Matthew Flaherty Succeeds Nellson as Council Head

Sphinx, Blue Key, Skulls Tap; Student Government Presents 1940 Officers

Matt Flaherty, recently elected president of Student Council for next year, officially took his position yesterday afternoon at a required convocation in the women's gymnasium. Dick Nellson, retiring president, presided over the obsequies as the new members of Student Council, Women's Student Government and pledges of the honorary societies, Sphinx, Skulls, and Blue Key, were presented to the student body.

Outlining briefly the aims and history of her organization, Alice Colman, retiring president of Women's Student Government, introduced the new president, Madeline Papachristos, who expressed her appreciation of the honor shown her and in turn presented the members of her board.

The presidents of the honorary societies spoke briefly, giving the histories and objectives of their organizations, Jack Kirk for Sphinx, Victor Tyson for the Skulls, and Nellson for Blue Key. The members then passed among the student body and tapped the new pledges. This was the first time in the history of the University that such a pledging ceremony has been used.

From time to time Nellson, still presiding, gave weather reports and was met with overwhelming cheers when he announced that it was definitely raining and there would be no drill.

The final event of the program saw the new officers of Student Council formally inducted.

Blue Key

Towle Announces Close Of Tri-state Contest

Tomorrow has been announced as the closing date for the Tri-state Contest on each of the three campuses participating, Maine, Vermont, and New Hampshire, who is in charge of the contest. Anyone who wishes to be considered in the selection of three stories, essays, or poems for the Tri-state Contest must have his or her manuscript in to Dr. Towle for local judging tomorrow.

The closing date of the Student Writer is Sunday night. All students are again reminded that both the Tri-state contest and the pages of the Student Writer are open to any student of the University regardless of college or course. May 10 is the date of publication for the Writer.

Another closing date is that of the American College Quill Club, May 1. This year the Ted Olson prize of twenty-five dollars will go to the writer of the best original poem or group of poems submitted by an undergraduate of any college or university in the United States. The prize-winning poem will be published in the Parchment, the Quill magazine. Further details are posted on Dr. Towle's bulletin board.

"Glamorously Yours" Smash Hit; Repeats Monday Night

Editors Elect New Staff for Granite

Rudd, Greenwood Head the Board of the Class of Forty-two Publication

At the recent election of next year's "Granite" staff, Bill Rudd was chosen editor. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, and plays on the hockey and lacrosse squads, and has recently been chosen a member of Sphinx.

Al Greenwood, of Alpha Gamma Rho, is the new business manager. His activities include Alpha Zeta, Poultry Science Club and Yacht Club.

Winifred Kennedy, Gertrude Meinelt and Richard Cook have been active in connection with "The New Hampshire."

The staff photographer will be appointed by the new editor next year.

Outing Club Plans Varied Excursions

The Outing Club has released plans for a varied program for the remainder of the semester. Ski trips, outings at Mendum's Pond, deep-sea fishing, mountain climbing, and the Intercollegiate Outing Club Association conference at Allentown, compose the activities sponsored by the club from now until June.

Every Thursday evening there will be a supper-outing at Mendum's Pond. Members wishing to go should sign up on the bulletin board in the lower hallway of Ballard Hall. The club wagon and private cars transport the students to the pond where supper is served, followed by an evening of stories and song.

On April 28, Bill Hildreth and Jan Gagnon will lead a day trip to Pinkham Notch and Tuckerman's Ravine where spring skiing has started in the snow bowl and on the trails in that region.

This year, the Outing Club is host to the annual conference of the Intercollegiate Outing Club Association. This will be held on May 10, 11, and 12 at the Bear Hill Pond Camp at Allentown, N. H., under the direction of Karl Woodward and John Nutter. Over 100 delegates representing all the college outing clubs in the east will gather at this conference to discuss various phases of outing club work, policies and activities.

English Teachers Name Prof. Scudder President

Professor Harold H. Scudder was elected president of the New England Branch of the College English Association last week-end at the conference held at Simmons College, Boston. A large number of the faculty members of the English department attended.

With president pro tem Scudder presiding, it was decided that meetings would be held twice a year in Boston and once in the spring at some other institution. The University has already invited the association to meet in Durham next spring. It is expected that they will accept the invitation. With the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration going on at the same time it will make it doubly interesting.

Board of Trustees Makes Promotions

At the April meeting of the board of trustees held on Friday, April 19, President Fred Engelhardt announced the following approved appointments, and promotions.

Dr. Warren S. Hunsberger, instructor at Princeton University, has been appointed professor of economics.

Harland P. Nasvik, official photographer for recent stratosphere flights by Professors Auguste and Jean Piccard and illustrator for a number of American airways and railroads, will become assistant professor and university photographer.

Replacing Alan G. Macleod, Arval L. Erikson will become assistant professor of agricultural economics, assistant agricultural economist, and assistant to the director of the agricultural experiment station.

Five new instructors were also appointed. Dr. Harry D. Berg, now instructor at the University of Iowa, will be an instructor in history. Dr. James H. Gillespie, a graduate of the school of veterinary science at the University of Pennsylvania, will be associated with the department of poultry husbandry. George B. Rogers, a graduate of the University, will be an instructor in the applied farming curriculum.

Yacht Club Loses Boat In Storm Last Week-end

The Yacht Club lost a sixteen and a half dory type boat in the storm that struck the coast last week-end. Since the vessel, a knockabout sloop, was last seen floating upside down near Bellamy Bridge with its mooring down, Yacht Club members believe that it may be headed for Great Bay. Although all six boats were torn loose, club members managed to rescue all but one, probably the number three, "Smiles Leavitt." Sunday afternoon they tried to locate it but had to abandon the attempt because of the sleet storm. Every afternoon since then a group has been out searching, either by sailing or using field glasses. The missing sloop, purchased two years ago, was built by Marcus Lowell of Newburyport, Mass.

High Schools Hold Contests Tomorrow

Tomorrow twenty-two high schools from all over the state will be represented in the Intercollegiate Prize Speaking contest which the University of New Hampshire has sponsored annually for over twenty-five years.

Approximately forty-five students are trying for the three first prizes of fifteen dollars each and the three second prizes of five dollars each. A first and a second prize are given for each type of speaking. The three types are serious declamation, humorous declamation, and original oratory.

The quarter finals, of which there will be seven, will be held simultaneously in various rooms in Murkland at 11:00, Saturday morning. The two semi-finals will be held at 2:30 and the finals begin at 8:00 in Murkland Auditorium. Judges for the finals, Edmund Cortez, William Sattler, and Mrs. George White, have the job of choosing from the nine who will reach the finals the two best in each of the three groups. All the contests are open to the public. Robert H. Grant is in charge of the contest.

Catalog Streamlines Courses and Lists Curricula Changes

by Rae Morrison

Inspection of the new university catalog shows that 25 new courses are being offered next year, with the psychology and music departments having the largest number, while eighteen courses have been dropped from the curricula.

The music department will offer courses in composition, instrumental school music, elements of music, and conducting to its students next year. Plans are also being made to give advanced students experience in small musical groups. The following year the university proposes to initiate a four-year curriculum to prepare supervisors of public school music. The demand for teachers possessing both musical knowledge and general culture seems to warrant such a step in the near future.

New Psychology Courses

Students will find five new courses in the psychology department. They are principles of human behavior, a fundamental survey course for students of commerce, psychology of personnel, mental hygiene, and a survey of psychological tests and measurements.

While the principles course will aim to give students help in "in living more wholesomely," the study of personnel is designed to treat topics affecting prospective employers and employees.

The commercial department has added a fundamental one semester course in personal typewriting "open to any student who does not know how to typewrite."

Science of Languages

One of the most interesting additions to the language courses is a general introduction to the science of language, which will consider origins of language, phonology, etymology, and dialect divergence.

Other courses appearing for the first time are the elements and history of art, foundation engineering, an extension of general chemistry, secretarial office procedure and practice, wild life research problems, climates of the world, the foundation of contemporary world problems, quantity cooking, a survey of horticulture, experimental physics, field methods and technique in zoology and limnology.

Large Cast, Crew, Chorus Contribute to Success of All-Student Production

Due to the overwhelming demand for tickets to "Glamorously Yours," the university's song, dance and gag hit, there will be a repeat performance in Murkland auditorium, Monday night. Tickets for this performance may be purchased at The College Shop or at the door.

The show was a roaring success, there can be no doubt about that. To be sure, there were rough places here and there, the natural result of a too short rehearsal schedule. But these minor defects were obscured and hidden by the torrent of rapid fire dialogue—"What's the matter with us? We've got hair, eyes, lips and . . ."

"Yeah, but you can't make a seven out of an eight"; by the varied dances—we nominate for laughter the lumbering professors' rumba, for cleverness Pearl Lippman and the train chorus, for sheer beauty Dottie Bancroft's ballet in the last act; the songs—Shortie Dumont calling for the road to ruin and steam-heated bleachers, Winnie Kennedy and Wolf Bauer singing "My Love Song for You," Monroe Evans sighing "Fool That I Am" and multitudes of others sweeping on to the finale, "Up With the Blue" which we predict will follow the football team to victory next fall. Spring Atmosphere Rules Junior Prom

The never-ending search for something new and different in dance decorations has yielded fruit, it was revealed at a meeting of the Junior Prom Committee, Tuesday evening, when Ed Burt, chairman of the decorations sub-committee, announced that the spring social highlight, one week from tonight, will be held in an atmosphere of a spring garden, replete with flowers, trees, shrubbery, garden settees, and a floor-encircling garden fence. One noteworthy departure from customary practice, according to Burt, will be the substitution of a huge cluster of flower sand artificial balloons in the center of the ceiling in place of the badly-outmoded crystal ball usually employed.

Other reports were received by the committee from Mary McCarthy, whose group is in charge of programs, and from ticket-chairman Frank Mullen, who announced that tickets for the Prom may now be obtained from any member of the general committee.

A radio broadcast over WHEB for some afternoon next week is being planned, in which Prom Queen Madeline Papachristos, General Chairman Jack Kirk, Publicity Chairman Sumner Fellman, and possibly some others will be quizzed by a member of the Radio Club concerning the dance.

Any persons who do not care to stay up until one A.M. to hear Seger Ellis and his band broadcast over the Mutual Network may get an idea of the band's style by listening to the orchestra's recordings, some of which have been placed in the "jute" boxes in the downtown stores.

It was also announced at the meeting that chaperones for the Prom will be President and Mrs. Engelhardt, Dean Woodruff, Dean and Mrs. Alexander, Professor and Mrs. Kalijarvi, and Mr. and Mrs. Crissey.

They Didn't Name the Cage

Another press night at The New Hampshire office. Typewriters wheeze and sputter. The phone rings incessantly. Editors shout. From the mass of papers on the news editor's desk the report of the trustees' meeting finally emerges. People cluster around to read. Appointments—they've got some good men coming here next year to fill the positions left vacant. Acceptance of gifts—11 acres near Swain Pond for recreational purposes; money from the Women's clubs of the state to further the picture rental plan begun last fall, and money given by Pan-Hellenic for a ladies' room in the renovated gym. We didn't realize that we had so many friends. But the report ends there. There isn't any more.

And they didn't name the field house.

It may be that they have decided to wait a little longer, that it would be more appropriate to dedicate the cage next year in conjunction with the 75th anniversary celebrations. Or possibly they didn't have time to consider the question—half a day is little enough to get through routine business. It is hardly possible that they should have difficulty in the actual naming of the field house.

The King is Dead; Long Live the King

It was with a certain sadness that we watched the old officers of Student Council and Women's Student Government turn over their authority to a new group at convocation yesterday afternoon. They have done a good job, and we are sorry to see them go.

But this sadness is mingled with a certain joy and utmost confidence in the capabilities of the new officers. We are sure that they will carry on the tradition, and that student government, which is, in the last analysis democratic government, will endure on this campus. In the words of the new president of Student Council, Matt Flaherty, we are "thoroughly optimistic for its future."

TRUSTEES' MEETING

lum. W. D. Holley, from Michigan State College, has been appointed instructor in floriculture and superintendent of greenhouses. An instructor in economics at Cornell university and formerly with several investment houses, William T. Phillips will replace Clair W. Swonger in the department of economics.

Replacing Robert B. True, Howard W. Feindel, an auditor, will become assistant to the University treasurer. Mr. True will be acting manager of the Bookstore and the central duplicating system.

Major promotions include those of Acting Dean Edward Y. Blewett of the Liberal Arts college to dean; and instructors William B. Kichline of the mathematics department and Doris E. Tyrrell of the economics department to assistant professors.

President Engelhardt has also announced the board's acceptance of three gifts to the University. The New Hampshire Federation of Women's Clubs has presented a sum of money to be used in furthering the picture rental plan for students, which was established as a fine arts project last fall. A tract of land on Swain pond has been bequeathed to the University by Roy B. Swain of East Barington for the purpose of undergraduate recreational activities. Pan Hellenic has contributed a sum of money to purchase the furnishings for the ladies' room in the remodeled gymnasium and recreational center.

The Greek World

Alpha Chi Omega — The following people have been recent dinner guests: Mr. and Mrs. Walsh, Alton Bennett of Tufts, Jon Hall of Wentworth Institute, Harold Tine of Harvard, Don Parker of Cambridge and Francis O'Sullivan and Joseph Chase from S.A.E. Miss Priscilla Seavey was a week-end guest. Carolyn Myhre and Madelyn Cram were dinner guests at Phi Mu Monday evening.

Phi Alpha — Ernest Jawetz has won a research fellowship in Bacteriology at the University of California. He is attending an International conference at Colby Junior College. A new stove was installed in the kitchen. The ping pong room is being renovated. The house mascot, Amoco, is recovering after a sudden attack.

Phi Mu Delta — Chuck Kimball has been elected Sphinx representative from the house. Andy Wilson and Dyke Williams are commuting. Things are warming up—Olly Denet is our new house manager. Elder Johnson has gotten out his fishing tackle. The yacht crew from American International College stayed at the house during the week-end. Owing to low ceiling and heavy precipitation, no race was held. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith were supper guests Wednesday night. Mrs. Griik and Fred Cushing are leading the bridge tournament. Johnson and Brooks are close seconds.

Sigma Beta — Fletcher Burnham, ex '42, recently graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy Prep school, visited the house Wednesday. Arthur MacCounal of Manchester, soon to go to Hawaii for the Bethlehem Steel Co., visited friends at the house Wednesday. Sergeant Reginald Gulliver, '30, of the U. S. Army is now stationed at Honolulu. The Student Landlords held a meeting at the house Wednesday.

Chi Omega — Frances McCrillis was the winner of the Freshman Quiz program Sunday night. Monday night Chi Omega held an exchange supper with Theta Upsilon. Martha Atwood was a visitor during the past week. Polly Little was recently elected publicity manager of the W.A.A. Dot "China" Mitchell and Barbara "Boston Ward" Pride are attending the Chi Omega convention in Greenbier, West Virginia, soon after school closes.

Phi Delta Upsilon — A.T.O. has been invited to a joint vic party tonight with Mr. and Mrs. Crissey as chaperons. Leslie Goodnow, Elliot Woodward and "Stormy" Weathers, all of the class of '39 were week-end guests last week. The construction on a new house next door fascinates the boys, one and all, especially the gas shovel. Commodore Skerry is losing weight chasing the runaway Yacht Club boat.

TO THE EDITOR

I am firmly convinced that the rule prohibiting girls to smoke in their rooms should be modified. One of the major reasons given for the present set of rules is the fire hazard. It seems to me logical that if the girls were allowed to smoke in their rooms in the daytime there would be no danger. True, it is dangerous to smoke in bed, and this should be forbidden. The boys are permitted to smoke in their rooms, and East and West Halls are certainly not as fireproof as the girls' dormitories.

When one is studying it is very inconvenient to have to drop everything and go into the smoker. No one can study in a crowded smoker, and when she does return to her room it takes quite a while for her to get her mind back on her studying.

An argument in favor of the present rule is that a smoky atmosphere is unhealthy. If each girl were allowed to smoke in her room there would be less smoke in the air than if it were all concentrated in one small room. Everyone opens her window at night and several times during the day and the stale smoke is quickly replaced by fresh air.

The arguments in favor of a change indubitably outweigh the arguments against it.

Well, the varsity lacrosse team did it again this year—Wildcats 12, M.I.T. 5. The lacrosse boys are really doing their bit to start the season off in the right manner. Let's hope that they keep up the good work.

It appears that the weather gods have finally decided to let up a bit on the rainy weather. For the past week, Lewis Fields have been a beehive of industry. Trackmen have been limbering up on the oval, lacrosse boys have been working out on the upper field, intramural archers have been drawing aim, and letting fly, the handball court has been in use, as have all the tennis courts. On top of all this, the baseball players have managed to sandwich themselves in almost every place.

New Hampshire's foremost athlete, Matt Flaherty, competes today at the Penn Relays in Philadelphia, at Franklin Field. Matt is entering his specialty, the hammer throw, and also the discus. If only he can keep his nerves under control, Matt should come through with one of the top places.

Intramural News

At a meeting held two weeks ago, the intramural representatives from various fraternities and dormitories with the aid of Coach "Chick" Justice outlined an appealing spring intramural program for their respective teams. Such sports as tennis, baseball, golf, track, swimming, and yachting, thanks to the Yacht Club's cooperation, will make up the program.

Tennis will open its program next week. The teams will be divided into leagues as the ping pong teams have been divided this past winter. Three singles and one doubles game, each having a value of one point, will make up the match. The league winners will then play a round robin to decide the winner.

As soon as favorable weather presents itself baseball will be played. Just how the games will be run off and just what type of elimination will be used has not been considered yet.

The track meet will be conducted late in May also, but the date will be arranged so that no conflict with golf will exist.

While the yacht races will be an intramural event they will be under the supervision and direction of the Yacht Club. The only noticeable difference will be that the safety regulation which permits only those students having skipper ratings to handle the boats in races, will be enforced.

If existing problems are ironed out as expected by late May or early June, a one day swimming meet will be held. This event seems to hinge on whether the swimming pool will be in condition and in use by that time.

The spring program will be under the management of Phil Beaulieu and his hard-working staff.

Frosh Lacrossemen Vie with Harvard Tomorrow at 2:30

Harvard's Team Best in Years, with Prep School Stars as Team's Nucleus

Settling down to a hard week of practice after its victory over the Andover Academy stickmen, the Wildkitten freshman lacrosse squad is about ready to meet the Harvard yearlings tomorrow afternoon here at Durham.

This year's Harvard team is one of the best freshman teams to come out of the old Boston school in many years. Reports have circulated about that many of the boys have had three and four years of lacrosse work in prep school before this year. Coach DuRie believes that if his team is to add another victory to their credit, it will have to play a much better brand of lacrosse than was played against the unexpectedly weak Andover team.

Last Saturday, while the Wildkittens were hanging up a 5-2 win, the Harvard first year men rang up a 5-1 win over a strong Worcester Academy squad. The Harvard boys likewise met the same Andover team that the Wildkittens conquered, but they fell before the rejuvenated prep boys, 7-1.

Once again it will be inexperience that will be the biggest handicap of the Durham boys. With but one game under their belts, they are still a little shaky in the fundamentals of the sport.

Coach DuRie was well pleased with the way in which his last week's starting team handled themselves. The same boys will start this Saturday's encounter. Goalie Bill Moore will be in the nets at the onslaught, but Cecil Stackpole has been shaping up so well in practice during the last week, that he may be given a chance to work. Flanking Moore as defensemen will be Big Ed Mackel, Guy Gowen and Bob Middleton. Midfield positions will be filled by Phil Martin, Don Begin, and either Al Kischitz or Win MacDonald. "Evie" Lanyon, Bob Randall, and Dick Cochran, will start as attack men to finish out the line-up.

Wildcat Lacrosse Team Trounces M.I.T. 12-5

New Hampshire to Open Season Today

Roper to Pitch Against Colby; Jordan to Oppose Maine Bears Saturday

Weather permitting, the varsity baseball squad will open its home season here this Friday afternoon against the Colby Mules of Waterville, Maine. The weather to date has been cloudy and chilly, and the field still being not in playing condition might make the possibilities of playing rather dubious.

Coach Swasey took his squad out for the first time Wednesday. They worked out on the lacrosse field. With the weather being good for anything but baseball the boys had to go lightly; each pitcher worked for short intervals and then retired. Hank hopes to be able to use the varsity diamond by Thursday.

When asked about the Colby game Coach Swasey remarked, "I know Colby has a strong hitting club, but we have a stronger one, so there you are. I think that my boys will break loose this season and then watch out. I am strong in about every position out there with the possible exception of right field. Then I have Jack Adams, Premo Pesarisi, and Larry Blais to throw in there."

Swasey is nevertheless expecting a tough battle from the Mules but he said that Al Roper should tame them again this year. Al, incidentally, has yet to be beaten by Colby. He turned them back last year 11-1.

Buck Jordan is scheduled to hurl against the Bears tomorrow. Swasey says that he will field the same club that started the Colby game. Nothing definite is known about Maine only the fact that they have three lettermen returning from last season.

Harold Hall will make his varsity debut against Colby and he is going to be very popular with local fans. About the young sophomore Swasey said, "Hall is the best infield prospect that I ever had. He's fast, smart, has a good arm, can field and hit. It will be a long while before New Hampshire will get another boy like Hall."

The probable lineup for Friday:

New Hampshire—Hall 2b, Hersey c, Clark f, Larson 1b, Adams rf, Parker 3b, Cryans cf, Plante ss, Roper p.

Colby—Hatch 3b, LaLiberty ss, Maguire cf, Allen lf, Peters 1b, LaFleur rf, Livingstone 2b, Downie c, Hegan, Slattery or White p.

Good Beginning

Congratulations to a fine squad of varsity lacrosse players. Their win over M.I.T. this week keeps their record, of never being beaten by the Tech boys, intact.

High Scorers are Piretti and Costanzo with Four, Three Goals Respectively

by Jack Hanlon

Unleashing a powerful last period attack, the New Hampshire lacrosse team opened the varsity spring sports season with a 12-5 victory over M.I.T. at Boston. The game was marred by a wet field and a cold wind, but Coach Dougal was satisfied with his team's opener.

The Wildcats quickly opened up a three-point lead in the first period, and added four more in the first few minutes of the second heat. At this point, with a seven-point advantage, Dougal put in his substitutes only to have the Engineers suddenly come to life and pound in four lightning-fast goals. The half ended with the score New Hampshire 7, M.I.T. 4.

Coming out for the last half, Tech scored another goal to pull within two points of the Wildcats' lead, while the latter were having a hard job to locate the net. However, with Piretti and Costanzo leading the attack, New Hampshire drove in five goals to put the game safely away.

"This game gave us a good test," said Coach Dougal, "by forcing us to put on the pressure when M.I.T. threatened in the middle of the game. I'm especially pleased with the way my sophomores, Lanyon, Monica, Griffin, and Rudd handled themselves in their first time out. They performed like veterans."

Among the vets, Coutts, Costanzo, and Piretti were outstanding. Piretti continued his high scoring habits of last season by bagging four goals in this game. Costanzo was next in line with three, and Lloyd Coutts, two.

The home debut of the lacrosse team comes this Saturday when New Hampshire entertains the veteran Williams team on Lewis Field. Noted for their rugged, bruising type of game, "Williams will probably be our hardest game until we meet Dartmouth later in the season," said Coach Dougal.

Campus Notes

Student Co-op

President Fred Engelhardt was a dinner guest at the Student Co-op on Tuesday evening, April 23.

German Club

The beginners' conversation group in German will meet at Professor Schoolcraft's house on Friday evening, April 26, at 7:30 P. M.

Rehearsals for the broadcast to be given on May 16 will begin at 12 noon in Murkland auditorium on May 2. Anyone wishing to sing is invited to be there. The group will rehearse the new songs to be sung for fifteen minutes every noon, as they did before the first broadcast of folksongs.

Alumni Note

George Abbe, '33, had his second book, "Wait for These Things," a collection of verse, published Friday by Henry Holt and Company. A number of poems included in this volume were published in the Student Writer.

His first book, a novel, "Voices in the Square" was published a few years ago. Abbe is now instructor in English at Mt. Holyoke.

overture until the last spectator had left, the orchestra under sway of Jack Mitchell's smooth trumpet provided the musical background for the whole show as well as playing several numbers, notably the opening piece, written by Jack.

Dumont Scores

For individual acting honors we would award the palm to little Leona Dumont, who stole the show as the Pest. Shortie is a good little trouper and she did a fine job.

But the rest of the cast was excellent, too: Monroe Evans, as the not too bright Joe, Winnie Kennedy and Frances Metcalf, coeds worried about getting their men, Max Campbell and Wolf Bauer, the boys who got sick of "the drippy-looking dames around here" and Ray Cox, the maid in an excellent bit of pantomining.

At the close of the last act Director Charlie Craig introduced the authors, John Batchelder, Beatrice Fishman and Natalie Reinherz, the people who wrote the script and coordinated the whole mass of dances, songs and gags into a smooth-flowing plot.

Spring House Dances

Scott and Smith Halls are holding their spring house dances this Saturday night. Scott Hall will offer the music of Jack Mitchell and his orchestra. The dance will be chaperoned by Mrs. Sanders, Miss Moulton, and Mr. and Mrs. Lundholm. At Smith, Ted Herbert's orchestra from Manchester will furnish the music. The theme of the evening will be a Hawaiian beach. In the receiving line will be: Miss Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. Crissy, and Ruth Speare and escort.

Aggie Note

Dean Eastman of the College of Agriculture is attending the regional conference of the Association of American Colleges in Schenectady, New York, today and tomorrow. While in Schenectady, Dr. Eastman will speak over radio station WGY on "This Changed Job of Agriculture."

Story Contest

Word was recently received that Ray Oakes, '39, won second prize in the bi-annual story contest which the American College Quill Club held last spring. His prize winning story was "Perchance to Dream" which appeared in the 1939 Student Writer. It is a story concerning the last day of Edgar Allan Poe's life. Mrs. Dorothy Canfield Fisher was the judge.

Poultry Science Club

The Poultry Science Club held its monthly meeting in Nesmith Hall Monday evening. After a short business meeting the program was turned over to Dr. O. B. Kent, Director of Feed Work of the Quaker Oats Co. Dr. Kent discussed, "The Cycle of Feeding in the Poultry Business."

The members decided to hold a broiler roast, open to members only, May 6, at 4:30 P.M. The roast is to be held on the shore of the old reservoir. All members planning to attend must sign up with Fred Garland on or before May 2.

Skulls Song Fest

The annual Song Fest sponsored by Senior Skulls will be held Thursday and Friday, May 16, 17. Notices will be sent to all fraternities, sororities, and dormitories in the near future. Further details about the contest will appear in "The New Hampshire."
