Memorial Day Outing

Are you an Outing Club member? Are you a heeler for Blue Circle? You'll find all the fun and excitement possible on the trip to Hampton Beach on Memorial Day! That's the day to take a real vacation between classes and those finals you dread. The chance for you and all your friends to have a real get-together! It's even rumored they will have all kinds of candy, gum, and amusements at Hampton on May 30th. Transportation will be by bus, train, or for those of you who are real lovers of the out-of-doors, the ever prevalent bike. Best of all, food will be provided by the Outing Club. Watch for posters stating time, and other particulars in prominent spots on campus. Sign-up lists will go up in all dorms this weekend, and the trip is definitely not limited. Let's all make this last meeting of the year, a bang-up outing, the biggest and best of any! Don't forget the date!

Music Recital Sunday At New Hampshire Hall

Miss Ruth McDaniel, pianist, and Miss Margaret Olson, violinist, will appear in a recital Sunday evening, May 27, at 8 o'clock in New Hampshire Hall. Both performers are members of the music department faculty. Miss McDaniel will play works from the piano literature of Brahms, Chopin, Goosens, and Saint-Saens. Miss Olson, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Kline, will play the Franck Sonata for Violin and Piano, as well as shorter works by modern composers.

No admission will be charged. The public is cordially invited to attend.

S.V.O. Plan York Beach Outing Memorial Day

The Student Veterans Organization is making plans for a party for all its members on Memorial Day. The party will be held at York Beach and special buses will provide the necessary transportation.

There will be a final meeting of the Veterans' Club in the Organization Room at the Commons next Monday evening, May 28, at 6:30. All business for the year will be closed and names will be taken of all those who wish to attend the Memorial Day Jamboree.

It is hoped that all the members will attend this final meeting. The details of the party will also be worked out and explicated at this time.

Newman Club Drama Proves Successful

by Anna Karanikas

The Song of Bernadette, the Newman Club's first dramatic attempt, was highly successful and met with favorable comment from all who saw it last Thursday evening at Murkland Auditorium.

The performance depended for the most part on sheer acting for its success and the well-chosen cast proved most adequate in making this story of a young French girl, who sees the vision of the Blessed Virgin at the grotto, a memorable one. Jeannary Durant gave a poignant portrayal of the saintly Bernadette. Her handling of the scene at the grotto showed skill and understanding, making one of the most convincing moments of the play. Bernadette's school girl friends played by Isabelle Burgeil and Barbara Vogt were present at the grotto but failed to see the vision. As the story of the vision spread around town, the village folk flocked to the scene in hopes of seeing miracles performed. Another scene that "stands out" in the story is that of the grotto at night. Leonard Sawyer as the half-blind stonemason who regains complete sight was fine. Norma O'Dowd as Madame Sajou and Ruth Carens portraying the mother of a dying child help make the grotto scene convincing. Lighting played an important role in creating the fine effects of this scene.

Dick Gangi as the father of Bernadette and Mary O'Neil as the mother were very good, especially in the scene where the daughter was reprimanded for going to the grotto. Joe Thomas excellently acted the role of the exasperated mayor who hated the publicity brought to his town. Norman Dumont with actions and gestures made an excellent chief of police, although at times his enunciation could not be heard in the hall.

The best scene of the production was the last, which took place in the convent. Lighting, costumes, and acting all proved excellent. Joan MacDonald's interpretation of domineering sister Marie Therese Vazous hinged on professionalism and demonstrated great feeling.

Charlotte Silva received complimentary applause as a convincing Bernadette. Castorot and handled the part with ease. Paul McLaughlin was a sympathetic Dean Peyramale and gave a good performance.

Much credit is due the two directors: Jack Flaherty and Claire Riendeau who supervised the difficult production and succeeded so well.

Pres. Stoke Awards Prizes at Sr. Convo

19 Outstanding Students Attain High Recognition

Yesterday afternoon at 1:15 the members of the senior class attended their last convocation as undergraduates at the annual senior convocation. The procession started at T-Hall led by President Harold W. Stoke followed by members of the faculty and the senior class.

Nineteen outstanding students were honored when they were awarded prizes by President Stoke at the convocation. President Stoke was assisted by Dean Edward Y. Blewett, Dean Ruth J. Woodruff, Prof. Harold C. Grinnell acting for Dean M. Gale Eastman, Prof. Harold A. Iddles acting for Dean Leon W. Hitchcock, Dr. Everett B. Sackett, Margaret Tower of North Hampton, president of the Association of Women Students, and Claude Henry of Cambridge, Mass., president of Student Council.

The Alpha Zeta Scholarship cup for the sophomore in the college of agriculture who made the highest scholastic average during his first three semesters' work went to Fred Hunt of West Rindge; the Thomas J. Davis Prize for competitive judging of dairy cattle to Alden Wolfe of New Hampton.

Chi Omega Award

The Chi Omega prize to the undergraduate woman student excelling in the work of the department of sociology to Barbar Sargent of Concord; the Locke Prize for the junior majoring in Latin excelling in study of that language to Roger Tyler of Lee; the Phi Sigma Prize for the senior offering the most promise as a research worker in biology to Stanley Petrowski of Nashua; the Phi Sigma Medal to the senior who ranked highest in biological courses throughout the entire four years of college work to Helen Robinson of Manchester; the Pi Gamma Mu scholarship award to the member of the senior class with the highest scholastic achievement in the social sciences to Janet Winn of Somersworth; the Psi Lambda award to the senior in home economics who showed the greatest improvement in scholarship and personality during her four years in college to Hattie E. Harrington of Cornish.

The Alpha Chi Sigma award to the student who secured the highest grades in general chemistry during the year to Nicholas Theodosopoulos of Manchester; the Bailey Prize for proficiency in chemistry to June Chase of Hillsboro.

Foremost Athlete

The Alpha Xi Delta award to the senior girl who proved herself to be the best athlete in her class to Rachel Adams of Gorham; the Great Bay Branch of the American Association of University Women award to a senior woman for her use in graduate study to Miriam Johnson of Durham; the Association of Woman Students award for the woman student who proved her value to the women's student body by scholarship, self-help, leadership and loyalty to Natalie Brooks of Portsmouth; the Class of 1899 prize to the senior who developed the highest ideals of good citizenship to Joye Churchill of Westmoreland Depot; the Erskine Mason Memorial Prize to the senior who distinguished himself by consistent progress and achievement during his college course to Esther Drew of Union; the Katherine DeMeritt Prize to the junior girl who during her three years of college showed leadership and loyalty combined with character and scholastic attainment to Margaret Tower of North Hampton.

High Average

The Mortar Board Scholarship award to the woman student in the freshman class who attained the highest academic average was made to Virginia Rochelle of Nashua for the 1942-43 year and to Lena Pillsbury of Gratham for the 1943-44 year. The Pan Hellenic Scholarship trophy went to the Kappa Delta sorority.

An academic procession of the members of the senior class and the faculty preceded the convocation.

Union Drive "Kickoff" Rally, Monday at 7:30

New "Pep Gang" Plans Baseball Rally

FLASH! The "Pep Gang," the newest organization on campus, was formed this week, and announces the first baseball rally to be held this Friday night, May 25, at 6:30 in front of Commons. The nucleus of the "Pep Gang" consists of Margery Byers, Lennie Levine, Pat Parker, and Herb Mordecai, and their purpose is to arouse student enthusiasm for all activities on campus.

The cheer leaders will be on hand, along with "Shorty" Bulger and "Honky" who will more or less represent the male element on campus. Dick Mascott and his drums, and Al Cherin and his trumpet will lend musical volume to the affair.

Coach Swasey, and Mr. Lundholm will speak, as will Twit Henry, president of the student council; Jerry Singleton, president of the Student Veteran Organization; Andy Mooradian and Joe Swekla, co-captains of the Wildcat nine. The entire team will be present.

The rally will end with a mammoth snake dance. Show your confidence in the team by attending the rally Friday night, which is a warm-up for the big game on Saturday, when UNH meets Grenier Field.

Joe Bennett - Student Council President

Joseph Bennett, a first semester junior, was elected president of the Student Council for 1945-1946 at the recent student election.

The student activity tax was also approved by members of the student body. Next year this tax will include "The Granite," "The New Hampshire," W.R.A. for the women students, admission to the university athletic games and similar activities.

Radio Program, 8 to 8:30, Minimum Goal $250,000 Honors Service People

A big "kickoff" meeting which will broadcast over three radio stations will launch the combined alumni and university drive for a minimum of $250,000 for a proposed student union building honoring UNH men and women who have served in the armed forces at 7:30 p.m., Monday, May 28, in New Hampshire Hall.

The meeting will feature a program of music by the university orchestra, glee club and student body and comments from the president of the university, president of the board of trustees and student representatives. The warm-up period from 7:30 to 8 will consist of group singing, New Hampshire cheers led by the Pepcats and cheerleaders. Radio stations WHEB in Portsmouth and WKNE in Keene will broadcast the program from 8 to 8:30 p.m., and WMUR in Manchester will have a delayed broadcast at 10:30 the same night. A number of alumni groups throughout New England have called special meetings to listen to the broadcast.

Bradford W. McIntire of Durham, president of the Alumni Association will be the master of ceremonies. First speaker on the program is Frank Randall of Portsmouth, a graduate of the university in 1907, former president of the alumni association, and now president of the board of trustees. William T. Call of Manchester, chairman of the alumni fund and a member of the class of '13, will speak briefly on how the memorial union fund drive started. He will be followed by Harold I. Leavitt, alumni secretary, and student representatives, Peg Tower, president of the Association of Women Students, and Claude Henry, president of Student Council. President Harold W. Stoke will be the final speaker of the program.

Presidents of every house and dormitory on campus have selected committees to conduct a student-to-student drive during the week of May 28 to raise funds for the union building. A meeting of these representatives will be held this afternoon at 4:15 in 213 T-Hall.

Frangcon L. Jones Wins National Literary Award

A last minute award was given at the Annual Senior Convocation Tuesday afternoon to Frangcon L. Jones by The Atlantic Monthly magazine as the national winner in the Atlantic Monthly College Contest in Writing for his story "One Hundred Years too Soon." Besides a award of $50, Mr. Jones was also awarded the Bread Loaf Scholarship at the Bread Loaf School of English.

In addition to winning the national prize in the story contest, Mr. Jones, who graduates this year from the university, received first honorable mention for his poem "Man at the Top" in the poetry contest, and "Baby Voices," another poem of his, was among the top papers.

In the essay contest of the Atlantic Monthly College Contest, Robert Abell, a member of the class of 1948, had his essay "Is This What We Are Fighting For" placed in the top papers. "John Stienbeck and the Real People" by Roger Bernard DeHayes '47, was considered a merit paper in the essay contest.

NOTICE

There will be no classes May 30, Memorial Day. Regular classes end Saturday, June 2, at noon, and final examinations begin Monday, June 4, at 8 o'clock.

Due to circumstances beyond the control of those in charge, the sophomore class has cancelled the announced Street Dance which was to have been held on May 29.

The Student Union

The Student Union is no longer merely a dream. Already the alumni has subscribed a considerable sum toward its building and plans are being formulated for the actual structure. If students and friends of the University will contribute to the present drive for funds, construction can begin as soon as necessary materials are released.

We have needed a Union for years. A place to play is as necessary to a well-regulated college as places to study. We need a place to meet our friends, a place to relax between classes, a place to dance when we feel like dancing — and sometimes we just plain need a place to go. How nice it will be for future students to be able to say, "I'll meet you at the Union" instead of having to traipse way down town. And the Union should provide a place to meet one's professors as well as fellow students. In our dream of this future place is a lounge complete with fireplace, comfortable chairs, books and magazines — a place conducive to friendliness and frank discussions of problems that mere class-room meetings never seem to solve. The professors might enjoy a coke now and then too. And think of the possibilities that sort of thing offers. The student of the future may meet a final exam with, "Say, Prof, I'll buy you a coke if you'll tell me what to study for the final." It might not work, of course, but someone ought to try it.

This is a dream for the future, seemingly having nothing to do with us. "Gee, I won't be here to see it," a lot of people are saying. "It doesn't even concern me." But surprisingly, it does concern us in innumerable different ways. We are here while the school is still growing both in size and scholastic standing, and the school's future good is our future good. It may be a realistic way of looking at things — too realistic to put into an editorial, but the bigger and better a school appears on the surface the bigger and better impression an education obtained there is going to appear to the ordinary citizen. Who knows where we may be ten or fifteen years from now. When someone inquiries where we went to school, we'd like to have the words, "The University of New Hampshire" greeted with "A good place," rather than, "Never heard of it."

And more than that — because we go our way perhaps never to return to this place does not lessen our obligations to it for the many things that it has done for us. Ben Thompson's dream would never have gotten farther than the pasture gates if a lot of people hadn't realized that dreams are as important as actuality, and that the lives of other people are as valuable and worthy of nurture as one's own. When John Donne said, "I am involved in mankind; And therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; It tolls for thee." He spoke of the meaning of other men's deaths to him but we are also involved in other men's lives. Contributing to the building of the Student Union could be a small way of recognizing that fact.

Nine Former CAP Members Now in U. S. Armed Forces

With the departure of W/O Ervin "Butch" Doyle from campus last week, the total number of former members of the University of New Hampshire Detached Flight Civil Air Patrol who have joined the armed forces of the United States has reached nine, it was announced this week by Lieut. Warren Robbins, Acting Commanding Officer. Of this number, four have become members of the Army Air Corps, four are in the United States Navy, and one is a member of the regular army.

Ervin Doyle, Russ Harmon, Charles Shapiro, and Dick Weisblatt are now affiliated with the flying branch of the army; Gene Hammond, William Jarvis, Dan Smith, and Phil Shulins are with the navy; and Ross Peal, formerly a cadet in the Royal Canadian Air Force before joining the Durham CAP unit, is now in the United States Army.

Scholarships Available For UNH Graduate School

A limited number of scholarships for superior students who wish to undertake advanced study will be available at the Graduate School at the University of New Hampshire for the 1945-46 year, Dean Hermon L. Slobin announced today.

Covering full tuition, the awards will be based upon a student's financial need, his undergraduate scholastic record, and also upon the results he achieves in the Graduate Record Examination to be administered here on May 25 and 26. Candidates must apply to Dr. Everett B. Sackett.

The Graduate Record Examination may be taken here by any seniors who might wish to use the results for application to graduate schools at other universities and colleges.

Around the Campus

by Bill Heller

Well, Abbie, if you've recuperated sufficiently from your weekend in Boston, let's get down to earth with some "Durham dirt". . . . Goldarnit! This column is getting stagnant. What we need is some real news to liven it up. . . . Of course, when we do get "good" news, it's usually censored, but we can try and slip something by "Eagle-eye" Gleason. . . . Right off the bat, we want to tell Franny Whalen that his rendition of "Assembly" (which sounded more like Hotlips Page's "Bugle Call Rag") at last week's drill was wonderful. It's what we really need to brighten a dull afternoon. . . . Still on the subject of ROTC, we'd like to know where Bob Beauregard cultivated his beautiful "Hup-two-three-four." We've never heard anything like it. It has that definite tone of authority.

We guess Pete Gureckis was in a hurry to get down to the track meet the other day; he ran down the steps, out onto the field, and ended up flat on his face in a mud puddle. Gosh, Pete, you're a lucky boy; a movie actress would have to pay twenty-five dollars for a mud bath like that! We're sorry that we weren't able to see the track meet Saturday. They tell us that it was a swell meet too. . . . We went down to Boston Saturday morning with the baseball team. . . . We had real Durham weather down in Boston (needless to say that it rained cats and dogs). . . . Our post war plans include a barometer that will forecast the weather a week ahead of time so that our games won't be either rained out or rained upon. . . . By the way, we lost to Northeastern.

Helen Kapp left Durham for good this week, and although we hated to see her leave, we might say that Durham is once more lapsing into her regular routine. . . . Haverhill better not send too many like her up here or there won't be anything left of the school. . . . We hope that she has loads of luck down at the Beth Israel Hospital in Boston where she is entering a Cadet Nursing Course. . . . Mal Eaton got off Social Pro Tuesday. They told us that she intended to celebrate Tuesday evening. . . . Hope she isn't back on "Pro" by the time the paper comes out, and if she is, we hope she had a good time getting back on. . . . Jack Flaherty tells us that he has been dreaming of Angels lately. . . . He said it in the plural, and we're wondering if Shirley has a sister!

We went walking down by Oyster River the other day, and found an empty match cover monogrammed "Judy". . . . Wonder what Judy was doing down there? Better still, what were we doing there? . . . Since Lou Brown quit school, there have been rumors going around as to his reasons. . . . He told them to us, but we won't print them because they're so fantastic (it would be like answering a query "where'd you get the black eye?" by saying that you walked into a door. No one believes him, but the latest is he quit so that he could get married. . . . He told me that it's a good idea, now all he wants is the girl. . . . We have a suggestion. Brush up on your ability to build fires in fireplaces.

It seems that things are really going to pop Friday night. . . . The newly formed "Pep Gang" is planning a big baseball rally that night in front of Commons. . . . There will be cheer leaders (in the feminine, I presume), music by Dick Mascott and Al Cherin, lots of cheering and stuff, and a guaranteed good time. . . . All this will be held at six thirty, and will be over in time for everyone to get to see "Letters to Lucerne". . . . Let's see lots of the students there so that it can be a big thing to remember. If we're lucky, there might even be a snake dance.

There was a boy vs. girl football game the other night. What a fight! They ought to have another and label it the "Second Battle of the Sexes". . . . The first one is hardly ever fought on a baseball diamond. More likely a place would be "College Woods". . . . We neglected to let Commons in on last week's column for a purpose; we didn't have the room. . . . This week things are different. To tell the truth, Commons is our pet peeve (the "caf", not the dorm). . . . We had lamb casserole for lunch Monday and we thought we'd been gypped until we found our lamb coyly hiding under one of the peas. . . . We were speaking to a couple of alumni who stated that we shouldn't kick about the food, and not to think that it's the cause of the war, that it's always been that way. . . . Brother, I don't know how they've ever lived to such a ripe old age. . . . They also mentioned that Follansbee's was doing a thriving business then too, so I guess that's the answer to the situation.

We want to leave now with this last parting thought. We hope these papers will get to the public. . . . Last week the papers didn't come out 'til the Assistant Circulation Manager came back from

Marines Pose as Nazi Sub Crews Sing "I Surrender Dear"

By Warren M. Robbins

Newsreel cameras rolled and still cameras clicked all week long at the Portsmouth Navy Yard as four German submarines arrived at the base, and their crews gave themselves up to U. S. Navy Officials.

It was a big week for all concerned. Workingmen and women raised their voices over the noise of the riveting machines to speculate as to who would be on the subs, how many were coming in, and so forth. The Intelligence Office was kept busy playing host to 40 or 50 newspapermen from all over the country. Representatives from the three major networks were there to broadcast the proceedings as these prisoners of war, ranging from mess boys to Luftwaffe generals stepped onto American soil and were taken into custody.

Also on hand were four students from the university — Murray Aisenberg, Warren Robbins, Murray Stern, and "Skip" Johnson, who saw a different story at Portsmouth from what appeared in most of the papers throughout the land. The details that we read, and the pictures that we will see in the newsreels are all true, but the Navy certainly must be commended for having put on such a good show for the people of America.

The first contingent of Germans arrived on Tuesday afternoon, numbering about 27 men, four of whom were officers. To greet this motley group of bedraggled men — typical Nazis such as we would see in Hollywood productions, mixed with bewildered kids — was a veritable task force of about sixty helmeted Marines, heavily armed with sub-machine guns. The precautions that were taken to guard these now defenseless prisoners began to approach the ridiculous and soon a large part of the Marines were delegated to keep the crowd back instead of guarding the prisoners two to one.

Most of the pictures that appeared in the papers were expertly posed: "Step a little to the left — that's it — hold your gun a little higher — okay, now — look tough" these war hardened Marines, veterans of Pacific campaigns were told by Navy and civilian photographers. And it was pointed out that even the Nazis themselves, along with the spectators, laughed as the Marines did their best to carry out the orders to assume poses and facial expressions befitting their world-wide reputation.

But only a handful of people saw this side of the story. Tens of millions of others will see pictures, posed though they may have been, and will put down their newspapers and magazines or walk out of the movie theatres satisfied that the German prisoners have been taken into custody in a satisfactory manner and that they are not being treated too softly.

And so we have a fitting example of the "American Way" in the dissemination of internal propaganda. What a contrast between that and the methods of Dr. Goebbels who covered up the unbelievable brutalities of the Vermacht and made the Nazi soldier appear as an angel to the people of Germany.

Former Campus Editors Fighting on All Fronts

By Jane Harrer

Hard as it is to believe that there ever was a time when the population of the University of New Hampshire was predominantly male, actually it's absolutely true. I know you'd rather "see than hear tell of it," but here is an encouraging group you'd be interested to hear about. They are past editors of the New Hampshire, men and women who have achieved outstanding records at UNH and who continue to prove themselves with fine service to their country.

Tom O'Donnell, editor in '43, and now Lieutenant O'Donnell, fought in Germany with the 61st Armored Infantry Battalion. He was wounded three times by shrapnel and is now in a hospital in England. He has received the Purple Heart, the additional Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Bronze Star.

Herbie Smith, '42 editor, now has the rank of lieutenant and is a bomber pilot in France. From reliable sources has come the bit of news that Herbie finds the Parisian women fascinating.

Our editor of '41, is now Captain Richard F. Cook of the 10th Armored Infantry Battalion. He was wounded for the second time during the Battle of the Bulge; and his medals include the Purple Heart, the Oak Leaf Cluster, the Bronze Star, and Combat Infantryman's Medal. Captain Cook recently became engaged to Miss Miriam Eastman, '43. He is now assigned to the General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth.

Priscilla Taylor, editor in '40-'41, was (we'll leave it to your own discretion). By the way "Sparks," where the devil were you. We promise not to tell ('till next week's column). . . . We also want to apologize for the two mistakes that were made in last week's column; the first about the game being held out of town Thursday. It was to be held here but was called on account of the weather. The second was "valor is the better part of discretion." As to that, we were pretty tired but we still should have known that the saying is just vice-versa. So, farewell all. We'll be back next week for our final copy until next semester (maybe).

the second woman to hold that campus position. She is now working in a war plant in Springfield, Mass., and is secretary of the New Hampshire alumni group called the Connecticut Valley and Springfield Club. Al Sharps, '42, managing editor when Priscilla had the editorship and associate editor the year after she graduated, is her fiancé.

Buck Buchanan, editor for '39-'40, is a captain and a member of the quarter-master corps stationed in Iran with the Persian Gulf Command getting supplies to Russia. Partner of another campus romance, Buck is engaged to Rosamond Eckfeldt of the class of '45.

The editor of 1938, John K. MacEachern, is a lieutenant in the navy. Lieutenant MacEachern was recently married to Miss Ann M. Verelst, while stationed in London at the office of Naval Attaché.

Brud Warren, '37 editor, worked two years at the News Bureau and a year as reporter-photographer on the news staff of the Manchester Union-Leader before going into the Coast Guard. He is now a petty officer with the rating of sonarman, second class. His wife, Mrs. Louise Warren, and son, James, live in Portsmouth.

Homer Verville, New Hampshire editor in 1936, is an army lieutenant stationed in Canada.

Each of these former editors made a name for himself during his undergraduate career on campus, and while none of them is working now in a strictly journalistic capacity, each is playing a big part by helping to fight this war.

WILDCAT CHINGS
by Jack McGinn

Five down and three to go. The present Wildcat baseball season is coming to a rapid close with only three games remaining. This coming Saturday the 'Cats will meet the high-powered Grenier Field nine provided that the sun appears from its hideout. Memorial Day the Portland Naval Air Station will be the hosts at Portland and the finale will be on June 2nd when the Portsmouth Marines toss aside their rifles for bats to take on the Wildcats at Brackett Field.

Thus far the season cannot be called a success. Nineteen runs in the Maine Donnybrook looked very encouraging but as you well know looks aren't everything. Three games have elapsed since the first fray and the Swaseymen have punched across the amazing total of four (4) tallies and have left at least twenty-five potential runs on the hassocks. This spells only one thing — no scoring punch — how, where, when it will be regained is a moot question. The pitching has been very good, the fielding — well, we won't say it but it has. However, all good things must come to an end and by the same token all bad things must come to an end. Soooo — and we say this with our fingers crossed — we hope this will be the case with our ailing ball club and their ill luck will come to an immediate end. Time will tell!

Well, we will turn to a few happier thoughts such as the Boston College-Wildcat track meet or swim meet, take your choice. The 'Cats hampered by consistent bad weather during their practice sessions came up with a well-balanced squad and, although no records were shattered some very respectable times were made considering the muddy condition of the track. All in all the team was a pleasant surprise to yours truly but the real test comes next Saturday when the speed laden Bates College team will provide the opposition. They really have speed and from the times of some of their recent meets have a little to burn. The Sweetmen are up against some stiff competition and I'm sure next Saturday will find them with their hands full. We shall see.

Dis and Data

The Battle of the Century is now history and perhaps it will be remembered as one of the world's greatest sports event. Of course you know what event we are referring to. Sure, that's right, the softball game. Last Monday the Girls' All-Stars (stars are way off, so were the girls) had their challenge thrust gently down their throats as the varsity baseball team mopped them up in grand fashion. The challenge we refer to is the one that the girls issued to the boys after seeing Camp Langdon take them apart in a recent game. The girls, with an unusual display of boldness offered to play them in softball. The boys, gentlemen that they are, accepted the offer in a most gracious fashion and went right ahead and beat the girls under the handicap of batting just the opposite from their usual manner. Miss Barbara Stevens, the official scorer is still figuring up the score and she expects to have it tabulated in a few weeks. You'll learn girls.

Yacht Club Places Sixth At Coast Guard Academy

The New Hampshire Yacht Club sailors placed sixth in the race held last weekend at the Coast Guard Academy for the intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association's New England Dinghy Championship. The university, ably represented by Ed Tarbell and Jean Deland, skippers, and Bill Dennett and Jane Downing, came in with a score of 127 points, earning midway rank in the contest of 12 New England colleges that raced Saturday and Sunday on the Thames river. The girls are to be especially praised for their good work, as the other competitors had no girls on their crews.

The individual scores were: Coast Guard Academy, 204; M.I.T., 173; Tufts, 149; Northeastern, 147; Brown, 141; UNH, 127; Yale, 124; Worcester Tech, 123; Williams, 116; Holy Cross, 107; Harvard, 104; and Dartmouth, 75. Also present at New London, Conn., was Chet Chatfield, Commodore of the N. H. Club.

Seniors!

You will be required to take all final examinations at the end of the semester. The following notification will be given to the faculty: Grades for seniors graduating in June must be in the registrar's office by 5 p.m., Monday, June 4. This means that the grades for these students must be determined before they take their final examinations, except for finals scheduled Monday morning. These grades will be final grades, except as noted below.

Even though grades have been reported before the final examination, graduating seniors will be required to take all examinations. If they do so poorly on an examination that they fail the course, this must be reported to the registrar's office at the earliest possible moment. If a senior who is reported getting C or better in a course in which he may need a major grade, and as a result of the final examination gets less than C, this also must be reported immediately to the registrar's office.

White Wiffes Thirteen But Team-mates Fail To Hit in Clutch

For the second successive week the Wildcats have failed to produce. Muffing opportunity after opportunity the Swaseymen found themselves on the short end of a 2-1 score with the Huskies of Northeastern being the victor.

The game, played at Boston in a drizzling rain, was far from pleasant to watch from the New Hampshire angle. For six consecutive innings Fred White hurled no hit no run ball for the 'Cats but the gates opened in the seventh when a few misjudged fly balls fell safely to produce a Northeastern run and tie the game up. In the eighth the same thing happened and it was the Huskies ball game, 2-1.

The Wildcats produced their solitary run when Steve Haynes drew a free pass and was punched around the circuit on an assortment of bingles. The boys took to the offerings of Keegan very handily in almost every other inning loading the bases on several occasions but Bob shut the door with some very effective pinch twirling. His support was rather poor but the boys always tightened up to get the third out without a 'Cat crossing the platter.

For Fred White it was his second loss of the season and the second loss that he did not deserve. Whitey wiffed thirteen enemy batters but tough outfield and hitting support plus a couple of fat pitches told the story.

Carney Takes Two Events To Lead Boston College In One Point Victory

Running on a rain-drenched field Jack Ryder's Boston College Eagles nipped the Wildcat tracksters in a tightly contested track meet held at Lewis Field Saturday. The final captulation found B. C. on top 23-22.

The first event of the afternoon found Ace Carney of the Eagles dashing to easy win in the 100-yard dash. His team-mate, Wier, finished second and the 'Cats' John Hawke took third. Carney followed up with a win in the 440-yard dash flanked by Hawke who came in second and Annis who nosed out Devine for the third slot. As expected, the mile found the Sweetmen winning hands down. Warren Meyer running at an even pace and never being headed finished an easy first and was trailed to the finish line by John Baker. Wier took third.

The muscle men then took over and the sixteen pound shot was given a few short heaves. The winner of the event was Orsini, with a heave of a little over 35 feet. Bill Holleman came in a close second and McDavitt finished third.

The final event of the afternoon was the high jump and it provided plenty of thrills. George Wulfing displaying neat form won with comparative ease over McDavitt with a jump of 5' 1". Jack Richardson took the number three position.

The Wildcats displayed a well-balanced team and had it not been for the efforts of Carney the 'Cats would have nosed out the Eagles without too much trouble.

The summary:
100-yard dash won by Carney (BC);
2. Wier (BC); 3. Hawke (NH); time 10.6s.

Maine Sailors Sink Faltering Wildcats

Seven UNH Errors Lead To Rivals 6-3 Triumph

Taking it on the chin for the fourth consecutive time, the faltering Wildcats, stopped cold by the effective four-hit twirling of Whitey Meyer, were nosed out 6-3 by the Portland Air Station Tuesday at Brackett Field.

The sailors opened up in the first inning on the offerings of Dick Meade, starting his first game of the season, to notch a single tally. With two men out Fairbanks singled and scored on Strausbaugh's double to left field. Mead squelched the rally forcing Ray, the chaplain of the Portland base, to fly out to Steve Haynes. After setting the 'Cats down in successive order the sailors picked up another run in the second as Higbee hit a one-bagger and crossed the platter on Meyer's hit.

The Swaseymen finally solved the offerings of Meyer in the third inning scoring three runs to take a one-run lead over the sailors. Steve Aliapoulos reached first on an error and advanced to second as Mead was given a free ticket to first. Andy Mooradian jammed the sacks with a base hit and Mead scored on a wild throw by the catcher who, after getting Aliapoulos on Vickery's slow roller, threw over the first sacker's head in attempting to double up Vickery. Two more tallies came in as Jack Stuart punched a clean single to left.

The gobs tied up the fray in the fifth as Fairbanks reached on an error, advanced to second on Strausbaugh's sacrifice and waltzed across the triangle as Chaplain Ray connected for a single. The fifth finished Dick Mead and Fred White took over the pitching chores for the Wildcats. The first man Whitey faced was nicked by a ball and took first. On the next pitch he stole second and went to third on a force play, capped the climax by stealing home for the game clinching run. Whitey got in further trouble in the seventh as the bases were packed by a hit and two errors. With two outs on the gobs Whitey balked and the sailors' fifth run scored. One more tally was added in the eighth frame to put the game on ice.

Playing a great game for Portland was Strausbaugh with four bingles in five trips to bat.

Seniors!

You will be required to take all final examinations at the end of the semester. The following notification will be given to the faculty: Grades for seniors graduating in June must be in the registrar's office by 5 p.m., Monday, June 4. This means that the grades for these students must be determined before they take their final examinations, except for finals scheduled Monday morning. These grades will be final grades, except as noted below.

Even though grades have been reported before the final examination, graduating seniors will be required to take all examinations. If they do so poorly on an examination that they fail the course, this must be reported to the registrar's office at the earliest possible moment. If a senior who is reported getting C or better in a course in which he may need a major grade, and as a result of the final examination gets less than C, this also must be reported immediately to the registrar's office.
