which the second act is written. The lyric for this was written by Bea Fishman. McIntyre has been a professional musician since twelve years of age and during the two years he spent out of school he played for N.B.C. Decca records and Fox Movie-tone, slapping the bass fiddle with Doc Harmon's orchestra and Lowell Thomas' private band at which time he met many celebrities. His other musical composition in the show is "Minor Riffs," a chorus and dance number.

Already a versatile xylophone, piano, violin, drums, and clarinet player, Louis Israel, '41, composed "If," whose words express the wishful thinking of many students for steam-heated bleachers and other improvements which students judge worthy. Israel also wrote "We're Leaving Here," the pep song around which grippers in the musical comedy rally when they leave campus to form an ideal state where beautiful girls abound.

Senior Architects Present Designs for Office Building

Members of the senior architecture class completed the first part of their thesis work recently, when they put their knowledge to practical application in the design of a cooperative office building. Bill Ewing, Meyer Wolf, Benjamin Worcester and John Eggeston submitted plates which were judged by Mr. Thomas and Professor Huddleston of the department.

The plans are based on limited financial and physical conditions which were chosen to put the building on a paying basis. The students first had to determine the maximum volume and cost of the building, together with the amount of rentable floor space, to produce an income of $1,800 a year. Working from this basis, the students decided on the number of floors to be used and the location of the various offices. The building was designed for the use of a commercial photographer, a landscape architect, civil and structural engineers, and an architect with their attendant office staffs, and the floors were planned to give the greatest convenience possible for each one.

Each student presented his design, and gave a description of its features and technical details to the judges. Each then answered questions about his work and endeavored to defend its advantages.

After the judging is completed, the designs will be returned, and the architects will draw up complete specifications for their solutions of the problem and make actual working drawings for the construction of such a building.

APPEAL TO THE VOTERS

In these days of stress and storm and increasing dictatorship democracy has everywhere been placed upon the defensive. It must prove itself if it is to endure. And since it has its very being in a belief in the intelligence and the powers of discrimination of the voters who elect officers to represent them and to whom they give unlimited confidence and power, it is upon these voters that the responsibility for the future of democracy must fall. This is as true of a college campus controlled by student government as it is of a nation.

This week the campus will elect men and women to manage its affairs for the coming college year. These are positions of high trust. They should not degenerate into honors to be wrangled over by the various houses or non-fraternity groups. Students elected to the Council or Women's Student Government should be the men and women best fitted for these positions whatever their house or campus group. This is not a popularity contest, but an election to choose those people who can best represent the students to the administration and to the world outside. They must be intelligent—and high grades are not always a sure indication of this quality—and honest and fearless. They must be able to make a fair decision and stand in back of this decision in spite of adverse criticism. In short, they must be leaders, not headmen.

Student Council has done everything possible to insure a fair election mechanically—close poll supervision, secret ballots, checklists, and nomination by petition which cannot be praised too highly. Women's Student Government will use the same election procedure for the first time this year. The New Hampshire has cooperated in re-publishing the lists of nominees for the convenience of the voters. It now remains for the student body to forget its "party" affiliations and vote intelligently and honestly.

It is incumbent that everyone who wishes to participate in the final performance attend the practices. The time and place of the rehearsals will be announced later.

The beginning conversation group will meet Friday, April 19, 7:30 P.M., at Professor Schoolcraft's house.

ON THE SPOT

Victor E. Tyson, Jr.

After a seemingly long intermission since last we met, it would be rather futile and boring to cover the Sophomore Hop as we had planned. So because of this we will again do the campus in general. Up at the Newman Club dance last Saturday night, one couldn't help but notice Elaine Mihachik being with Smitty. The only explanation that can be given is that Bill Rudd is out for lacrosse. Lloyd Coutts sneaked in with the favored Percy while the Theta Chi Players went to New York with their stunt night skit. . . . Tony Budzianowski and Madeline Kelligrew continued their everydaying it as they, too, put in an appearance. . . .

Phil Beaulieu has taken up playing tennis with Dottie Bancroft—much to the pleasure of the Hetzel Hallers. . . . Hooray for Pappy and her Junior Prom Queenship. Perhaps that is why Johnny Stott is going around all smiles. He's just as proud as she is. . . .

Speaking of Junior Prom, we've heard it rumored that the band committee signed the contract even before they were sure of who the band was, probably because the bookies didn't believe that they had so much money to spend. . . . In case you haven't heard or read of it, the band is Seigar Ellis and Company — out of the Famous Barn in New York. Ellis' wife has been the featured vocalist with Paul Whiteman. . . . The Congreve girls have it that anyone wanting to know the inside on technique should take lessons from Mac and Dot. After watching the dance we're inclined to believe them. . . . Al Lucier, although in the company of Flora Kimball, has been blamed by one and all for the sudden darkness that descended on the couples up at the dance. . . . And as for Dottie Sparks, tell us, Dottie the reason for the crimson flush every time you catch a glimpse of the Major. . . . Bill Sanderson and Frank Spellman didn't acquire that tan from under sun lamps as they are leading some to believe: the truth in the matter can be found upon the Alpha Xi back porch. . . . The two of them didn't do so bad over the vacation as one went to New Jersey and the other to Connecticut. . . . And what are you smiling for, Tom Johnson, weren't you up at Goffstown? . . . Pep Martin was a bit upset the other night when he whipped up to Concord to see his girl only to find out, etc. . . . We guess that he'll be on time after this. . . . Tom Goertz isn't in favor of these Mil. Art exams anymore from all reports. . . . Our posies along with those of the rest of the campus are headed for Hood House this week for Coach George Sauer as he takes it easy with pleurisy. . . . Dick Morgan is about to go Ballet on us after his Dying (?) Swan act over in Commons, Sunday. He tried to balance a loaded tray on his head and from the loudness of the crash, the whole campus must have heard what happened. . . . Attention Miss Houdin—for the sake of a good laugh, don't tack on too large a breakage bill. . . . With the coming of Spring, the boys are beginning to look towards Rockingham Golf Course as Bud Keadin and Ed Sauer lead the way. . . . Note to Winnie: If Earl Quimby ever gets over his bashfulness, boy — oh boy! . . . Jack Mitchell arrived with a new paint job but you can stop wondering. It's only his old car. . . . Looking at it from a strictly driver's ANGLE, Milt Fontaine has given up ownership to his car as it turns into a Chi O. chariot. However, in spite of all the pitfalls, he's still held on to his basketball charms. . . . Here's something for the books—five men took Ruth Fraser to the rec the other evening and seven brought her home. Evidently there's safety in numbers, Ruth. . . . Was Dick Nellson's face red the other evening at the Freshman Ask-it Basket Night. . . . As Spring draws near the girls start to dust off the bicycles. . . . Puss Emory is, incidentally, definitely in the market for one, should you have a spare. . . . Another sign is the 9

Lens and Shutter Sponsors Pictures

Lens and Shutter Club sponsored the showing of an unusual group of motion pictures last night in Murkland hall at eight o'clock. The films were from the collection of Mr. Duncan Little of New York, who was present to show them. The pictures, several of which were in color, were the production of amateur cameramen using ordinary equipment.

Mr. Little started the collection about eleven years ago. After four years it had grown to such proportions that he had to hire a hall to house it. At a recent showing of the films in New York, many notables were present, and it was decided to take them on tour. Last Sunday the pictures were shown at Dartmouth, and they were shown on this campus for the first time enroute to Boston.

The films, to which music has been scored, treated of many subjects. The picture of that ancient and mystifying Indian rope trick had just arrived from India, although it has been on the way since last January. It was accompanied by another picture which did not pass the censors. There was a color film of Grand Canyon, the filming of which took place in sub-zero weather in order to obtain the unusual color effects. Mexican Silhouettes showed many charming settings, and Skiing Over Skoki, a ski picture with a story, has been purchased by Canadian Pacific Railways for publicity purposes. One of the Christmas stories was staged by eighth grade Kentucky schoolchildren, and another was produced entirely by some ninth grade Louisiana camera enthusiasts.

The program was of such extraordinary interest that the Omvila Club, and the Durham Ladies' Aid Association postponed their meetings so that members could attend.

Inaugurate Essay Contest on China

A China Essay Contest has been recently launched to stimulate Americans to thought and discussion on the problems in Eastern Asia. The subject of the contest will be "Our Stake in the Future of China," and is open to all college students of the United States. The prizes amount to $5,000 in cash. $1,200 goes to the winning essay, and smaller amounts to the next best 37 essays. To the winner also goes a round trip to China in the "Clipper." The trip comes only if conditions are favorable at the time of the award.

Some of the judges of this unusual contest are: Lowell Thomas, Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, Pearl Buck, Alexander Woollcott, Col. Frank Knox, and William Allen White. These judges voluntarily offered their services because they feel that the subject is vital and timely. There are prizes for the college, the college newspaper and the student, of course. The contest does not close until midnight June 30th, 1940.

First Frosh Quiz Held at Commons

The first of the freshman "Information Please" programs was held Sunday night in the Commons Dining Hall. Two members of Women's Student Government, Alice Coleman and Ann Reder, with two members of Student Council, Dick Nellson and Jack Hanlon, answered the questions asked them by Robert Boardman, vice-president of the freshman class. Ann Reder answered eighty per cent of the questions asked her correctly, thus proving her versatility. The questions asked the contestants were true and false, geographical, literary and many referring to current events.

"Gone With The Wind" at Dover Last Part of Week

"Gone With the Wind," Margaret Mitchell's sensational best seller which has been made into a motion picture of the same name, will be shown at the Strand Theatre in Dover, New Hampshire, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 17, 18, 19, 20.

This picture, which has been drawing record crowds, will be shown in full, exactly as presented in New York, Boston and all of the key centers. There are still many seats available for both afternoon and evening performances. They may be had by calling Dover 712 for reservations.

University Dining Hall

The varsity baseballers held a practice game at the Field House on Saturday afternoon in preparation for the opening of their season on the 22nd of April, less than a week away. Buck Jordan and "Lefty" Tighe started on the hill for teams "1" and "2" and had little difficulty in holding the sluggers to few safe hits. O'Brien at short and Adams at first, for the second team, came up with some sensational stops.

Coach John Fabello posted the initial frosh baseball cut on Monday, leaving about 35 players still on the squad. The freshman field is slow in getting into proper condition for use but is expected to be in shape for the home opener against Austin-Cate on the 4th of May. The initial game is to be played on the first day of the month, at Andover. Kitten pitchers are putting a little "stuff" on their offerings to the candidates at the Field House.

Kitten trackmen, who are running for the first time, are rapidly learning the difference between board and cinder tracks. They say it is really quite a way around the oval. Varsity tracksters have but three meets to hurdle before they enter the N.E.I.C.A.A.A. With their smoothly balanced team they should have little difficulty in holding their own.

A glance at the spring athletic schedule reveals plenty of contests in order for every team. Noticeable is the fact that there are twice as many home games as games away from home.

The tennis team, in particular, has quite a rigorous schedule. These players will compete with teams representing colleges from Maine, New York, Vermont, Connecticut, and Massachusetts. Six of the eight games are to be played on home courts. Not much space is usually given to this team, however this season the squad has several promising tennis players and the best tennis season in years is expected.

I don't think we student realize what the freshman lacrosse team is really up against. Only one member, Phil Martin from Keene, has ever had any experience at this mysterious sport. Still, in the past, the Kittens have won more than they have lost and probably will this season. They open their six-game schedule against Andover on Saturday on the Andover field.

Campus Camera, the collegiate oddity cartoon which is appearing in 175 college papers this year, is asking for material that will make the feature of more interest to the readers of the collegiate press. The Associated Collegiate Press, the source of this feature, is interested in receiving pictures, unusual facts, anecdotes and records concerning colleges that would be of interest to the student readers.

Varsity Baseball Squad Brushing Up on Odds and Ends

Plante, Adams Improve at Bat as Final Week of Practice Starts

"I don't like to make predictions, but barring injuries we should have a lot to say about who is going to win that New England pennant," were Coach Henry Swasey's words after last week's practice sessions. The veteran coach is very optimistic as to the fate of his squad and by the looks of things he has plenty right to be.

The boys are really hitting the ball and what pleases Hank is the fact that players who didn't have hitting reputations have their eyes and have been hitting like veterans. A perfect example of that is Toote Plante. Toote is a lad who seemed to lose all his confidence when he got up there at the plate. That isn't true this season, however, as he has been hitting the ball on the nose, shows perfect timing, and packs plenty of power. Toote also has one of the strongest whips on the club.

Sparky Adams seems to have found his batting eye. Spark, as may be remembered, didn't break any fences last season but this year he shows a distinct improvement. He seems to have much more confidence and when his stocks go up so will those of New Hampshire.

Friday and Saturday's sessions were featured by inter-squad games. Team A lined up with Roper and Hersey the battery, Larson at first, Hall at second, Plante at short, Parker at third, Sam Clark in left, Cryans in center, and Pesarisi in right. Team B had Tighe and Alimi doing battery duty, Adams at first, Stace Clark at second, Richards at short, Sughrue at third, Blais in left, and due to the fact that the games were played in the cage there were no outfielders needed and the A's filled in for the B's.

Jack Hersey led the Friday attack by slamming three scorers between third and short. Toote Plante and Larry Blais hit well along with Spark Adams.

Midge Hall showed up well in Saturday's tussle, getting four solid bingles. Hallie promises to be one of the best infielders that Hank Swasey ever had. He is overflowing with ginger.

A newcomer to the squad is Stacey Clark. Abandoning his track destinies in favor of baseball he is improving and bears watching. He is a sophomore and he is well known as one of George Sauer's flying halfbacks. Swasey is using Stace as a utility infielder and outfielder.

Coach Swasey has a very capable understudy to Jack Hersey in the person of George Alimi. This Rochester

Sipprelle Annexes Campus Mat Crown

Thursday afternoon the twice postponed wrestling final matches were run off before a small enthusiastic group of spectators at the Field House. This brought to a close the first organized appearance of wrestling on our campus. Coach Sauer was well satisfied with the response and attitude of students toward wrestling and commended the participants on their initiative and performance.

Only three of the six scheduled matches came off. Two of the defaults were made on the suggestions of baseball and track coaches as a precaution against possible injury. The other default was made by Stan Poplawski who refused to try a healing shoulder injury.

The first bout matched Bob Niel and Sipprelle. Sipprelle had the advantage through and pinned Niel in two minutes despite the latter's desperate struggling.

The second bout ended in the same manner after Colby battled Pete Meneghin evenly for three minutes.

In the finale Bill Feeney was the victor by decision over Phil DeGregory. While much of this bout was fought in neutral position, Feeney took advantage of his opponent's miscues to pile up a time advantage.

Coach George Sauer and Ed Sauer officiated.

Freshman Lacrossemen Open Against Andover

Freshman Baseball Squad Progressing

"Nothing to report," was the official communique from John Fabello, the Kitten baseball coach.

There are more than fifty candidates out for the team, and it is practically impossible to name off the stars.

Sheik Karelis, however, is a boy who can be picked as a star out of a million. The ex-Tilton ace is one of the smartest hurlers ever to matriculate here. Karelis is the boy who spoiled the undefeated season of John Fabello's freshman squad last year. He beat Lefty Tighe 6-4.

Red Davis is showing up very well and he and Karelis will pitch most of the games. Red has beautiful form with a lot of speed and control.

In the catching department Fabello has three men making strong bids for starting berths. They are Harvey Seel, Dom DiMartino, and Bernie Ekman. John has no idea whatsoever, as to whom will get the starting catching assignment.

Looking over the rest of the squad finds John Field, Ray Henry, Norm Flint, and Ernest Ricker outstanding. John Field is a classy hitter and fielder. Ray Henry looks like a good ball player. Norm Flint takes a beautiful cut at a ball and Ricker is a classy fielder.

Fabello hopes to get outside this week-end and then he will get a better line on his material. He has made one cut and is going to make another in the near future.

Badminton Finals Won by Smith Hall

Smith Hall has demonstrated a determination to capture the Inter-house Activities cup, by defeating Theta Upsilon in the final round of the Inter-house Badminton Tournament. Smith has established a good record during this year's competition, by winning both the basketball and badminton tournaments, and being runner-up to Chi Omega in the Bowling Competition.

Smith was represented in the badminton competition by Helen Colby and Dorothy Minor. This team defeated Dorothy Page and Lois Draper of Theta Upsilon 7-15, 16-14, and 15-4. Helen Colby's accurate placements and Dorothy Minor's steady, forcing play were the factors in Smith's victory.

At this time, ping pong tournaments are being run off within the various houses. At the conclusion of these, the inter-house competition will be held. After this is finished there will remain only two sports in this year's competition, tennis and archery.

Spring Opening

The spring sports season opens this coming Saturday with the Wildkittens meeting an all-veteran lacrosse club from Andover Academy, that last year administered a 7-1 defeat to the frosh.

Wildkittens Underdogs to Veteran Academy Club; Varsity 'Cats Meet M.I.T.

Saturday afternoon at Andover Academy in Andover, Mass., the New Hampshire Kitten lacrosse team opens the University's spring sports schedule when they encounter the veteran academy stickmen.

With one game under their belts, a six to one victory over a strong Boston lacrosse club, together with two or three weeks of practice, the Andover boys should be better prepared for the game than will the Wildcats. However, in the work on Lewis Field during the past two weeks, Coach DuRie has pushed his charges along rapidly, and says "they have come along as well as expected."

The frosh have never gained a victory over the Andover veterans, but, Coach DuRie stated that "the club we will have by then will have as good a chance to beat them as any freshman team we've had around here." It is unfortunate that the inexperienced Kittens have to open against a team that has played together for three or four years, but if they are to be met, the game must be played Saturday.

The consensus of opinion of the coach's staff is that the Wildkittens will never win the game by playing a better brand of lacrosse, but by being in better condition and outfighting them.

The Andover team is noted for its smoothly running attack and set shots. If the frosh are to bring back a victory they must play rough lacrosse and keep their opponents from shooting set shots.

The game will be the first game that all the players except Phil Martin and Lou Carpenter have ever been in. The team has scrimmaged several times during the weekly practices, and on Saturday a non-compulsory practice scrimmage was held by about twenty players. Coach DuRie feels that the team will be in pretty fair shape by game time Saturday.

No starting team or line-up has been made public by the coach, but some of the players are progressing a little more rapidly than others; at goalie, Moore has the edge because of his hockey experience, but Cecil Stackpole given a little time and hard work, will give him a good struggle for the position.

The two boys who are leading the array of defensemen, are big Ed Mackel, and Guy Gowen. In the midfield, the team's only real veteran, Phil Martin of Lawrence Academy, is finding able support from "Win" MacDonald, Al Kitchitz and Dick Cochrane, with Don Begin and Dean Plumpton giving them all a close battle for a starting berth.

The attack boys are being led by "Evie" Lanyon, brother of varsity Hal Lanyon. Little Dick Garnsay is coming along fast, as are Herb Smith and Bob Randall.

It is hoped that some of the New Hampshire students will make the 40-mile trip to Andover to watch the game, which should really be worth seeing no matter what the outcome is.

The Wildcat varsity opens on the 24th, against M.I.T. who Saturday took a six to four set-back from Stevens Tech.

With but five more daily practice sessions to work in, Coach Tony Dougal has quite a task on his hands to get his squad in first class shape to meet a team that has been in its regular schedule for two weeks.

At the present time "The New England Intercollegiate Lacrosse" leader is Harvard, who last Saturday drubbed a Springfield College team 16-3.

Intramural News

Coach "Chick" Justice asks all intramural representatives to attend the meeting at 7:30 on Monday night in the Commons Trophy room. Plans will be laid to include tennis, golf, yachting, track, baseball and possibly swimming in the spring program.

"It is urgent that all representatives cooperate by attending if a full, well-organized program is to be enjoyed," Justice said.

The intramural office also released the following results from the winter intramural program. In bowling Alpha Tau Omega defeated Sigma Beta 3-1 and 4-0 in the finals. "Chuck" Carlisle starred for ATO with 297 for a three-game total. Hickin and Pratt also bowled well. For Sigma Beta Smith was high man backed by Moscardini and Hayes.

The winter sports competition was won by Phi Mu Delta, led by "Stew" Marshall. Alpha Tau Omega took second mainly through Joe Brosius' efforts, while Walter Angers was largely responsible for Theta Kappa Phi's third place. So closely were the teams matched and so keen was the competition that less than one point separated the first and third teams.

When the regular basketball season ended in a three-way tie, Hetzel, led by Klinge, put on the pressure to win by defeating ATO 46-26, and then Lambda Chi Alpha, 54-32. Lambda Chi Alpha held off Alpha Tau Omega to win the consolation game, 19-17. Randall was high for Lambda Chi Alpha with 8 points. Hamlin, ATO star, was held to five points.

The ping pong tournament which has proven surprisingly popular, is still in progress. The number of team entered was so large that four leagues had to be formed.

Leading their respective league at the present time are Sigma Beta over Theta Chi by one point; Kappa Sigma over Phi Alpha and Alpha Gamma Rho by seven points; West A leads Hetzel by one point, and West B leads Fairchild by seven points.

Four Chemistry Films at James Thursday Evening

Another in the series of educational chemistry movies will be presented in James auditorium Thursday evening at 7:30 by Alpha Chi Sigma, honorary chemistry fraternity. One film will deal with catalysis, and will discuss chain reactions, positive and negative catalysis, and effect of concentration on reaction velocity. Another movie on the subject of electrochemistry deals with electrolytic decomposition and electroplating in general, mentioning specifically the storage battery and the production of caustic soda by electrolysis of sodium chloride.

Evidence of molecular activity in gases, liquids and solids is explained and interpreted by the third film on the molecular theory of matter. An analogy is illustrated by the firing of a machine gun, and the Brownian movement is included to furnish visual proof of molecular motion.

The last film of the evening, sponsored by the Ethyl Gasoline Corp., deals with organic radicals and their functions and reactions in the complex science known as modern organic chemistry.
