Engelhardt Speaks To All Classes at First Convocation

Cogswell Scholarships Announced; Other Prizes Given to Upperclassmen

The upperclassmen welcomed the freshmen at the first convocation of the year held in the Field House, Thursday morning. Following a cheer for the class of 1944 led by Stanley Low and the singing of the New Hampshire hymn, Madeline Papanicholas, president of Women's Student Government, and Matthew Flaherty, president of the Student Council, greeted the freshmen in behalf of the upper classes. President Fred Engelhardt then awarded several prizes for excellence in scholarship which were not announced at the final convocation held last spring.

Doctor Engelhardt opened his address by urging the student body to resolve to make 1940-41 the best year in the history of the institution, especially since this year marks the 75th anniversary of the university's founding. He pointed out that the present students had been given a trust by the builders of the past to uphold for the future generation of students.

In addition to the Cogswell Scholarships, the following prizes were awarded: S. Morris Locke Memorial Scholarship, Myron Rosen; N. H. Branch of National Civic Federation Scholarship, F. Edwina Russell; Dietrich Cup, Marie Donahue; Osgood Memorial Plaque, Alpha Gamma Rho.

Dean Blewett Earns M. A. At Ohio Summer School

Edward York Blewett, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, won his degree of Master of Arts at Ohio State University this summer. Dean Blewett graduated from the University of New Hampshire in 1926. He was with Ginn and Company in Boston in 1926 and 1927, returning to this campus as alumni secretary in 1927, which position he held until 1929, becoming executive assistant also in 1928. Since then he has been executive secretary, then assistant to the president, becoming dean recently.

Warning!

"And citizens of Durham I might further state that my honorable opponent's most prized possession is a collection of pennies taken from dead men's eyes." Fellow voters, such accusations will probably highlight this year's campaign—as they did last year's—to elect a mayor of Durham to preside over Homecoming Day festivities on October 12.

Homecoming is earlier than usual this year, and it's high time for Durham's political masterminds to start plotting their blitzkreigs against innocent voters. Then too, 1940 is an election year with many bloody battles in prospect. Our own contest, according to some political forecasters, will indicate which way the wind will blow in November.

Any person who desires to enter this colossal campaign is requested to get in touch with Pep Martin at Fairchild Hall.

A word to freshmen: Don't be overawed by Durham demagogues and intimidated by barefaced bribes. Vote for the best man.

Library Features Chaucer Pictures

The current exhibit in the art department of the library is "The Canterbury Tales and Chaucer's England" prepared by the division of museum extension of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. It portrays contemporary scenes and celebrities of Chaucer's time in addition to many of the picturesque characters of his famed "Canterbury Tales." Almost all of the illustrations are from illuminated manuscripts of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. Such varied subjects as to the garden party and the middle class dinner add to the human interest in the display. An essay by Harold Ogden White, Ph.D., professor of English at Boston University, accompanies the pictures.

The show cases in the lobby have a demonstration of the correct method to use the card index in finding a specific book.

Dan Cupid Scores Triple Bull's-eye 'Rec' Season Opens; Extra Men Charged

The last month has been a busy one for Dan Cupid with three marriages of campus importance taking place. The football department was well represented with not only Coach Sauer taking the vows but Captain Matt Flaherty as well.

Coach Sauer was married to Miss Evelyn Werner of Sheyboan, Wisconsin, in the Little Church Around the Corner in New York City. They met five years ago when he was playing with the Green Bay Packers in Wisconsin. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Auerbach.

Captain Flaherty and Kathleen Ahearn were married at St. Catherine's in Walpole, August 26 with Kay's sister, Marjorie and Adelbert F. Teague attending. Kay is well known for her cheerleading abilities and her tennis playing, winning the women's championship last year. Matt, a letterman in football, basketball and track, is president of the Student Council this year.

Brud Warren, former editor of "The New Hampshire" and now in charge of the University News Bureau, was married to Louise Greenwood at the Warren's home in Portsmouth, August 24. Donald Smith of the Extension Bureau was best man.

The Women's Athletic Association has announced that the hours of social dancing, popularly known as "Rec," will begin next week. Everyone is invited to attend regular Rec, Monday evening, September 30, in the Commons Trophy room. These Recs are held every Monday and Thursday from 6:50 to 7:50 P.M. In the past there have been too many boys attending for the number of girls, and to remedy this situation a new system is being tried out this year. Each couple is to be admitted free of charge, but if men come alone the admittance fee will be 10c.

Beginner's Rec, for men only, will be held on Wednesday evening, Oct. 2, from 6:50 to 7:50 P.M., Commons Trophy room. Only those who are strictly beginners should come to this because the fundamentals of dancing, not the latest dance steps, will be taught. Beginner's Rec will continue every Wednesday of the first semester. Members of all four classes are invited as long as they are really beginners. Those who can already dance are urged to attend Monday and Thursday Recs. An announcement about dancing instruction for girls will be made later.

There will be no Rec on Thursday, October 3.

Yearlings Gain 5-4 Win Before Cheering Crowds; Rules Still in Effect

The class of 1944 got off to a flying start yesterday afternoon by pinning a 5 to 4 decision on an unlucky sophomore class. A large crowd of students and faculty filled the stands at Memorial Field to watch the events of University Day and cheer for their favorites. The freshmen took the lead after the first contest and went on to win the day, sweeping five out of eight events. But the victory was not entirely complete, because the upperclassmen dragged twenty struggling newcomers through the University pond.

Following the custom of past years, the freshmen assembled in front of Hetzel Hall and paraded up Main St. behind the University Band with the rope for the classic rope pull. The events of the afternoon, directed by members of the Student Council, got under way with women's cage ball. Fifteen women lined up on each side of the net and endeavored to keep an oversize ball in play across the net. The sophomores won this event by a score of 10 to 4, and took the lead.

1944 came back to tie up the score by winning the men's mile relay in 3 minutes and 45 seconds, a good time considering the cool wind which hampered the contestants and chilled on-lookers. Trailing behind in the first two laps, freshmen runners closed up the gap in the third lap, forged ahead in the fourth, and came in a good thirty yards ahead of the sophomores.

In the next event, the women's suitcase relay, the freshmen overcame the handicaps of an unfavorable wind and an annoying dog to win by a large margin, and lead the sophomores, 2 to 1.

The freshmen captured the men's centipede race in a close contest; then the freshman women lost the women's basketball race; and the score stood at 3 to 2 in favor of the class of 1944. (Continued on page 4)

Writers' Conference Feature of Popular Summer Session

by Connie Constable

The campus at the University was almost as active during the summer as in the regular session. The school offers work in academic, professional and vocational education designed to meet the needs of teachers, advanced students, graduates working for a master's degree, undergraduates, or anyone who wishes to utilize his summer by working for college credits. The pool was open for the special benefit of the summer schoolers, and receptions, informal dances, tennis matches, bridge parties, and teas were arranged by a special committee of students.

The program of lectures and concerts was enthusiastically received by student and townspeople and included Martha Graham, one of the best known modern interpretative dancers, the Yale Puppeteers, Virginia Johnson, soprano, and others.

At the Isles of Shoals the 13th session of the Marine Zoological laboratory was held. Here students each select one course and concentrate on it for eight hours a day, six days a week during the eight week session.

The University also held a Forestry Summer Camp at Passaconaway, New Hampshire for courses in forestry and fish and game management.

Of the various conferences held on campus the most outstanding was probably the Writers' Conference under the direction of Carroll S. Towle of the English department. Among the better known on the staff of the conference were Robert P. Tristram Con, Esther Forbes, and Helen Hay.

The annual Seacoast Music Festival held great interest the end of July. This year 105 young musicians visited the campus for five days and, under the direction of Bjornar Bergehton, produced a full-fledged symphony orchestra.

Among the other conferences on campus were the Farmers' and Homemakers' Week, the Library Institute, the Parent-Teachers five-day institute and the Institute of Public Affairs.

We Have Lost A Great Man

Every fall returning we look for familiar faces, and every fall there are a few missing. To all upperclassmen, faculty members, and administrative officials there comes a very real sense of sadness and sorrow with the realization that these people have gone out from New Hampshire, some to work and live according to the skills and ideals which they have garnered here, some to that undiscovered bourne from whence no traveler returns.

We were not shocked at the suddenness of Coach Cowell's death. His long illness and the physical suffering which he so patiently endured for so many weary months had prepared us for the inevitable. But we moan his loss none the less, for his going out has left us bereft of a great man to whom New Hampshire came first always.

The story of his arrival, his worldly possessions in a cardboard valise, to find the complete athletic equipment of the college—we were not yet a university—packed in an old barrel, has become one of the best beloved traditions of the school. Placing that barrel of musty football suits beside the velvety lawns of Lewis Fields, the well laid out diamond, the impressive cage with its excellent equipment, the imposing new stadium, we can well realize the years of unceasing labor and tireless devotion of Butch Cowell. There were dismal days and dark days when Bill would have liked to give it all up and head back for Illinois, but he stuck it out. And when the days of triumph came and calls to more lucrative positions Butch remained faithful to New Hampshire and his dreams for her. Even as Prexy said yesterday in convocation, he "buildd better than he knew," and today our teams take the field with the best possible equipment, and our athletic plant has few peers among small colleges throughout the nation.

To those who knew Butch personally, who played under him on the football field, who worked with him to realize a greater New Hampshire, who met him as the genial, energetic president and later secretary of the National Coaching Association, his memory will remain indelible. May it linger long about the green campus he loved so well.

Junior Class Poet Wins Harper's Writing Contest

Richard D. Dent, member of the class of 1942, was awarded first prize of $35 in the poetry section of Harper's Magazine Student Writing Contest for his poem, "A Ruined and Unknown Macedonian City." This particular poem was not included in the Student Writer in the separate section devoted to Mr. Dent's work because it was not written until after the Student Writer went to press. Mr. Dent is among several students on this campus who have won prizes in national writing contests in recent years. A picture of the prize winner was published in the October issue of Harper's Magazine. His advisor is Dr. Carroll S. Towle of the U.N.H. faculty.

Sam Clark Elected Baseball Captain

Sam Clark, a senior and one of the leading sluggers of the New England league, was elected captain of the 1941 baseball team, it was announced Wednesday by Coach Henry Swasey.

Clark, a member of the Sigma Beta fraternity, has been very prominent in local athletic circles, serving on his freshman basketball squad and the last two seasons as end on the Jayvee football team.

The election was held on the eve of the Boston College game last June but it was impossible to disclose the results at that time.

The big outfielder has been playing in the Twin State League the past two seasons under the spangles of the Newport Frontiers. He established quite a reputation as a slugger and was the chief source of the hurlers' fears. With a few breaks Sam should go far in the baseball world.

A fall practice session of ten days opened yesterday for all candidates. The purpose of this session is to get a line on his material and the task of cutting will be greatly relieved.

Swasey claims the advantage of fall practice is that since most of the boys have been playing summer ball it will be a continuation rather than a breaking-in process. Any eligible candidate is urged to report for fall practice.

Begin or Feeney to Start At Quarterback Position; Reserve Material Lacking

by Herb Smith

Playing the first game of the current season, the New Hampshire Wildcats meet the Colby Mules in Lewiston tomorrow afternoon. This encounter will be the first of the season for both clubs, and should point out one of two things — that New Hampshire has a strong team capable of going sixty minutes or that capable replacements are very scarce due to inexperience.

Colby has a veteran first team, sparked by their star halfback, Bob Daggett, but like the Wildcats they are low on reserve material. Coach Sauer in commenting on the forthcoming game stated, "We have at the present time an even chance of turning in our first victory of the year this Saturday."

One of the major battles of the campaign has been over the starting center berth. The struggle has narrowed down now so that when Saturday rolls around, either Ed Burt or Ed Gould will be at the pivot position.

Relief for Stacey Clark and Harold Hall, badly needed last season, now seems to be in sight. Red Davis, star sophomore basketball player is rapidly gaining experience, and by mid season should be sharing the starting berth with Clark. Win MacDonald bows to Hall as a starter only because of inexperience. MacDonald is a hard-running back, with a better than average passing arm.

Coach Sauer has had his men practicing against Colby plays for the past week. Pictures of past Colby games have been shown, and night meetings have been held to point out ways and means of capitalizing on the mistakes shown on the screen.

The probable starting lineup for tomorrow's game—i.e., Lampson; l.t., Flaherty; l.g., Martin; c., Gould or Burt; r.g., Onnela; r.t., Bove or Robbins; r.e., Lamond or Jones; o.b., Feeney, or Begin; l.h., Hall; r.h., Clark; and f.b., Gordon.

abide by the regulations which are posted at the pool. Students who do not follow the regulations will be denied the use of the pool.

Only the low board on the diving tower may be used because of the depth of the water.

UNIVERSITY DAY

The freshmen won the men's wheelbarrow race by an arm's length and increased their lead as the time came for the feature events of the afternoon, the cane rush and the rope pull.

The cane rush was by far the most exciting contest of the day, as fifty freshmen and fifty sophomores tore into each other in an effort to seize the greatest number of canes and deposit them in barrels at each end of the field. Tangled knots of humanity fought for victory until the scorer's pistol ended the conflict. The final result was 20 canes for 1944, 19 canes for 1943, one cane missing, and one casualty. A freshman, Leonard Wolfe, Jr., sustained a slight concussion during the fray and was taken to Hood House for treatment.

At the University Pond the sophomores made up for their defeat by dragging a bewildered but valiant freshman team through muck and slime to the sophomore side. The sophomores had the advantage on their side after the start, and they kept on pulling to win the event hands down. This result made the final score 5 to 4 in favor of the freshmen.

The Student Council has ruled that yesterday's decision will not affect freshman rules, as in the past, and caps must be worn for the remainder of the semester.

INTRAMURALS
Competitions in horseshoe pitching, softball, archery, relay races, and tennis will start immediately. Any organized groups wishing to enter may file entries at the Intramural office in the Field House.
