Wini Kennedy and Courtiers Preside on Throne at Prom

Decorations Centered on 75th Anniversary; Largest Crowd in History of Prom

By Clara Knight

The 1941 Junior Prom went off with the proverbial "bang" last Friday evening at New Hampshire Hall when more than 300 couples gathered to dance to the music of "Red" Nichols in honor of the class of 1942. Presiding over the affair was Winifred Kennedy, popular junior who was picked to be queen by the members of her class. In the course of the evening Wini was presented formally to the dancers along with her two aides, Midge Moore and Elinor Doyle, by Ray Doyle, prexy of the class of '42.

After the formal introduction, President Fred Engelhardt presented her with the queen's cup, with short and appropriate congratulations. The audience danced a waltz while the queen and her aides ruled from a throne at the front of the hall. Wini was escorted to her throne by Don Crafts. Midge was accompanied by "Rip" Jones and Elinor Doyle by Carl Randall. During intermission the dancers formed an aisle down which "her majesty" and her attendants were escorted for the presentation ceremony.

Livestock Classes Leave Wednesday on Field Trip

To get a better idea of good livestock and how to judge them 25 Animal Husbandry students of the University of New Hampshire will leave tomorrow on a four day inter-collegiate tour of some of the best livestock farms in the east.

First stop for the New Hampshire men will be Mt. Hope Farm at Williamstown, Mass. At Briarcliffe Farms in Pine Plains, New York, they will be joined by students from Cornell, the University of Maryland, Pennsylvania State, the University of West Virginia, Massachusetts State, and the University of Connecticut and will judge in competition several classes of Aberdeen-Angus cattle. Stops will also be made at Massachusetts State at Amherst, and the University of Connecticut at Storrs.

Bergethon Judges at Dartmouth Sing

The month of May is a busy one for Professor Bjornar W. Begethon with conferences, auditions, and judging taking him to Atlantic City, Boston, Lewiston, and many of New Hampshire's towns.

The first thing on his program were the New Hampshire Youth Orchestra auditions which were held last week in Concord, Berlin, Laconia, Hanover, and Boston. The auditions were for the purpose of choosing sixty-nine musicians to play in the ninth annual Seacoast Music Festival July 4 and 6 at Little Boar's Head, at the conference of the National Education Association in Boston, July 2, and to accompany the New Hampshire Adult Chorus in a performance of "The Creation", June 22.

Professor Begethon is now at the conference for Eastern Music Educators in Atlantic City, an affair which lasts until Thursday. Next Saturday he journeys to Hanover where he, with Band Leader Fred Waring and Professor Maurice F. Longhurst, will judge the intra-fraternity sing which is an annual feature of the big Green Key week-end.

On the 23rd and 24th Begethon goes to Lewiston and Auburn, Maine whether he will act as one of the judges for the New England Festival.

Required Women's Convo

There will be a required Women's convocation in Murkland auditorium at 4 P. M. tomorrow. The guest speaker will be Miss Doris J. Dart, who will speak on the committee to defend America by aiding the allies. Attendance is required of freshmen and sophomore women; any one else is also welcome to attend.

Political Science Scholars Convene

Governor and Mrs. Blood to Be Guests; Problems of Government Discussed

In keeping with the custom of making U. N. H. one of the leading cultural centers of New England, the annual meeting of the Connecticut Valley Political Science Association will be held here on Saturday, May 10. It will bring outstanding scholars of political science from such colleges and universities as Harvard, Middlebury, Vermont, Mt. Holyoke, Dartmouth and many others to our campus. This conference will enable persons of widely differing views to meet and discuss problems of government and contemporary public affairs.

Registration will begin the day and will be followed by a luncheon at the Commons. The speaker will be Wayne D. Heydecker, Regional Representative of the Council of State Governments, whose subject will be "The Progress of Interstate Cooperation in New England." What will result after Mr. Heydecker presents his paper is unpredictable for it will be followed by a general discussion. This will enable all present to express their ideas on the subject.

At 4:00 P. M., there will be a tea at which Governor and Mrs. Blood will be guests.

After dinner at 6:30 P. M., Henry F. Long, Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation in Massachusetts will speak on "The Green Estate: An Adventure in Tax Jurisdiction." This will also be followed by a round-table discussion on the subject matter just presented and the conference will terminate.

"Hey, Charlie, Can I--?" Or -- The Story Behind the Uniforms

By Charlie Gozonsky

Who is Charlie H? Well, just for the benefit of the women students, we'll explain this, because, needless to say, every boy who has attended the University of New Hampshire in the last ten years knows who Charlie is.

To get on with the story, Charlie Schoonmaker is officially listed in the university Directory as Supervisor of Equipment. To every man taking physical education or engaging in sports here, however, Charlie is known as a friend, as an advisor, and as the man to go to when athletic equipment requires attention. In fact, even while your correspondent was interviewing Charlie, he was busy making a badly cracked lacrosse stick as good as new.

Played for Dover

Some of Charlie's personal history—He was born right here in Durham and played football in 1914 on one of the best football teams ever turned out by Dover High School. That 1914 team had a line which averaged 175 and a backfield which boasted a 180 pound average.

Previous to coming here, Charlie worked as a shoe cutter and also ran a grain mill. His son is attending Mt. Hermon Academy where he is playing lacrosse. He'll probably come here upon completing his courses at Mt. Hermon.

Before Charlie came here to take over his duties in the old gym in the building now known as New Hampshire Hall, the position was only part time—an afternoon job. At first, Char-

Cornelia S. Parker Discusses Changes

"All we do know these days," Mrs. Cornelia Stratton Parker stated at an open meeting of the Women's Student Government Conference held here last week-end, "is that we don't know anything... The world changes more in five minutes in 1941 than it changed in five years twenty-five years ago."

"If we are to do anything in changing the present social order of the world to make it better," she further pointed out, "it is necessary for us to think in terms of the larger 'we'—the 'we' that includes the whole world; the 'we' that is not bound by parties, religion, race, color, or creed; the 'we' that goes beyond mere tolerance."

Mrs. Parker also spoke at the banquet held on Saturday evening in the President's dining room at Commons. Delegates who attended the conference represented Colby, Bates, Middlebury, Massachusetts State Teachers College, Rhode Island State, and the Universities of Maine, Vermont, Connecticut and New Hampshire.

The problems confronting college women's undergraduate governing boards were discussed at the various sessions of the conference. Most of the delegates found both the social and academic rules at the University of New Hampshire very liberal.

Instrumental in planning the program were Madeline Papachristos, the recently retired president of Women's Student Government, and Barbara Burns, the new president.

Will Receive Duplicate Awards at Convo Thurs.; Rosenblatt Easy Second

By George Spelvin

Tonight Professors Hennessey, Webster, and Towle, the judges for the freshman-sponsored University One-Act Play Contest, announced three winners; two tied for first place, and a second prize winner. Richard Dent, writing under the name of Albert St. John Winderford, shares first honors with Elwyn Dearborn, whose pen-name was Richard Holden. Freshman Bernard Rosenblatt, writing as Paul Riesling (a character in Sinclair Lewis' "Babbit") wins second prize.

Two or three other manuscripts were considered for Honorable Mention, but after considerable debate, the judges decided against making an award in this category. Among those whose plays were held to be of high merit were Paul Lyons, Duane Young, Dwight Richardson, and Elwyn Dearborn (who submitted two manuscripts).

Nation's Health, Keynote Of Home Ec Conference

On Saturday there was a meeting on campus of the New Hampshire Home Economics Association of which Miss Lillian E. Hartwell of Nashua is president. The registration at Pettee at ten o'clock was followed by a tour around the campus until one, at which time luncheon was served at Commons. During the luncheon, President Engelhardt spoke, and also Miss Verna Payson, Superintendent of Home Economics in New Hampshire State, Board of Education at Concord. The luncheon was followed by a business meeting.

About 2:30, the afternoon session began at Pettee Hall. Miss Helen Hinman, Nutritionist of the State Board of Health, spoke on "A Nation's Health is the First Line of Defense." Mrs. B. A. Kierman, art editor of the Boston Herald, spoke about "Outwitting the Styles."

Tea was served at the Elizabeth DeMeritt House under the direction of Miss Lucile Pepon and the Practice House girls.

Who's Who Has 19 U.N.H. Students

Nineteen outstanding juniors and seniors have been listed in this year's edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges", which is to be released this week.

They are: Helen Hillier, Marie Donahue, Priscilla Taylor, Lois Draper, Helen Colby, Majorie Callahan, Joan Sweet, Madeline Papachristos, Bill Brunel, Charles Craig, Eugene Nute, Sumner Fellman, Stan Low, Ed Burt, Ray Doyle, Don Crafts, Harold Hall, Roger Judkins, and Bill Rudd. Students who were selected last year who are still in school and whose biographies will be listed in a special section of the book are: Matt Flaherty, Bill Jahoda, Jack Kirk, Pepper Martin, and Ken McLeod.

The motivating idea behind the project is to establish a reference volume of authoritative information on the great body of American college students. Extra-curricular activities are equally important as an index to a student's ability and a great deal of emphasis has been placed on that phase of college life and not on scholarship alone.

Exceptions to the Rule

When an honorary society sets up certain basic qualifications for membership it would seem proper to follow these to the letter if they are to be effective. If exception to these requirements is made in one case then it becomes difficult to discriminate in other similar cases and charges of prejudice and favoritism result.

It is common knowledge that a decision answering this description has recently occurred in connection with a society designed to honor outstanding women students. On the list of desirable "taps" drawn up by the members of the organization names of two prominent co-eds appeared who both failed by a little to meet the same one qualification.

Presumably the members were particularly anxious to waive their requirement in this instance but final decision rested with the society's advisor. This advisor acted in what seems a more dictatorial manner by approving one candidate while rejecting the other.

There are perhaps two ways in which this ugly situation could have been avoided. The women members of the organization could have decided not to lower the qualifications in any instance or they could have strenuously objected to their "advisor's" decision, preserving their own rights and continuing to let the advisor merely advise.

The Fire Engine First

The practice, prevalent among students in recent weeks, of chasing the fire engines in automobiles to the many fires which have occurred is dangerous to firemen on the engines, pedestrians, the pursuers, and others not directly involved. In addition to the likelihood of an accident, the engines are prevented from reaching their destinations as rapidly as would otherwise be possible.

The cooperation of student automobilists has been requested by Fire Chief Nash in helping to remedy this unnecessary difficulty. The Chief also reminds the misplaced automobile racers that there is a heavy fine for anyone apprehended in passing a fire engine on its way to a fire.

The excitement and glamor of the recent minor conflagrations in and around Durham has doubtless caused student firebugs to blossom forth. They should wait, however, until the apparatus is well on its way before giving chase.

"Sing We All Now"

There is little excuse for the relatively poor cooperation received in past years by Senior Skulls in presenting the annual spring Songfest. With the campus becoming more musically minded all the time it seems that the fest offers an unusual opportunity for almost universal participation. In every fraternity, sorority, and dormitory there are one or two students capable of training the group. With a little rehearsing every house on campus could present competent singers who would make this year's Songfest into a real contest as well as an enjoyable program.

Fraternities and Sororities at Promtime

Lambda Chi Alpha—Bob Middleton is getting to classes with the aid of a cane after having discarded his crutches which have been in use since vacation due to an injury sustained while skiing... Many of the alumni returned for the weekend, John Worden, Phil Dunlap, the Ayer twins, Dick Johnson, and John Fields and John Dearborn... Bill Rudd's prodigy, The Granite, is receiving tremendous ovation from members of the faculty and student body alike... The annual spring cruise took place Saturday afternoon... The house dance Saturday night was one of the best ever. Effective and novel decorations provided a fine background for the smooth music of the orchestra. The large group of alumni and brothers and friends made the affair a success.

Alpha Tau Omega—A semi-formal house dance was held last Saturday evening with music by Vic Roy and orchestra. Many guests were entertained by the brothers. Chaperons for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Kichline, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas. Our baseball team won its second victory, 13-2 last Tuesday at the expense of Phi Alpha.

Theta Upsilon—Mrs. James A. McBain, national secretary of the sorority, made a three day visit of inspection last week. Wednesday afternoon she was guest of honor at a tea given at the house by Panhellenic. Wednesday evening she attended a meeting of the Dover City Association. The house was decorated with streamers of red, yellow, green, blue, and orange. Hayes and Callahan are no longer claimants for the tennis championship of the house. R. Dudley and Dick Smith beat them in a recent match, 7-5, 6-0, 6-5. The new house champions are open to challengers. Bud Keejan was a guest over the week-end.

Lew Batchelder '40, Les Ward '39, and Roy Griffin '40 all showed up for the week-end dance... Dwight Stiles outclassed everybody by appearing on the scene with a Packard... Les Ward is now with the Naval Air Force and starting next week will be stationed at the Jacksonville, Fla., base.

Tau Kappa Epsilon—Our spring dance featured Spring as the theme, and the house was decorated with pink and white streamers converging in the center around a crystal ball... The following were among the guests and alumni present: Frank Wright and Priscilla Clare of Lexington, Mass., Carl Brown and Dorothy Pigon of Boston, Al Ingram and Phyllis Clare of Boston, Ned Shehan and Barbara Sweet of Somersworth, Ken Day and Eleanor Dowdell of Portsmouth, Fred Dalrymple of Boston, Betty Millar of Plymouth, Ann Barrett of Boston, Lloyd Farrell of Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Palmer, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tuttle... Dipper Ice Cream Bar" outside of Dover for refreshments. A banquet was served at 6:00 for guests and Sunday a picnic was held at Rye Beach.

Theta Chi—Jack Wentzell was unanimously elected captain of the croquet team. Brothers Mado Crafts, Ralph Parker, Don Crafts and Nick Katsifas went through Hell Week for Scabbard and Blade. Brothers Carl Carlson and Don Crafts were elected to the Student Council. We lost a close baseball game to Phi Alpha, 5-4, but beat the two-year aggies 8-2, behind the super-pitching of Captain Burkhard. The house dance was a great success with many guests attending, among them alumni Jim Pope, Dick Nellson, Bob Tilton, and Paul Carrier. Sunday, twenty-five couples had dinner at the house to wind up the weekend... We are soon to have a croquet game with Lambda Chi Alpha. No admission! Everyone is welcome.

Phi Mu Delta—During the past week a faculty bridge party was held at the house with Dr. Iddles, Dr. and Mrs. Dagget, Dr. and Mrs. Evans, Dr. and Mrs. Walsh and Mr. and Mrs. Jackson as guests. Delegates from ten colleges all over New England, New York, and the middle south attended the convention. Our exhibit, a scrapbook of our chapter and campus goings-on, won first prize—a silver cup which we can keep for two years... Anne Hodgkins, Charlotte Sweet, and Edith Wright pledged last week... Phi Mu was well represented in the recent choral festival held here. In the solo chorus were Lorna Wakefield and Olga Yeaton. Eleanor Adrian, Rheta Coulombe, Carolyn Gove, Virginia Page, Janet Pickett, Charlotte Sweet, and Edith Wright sang in the chorus. Doris Churchill and Phyllis Churchill played in the orchestra. ## Tennis Team Beats Bates, then Colby

Top Bates Easily by 6-0 Score and then Vanquish Colby 6-3 in Tight Match

The varsity tennis team won two matches over the week-end and thus made their record stand at two wins and one loss. The Fielding players defeated Bates College Friday afternoon, 6-0, in an easy encounter. The Wildcat racquetters won six straight singles matches to whitewash their adversaries without much trouble. Paul Conway, Joe Strock, Frank Churas, Bob Joslin, Piffard and Jewell registered the six points by winning their matches.

After having played the singles matches, the two teams started the doubles competition. Action was soon stopped, however, since it began raining and the doubles were cancelled. This was the first victory of the season for the Wildcats and also their first game away from home.

The following day, Saturday, the team journeyed to Waterville to engage the Colby Mules, always a bitter opponent. This match was much tighter and more drawn out than the affair with Bates. New Hampshire wasn't sure of winning until the last two doubles matches had been completed.

Paul Conway was defeated by the Maine state champion by the score of 4-6, 5-7. Then Strock lost his match so that things didn't appear too bright. Frank Churas broke the tension, however, by winning his match and then Piffard, Joslin and Jewel took their matches to put New Hampshire in a four to two lead.

Starting the doubles, Piffard and Conway dropped their tilts to give Colby another point. Then Feeney and Morse took the stand and had to come through or else Colby would knot the score. The Wildcat duo did win their match, coming from behind in grand fashion.

Then the Sophomore duo clinched the verdict for New Hampshire as Joe Strock and Frank Churas won their match in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2 and ended the day victoriously.

Springfield and Harvard '44 Lose to New Hampshire

Varsity Tops Gymnasts 6-4 While Freshmen Edge Out Crimson 8-7 at Cambridge

Smashing through to their third straight New England League victory, the Wildcat lacrosse men slammed six goals past a Springfield goalie for a 6-4 win over the Gymnasts Saturday afternoon at Lewis Field.

The New Hampshire stickmen scored two tallies in the first two minutes to take a lead which they never relinquished. Monica registered the first marker and Lanyon followed up with his first of four for the afternoon. The period ended 3-1, Phil Martin contributing another to the Durham cause. In the second quarter, Lanyon added two more to keep pace with Springfield's two and the half ended 5-3. The Gymnasts pulled up to within one goal of New Hampshire in the third canto, but Lanyon sewed up the game with his fourth goal in the last period.

The team played a better brand of ball than in the Tufts battle. Lanyon, Monica, Glines, and Phil Martin all played very well. Jarina was outstanding for the Gymnasts. The game marked the first defeat for Springfield in New England.

The starting New Hampshire line-up: Improta, g; Lanyon, ih; Judkins, oh; Glines, p; H. Martin, cp; Brunel, ld; Wright, 2d; Mackey, la; Martin, 2a; Monica, c.

Freshmen Win First

Scoring the tie-breaking goal with only 20 seconds to play, game-captain Tom Niles led the freshman lacrosse team to victory 8-7 over Harvard '44 Saturday afternoon at Cambridge.

The Kittens took over their on-goal lead in the second period and led at the half 3-2. Harvard and New Hampshire scored three goals each in the third quarter and two goals in the fourth, but it was Coach Johnny Durie's boys who had the lead when the final gun went off.

The Freshmen did surprisingly well in their first game, since the Harvard frosh have had some experience before, and should look forward confidently to their next game tomorrow afternoon with Andover here at 4 o'clock.

Tom Niles and Joes Garrison were the outstanding attack men for the Kittens. Dick Abell also scored.

The New Hampshire line-up: Cat-tabriga, g; Hastings, Nettleton, cp; Wolfe, Bannister, Kelleher, p; Darling, Brackett, ld; Kelleher, 2d; Abell, c; York, 2a; Kolinsky, la; Garrison, oh; Niles, ih.

Karelis Limits Rhode Island to One Safety

Duranleau Singles While Pulling Away from Waste Pitch as 'Cats Edge Rams

Sheik Karelis put the Indian sign on Warner Keaney's Rhode Island Rams and limited them to one puny hit Saturday afternoon at Kingston, Rhode Island, to win 2-1.

The Rams got their only hit in the seventh canto which also drove in their sole tally. Conley opened the inning by getting free transportation. He reached second while Tom Callagy was throwing out Keaney. At this juncture Keaney rushed Duranleau in to bat for Coates. Pulling away from a bad ball, the pinch hitter shot a lucky hit into right driving in Conley with Rhode Island's one run of the game.

New Hampshire scored their two runs in the first two innings respectively. Lou Cryans opened the game with a single and was sacrificed to second by Callagy. Bob Austin shot a single to left to score Louie with the first marker. After Boucher grounded out in the second, Dick Sughrue singled and promptly stole second. Alimi fouled out to Hedison and then Sheik Rifiled out a double to help his cause. That was the end of the scoring when Rhode Island picked up their cheap run.

sion from July 7 until August 30. Those registered in the fish and game management courses have an opportunity to become acquainted with problems at first hand. As a background for the practical work, there will be lectures by recognized experts, supplemented by readings and conferences. Individual assignments will be given in problems concerned with original research in the field, in addition to such routine tasks as cover mapping, determination of carrying capacity, game census, stream survey, lake analysis, and so on.

Forestry students will work on the same assignments with students in the fish and game courses, such collaboration provides a chance for students in all three fields to experience a broader background.

Visiting Professors

Visiting professors who will be a part of the summer school faculty will include the following: Leroy H. Buckingham, assistant professor at the University of Newark; Anna Cordts, specialist in reading, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J.; William J. E. Crissy, Consultant in Measurement and Guidance, Cooperative Test Service, American Council on Education; Dallas Dickey, Speech Department, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, La.

Others will be Oliver Floyd, the supervising principal, Avenworth Union, Ben Avon, Pennsylvania; Albert L. Hartman, principal, Edgemont School, Montclair, N. J.; Austin L. Olney, specialist in visual education, in Rochester; and Harwood D. Wood, the principal at Hope High School, Providence, Rhode Island.

in their simplicity. Done in the traditional New Hampshire blue and white, they centered around the 75th anniversary theme. No ceiling lights were used, all lights coming indirectly from the side walls where silvery numerals on a blue background were illuminated by floor spotlights. Alternating with the brilliant 75's were panels of blue and white bunting. In back of the orchestra on the large canopy of heavy blue cloth was a large sparkling "75."

"Red" Nichols and his orchestra, including the Five Pennies and Jenny Banks was very smooth and professional in the interpretation of both waltz and swing. They compared favorably with rival big-name bands who specialize in either style.

drama written in blank verse. It is a tragedy of high emotional quality based on deep character study. Its title, "Listen to the Rain" only suggests the vivid poetry of its dialogue. The cast contains a father, a mother, their son, and two neighbors.

"Faces to the Son" by Elwyn Dearborn is also a drama. This play has a fine cohesion of plot and action that lends itself well to the theatre. The ending is particularly effective, as, with a well-wrought transition, the play enters the realm of fantasy. There are several young people in the cast, but the main characters are a very old lady confined to a wheelchair and a ten-year-old boy who enters during the transition to bring the drama to its poetic conclusion.

Rosenblatt's "Euthanasia" is centered about a wealthy and dissipated man who is informed by his doctor that he has not long to live. For certain reasons brought out in the play, he decides to sacrifice his life for his brother. The best dialogue, which is delightfully elastic and written with a keen insight into modern romanticism, appears in the first scene between the young brother and his fiancée, while the introduction of the main character produces a scene of poignant drama that is handled well by its author. Also in the cast are a modern villain, a doctor, and a friend.

Presentation of Awards

All three plays show an amazing grasp of the essentials of poetry and creative writing. Of the fourteen manuscripts submitted, the majority were dramas; only four could be classed as comedies—and of these four, oddly enough, three are included in the group which were considered for Honorable Mention.

Presentation of the awards will be made officially at the Senior Convocation in June. The Class of 1944 will present both first prize winners with duplicate checks of twenty-five dollars, while the second prize winner will receive fifteen dollars.

Radio Tryouts

Tryouts for the radio production of all three winners will be held this Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in the broadcasting studio on the third floor of Thompson Hall. All undergraduates are eligible to try out. Casting will be done on the basis of voice quality and vocal interpretation; previous experience in either radio or stage work will definitely not be a consideration.

"Our forces advanced and were successful on all fronts, crushing all types of enemy resistance." This is the Sports Communique issued by the University of New Hampshire last week-end, the most glorious two days that the Wildcat athletic aggregations have enjoyed during the school year of 1940-41. Varsity baseball, Frosh lacrosse, Varsity lacrosse, tennis, and Frosh track all came through in respectable fashion to mold a sports record that certainly will create a Red Letter page on next year's Granite. Although there was a stretch last winter in which the basketball teams conquered four foes in succession, nevertheless, those wins were captured by one type of athletic competition whereas this week-end four brands of sports were engaged in successfully.

Sporting columns usually have one major topic to discuss thoroughly. At times the baseballers appear impressive and at other times some other team achieves distinction so we go right ahead and comment on their doings. This time we could talk on every team since they all deserve it but we haven't got space and must just take the highlights. The topic that holds a dominant position in this issue's gossip is "Sheik" Karelis' brilliant one-hit twirling job at Rhode Island. This performance will probably be unequalled this year. For nine innings Karelis breezed curves, fast balls and what not at the Ram batters and had them baffled. During this time one man was able to solve his deliveries and this was somewhat lucky. The batter seemed to be jolting away from the batter's box when suddenly the ball hit his bat and went out to right field for a base hit. This short moment marred "Sheik's" otherwise perfect day. Baseball organizations throughout New England and perhaps farther out will begin to wonder who this pitcher is and want to keep an eye on him. This may not be true but it certainly is probable.

Sports Hit Parade of the Week—Ed Styrna, Freshman track ace, was King Kong in the events that he participated in. The holder of the world's interscholastic hammer throw record (Ed tossed a 12 pound hammer 200 feet while at Seton Hall), won the javelin throw with a 172 foot heave and looked good in the discus throw also. . . Willy E. King of the Frosh track team threw the javelin 164 feet in his first throw of his life in a meet. Willy also tossed one at least 170 feet but fouled. . . Boo Morcom won the pole vault and the broad jump rather easily. This is nothing new for Boo. . . Frank Churas of the tennis team was undefeated during the week-end. He won his matches at Colby and Bates and teamed up with Joe Strock to win the doubles at Colby to clinch the verdict while Paul Conway made the Maine state champion fight extremely hard at Waterville. It now seems that this column's prediction that the Strock and Churas combination would come through may turn out on the right side. . . Phil Martin of the varsity lacrosse forces hurt his elbow and may not be able to play the next game.

The Freshman lacrosse team came through to win its first game of the season against Harvard Saturday. We haven't been saying much about the Frosh but they proved that they can win at Cambridge. Tom Niles and Joe Garrison led the Kittens in the fight which was not settled until the dying moments of the game.

Pi Gamma Mu Adds New Chapter Here

National Society Helps Correlate Work of Various Types of Social Sciences

Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society, added a new chapter here at New Hampshire last Saturday afternoon, when fifty-three faculty members and students were initiated. National President, Dr. S. Howard Patterson, head of the Economics department at the University of Pennsylvania, conducted the ceremony of the installation of the chapter and the induction of the members. This organization, which was established as a national society in 1924, now has more than 100 active chapters. It has as its purpose: "the inculcation of the ideals of scholarship and social service in the study of all social problems." High ranking students from four university departments are eligible for membership. The four are Economics, Sociology, Government, and History.

After the ceremonies a banquet was held at Commons with Prof. Harry A. Smith, head of the Economics department, as toastmaster. The main address was made by Dr. Patterson and other speeches were made by individuals representing the different groups making up the society. Prof. Kalijarvi gave the views of an older member, Dean Blewett spoke from the angle of an officer of the administration, and Stanley Rodgers from the standpoint of an undergraduate.

In his address, Dr. Patterson stressed the point that a society of this type was necessary to correlate the work of the various social sciences. In working as one unit the different departments are able to hold joint affairs benefiting all. He stated that much good can be done in the interests of peace by a group of this sort. Dr. Patterson also included in his talk the history, policy, and purposes of Pi Gamma Mu.

Members of the faculty initiated were: Dean N. Alexander, Dean E. Blewett, Dean R. Woodruff, J. Hauslein, N. Smith, C. Degler, W. Philips, D. Tyrrell, D. Babcock, A. Partidge, A. Johnson, G. Johnson, H. Rudd, A. Ek Dahl, H. Berg, F. Jackson, C. Coulter, A. M. Stowe, T. Kalijarvi, and J. Bachelder.

minate after the selection of the 1942 meeting place. This is the first time the members of the conference have been guests of the University of New Hampshire.

The Connecticut Valley Political Science Association is a branch of the American Political Science Association and is composed of men and women interested in the investigation and discussion of governmental affairs and public opinion. The Association has no platform or program and is the organ of no party, group or institution. The only qualification for membership is a permanent interest in scientific study and dispassionate discussion of government and of international relations. At the same time, it affords its members a chance to find out what the other members are thinking and teaching.

Britt Sportsfest Ready for Friday

Final plans are being made by the Newman Club for the sportsfest on Friday, May 9. Members of the football, fall track, basketball, winter track, hockey, ski, and girls ski teams who were awarded letters, and their coaches will be invited to assemble as the honored guests for an evening of All-American sports entertainment.

Jim Britt, Yankee Network ace sportscaster will be the main feature of the evening. Britt comes to Durham with a wealth of sports experience behind him, being one of the nation's leading sport commentators at the mike today. This is the first appearance of a big time radio man in the field of sports on this campus. Britt will leave for Durham immediately after his 6:15 radio show with the Yankee Network. He is rapidly becoming famous as a speaker before college groups as well as clubs and schools throughout New England.

A large crowd of students, faculty members, and people of the State is expected to turn out to honor these men and women, who by their loyal service to the university and team have contributed much to the growth of this institution. Quite often a campus will forget its athletes when a season is over, but now as a unit the teams will assemble to receive the thanks of their many friends who have watched them become real sons and daughters of the university. A very small admission will be charged in order that all may attend the fest. Tickets will be on sale all this week.

Professional entertainment, guest coaches, student leaders, and music will fill out the program.

Defense Committee to Give Addresses

The local members of the National Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies will hold a meeting Thursday, May 8, in New Hampshire Hall, featuring two nationally known speakers, Ernest W. Gibson, former senator from Vermont and now Chairman of the National Committee, and Clark Eichelberger, National Director of the Committee. The subject of their addresses is "America in the World Crisis." Other speakers will be Ernest L. Bell of Keene and a student from Dartmouth.

This state-wide meeting in keeping with the local committee's purposes, has a dual aim. First, as the name explains, to defend America by aiding the Allies; and secondly, to build up the local defense in Durham.

The university students are urged to attend the meeting, whether they believe in its aims or not. Durham members are interested in having them all form an opinion, and whether it is in agreement with the committee or not, does not matter. Membership tickets to the National Committee will be available at the meeting.

Tapping Ceremony at Council Convo

The Student Council Convocation on Thursday, May 8 should prove to be one of the most interesting held thus far this year. The whole student body will personally have the chance to see whom they have elected, who has represented them on different occasions this year, and, more important, who will represent them next year.

A unique method will be used to present the new officers of the Sphinx, Blue Key and Skulls. The process is known as "tapping" and consists of having the outgoing officers come off the stage, going into the audience and tapping the new officers on the shoulder, bringing them on the stage and introducing them. This will be an appropriate ceremony since the new officers have been chosen from the students.

A more conventional method will be used to present the new officers of the Student Council, the Women's Student Government and the other organizations taking part in the convocation.

There will be short talks by the outgoing officers on what has been accomplished in the past year, and by the incoming officers on what the plans are for the coming year.

Important Topics in Speech Contest

When citizens of the United States tune in on their radios they find that the topics which the Kaltensborns and Thomases and Swings are discussing most, would probably fall into one of these general fields: The American Labor Movement, The Defense Program of the U. S., United States Foreign Policy, and Developments in the War since January 1, 1941. The speakers in the Tau Kappa Alpha speech contest have devoted most of their time the last few weeks to research on these topics.

Thursday, May 8, at eight o'clock the contestants will speak in Murkland Auditorium. Those taking first, second, and third places will receive medals from T. K. A. on Award Day. The speakers will hold forth for a length of time falling between seven and ten minutes. The judges will be three faculty members.

The purpose of the contest is to develop effective speaking; but the incidental development is that of clear thinking. Since the topics for the discussion are momentous for everyone in this country, the speeches deserve a large attendance.

German Club Sings, Hears Solos and Skit in German

The German club had a very varied program (plus pretzels and punch) at a recently held meeting. Beginning the program, Lilo Froehlich gave a short talk, comparing Berlin with New York City. Other highlights were a solo, "Die Lindenbaum," sung by Mary Ann Wheeler, accompanied on the piano by Helen Almond; a skit presented in German by Dorothy Collier and Austin Hardy; and two German songs sung by Elizabeth Sterns, Austin Hardy, Dorothy Collier, Edward Stannard, Lilo Froehlich, and Robert McKeagney.

The whole group enjoyed singing a wide selection of songs, ranging from "Alma Mater" to "Snitzel Bank." Grace Brown and Madeline Papanichristos, pianists, and Albert Gregg, violinist, furnished the musical accompaniment.

Scabbard and Blade Elect New Leaders

All good things must come to an end, and so Scabbard and Blade brought to a close its week-long initiations with a banquet held at Simpson's at Dover Point. Sitting down at the feast with the members were the new initiates and the officers of the Military Department. Guests of the evening were President Englehardt and Dean Blewett.

Short talks were given by the President and the Dean, and by each of the officers of the department. Stan Low, Captain of Scabbard and Blade, was toast-master for the occasion, and carried on in colorful style.

In the course of the evening the newly elected officers for the coming year were given the oath of office by Captain Low, assisted by 1st Sgt. Gar Frey. These new officers were elected before the banquet by the initiates and will take over their new posts later this month.

Tony Tourart, popular cheer-leader and prominent man about campus, was selected to succeed Stan Low as Captain. The new 1st Lieutenant is Ralph Parker; 2nd Lieutenant, Fred Bowles; 1st Sergeant, Donald Crafts, and Reporter Sergeant, Nick Katsiaticas. Besides these five, the newly initiated members were: William Mathews, Jack Clark, Stanley Platek, Mado Crafts, Chester Wheeler, Robert Rocheleau, Harold Monica, Robert Quinn, William Fitzsimmons, Fred Draper, Lloyd Hendricks, Francis Duclas, and Robert Wood.
